PO. W.A Manyluk who has been at Summerside P.E.I. is spending a furlough at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Alex Manyluk.

Mrs. A Cameron returned from Edmonton last week end from visiting her daughter Mrs. J. King. Pte. Sgt Don Cameron has recently been transferred from Brandon to Edmonton and the three members of the Cameron family were together for the first time in five years

Mrs. Fred Bull of Clandonald is spending a few days in town visiting at the home of Mr. A Dixon

Charlie Smith was very pleased on March 5th to meet Mr and Mrs W. J. Macnab in Vancouver and they had lunch and dinner together. Charlie says a Mr. and Mrs Macnab are looking fine and are thoroughly enjoying their trip, being on the go all the time visiting. They are now in Seattle and Charlie expected to see them again on his return there. Charlie himself has been in Vancouver, Portland and Seattle recently and has not been enjoying very good health, but thinks that he now has his sickness well in hand. Seattle is still the mad house of the coast according to Chas and ranks with the best or them for work, high prices and cheap whiskey. Portland is also busy but not being a seaport has not the rush of Seattle. The flowers are blooming and lawns are already being cut Money is plentiful and is being spent very freely Charlie has hopes that he will soon be feeling fine and able to enjoy a real coast summer

RADIO GRAMS by Jim Gillard

Here's good news for you folks who tumble out of bed around 6 a.m. We agree that is a grim hour to be getting up under the best of circumstances—but you'll agree that a pep by radio show such as "Everyday Early birds" is just what the doctor ordered. The first program will be heard Friday March 24th at 6.35 a.m Everyday Earlybirds feature Ged Meredith and Tiny Perkins with music galore, plenty of banter, and a few news helping of that "Wake up and Live" element. Tune our way Friday morning at 6.35 and see if you don't agree that it's made to order for chasing away those early morning blues.

That nice little contest "The Pot (for show" is still going full swing Heard three times a week on Monday Wednesday and Friday. the Public contest offers worthwhile cash prize for down to earth, every-day guess times. Listen at 2.10 p.m on the day mentioned—note the question—and send your answer to Publicity care of CJCA. It's fun trying and you'll agree when you win that it was worth trying for too.

See that your Rad is paid ahead!

KEEP BLAIR CUP

Another challenge for the Blair cup was turned back on Friday, evening last when Lars Thomassen and Harvey Glanton brought two rinks on curlers from Innisfree with the avowed intention of taking the trophy back with them Lars did alright, winning from the stewart quartet by 13-10, but the Glanton skipped rink took it on the chin from Herbert to the tune of 17-4, so the cup stayed here.

Local rinks were skip stewart, Sam Banks, Loyal Asmo and Wally Dalgliesh, Skip Carl Heebert, Curtis Martin, Ir Clarke and Mac Simonsen.

CANTON-WATSON RED CROSS AUXILIARY

The March meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ilan Lewis on the 6th with nine members present. The afternoon was spent on working on a quilt 41 finished articles were sent to Vermilion, or these 2 dresses and 1 baby, articles were donations, also the quilt made that afternoon. Joan Girven donated a baby quilt, made by herself, which was very creditable, she was very neatly done for a ten-year-old girl. 12 more pieces of work were distributed among the members

Many thanks go to Mrs. H. MacFarlane for her lovely pieced quilt top and to Mrs. W. Lamport for a big box of carded wool. Such gifts are always greatly appreciated by the members or the Auxiliary.

The collection brought $1.16 and the treasurer received $24 from different members for the present Red Cross drive, which amount has been sent on to the Woodside canvasser Mr. P. Grenier

Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Wilson Ford on April 12th.

RATION BOOK No. 4 HAS ECONOMIES

New ration books being distributed this week will be 11 sheets of coupons instead or 12 as in Ration Book 3, and the three cards at the back are omitted. This does not include the red and ... rationing, officials point out, but it does mean a saving of 70 tons of paper, enough to make 30,000 packages for tea packages shells—170,000 boxes for small arms ammunition — 20,000 shell fuse component parts — 30,000 boxes for aerial rations, shells.

Three printers have handled the job of printing the 15½ million books which is the biggest printing job ever done in Canada. Five printers got out Ration Book 3. This saving in paper, printing and shipping costs amounts to $50,000

Ration Book 1 includes sheets of meat coupons because when the book was prepared there was no indication of lifting the meat ration, and in all probability meat coupons in Ration Book 4 will be used before the book expires, officials state.

Across Canada approx 250,000 volunteers are helping in the distribution campaign working from 10,000 centres organized by 800 local ration boards. Their work saves the country at least half a million dollars

Those who do not pick up their new ration books this week will not be able to get Ration Book 1 until April 17th.

THE WEATHER

The weatherman can't quite decide if it's winter or spring yet. Last week has been unsettled. Curling and skating rinks were still operating on Wednesday but the temperature had climbed well above the freezing point and the likelihood of a real thaw appeared bright

Vermilion Squadron No. 97

There was a very poor attendance at the Aircraft Re-vention and signal night on March 20 due to the high school hospital, but on Wednesday there was a better turn out at the WAC drill hall when Cpl. Hutchinson put the local cadets through their paces.

Monday March 27 the aircraft recognition and administration was taken by flgt. J. E. (John) Taylor. The administration lecture took the form of a mock trial with the air crew participating and instructive.

On Tuesday evening Fl. Ewart met with the local committee and cadet officers and a general discussion with respect to the air cadets took place.

Thursday was the regular signal and mathematics night. During the week end Sgt. Taylor and the Adjutant drew up a chart showing exactly just how much time was to be by each subject. This will be of great assistance in marking examinations papers as it shows just what each boy has had and what is expected from him.

Opened in 1942

Main basic training centre for the Canadian Women's Army Corps in Canada until quite recently, the large C.W.A.C. Training Centre which occupies the buildings and grounds of the former provincial school of agriculture here, is to be closed in the near future according to rumors which became prevalent early this week. It is considered likely that the rumors are true as all recruits can now be handled at the new training centre at Kitchener, Ont. The closing date according to the reports is said to be May 15th.

Slowdown in the flow of recruits, coupled with the opening recently of a new basic training centre for the C.W.A.C. at Kitchener, Ont., were given as reasons for the mooted closing of the Vermilion Centre.

Information concerning the closing of the centre is also to the effect that facilities of the former agricultural school will likely be used for other military purposes.

OPENED IN 1942

First general basic training centre for the C.W.A.C. in Canada, the Vermilion centre was opened on Aug. 3, 1942, after the Alberta government had placed all facilities of the school at the disposal of the department of national defence for the duration of the war.

A particularly fine set of buildings, the agricultural school proved ideally suited for the training of women's army personnel. The C.W.A.C. centre was officially opened at a colorful ceremony, during which Hon. W. A. Fallow, Alberta minister of public works, handed over the facilities to army officials.

Major (then captain) Rene Hawels, now commandant at the No. 1 Basic Training centre of the C.W.A.C. at Kitchener, was first commandant at Vermilion.

Maj. Daisy Royal is the commandant at the present time.

FINE RECORD

The Vermilion basic training centre has a fine record, the splendidly drilled young women from the centre having repeatedly drawn high praise for their smart showing on parade through Edmonton streets on numerous occasions.

An official announcement concerning the rumored closing is expected shortly.

If the rumored closing proves correct recruits from all parts of Canada will henceforth be sent to Kitchener for basic training.

An advance training centre for the C.W.A.C. is located at Rockcliffe, Ont., Ottawa suburb, close to Montreal. This centre is under the command of Lt.-Col. Mary Dover, formerly of Calgary.

RATION BOOKS FOR THE LATECOMERS

Must Apply to WPTB Office

EDMONTON.—People who did not obtain new ration books due' ; ration book week, will be required ; apply to a ration office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, on or after April 17 to obtain Ration Book 4, says C. G. McKee, regional superintendent of rationing.

Ration offices of the Prices Board are located in Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge and Grande Prairie.

During ration book week 98% of the residents of Alberta obtained their new books, the superintendent stated.

BOARD OF TRADE ASKS CEMENT WALK ON MAIN STREET

The Board of Trade on Wednesday went on record as approving Mayor Morrison's recommendation that a progressive program or sidewalk building be commenced in Vermilion this year, and asked that the first walk built on that from the post office west to the town hall, a distance of less than half a block. This is on Main street, in the heart of the town, and is at present served with a very much worn and wobbly walk which is in urgent need of a repair job or a new one, as 1800 books were filled in and handed out that day. 402 books were distributed by J. T. Pyle at Islay during the half week. Returns from other points in this area are not yet complete.

MARKETS PRIZE BABY BEEF

7 Months Old, Weighs 1035 lbs.

Clarence Barr this week marketed a 15 months old purebred shorthorn which weighed 1025 pounds. The calf dressed 62% and was a good specimen of the animal brought a price of 12c per pound netting the lads' sum of $123.60.

This calf was fed and looked by Mr. Barr for the Edmonton spring livestock show but circumstances prevented him from attending, and the prize shorthorn was sold instead at the Vermilion stock market. The latter will in turn retail the tasty beef to Vermilion consumers.

ICE GOING OUT OF RIVER

The ice has risen in the Vermilion River and is rapidly going out. This is one of the earliest break-ups in 15 years.

WHEAT QUOTA NOW 18 BUS.

The market quota for wheat on the Vermilion district has now been raised to 18 bushels per acre.

BOWTELL SCHOOL WINS SECOND IN SWAMP SALE

Bowtell school district No. 1437, Vermilion, won second place in the national war finance committee competition for the school selling their cash built on that from the post office stamps per pupil it was announced on Friday last week by committee headquarters in Ottawa. This is out of 2,000 schools in the Dominion, and is at present served with a very much worn and wobbly walk which is certainly not a credit to the town and do better than to look into this proposition.

This land will be for sale by public auction, with a disclosed reserve bid during the noon hour on the day of the sale, if not sold prior to sale. The terms are as follows: Cash on the land; stock, chattels and other equipment cash, settlement to be received the day of sale. Lunch at the sale during your own drinking cups.

If the Government has placed a ban on highway prohibiting movement of machinery and chattels by truck, arrangements may be made with Mr. Sanborn to leave such articles on stock purchased on the farm for a few days in his care.

MARKETS PRIZE BABY BEEF

Clarence Barr this week marketed a 15 months old purebred shorthorn which weighed 1025 pounds. The calf dressed 62% and was a good specimen of the animal brought a price of 12c per pound netting the lads' sum of $123.60.

This calf was fed and looked by Mr. Barr for the Edmonton spring livestock show but circumstances prevented him from attending, and the prize shorthorn was sold instead at the Vermilion stock market. The latter will in turn retail the tasty beef to Vermilion consumers.

GOOD NEWS, TENNIS PLAYERS

More Balls in 1944

There will be 50 per cent more tennis balls available in Canada in 1944 than there were in 1943, is the good news for tennis players. While the local members managed to have a little better than the average player in 1942 it will be good news that there will be more of the elusive spheres available for use this season.

The Vermilion tennis club will function as usual and enthusiasts can throw on whirling into action about May 1st, the usual opening date.

ISLAY

Spring seems to have arrived, housecleaning and moving ushered her in. Neil McLennan has gone out to his own farm; Ralph Anderson has moved in to his newly acquired farm, the old Jim Gilchrist farm across the road from the village. Mr. John Young has been painting at Charlie Robertson's, Mr. H Martin has finished painting Neil Young's and a few women cleaned the church in readiness for Easter. There will be special services, one on Good Friday at 8 p.m. and again on Sunday at 3 p.m. Every one is cordially invited.

Ash Harry Young how he managed to take all those pictures of the girls in Vermilion to Islay with a small Ford truck.

Mr. Harold White goes to Convention of teachers at Calgary, as a delegate.

Miss Nellie Redmond goes to her home in Paradise Valley for Easter week end.

Mrs. Hollington has returned from her visit to New York. We haven't seen her to ask about her trip, but hear she had a grand time. Saw Maj Brown at his shoe in the Chrysler building in New York and shook hands with him. She brought home a very nice token for each home which has anyone serving in the Forces, a red white and blue pennant to hang in the window.

The church tea held in McLennan's store last Saturday was a real success.

Mrs. Iorwen Shaw is home from Alberta College for the Easter holiday.

WHITE LICENSE NUMBER ON ALL CAR COUPONS

Local Ration Board Praised

EDMONTON.— Distribution of Ration Book 4 in Alberta went over like a clock", according to regional paper, Intendent of rationing, C. G. McKee, who gives the credit to local ration boards throughout the province, chairmen, secretaries and board members who organized distribution centres, and instructed distributing chiefs in their work.

The thousands of recorders were given special praise for their efficiency. Many of them have assisted in previous distribution campaigns "The loyalty to Canada of these workers is something for which all members of their respective communities should be proud," the superintendent stated.

"Distribution of Ration Book 1 was done for the people, the people and very thoroughly accomplished," he concluded.

Changes Noted in Ration Book 4

EDMONTON. — Coupons marked "T" in the new ration book are for both tea and coffee and do not indicate lifting of the coffee ration says C. G. McKee, regional superintendent of rationing.

Meat coupons are included in the new ration book, and in all probability will be used before ration book 4 expires, the superintendent commends. When Ration Book 4 went to press there was no indication the meat rations would be lifted.

TWO YEARS OF DAYLIGHT SAVING

Already the lengthening days remind us that even this far north we do "save daylight" by keeping our clocks set an hour faster than standard time. Once "two years have passed since daylight saving time went into effect in Canada on May 1st, 1942. The change was made on February 9, '43

Few complaints are heard now. The long dark mornings of mid-winter are still unpleasant, and it still does not seem right to start young children off for school in what is a good deal like "the middle of the night". But that dark morning period is short and is almost over now.

Nearly a year ago the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce was reported to have suggested that in the event that a study be made of the effects of daylight saving time, with special reference to this city in the winter months. Nothing more has been heard of the matter, probably because everyone has become accustomed to fast time.

The tremendous difference in the impact of daylight saving in this northern city is shown most simply by citing the mid-winter, equinoctial and mid-summer hours of sunrise and sunset. They are approximately as follows:

Dec. 21—Sun rises 9:18, sets 5:15

March 21 Sun rises 7:23, sets 7:50

June 21—Sun rises 5:46 sets 10:07

So acceptable are the longer evenings in spring, summer and autumn for people of this city, it does not seem that it would not be surprising if day light saving were one of the war's changes to be retained permanently.

A WISE DECISION —

The Canadian Bankers hearts were lightened recently by the announcement that time for payment of 1943 income tax balances has been extended to August 31st, 1944.

Many patriotic citizens, chiefly because of their conviction that they couldn't meet the time to pay ments by April 30th and buy Sixth Victory Loan bonds at the same time, were prepared to find that they will not be barred from joining their fellow countrymen in the most important home war effort to date.

Most people have discovered that the purchase of Victory bonds given them a tangible feeling that they are actually backing up Canadian men in uniform. To have taken away from a portion of those the opportunity of participating again would have been regretable. There is ample proof that throughout the rank and file Canadian citizens is far more enough ready cash to pass the minimum objective of $1,200,000,000 to be sought by the Victory Loan campaign. With the income tax snag removed sales to individuals should surpass all previous records.

Official Ottawa deserves added commendation in this regard because the income tax announcement was made a month before the Victory Loan opening instead of the eve of the campaign. Time has thus been allowed for a readjustment of personal budgets and a spirit of buoyancy has been injected into the pre-loan period which should prove invaluable in operating the enthusiasm necessary to the success of any campaign

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Riding Double

By FRED TOOLE

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Mel Martin twisted the gas handle grimly—again and again—and the shattering roar of the motorcycle rattled across the brightly lighted carnival grounds, startling the crowds, drowning out the band music. The tall natty man to the front of the platform lifted his hand, Mel throttled down and the shallow voice of Honey-Boy Sparks boomed out over the amplifiers.

Friendly, bantering, wheedling, it drew the crowds like a magnet. And Lana, slim and lovely in her white breeches and polo shirt, was as wide-eyed as any. As if she hadn't heard the same coaxing tones night after night. As if she wanted to go on hearing them, after this last performance of all.

That look of rapt admiration in Lana's eyes had been for himself, Mel. But Sparks' incessant patter and his own constant exposure to danger on the wall of the big wooden cylinder had turned Mel quiet and moody. He had never been able to tell Lana of his savings, his plans to buy a midget racer when the show folded, to troupe the little trucks. And as the months went on, it had become more impossible to ask her to go with him.

For Sparks' winning voice could be cutting, too. He would comment sardonically on Mel's daring feats on the straight wall: "Now, he oughtn't to do it thing like that with such a pretty girl," he'd say over the loudspeaker at the top of the rim. "He, he'll marry her, maybe."

And the crowd, tense with fear, would giggle uneasily as they stared down at Mel's whirling wheel, Lana poised rigidly on the handlebars. There had crept into Lana's eyes something of Sparks' own cynical contempt.

Automatically obedient to Honey-Boy's cue, Mel opened the throttle and rollers and mechanically demonstrated a few tricks.

"Many of those words rattled through his brain with the pounding of the exhaust. And Sparks would, he thought bitterly. After tonight Lana would be gone, and the crowd flocked up the steps to the top of the cylinder. Mel opened the heavy door in the wall of Lana, slammed it shut almost savagely. All right, it was the end. One last whirl, and it would be over.

"The last time," Lana was saying softly.

"That's right," he said shortly

They stood staring silently at Mike, the mechanic, as he crept around the walls. Some of the nails that had worked loose with every performance Above them Sparks' voice swept on, building up the danger from a blow-out, a nail puncture, while the cycles were on the straight wall.

"What are you going to do after tonight, Mel?" Lana asked fluidly.

Mel glanced at her queerly, but she was looking at Sparks.

"Getting a midget racer," he said harshly. "Trooping the little trucks What's the difference?"

She stiffened at his tone, turned impulsively to him. For a wild moment, looking into her troubled eyes, all his longings swept to the surface. The midget races, Indianapolis, a motor company job. Lana—he! His hand mouth trembled with unaccustomed words. And then a whistle shrilled above them, shattering the electric instant that had flickered between them.

Mel turned and kicked the starter his big black mount. It roared to life at the same instant that Lana's little cycle started. Then they were circling the wall together, Mel on the outside, mounting almost to the rim of heads at the top; Lana below him, gamely keeping pace. Side by side doggedly. Grimly he watched Lana perform on the wall alone.

Then he took the wall himself, riding with reckless daring. Crouching on the seat, riding backwards, riding the handlebars—what did it matter? Because it was the end—the end of everything. The crowd gasped. Sparks chuckled; the applause was deafening when he finished. Then Lana sat on the handlebars, Mel mounted off for the last ride of the evening—their last ride, forever.

He found himself trembling, but forced his wiry arms to stiffen. His cycle took the wall, circled faster and faster; and cautiously Lana went through her routine. She hung over one side, then the other, sat on the front guard, climbed to the rear guard. Then Mel straightened out the cycle and his arms went rigid. This was the climax of the show—of his whole life. Lana was to stand up on the machine.

They circled steadily, unswervingly, around the straining walls. Slowly Lana rose until at last she stood upright, poised and true. Mel ached with anxiety And suddenly he wondered why he was worrying about her? He was losing her, wasn't he? Then why not get it over with now? All his wretched longing welled up madly within him. What did anything matter? One little tilt, one swerve, and it would be over Lana, he, everything! And that tilt came Rivets went up from the crowd as the cycle roared down; the crowd leaped back as it swooped wildly up the rim. Screams were screaming again as he fought the plunging machine on the straight wall, as he saw Lana before him clinging to the handlebars to which she had dropped. His heart was nearly bursting as he headed down Sparks' cycle and deliberately brought it to a halt on the floor. The machine crashed over as he leaped Lana, limp and white, into his arms.

"Why?" he choked. "Why?"

The crowd was cheering, Sparks was saying something, but they didn't matter. What mattered was Lana, and the horrible thing that had almost happened. "Why did you try the cycle?" he groaned

To save—you," she gasped through pale lips. "To save—us."

"Then there was . . ." His eyes widened as he scanned the planked floor.

"Oh, darling," Lana breathed shakily, "I'm glad I shan't have to worry about nails on—the midget tracks."

ROYAL NAVY LOSSES

Since the beginning of the war, 41,000 officers and men of the Royal Navy have been lost—30 per cent. of its pre-war strength.

MACDONALD'S BRIER

Canada's Smartest Smoke

Young Composers

Canadian Performing Rights Society's Fourth Annual Scholarship

The degree to which the present war had diverted the energies of young people of musical ambitions into other channels is revealed in the total of entries for the Canadian Performing Right Society's seventh annual scholarship competition for composers under the age of 25. The last day for the mailing of entries in the competition, open to aspirants in all provinces of Canada, was March 1st. In recent years the average total of entries has been about 60, sometimes one or two more; sometimes one or two less; and the first prize a $750 scholarship at the Toronto Conservatory of Music, with subsidiary cash awards, proved a real stimulus to creative effort.

This year the total has fallen to 30, though it is gratifying to note that six of the nine provinces are represented. It is therefore clear that a considerable number of young men and women between the ages of 18 and 21 who would ordinarily be composing, are now in the armed and auxiliary services, which leaves them small opportunity for musical composition. Orchestras everywhere throughout Canada have experienced a similar drain on their personnel.

Of the 30 entrants this year twelve are boys and eight, girls; distributed over the following centres:

Ontario: Toronto, 7; St. Catharines, Hamilton, 1; London, 1.

Saskatchewan: Regina, 1.

British Columbia: Vancouver, 1; New Westminster, 1.

The decline in entries from the prairie provinces which in past years have been well represented is particularly significant. On several occasions in the past, important prizes have also gone to Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, which are this year out of the picture. Usually about 80 per cent. of the contestants range between the ages of 18 and 21; but this year 11 of the 30 who have submitted manuscripts are under 18, conclusive evidence of the pre-occupation of more mature minds and girls with the war.

The Board of Adjudicators will early announce results.

Never Duplicated

Simple Reason Why No Two Snowflakes Are Formed Alike

Snowflakes are curious phenomena. The photomicrographer of snow crystals has made more than one interesting pictures of snowflakes and has yet to find a duplicate.

That is not so hard to understand, when you know that snowflakes are formed without water vapor particles which gather upon a microscopic grain of dust or a salt chip in the atmosphere. Then the roughly formed nucleus, where it is warm and moist, is subjected to the most delicate and intricate changes. Arms are formed at right angles to each other, and these arms in turn send out branches. Then the branches and arms grow, and the smaller branches and arms grow, and the smaller branches and arms grow, and the smaller

So often now— NAMES MAKE SAD NEWS

● The names in this newspaper that interest you most are names of boys you know who are on active service . . . boys from this community. You used to read their names in school reports, in church and Sunday school items, in news of sport. You read these names today in news from the fighting fronts. So often now these names make sad news.

Let's do all we can to hasten the day when our newspapers can tell of happy things.

Yes, we can do something to hasten that glad day.

When we do this job we help to win victory sooner. We help to end the war sooner. And we do something to benefit ourselves.

The job that we are asked to do is to save our money and lend it to our country.

As each new fighting front is opened more money is needed. More people must be ready to furnish this money.

More Victory Bonds will be issued. Those who have not bought Victory Bonds before must buy them. Those who have bought bonds must buy more. We are not asked to give . . . we are just asked to lend. We will have money for things we plan to do, after the war.

Dedicate yourself to this war effort . . . something you can do . . . one thing you must do. Your help is urgently needed.

Hero of Ortona

(By Private R. L. Cameron, Army Public Relations Writer)

A haze of dust and gun smoke lay heavily over Casa Berardi, tiny Italian hamlet on the Ortona-Arielena road. From every splintered window, every wall and pile of crumbled masonry, sported hooded death and high explosives German infantry and tanks had made a hot spot of Casa Berardi, a death trap of the deep gully which lay below it.

On the other side of that gully, pinned down by murderous fire, a bodily battered company of French Canada's famous Royal 22nd grittied their teeth, hung on and fought back. They had been ordered to assault Casa Berardi—and take it. Only a counter-pounding order could stop them trying.

Flattened behind scanty cover lay 25-year-old Major Paul Triquet, of Cabano, Quebec, the only officer not wounded or dead. Half his men were killed or out of action. Enemy fire was cutting into his dwindling force from both flanks. The moment was desperate. He couldn't stay where he was. But to swing — after having fought such a long and bloody way . .

Suddenly bursts of enemy fire crashed out behind him. His weary soldiers swung around to face the new attack. They were getting it on all sides now. Something had to be done —and at once!

Major Paul Triquet did it. Leaping to his feet, he scrambled over the rubble and waved his "Van Doos" forward.

This week, those brave words have been flashed to all corners of the Allied world—and beyond. The story of how Paul Triquet won the Victoria Cross, how he led his men out of a certain death-trap fought a way down into that murderous gully and up the other side and slugged it out with the enemy until the tattered remnants of his tiny band reached and held the outskirts of Casa Berardi itself — is already a Canadian legend.

Paul Triquet has become a national hero. The second Canadian soldier to win the V.C. in this greatest of all wars. The third member of the world famous Royal 22nd Regiment to receive the highest recognition of bravery the King can bestow on a soldier.

But the exploit of this tall, lean French-Canadian soldier has even more than a medal. It has captured the imagination of Allied fighting men everywhere. It has sent a ripple of wonderful pride through the whole of Canada.

At Cabano, Quebec, the little lumbering town of his birth, people are speaking his name with tears in their eyes. And pride! Has not Paul Triquet proved himself a true soldier of Ortona? Is he not the soldier son of Major Georges Triquet who fought to defend his beloved France in 1914, and today, at 63 commands "A" company of Les Fusiliers du Saint Laurent, a unit of reserves? Is he not the grandson of Louis-Desire Triquet, who fought like a lion against the British that in the France-Prussian War? And the great-grandson of another Paul Triquet, who endured the hardships of, and won glory in, the Crimea?

Yes, they will tell you, these Cabano folk who remember him as a little lad in short pants, Paul is all these things. A typical Triquet.

The restless fighting blood of these Triquets stirred early in Paul's veins. When Major Georges Triquet, a firm believer in military training and disciplined, organized a cadet corps in the village, Paul was the first to join up.

That day he labored in the nearby sawmill; by night he fed his imagination on the stirring stories of famous soldiers and regiments of Canada and France.

At sixteen he travelled all the way to Quebec City to try to enlist, insisting to the recruiting sergeant that he was actually 17 years of age. But he couldn't make it. Disconsolate, he returned home. The next year was a restless ordeal of waiting. Finally came his 17th birthday and his father's heritage could no longer be denied. He journeyed again to Quebec. This time he convinced the officials he was a full two years older than he was, and got sworn in with the regiment of his choice—the Royal 22nd, the "Van Doos"

His father was proud of his son, without reservations. His mother, like all mothers, was proud too, but anxious.

But Paul was happy. Now he could live his life he loved, how he could do the job he was born to do. It was 1939, and many of the men who marched and drilled beside him were veterans of Ypres salient, Sanctuary Wood, Mont sierrel, Saint-Eloi, the Somme and Courcelette and many another bloody battle of the Great War.

From them Paul learned to love his regiment, its glorious record, its famous names and its long tradition were soon written indelibly in his imagination.

Meanwhile, he focussed all his will on the business of war. His uncanny ability to concentrate, to learn and to turn to touch, amazed his comrades. Unconsciously they accepted him as a natural leader.

Then came 1939, and war. The "Van Doos" went overseas. Paul Triquet, now a sergeant-major, was to have his chance. More than half the men in the regiment, including Paul's younger brother, 19-year-old Bernard, had at some time or other trained with his father's cadets.

Overseas, Paul was made instructor at a commando school. His physical fitness, unbeatable morale, talent for leadership now got full play. His experience as physical instructor at schools and colleges throughout Quebec, during his peacetime army years, paid untold dividends. Hundreds of commandos learned many a trick from Sergeant-Major Paul Triquet.

Only once had he returned to Canada. That was in 1940, to obtain his commission. In September 1941 he again crossed the ocean and rejoined his regiment.

During the landing on Sicily and the heavy fighting which followed, Paul Triquet won promotion to lieutenant and captain. That was in July, 1943. Three months later his rank was confirmed. Word of his progression in the rank of Acting-Major reached Paul via a tank radio during the battle of Ortona on the 12th of December, 1943.

The next day was the bloody 14th. The day when the German grip on the vital Ortona-Orsogna highway was broken, and the position held, not by massed man power, tanks and heavy guns—but by a ragged, exhausted remnant of fifteen men, two sergeants and an Acting-Major who knew no fear. The day when one of the proudest pages in Canadian Military annals was written by a virile descendant of Louis-Desire Triquet, Major Georges Triquet and Paul Triquet, the first.

HORSEHAIR NEEDED TO SAVE CANADIAN MOVIES

One reason why the Prince Board is particularly anxious to have farmers market horsehair is the fact that if domestic supplies do not come forward in sufficient volume to meet pressing needs in war plants and the armed forces, it will be necessary to import dressed horsehair from South America at a cost to Canada of about $1 a pound in subsidy. The price for good quality horsehair in Canada ranges from 30c to 50c per pound and any used and hide dealer will buy it.

Remember—Auction sale of Thos Holstein heifer calf this Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Alberta Livery. 50 per cent of proceeds for Red Cross.

Thousands Of Nazis Swarming Back To Hungary

MADRID.—Tens of thousands of German "carpetbaggers", civilians and officials who went east for easy plunder or occupied territories, are swarming back across the Carpathian mountains into Hungary to escape the Red army.

Hungarian and Rumanian sources in Madrid said German military transport is being delayed by the panicky flight of Nazis who once revelled in soft governmental jobs or did a roaringly-profitable business as civilians requisitioning the wealth of the Ukraine and Poland.

In Hungary itself, dissolution of all opposition parties by the new puppet government gave the Germans an unexpected problem: where to get the manpower to maintain the Hungarian civil government.

Five concentration camps established by the gestapo and operated under the name of the Hungarian police are filled with some 20,000 Hungarians of almost all parties, reports here said.

Moreover chaos in the Hungarian railroad system caused by sabotage has shorned the German army stepped into a wasp's nest of Hungarian national resentment.

Diplomatic reports reaching Madrid also said desertions from Hungarian southern army garrisons to Tito's Yugoslav Partisan forces were increasing daily.

DEFENCE COUNCIL

Proposed By Lord Chatfield In British House Of Commons

LONDON.—A permanent national defence council—or an imperial council if the dominions wished it to recommend lines of defence and action for at least 10 years after the war, was proposed in the house of lords by Lord Chatfield, admiral of the fleet.

If the dominions took part they should have adequate representation on the council, which should be permanent, said the one-time minister of co-ordination of defence.

ERUPTION ENDED

NAPLES.—The spectacular phase of Vesuvius' latest eruption has ended and residents of communities at its base are engaged in the back-breaking job of removing tons of volcanic ash from streets and roadways. U.S. WHEAT DEFICIT

Danger Is Seen Of First In The History Of The Country

WASHINGTON.—Possibility of the first wheat deficit in United States history within the next two years is seen by some students of current figures for production and consumption, and plans are underway for a drive to increase production.

Even with increased imports from Canada the wheat carry-over on July 1 of next year threatens to fall below the safe working level of 200,000,000 bushels, experts said.

Furthermore, they estimate, unless there is a change for the better the carry-over on July 1, 1945, will have disappeared.

Top-ranking agriculture department officials while admitting the seriousness of the situation, say it may be improved through restrictions in the use of wheat for livestock feeding and alcohol production.

They also place some reliance in increased imports from South American. The situation would be immediately aggravated, however, if the war ended suddenly and the way was opened to getting wheat supplies to the hungry people of the ravaged countries.

Interested citizens have arranged for a meeting in nearby Calthersby, M.D., April 8, to discuss the problem with congressmen and government

LONDON.—A state of siege has been proclaimed in the Ploesti oil field area of Rumania, the Soviet news agency Tass said, and with better heightening throughout the Balkans at the steady advance of the Red army, Rumanian police were ordered to shoot anyone who failed to stop when challenged.

The Germans are taking extraordinary precautions to guard the Ploesti fields, from which they have been draining about 2,000,000 tons of oil yearly, and have replaced all Rumanian technical personnel with German scientists, Tass said.

British Empire Papers Publish True War News

TORONTO.—Men who are used to liberty fight best if they are told the truth and newspapers of the British Empire have brought them the truth in this war, Lt.-Col. J. J. Astor, chairman of the Empire Press Union council told 250 Canadian newspaper publishers and editors at a dinner marking the 25th anniversary of the union's Canadian section.

"This was bound to be a war of peoples, in which popular morale would be a vital, probably decisive, factor," Col. Astor said. "It may suit Germans to be kept in a world of ignorance—now, I hope, with an increasing sense of impending disaster. But I shall be surprised if Goebbels and his myrmidons ever celebrate their 25th anniversary feast of lies."

Col. Astor, publisher of the London Times, told the gathering the continuous effort of the E.P.U. to keep newspapers of the Empire in touch with each other have been a constructive contribution to Commonwealth solidarity.

The union had worked to insure that war news should reach the various parts of the Empire fully, accurately and swiftly. It had successfully resisted unnecessary censorship, brought about introduction of the Empire penny press rate for cabled matter which it was hoped would be continued after the war—and now was working on further improvements in communications.

"If this is to be a better world after the war the Empire cannot hold itself an essential part to play," he said. "Call it commonwealth, call it what you will, I refer to that wonderful partnership of great nations which forms the most stabilizing factor in the world. Whatever developments may come these countries will have and need their free, informed and honest press. To that end the editors of this union should surely pledge our loyal and devoted service."

Each dominion and some colonies were represented at the gathering

RELEASING STEEL

Munitions Minister Announces Big Increase For Plates Implement Companies

OTTAWA Munitions Minister Howe told the commons that steel released to farm implement companies in the fiscal year 1944 45 will be 81,700 tons an increase of 271.1 per cent. over the amount used by the companies in 1939

The minister was replying to inquiries about possible increase in the output of farm labor-saving machinery.

He said that if more steel was required for the implements industry it might be available, but he knew nothing of the labor supply situation.

CARGO VESSELS

Merchant Ships Built In Canada Have Been In Demand

OTTAWA.—Operations of government-owned wartime ships were quite profitable, Munitions Minister Howe said in the commons. So far Park Steamship Company, the organization set up to handle the ships, had turned over $10,000,000 to the Dominion treasury.

To date 82 merchant ships had been built for Canadian operation and 30 more would be added during the current year. So far 58 had been loaned to the United Kingdom and more would be loaned this year. One would be loaned to Australia. So far 90 ships had been sold to the United States for cash and two to Britain.

It was not thought wise, he said, to go into the construction of passenger or fast freight steamships. Experience in the past was such ships could not operate without subsidy.

He said it was hoped the efficiency of Canadian yards would be such that operators of these would seek vessels built in Canada. The Dominion was building ships that would be the backbone of the merchant fleet.

Mr. Howe said the rated speed of the cargo ships was from 11 to 11½ knots.

New Shortwave Transmitter To Open This Year

OTTAWA.—Canadian radio will go to war between October and December, firing words and music from a new shortwave transmitter at Sackville, N.B., it was disclosed

Dr. Augustin Frigon, acting general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, continued his report to the commons radio committee, outlined the set-up of the new station

Previous reports said broadcasts would be given in various languages —including German and Japanese— and transmitted in much the same manner as similar broadcasts from the United Kingdom and the United States.

Dr. Frigon said there are quite a number of points to clarify, "one of the most important being to make arrangements with other broadcasting organizations for the re-broadcast of our most essential programs."

Dr Frigon did not elaborate on this last point but it was believed he was referring to possible agreements with the British Broadcasting Corporation for picking up the Sackville transmission and relaying it to the desired areas. Canadian programs have previously been carried to Britain most effectively through United States transmitters.

Possibility of establishing a shortwaves transmitter at Vancouver to augment the one under construction at Sackville N.B. and thus provide complete world coverage for Canadian psychological warfare, propaganda and goodwill came before the commons radio committee Dr Augustin Frigon announced the Sackville transmitter was expected to give a good world coverage to all areas with the exception possibly of India and China

Historic Planks To Help Along The Victory Loan

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY.—Canadian soldiers had driven the Germans from the Moro valley and were beginning the bitter, eight-day fight for Ortona.

Ruthless paratroopers were destroying everything to delay the Canadians and much which would never serve any military purpose. As the December night closed over the ancient Adriatic port, a great explosion rent the air followed by the crash of falling masonry.

The Germans had blown up the Basilica of St. Thomas the Apostle, the protector of the Abbruzzi. This was Dec. 31, the fete day of St. Thomas, the day pilgrims flocked for centuries to the apostle's crypt so their subsequent journey to Rome might be safe.

From this historic cathedral built upon the stones of a Trojan temple, have come nine chestnut planks They are to be used by the nine provinces of Canada on the occasion of the sixth Victory loan campaign.

When the Canadian army public relations unit was asked for the wood the request stipulated only that it be obtained from the Canadian battlefront, from a building damaged by enemy action. The planks which were chosen came from a bench in the crypt of St. Thomas. Don Pietro Di Pulvio Parroco of the basilica gave it willingly "In a good cause"

Ortona was the scene of one of Canada's most famous battles and the tall, pleasant priest was proud that even in its ruins his basilica might find a place in Canada's further contribution to victory.

When the basilica was destroyed by the Germans Don Pietro removed the casket and silver bust containing the apostle's skull. The crypt is a shambles, the great dome of the basilica a half-shell, but the relics around which they were built are unharmed.

FIGHTER PLANE

New Type Expected To Give Sensational Performance

LONDON.—The R.A.F. soon will have a new "super-fighter" with "more sensational performance than any now in use," it was stated in a cryptic announcement circulated in the London press.

The quasi-official announcement, not credited to any specific government agency said the plane had been designed by a leading British fighter aircraft constructor and "will be ready to join in the great sky battles over northwestern Europe this spring"

DECLARED EXEMPT

No Income Tax For Canadians Who Served At Rhine

OTTAWA.—Revenue Minister Gibson said in the commons it had been decided that Canadians who served with the force occupying Kiska in the Aleutians last year are not liable for income tax.

The question had been whether they had served outside the western hemisphere. Canadians serving in the United Kingdom, Europe and Africa are not liable to tax.

PURGE OF FASCISTS

NAPLES.—A sweeping purge of suspected Fascists in Naples province began with suspension of 680 Italians from posts in governmental and semi-governmental agencies and institutions. Twenty nine were dismissed outright and the others suspended pending public hearings before governmental purge commissioners

BROUGHT RESULTS

LONDON.—The persuasive powers of Mrs Winston Churchill are great. She visited the stock exchange and made an appeal on behalf of the Y.W.C.A wartime [illegible] Members of the exchange immediately donated more than $15,000.

REPAIR MEN TO BE LAID OFF

EDMONTON.—A. O. MacLachlan, manager of the national selective service here, said his office has been advised by officials of Aircraft Repair Limited, that approximately 650 men at the plant "will be laid off within the next few days."

LLOYDMINSTER MALL SALE

The 25th Annual Lloydminster Bull Sale will be held this year on Tuesday, May, 30th. This event plays an important part in maintaining and improving the quality of livestock in northern Alberta and Saskatchewan. In 1943 sixty-one bulls and two heifers were sold at the Lloydminster sale in spite of the bad weather prevailing at that time.

Mr. J. W. Durno, livestock auctioneer, Calgary, Alberta, will conduct the sale.

All animals offered must be tuberculin tested. This will be done free of charge on the owners farm by the Dominion Health of Animals branch. To allow time for testing and printing the catalogue, entries close Saturday, April 29th. For entry forms or catalogues apply to the secretary-manager, Lloydminster Exhibition Association, Geo K. Hass.

RED CROSS WORK VALUED BY BRITAIN

Appreciation of hospitals in Great Britain of the stream of Canadian Red Cross supplies was voiced Friday by Lieut. Nursing Sister Margaret Bridges who returned recently to Edmonton after five years in England.

"I certainly want the Red Cross to know how much the hospitals in Britain appreciate the Red Cross supplies," said the native Edmontonian. "The Red Cross has a definite part to play in this war—we in Britain depend on Red Cross supplies."

Mrs Bridges, formerly Miss Margaret Hunter, returned to Canada on a troop ship carrying hundreds of Canadian soldiers. On board ship she was assisted in routine nursing duties.

Because "it is impossible to sterilize gauze on the ship, the Red Cross sterile boxes were especially helpful," Lieut. Bridges said. Valor Hunter, a Saskatchewan, the M.C. in charge of the troops, and formerly stationed in reserve ships "particularly asked us to thank the Red Cross for supplies and would like to contact the person who packed the sterile boxes, tell them how each box was used" said the nursing sister.

Lieut. Bridges originally went to England to take a course in obstetrics in West Middlesex hospital, London. Two and one-half years ago she joined the Canadian army overseas.

Canadian Red Cross food supplies were particularly welcome—to help fill out the army diet for patients in the Fourth Casualty Clearing station, England, according to Mrs. Bridges. The Red Cross provided soups, fruit, tomato juice, canteen supplies and sweaters, she said.

Mrs. Bridges especially, liked the comfortable patchwork quilts made by the Canadian Red Cross, and supplied to hospital ward beds. While stationed at a Canadian Red Cross hospital, Canadian soldiers and airmen with head injuries, arms and legs blown off, shrapnel cases—from the Italian battle zone—came under the nursing sister's care. Some of the patients were Canadian soldiers, repatriated from German prison camps, she said.

Mrs. Bridges is on a three months leave, guest of her sister, Mrs. A Cloud, 11211 101 st. Two other sisters also live in Edmonton, and her husband, Charles, whom she married in Britain is formerly of Edmonton He is still stationed overseas.

WILDMERE WINKS

(Too late for last week)

We are indeed sorry to hear of Mr. Maxwell's loss of his garage by fire. Also of the folks whose cars were burned or damaged. Fire is a good friend and a bad master. Now is a point ne:ulest total closing of business places at noon hour. It leaves no one around to be on guard against such things. Jim Wallington, Jim Graham and Don Harrison were the first on the scene. Three children yelling fire drew their attention to it.

Pte. Earl Graham was up from Calgary over the week end to visit his children at Wallington's

Several attended the concert at Thorncliffe on Friday evening it was a very packed school and the program was grand, all did their parts very well. Miss Hall had all lady car drivers were as reckless as the one there, there would be a lot of wrecked cars. We think special mention should be made of John King as Rascal Pat, he was a typical Paddy alright. A short dance followed after supper. Mer'at fory music, Charlie sweeney M.C.

On Monday evening this week Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dibben put on a whist party at Hazelwood school. While not a large crowd attended it was a very enjoyable evening. Bingo was first played and then whist, Dorothy and Johnny Burke captured the two first prizes, Bill Smith consolation for him and Mr. Morley McCrae playing as a lady got a consolation also. In a lucky contest played just before supper Bill Smith was the winner. A dainty lunch of fruit salad was served. There is still some lemon prizes left so two rounds were played after supper The water was both enough to go three of them.

Sgt. Norman Smith returned to camp Shilo on Monday morning. His brother Adam accompanied him as far as Edmonton.

BEACH ASSAULT LANDING

Out of the early-morning mist laying over the water, a blunt, armored, paint-chipped boat's stern pushed its way silently, grates on the beach pebbles. Before the wash has had a chance to rustle on the shingle, a ramp forming the front of the boat lowers with a roar of chains and a thump, and a horde of grim efficient infantrymen are dagoged. Another beach landing is under way. The versatile infantrymen of this war have taken even to the sea in their pursuit of the enemy. They travel to enemy shores in landing craft of many sizes, each adapted for a particular use. Smaller types of these steel vessels carry only personnel. Others carry light tanks, jeeps, and small cannon; still larger ones nestle heavy tanks, supplies, heavy cannon, ammunition, and other requisites of warfare in their fat bellies. Some of these landing craft are the size of small freighters and are ocean-going. Others are carried on the decks of troop transports and launched as needed.

Denounces Mikado

Japanese Revolutionist Calls Hirohito Bloody Head-Striking Capitalist

Kamo Aoyama, a fugitive from Japan because of his anti-aggression sentiments, denounces the Japanese Emperor and offers the slogan, "Down with the Mikado!"

In a signed article published recently in the "Yu Kung Pao," of Chungking and forwarded by the North American Newspaper Alliance to the Canadian Spectator, the unspectacled, Japanese revolutionist called the Mikado a greedy, bloodsucking capitalist. He offered figures and facts to show that the Mikado is no good even to the Japanese themselves, but a mean and cruel human being. In his opinion, the only way to save Japan is to do away with the Mikado and establish a truly democratic government.

Without the Mikado the Japanese militarists would have no tool to fool the public and the world. They could be better controlled by a democratic government. Without the Mikado the Japanese despotism would have no mystic foundation to use against the people, he pointed out.

Aoyama ridicules the three "national treasures" of Japan - the sacred mirror sword and jade tablet. Japanese propagandists claim that the "treasures" were given to the first Japanese Emperor more than 2,600 years ago by the Goddess of the Sun Japan's patron god as symbols of power. Actually these "treasures" were made in the beginning of the present century at the order of the Japanese Imperial Household Office Professor Hamada, of the Kyoto Imperial University and Professor Takahashi, of the Imperial Museum, were responsible for the manufacture of the mirror and sword. The jade replica was made the jade tablet is still alive in the town of Izumo.

The sharp pen of Aoyama, who is past of face and stigal, bunch-backed has for years been a knife against the Japanese militarists. Besides containing a research office to study military political, social and economic problems of Japan, he edits a Japanese language fortnightly, International Affairs

No Man Ever Carried Heavier Burden Says American Writer

Hugh Malcolm McCormick, in the Miami Daily News, writes of "the titan stature of Churchill." "History holds," he says, "no parallel to Winston Spencer Leonard Churchill born Nov. 30, 1874; half American, half Briton; soldier, statesman, author, orator and world-citizen who, at 65, shouldered the most colossal burden ever laid upon a human soul—conduct of a world strewn empire against the mightiest onset to enslave humanity in all human time."

Molotoff Wants Road To Link Chungking And Moscow By Way Of Canada

Vice-President Henry A. Wallace writes that Vyacheslav Molotoff, Soviet Commissar of Foreign Affairs, hopes to see the construction of a combined highway and airway that will link Chicago and Moscow by way of Canada, Alaska and Siberia.

Wallace said Molotoff had expressed himself in favor of the combined highway and airway between the United States and Siberia when he visited Africa in 1943 at which time the question was broached to him by Wallace.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

APRIL 9

CHRIST'S VICTORY OVER DEATH (Easter Lesson)

Golden text: Thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ. I Corinthians 15 57.

Lesson: Mark 16:1-8. I Corinthians 15.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 73:23-26.

Explanations and Comments

Christ Is Risen! Mark 16:1-8. After sunset on Saturday evening, when the Sabbath was over, the two Marys and Salome bought spices and early on the next morning brought them to the tomb where Jesus' body had been placed. On the way they were troubled by the thought of the stone before the tomb that would be too heavy for them to move, but when they came within sight of the tomb, they saw that it had already been rolled away. They entered and to their amazement found a young man clad in white, sitting there. "Be not amazed," he reassured them, "ye seek Jesus, the Nazarene, who hath been crucified: he is risen; he is not here; behold, the place where they laid him!" The tomb as seen by Peter and John is described in John 20:5-7. Then he bade them hasten and tell the wonderful news that Jesus was risen, tell it to the disciples and to Peter, and that in Galilee they should see him. They left in fear and trembling, and kept silent for a time, but we knew from the Epistles that they delivered the message in the disciples.

Victory Is Ours Also. 1 Corinthians 15:51-57. Sun, moon and stars are all glorious, but they glory differs in degree, and even stars differ among themselves in glory. So also is the resurrection of the dead. To sum up the thought of verses 36-41: The actual resurrection of the dead is as possible as that plants of wholly different form should sprout from the seed sown by your own hand; and the form of each rises body will be determined by God, who finds a suitable organism for every type of earthly life, and can do equally for every type and grade of heavenly life, in a region where, as sun, moon and stars nightly show, the universal splendor is graduated and varied infinitely" (Expositor's Greek Testament).

The earthly body of flesh and blood cannot inherit the heavenly regions; for corruption cannot inherit incorruption. Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who according to his great mercy begat us again unto a living hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, unto an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, 1 Peter 1:4.

Know Their Bible

Canadian Engineers In Italy Make Good Use Of It

The Maple Leaf, Canadian Army Service paper, Italy edition, says:

They talk of King's Regulations, Canadian, as the barrack-room lawyer's bible. We are a bit surprised to learn that for a group of engineers their Bible is actually The Bible. The group of Canadian sappers make good use of it, too. Recently they looked for a suitable warning to place in a field sworn with German mines. Their choice:

"Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy ways be established. Turn not to the right hand nor to the left: remove thy feet from evil."—Prov. 4:26-27

The sign was the work of the Company Major.

Aircraft Carriers

Thirty-Eight Built In U.S. Since Pearl Harbored To Britain

Navy Secretary Frank Knox announced that 38 escort aircraft carriers built in the United States have been delivered to Great Britain under the Lend-Lease program.

"The fleet of 38 carriers will be a part of the anti-submarine fleet of the Allied nations," Knox said at a press conference.

The escort carriers, of approximately 10,000 tons displacement each, have been one of the most potent weapons against the German submarines in the Atlantic.

Knox pointed out that with the gift of 38 of the deadly little craft to Britain 50 remain in operation with the United States Fleet.

He said the carriers were delivered by the navy to Britain without their complement of planes and that the was not personally acquainted with how and when the planes were obtained.

Telephone Of Future

Will Answer Itself And Take Down Message For You

A telephone that will answer itself and talk back to you when you come home was predicted by Bell Telephone Laboratories Inc. in New York for after the war, says Newsweek.

The self-answering phone uses a recording device, usually a magnetic record on a steel tape, from which messages can later be erased by passing the tape between two poles of a magnet, thus permitting it to be used again and again.

If nobody answers the phone, the caller can start talking to the tape. When the person called comes home, he picks up the receiver and the message is "played" to him.

A variation of this device already in use records a two-way conversation for permanent records, but somebody has to pick up the receiver to make it work.

TRANSPORT for a NATION AT WAR

The Canadian National has been privileged to join with all the citizens of our country, including those who are serving in the armed forces, in the prosecution of the war. It believes that Canadians will be interested in this outline of some of the System's war activities.

Extracts from Annual Report of the Directors of the Canadian National System:

SINCE THE CALL TO ARMS

TOWARD THE END of the opening of hostilities the Canadian National began what then proved to be the largest and one of the most exacting war jobs in Canada. This job has continued day and night without stop for four and a half years.

ON OCTOBER 31, 1939 to March 16, 1944 the Canadian National carried over 100 million passengers and 300 million tons of freight. Since the beginning of the war the Canadian National Steamship Car Department has moved 11,551,307 meals.

THE RAILWAY not only handled twice the completed munitions of war, but brought in the raw materials to make them. Without this two-way service, Canada's magnificent job of production could not have been carried out. The Canadian National itself builds mine-sweepers, 12,000-ton freighters, and guns and ammunition, aircraft components, and parts for other gun factories.

OF THE 100 SHARING PROFESSIONS carried, a high percentage combined of members of the armed forces, and of those gathered for training and to shipboard for embarkation.

STEAMSHIPS OF THE COMPANY, though reduced in numbers by sinkings through enemy action, have served gallantly in the Atlantic convoy armed cruisers, hospital ships and transports.

MANUFACTURE OF MUNITIONS

The Company also extended its activities as a manufacturer of munitions, ships and naval appliances.

CANADIAN NATIONAL Express and Telegraph facilities have worked to capacity to meet our demands.

The Canadian National's nine all-year hotels, situated in cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific, have provided service of an unusual nature to those engaged in the war effort. All the Company's resort hotels are closed for the duration.

SIZE OF THE PERSONNEL in the Company's service in 1939 have joined the armed forces. At the present time 22,000 Canadian National men and women have purchased bonds to the amount of $10,950,000.

TRANS-CANADA AIR LINES, controlled by the Canadian National Railways, has carried 145,000 passengers during the war, 9,417,000 pounds of air mail letters, and 1,000,000 pounds of express or express. Trans-Canada Air Lines is also flying the Atlantic regularly with mail to and from the United Kingdom.

CANADIAN NATIONAL

The Largest Railway System in America

Highlights of 1943 Operations

Tons of freight carried	56,434,791
Passengers carried	24,888,731
Passenger miles	3,434,146,000
Net Operating	$46,146,000
Gross Revenue	$86,196,933
Total Payroll	$106,555,000
Average Number of Employees	101,120
Total System Man Miles	25,363

SOME OBJECTIVE IN 1940, as in other war years, was to place the full strength of our manpower and facilities behind the war effort of the United Nations. To this end all energies have been directed. The requirements of the armed forces, of industry and agriculture, for transport and other services, have been met in all of the nine Provinces of the Dominion and in the important sections of the United States in which we operate.

RECORD TRAFFIC

These demands were greater than ever before. the traffic moved in 1943 being 17.3% greater than in 1942, the previous peak war year, and 46.7% greater than in 1920, the peak immediately prior.

Freight traffic in 1943 was more than double that of 1939, and passenger traffic four times that of 1939.

Despite this, the very large movements of war materials and personnel reached their destinations in accordance with schedule arrangements. There was no lowering of the recognized standards of safety.

EARNING POWER

The 1943 operations demonstrated the great earning power of the System, the railway proving again that it can handle an immense volume of business economically as well as expeditiously.

After providing from revenue for all operating expenses (including deferred maintenance, depreciation, amortization of defence projects and reserve for inventories) and also a reserve for pension contracts, taxes, interest on funded debt and Government loans, the surplus paid in cash to the Government was $28,849,113.

OPERATING EFFICIENCY

The operating ratio for the year was 73.64% (on all-time record) as compared with 76.93% in 1942 and 81.99% in the peak peace year of 1928.

It is interesting to note that the vastly increased war traffic in 1943 was handled with 16.6% fewer locomotives, 13.4% fewer freight cars and 8.1% more passenger cars than war traffic of 1917, the fourth year of the last World War.

SPECIAL SERVICES PROVIDED

The Company was honoured in being selected to provide extensive train and other services for Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek during their visits to Canada in 1943.

POST-WAR

Changing conditions will call for new methods of railway operation and new types of service, and there must needs be a continuing search for improvement in all aspects of the railway industry. In view of this, the Company has in hand a programme of research. This programme, in addition to considering ways and means of improving service and efficiency of operation, also encompasses the problems of post-war reconstruction and rehabilitation.

THE OFFICERS AND EMPLOYEES in all departments of the System have worked hard and loyally to cope with increased responsibilities arising out of the war, and the directors record their appreciation and thanks. The traditional harmonious relations between management and employees were maintained throughout the year. Appreciation also is expressed to shippers and the travelling public alike for their cooperation in and sympathetic understanding of difficult operating conditions caused by the war.

CHAPTER X

We're here at last.

This morning in the first light of early dawn our transport put into the port of Greenock on the Clyde and now we're really in the British Isles and getting closer every day to the battlefront we've been itching for so long.

From Canada to here is one trip I'll never forget for plenty of reasons.

After lots of waiting around at Debert we finally got the word to move and it was sure a happy day with us fellows.

It was all hustle as we bade Canada goodbye and soon were aboard ship.

At first things seemed alright with the ocean as still as a slough on a quiet afternoon but brother it changed when we got out apiece and I was one of the first to be really sick.

After all the tossing I've gone through on the hurricane deck of a broom I didn't figure I'd worry about a ship tossing around a little bit but I really did, and we were on our way a couple of days before I finally got straightened away.

After it was all over the only thing I was thankful for was that months ago I hadn't joined the Navy, because I would have made a mighty poor sailor.

We were in a large convoy going across and although I'm not much with words I figure I'm safe in saying a good picture of us as we bit our across the Atlantic.

You know, that convoy reminds me of a herd of cattle being hazed in the home corral. Lots of the ships remind me of the steers and before mooseying right along while some of the freighters with their slower speed are just like the fat old cows. And the corvettes and other escort vessels are just like the cow hands riding herd on their charges.

Contrary to any reports being broadcast by the talkative chaps working for Hitler, the subs on the Atlantic run can't be cutting much of a slice. Take us, for instance. All the way across we don't have a "E" boat scare and the only planes that flew overhead carry our circle brand and are that tough looking months of the Germans.

Well, when we got here we pull in at night and it's darker than pitch, and what with these really proper blackouts over here it is daylight before we see anything at all. There we're so busy getting unloaded we don't catch much but a few glimpses of the busy port before we're on the dockside.

Right off we're loaded aboard a train and you should hear the boys' remarks. The train is nothing like our passenger trains at all and it has little coaches with about a dozen [illegible] in each. One thing about it is [illegible] with all those doors you can get [illegible] and nights quick [illegible] all we are on our way [illegible] train ride but [illegible] it has notable [illegible] like that on a toy train it sure [illegible] good.

[illegible] stop out at a place called Cal[illegible] where we have a hot lunch then [illegible] on our way again. Finally we arrive at a place called North Camp in Farnboro and from there we go to Core just outside of Aldershot which is going to be home for a while.

Right now all the boys are talking of getting landing leave and heading out to see the country. For me it will be Edinburgh because quite a spell back my folks came from there

CONTROL SPRING FIRES TO HAVE MORE BIRDS

Some Valuable Information

As winter retreats before the impact of spring, ducks and other birds are making northward to their summer homes. Ducks [illegible] already [illegible] Arriving in our Canadian West they will establish a [illegible] ly nor to work, producing another crop.

This year as always [illegible] to the [illegible] potential hatch will be destroyed before the new crop is raised, as the usual [illegible] fall. A big percentage will be destroyed by fire.

Spring fires blight myriads of birds' nests — and countless early broods. This vast destruction can be almost completely avoided by burning the stubble fields and hayland before April 20.

Ducks start to nest, from about the April 20. Prairie chicken and Hun partial [illegible] not along in May or the month of the pheasant [illegible] and [illegible].

These birds conserve thousands of bushels of grasshoppers — and grasshopper pests. Birds are traditional friends of all farm communities. In Europe and in other [illegible] where birds and wildlife are burned heavily. April 20 birds increase with astonishing rapidity. Let us that are to be conserved [illegible] should be burned over before April 20. This statement applies to all nesting on fields which are to be ploughed in the [illegible] crop or young grain in the [illegible].

Early controlled burning has proved its value. It is a best practice in wildlife management to [illegible] fence birds on the wing and check insect pests. Thousands of farmers realize this. Wildlife restoration work across the Canadian West. Their experience is that, where every acre burns stubble and hayland early in the spring birds again become abundant the following fall; crops are improved for [illegible].

With the [illegible] birds thrives [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Britain's Airfields

THE TRIPLE ALLIED air offensive against German-held territory in Europe, is the greatest operation of its kind ever to be undertaken. News reports give us a true conception of the large number of men and machines required for these mass attacks, but there are other important factors involved of which little is heard. In order to accommodate the fleets of aircraft which come and go day and night, many bases are needed, and for this reason Britain has been converted into what has been described as "one great airfield on the edge of occupied Europe." At one time the Island of Malta was called "The Unsinkable Aircraft Carrier", and it is now suggested that Britain might justly claim that title. Outstanding achievements in engineering, chemistry and finance have been accomplished in providing accommodation for the ever growing Allied air armada.

* * * * *

Exact Number Not Revealed

The number of airfields located in Britain is, of course, not revealed. However, some interesting facts concerning them have been made public. Paved runways, perimeter tracks and hard standings are said to total 160,000,000 square yards, which would be equivalent to a road 9,090 miles long and thirty feet wide. The amount of ballast and cement required for constructing these facilities was 30,000,000 tons. Other materials authorized included 18,000,000 cubic feet of wood of all kinds, 336,000 miles of cables, 9,450 switchboards, and many other items. The roads reached gigantic proportions, but in the 1940 Standard Book of Costs the money expended in this connection amounted to one-sixth of the national budget in peacetime. Included in this building program also, was the construction of a number of bases for the United States Army Air Force, carried out by the British government under a plan of Lend-Lease in reverse.

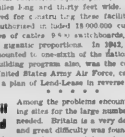
Suitable Soil Hard To Find

Among the problems encountered was that of selecting sites for the large number of airfields which were needed. Britain is a very densely populated country, and good soil is scarce. Also, it was necessary to find areas sufficiently removed from each other and from large centres of population. A further complication lay in the fact that much of the available space was swampy and that there was considerable areas of peat land. Dry, level terrain is essential for airports, but in utilizing land of this nature, the amount of acreage devoted to the cultivation of food crops, an important part of Britain's war economy, had to be curtailed. Labour and transportation difficulties, both of which are greatly restricted due to the war, were other obstacles overcome by the Air Ministry works department. Now completed, these airfields are providing part of the background for the mightiest air offensive of all time.

"Regular" again after 2 weeks!

"I was so happy to be able to give up all those pills and medicines for my constipation. They were mighty unpleasant. And expensive, too! I found, once I started eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN that I was soon "regular" again. I am most certainly pleased with the real relief it gives, believe me"



Yes, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really work wonders in cases of constipation due to lack of dietary "bulk"! It gets at, and helps correct the cause, by supplying the "bulk-forming" material needed for easy, natural elimination! Try eating a serving daily, with milk, or sprinkled over other cereals! Or, eat several ALL-BRAN muffins daily. Drink plenty of water! See if you, too, don't find welcome relief! Get KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN at your grocer's today — in 2 convenient sizes.

The skill of the British anti-aircraft gun crews as well as weapon performance, has immensely increased since 1940. The crews are trained and re-trained in gruelling gunnery courses. One Me 410 which crossed the coast north of London by night and was met by heavy anti-aircraft fire was shot down in pieces and fell from an altitude of over four miles with only 80 rounds.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—Do I still need to turn in a used metal tube when I buy tooth paste?

A—No, that order has been rescinded on account of the small amount of tin now being incorporated in new tubes. Consumers are asked, however, to continue to turn in their old tubes wherever possible as that their tin content may be recovered.

Q—Can I throw away my No. 8 ration book when the No. 4 book is issued?

A—Not if you wish to become eligible for canning sugar next summer, as the first 10 spare "P" coupons in the No. 3 book are to be used for that purpose.

—o—

Q—My dealer will not sell corn coals in cartons. He says he cannot purchase them but will charge the same price without the carton. Is this correct?

A—Yes, this is correct, the manufacturer from whom the coal cartons has been prohibited. There are still some coal in stock from stores with supplies on hand naturally use them. Absence of the carton would not make any difference in the price of the beverage.

—o—

Q—What should one do when she has lost her ration book?

A—Apply to the nearest Local Ration Board or branch office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

—o—

Q—My son is about to enlist for active service. Can you tell me what should I do with his ration book?

A—When your son leaves your home he should turn his book over to his parent to surrender his book to the issuing authority.

—o—

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumer Rationing" to The Home Book, the book in which you keep track of your rolling prices and mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Step in Agriculture

Farm Factories Are Forecast For The Post-War Future

The farmer of the post-war period will be as much a manufacturer as a producer of raw materials for industrial purposes, Dr. Howard Douse, of St. Louis, Missouri, told the Farm Journal.

Douse, the nation's leading professional manager of farms, with 350,000 acres under his supervision, says: "The next and biggest step in agriculture is the establishment of food and movable processing plants, handling agricultural products grown near by, which will cut, vacuum, dehydrate, refrigerate, concentrate, and fabricate these farm commodities."

Products of farms will be sent from utilities for processing in rural industries are those which are bulky, full of water, or perishable, and those where a large number of handlers have crowded between producer and consumer. By processing locally, will be done on individual farms, some by farmers' co-operatives, some by private industry, including rural branches of city industries.

Douse calls the new program "vertical diversification," explaining that to meet that, instead of raising many kinds of crops, known as "horizontal diversification," the farmer will concentrate on his most profitable crop, and make it as nearly ready for the consumer as he can.—Scientific American.

Film Showing

Regina W.V.S. In The First Centre In New Project

"The W.V.S. Centre in Regina is the first to train volunteers to operate 16mm film projectors in co-operation with the Volunteer Projection Service of the National Film Board" says a report from the Women's Voluntary Services Division, Department of National War Services, Ottawa. "Seventeen volunteers have taken the course and 20 more are on the waiting list. These trained operators will be of inestimable value to various women's groups. Training of women volunteers to operate these 16mm projectors so that more frequent daytime showings to women may be made in Regina is proving a valuable volunteer service in that city."

According to other reports, many Centres are becoming interested in what Regina has accomplished and plan to organize classes to train volunteers for this work, in order to enable them to have showings of films of consumer interest to various women's groups.

There are few volunteer jobs for which the volunteer does not require some training—whether the job is of the nature of canteen, Peterborough, Ontario, evidently had this in mind for the W.V.S. Centre there expected to the planning of a Mess Course. This course of training for volunteers was given in three lectures, the first dealing with personality and etiquette, including military etiquette, and the others with recreation and "Tips as a Hostess."

The Edmonton W.V.S. Centre has shown considerable interest in public speaking and volunteers have attended lectures on this art in the Edmonton Public Library. About 40 people attended each of the lectures.

Helps Weed Prevention

Suggested Methods For Ridding The Land Of Weeds

The old adage that prevention is better than cure is particularly applicable to the weed problem on the farm. Clean seed is the first consideration. By having a clean seed bed on well drained fields as soon as they are fit for cultivation and by sowing clean plump seed of adapted varieties of crops, the weed problem is still in the ground, conditions will have been created for a vigorous crop with a capacity to fight weeds successfully, states Herbert Groh, Division of Botany, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

The introduction of a variety of crops, differing in nature and culture, permitting early cutting in the case of hay or cultivation as regards corn or roots, will prevent weeds from maturing and at the same time do a service to the farmer himself. Rotation gives all fields the advantages of occasional cleaning, and while the west "tillage and spring preparation for late crops dispense in great measure with the necessity of summer-fallow and reduce hoeing to a minimum.

FOR THE VANQUISHED

Prime Minister Jan Christian Smuts of South Africa said he hoped it would be possible "in peace to avoid mistakes of the last war and give room to the vanquished the needs of existence." He opposed, however, granting colonies to Germany.

Good Seed

Is A Factor In Keeping Land Free Of Weeds

Good seed is better able to fight weeds. To be certain of obtaining good seed, buy only certified or registered seed. These grades are derived from crops inspected in the field and for which certificates are finally issued by the Plant Products Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture. Certified Seed and Registered Seed are legal grades under the Seeds Act of Canada. An inspection was a highlight of service concerts from coast to coast. ELKS SUPPORT NURSERY IN KENT, ENGLAND

For Children from Bombed Areas

Support of the Lucy Barn Nursery in Kent, England, where British evacuees from bombed areas are given food, clothing and good care, has been pledged for a period by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of Canada and Newfoundland through the Canadian Committee of the Save the Children Fund, it was announced today.

Besides adopting the Long Barn Nursery, the Canadian and Newfound land Elks through their 166 lodges have contributed more than $30,000 to the Fund within the past two years for the relief of British children suffering because of the war. One small lodge in Saskatchewan raised more than $1,000 in this amount.

In a message of appreciation to Col. Royal Burritt, Winnipeg, Grand secretary treasurer of the Canadian Elks, J. C. McRuer, K.C., Toronto, chairman of the Canadian committee of the Fund said: "All money subscribed by these lodges is distributed for the support of nurseries for bombed-out children, children's clubs and play centres in the bombed areas. Each Canadian raid on England brings devastation that adds to the problems involved in the relief of bombed areas."

Started in Britain a quarter of a century ago to relieve the children of famine-stricken Europe, the Save the Children Fund has found its work increased a hundredfold in the country of its origin since the war.

Life Restrictions At First Chance, Say Donald Gordon

"Naturally wartime controls cannot be suddenly abandoned but also precaution should be steadily in the direction of lifting them at the first opportunity," Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, remarked in the course of a luncheon address recently to the Quebec branch of the Retail Merchants' Association.

Mr. Gordon went on to say that "It has always been my personal view that controls imposed for the purpose of meeting the emergency of any kind should be removed as soon as the reasons which gave rise to them have passed. In the meantime, however, one of these restrictions by no means which gave rise to them have passed. In the meantime, however, one of these restrictions by no means welcomed by some sections of business and trade and opinions are being expressed that some controls should be kept and others abandoned.

"I believe it is quite impossible to pick and choose in this manner and that the only possible method of removing regulations of this type should be abandoned. The best hope for a established by sound and healthy economy after we have rid ourselves of the disease of war is to leave business as free as possible to operate under its own initiative and responsibility. We cannot have it both ways in regard to controls of this type. Either we accept the principle that they are justified only by reason of a war emergency or in the alternative we accept a form of a state control as part of our ordinary economy. If we try to compromise, we shall have the worst of both worlds."

CHATTERTON CHATTER

Considering the little show we had during the past winter there is quite a quantity of water in sloughs and ditches and across roads in some places, more in practically all points except in sheltered spots or northern exposures. Roads are very muddy as the frost is coming out now. Cars and trucks have cut some mud-holes quite deep.

There was quite a good turn out to the Box Social etc. held at the school last Friday. Whist winners were — ladies' 1st, Mrs. Davies, 2nd, Miss Castel, consolation, Miss Hodgins. Gents' 1st, Hugh Oehmieseen, 2nd, Mr. Davies, consolation, Frank Farash and Lloyd Oehmieseen (tied). Lloyd emerging the winner.

Mrs. Barney Kluskinsky (Jr.) and children, Barry, Gordon and Cecil motored to Lunn on Sunday morning's train for the coast.

Little Danny Bauer is laid up a patient in the hospital.

Mrs. Matt Farkash went to Lamont on Monday.

Many schoolchildren have been invited to Bird Hill to an Easter party on Thursday, April 6th.

RADIO GRAMS from Alberta

Though Jim "Pibber McGee" Jordan has been parked away to the hospital with pneumonia, the show must go on. Last week "The Great Gildersleeve" did a fine job of subbing and at the time of writing Jim's fans are curious to know who will take over at 79 Wistful Vista this Tuesday. Despite the fact that we're enjoying the Jones household still like to wish Pibber a speedy recovery, and we'd still like to wish Pibber a speedy recovery, and are looking forward to hearing an account of his stay in hospital. We're not sure when his return to the show will be — but if you remember to tune on CJCA every Tuesday night at 7.30 you'll eventually be on the web one more! And we assure you we'll be there.

Tune to this station Wednesday evening at 10.30, at 8.30 when the curtain goes up on the first all star hour of the Sixth Victory Loan series.

Thursday evenings have plenty in offer in the way of listening enjoyment. From 5.30 to 6 Tex Aldrich Family supply a full half hour of laughs. The adventures of Henry and his pals are consistently humorous and intriguing to young and old.

At 7 o'clock comes Bing Crosby with his pleasant Hooper of songs, and Jack Benny and his delightful crew have Bing back to the old Music Hall — and we hope this stay will be a hearty one — for a while. Follow a course that first in importance to his entertaining of the troops.

Vermilion Oil Plant Sets New Record

25,109 Barrels of Processed Oil Output for Month of March

The Vermilion Refinery Ltd. established an all time record for oil shipments from the Vermilion area for the month of March. A total of 115 cars or 25,109 barrels of processed oil were loaded according to information given during an interview with J. E. Swanson, general manager.

Mr. Swanson stated that the newly installed "Pressure" unit for cleaning the raw crude is meeting fully all expectations, and has removed all the doubts as to the cleaning capacity of the plant.

Keeping in step with the drilling program in the area, and to provide ample clean oil storage capacity, the refinery has erected a 2,100 barrel steel tank. Also under construction is an extension to the present railroad loading facilities in order to handle six or eight more cars.

Mr. Swanson stated that a sizeable drilling program for the present season is now taking shape, representing a number of interests in the Vermilion field. Already the Revnet Drilling Company has made a successful completion of Franco Dodge No. 1 on Sec. 19 for Franco Oils Ltd. They have under contract another well to be drilled at once on Sec. 30, to be known as Franco-Riley No. 1 for the same company.

The present season looks very promising, Mr. Swanson says, for a consistent drilling program in areas already known to be highly productive.

DEATH IN JOHN W. CLARK

Another link between Vermilion of the present day and that of over a quarter of a century ago was severed on Thursday last when John Wesley Clark passed away at the Vermilion hospital after an illness of a few weeks suffering from heart trouble. The deceased came west from near Arnabel, Quebec, to Calgary early in April 1914 and after a few months came north to Fort Saskatchewan where with Dr. Berry, a veterinary surgeon, he bought a farm intending to settle there. During the time there he built the public school building at the Fort. Learning about the prospects at Vermilion, he and Dr. Berry drove a democrat and team to Vermilion in 1904 where the deceased homesteaded on his present farm north of town and made that his home until last fall when he retired and purchased a home on First street North in Vermilion, in the early days he engaged in the building business. Several houses in town including the residence of Mrs. H. N. Hedges, Miss Lemley and the late Dr. Ryan were built by him. The latter home is now the property of Frank Baker. He erected a building for himself on First Street South for restaurant purposes which subsequently was converted into a picture show place, the Lux in Vermilion. He also erected the old store premises of Hopkins Bros. both of which Mrs. Clark disposed of by fire. The L. Winters block was built under his supervision. The deceased was also a director of the Vermilion Agricultural society and was a charter member of the Vermilion Lodge, A.F. & A.M. He was the last of the Graham family and his only immediate relatives are Mrs. Cookie and Mrs. Graham at Arnabel and a cousin Mrs. Lorne Graham, Prince Albert. He lived to the first of May he would have reached the advanced age of 85 years. The funeral services were held at Waring's Funeral parlors on Sunday afternoon April 9th. The Very Rev. Archdeacon Lewington officiated both there and at the graveside. Interment was in the Vermilion cemetery. The deceased was buried with full Masonic honors, the beautiful and impressive ceremony being performed under the direction of Wor. Bro. R. F. Heckbert, aiding with the Masonic honors being paid by the members of the Lodge over the grave of their departed brother. The casket was covered with many floral offerings, tributes from friends and the Masonic Lodge. The pall bearers were all members of the craft, H. J. Payne (Ed Davies, Roy Walker, T. H. Taylor Frank Baker and A. E. Pinchbeck.

J. Waring was in charge as funeral arrangements

84 YEARS OLD — WORKS EVERY DAY

I. Winters, esteemed and widely known Vermilion citizen, celebrated his 84th birthday anniversary last April 5th and while quite a number of men celebrate the 85th anniversary of their birth, few carry on their work at that age. Mr Winters still puts in his full day's work each and every day of the working week, and his trade of barber, shaving and repairing is one that demands care and precision. Since the war scarcity of new barbers has made the demands on his time and skill increase greatly, but in spite of this added responsibility he carries along cheerfully and still manages to take a keen interest in his work, his town, and the world happenings at large.

AND NOW — A "V FOR VICTORY" EGG!

One for Ripley

Prime Minister Churchill started something with his V for Victory sign. Since he made it popular the V has appeared everywhere with regardless being particularly ambitious in growing into V shapes. It remained for a hen however to top all efforts for she laid an egg—and believe it or not—it is in the shape of a V and a good one at that. The egg was laid by a hen on the farm of Joe Good at Clandonald, and he brought it into the Standard office where it is now on display.

VERMILION CHAPTER R.A.M. THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Vermilion Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, celebrated the 30th anniversary of its institution on Friday of last week with appropriate ceremonies which included addresses, the exaltation of two new members, a barbecue and a "get together" afterwards. There were present as guests Mr. Wilson G. Hutchison, Edmonton, the Grand First Principal of the Grand Chapter of Alberta, and Mr. A. West, Past Grand Principal and several other companions from Edmonton. The roll of the installing officers in April 1914 was read, scarcely any of whom are now residing in the province and the majority have passed on. A similar record was disclosed in the roll of the first meeting of the Chapter after its organization. Some of these names are widely scattered from California to British Columbia, to the eastern United States and Canada, and many have also passed on. A most delicious tom-boon was provided by the members of the Eastern Star and which was much appreciated by the gathering.

LOCAL RATION BOARD THANKED FOR WORK

J. W. G. Morrison, K.C., chairman of the local ration board is in receipt of a letter of thanks from D. Gordon, Chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board which says:

"The tremendous task of distributing the rationing books to the public books to Canadians has been completed successfully by 615 Local ration boards and their volunteer workers throughout the country. It is an achievement of which you may be proud — a tribute to community organization, enterprise and plain hard work.

You have been aided in your task by the full co-operation workers whose efforts in the national service have resulted in a substantial reduction in the cost of distribution. But the most remarkable feature is the further manifestation of Canadians' co-operation with the price stabilization program.

Distributing ration books is a colossal job, sometimes thankless task. We of the Board, do thank you. We are proud of your accomplishment. Can we count on your continued help in the days that follow?"

I have much pleasure on behalf of the Local board in passing the letter of thanks on to you and to those who so faithfully and efficiently assisted in the distribution in Canada's big book in our district. The Board extends to you its deep appreciation and sincere thanks on a "job well done".

J. W. G. Morrison, Chairman.

VAL BUDZILKA BUYS "RED CROSS" CALF

Val Budzilka of the Kokomo district purchased the calf donated by Red Cross calf belonging to Mrs. P. Cooper and sold by auctioneer W. J. Casterton in Vermilion on Saturday afternoon last. The calf brought $37.

The calf, a purebred 2 months old Holstein heifer with papers, was first donated by Mrs. Barr to the Carlton-Hughes-Thompson Red Cross branch. The ladies of this organization raffled the calf, and the lucky ticket was held by Mrs. Cooper, who in turn had the prize animal auctioned with half the proceeds being donated to the current Red Cross drive.

AND CARLSON SELLING OUT

Andrew Carlson is holding a big clearing out sale at his farm on the Vermilion-Kitscoty road, Monday, April 17th. The sale commences at 1 o'clock sharp and is going to be a big one, as Andrew is going to quit farming and is retiring to Vermilion. Monday is also the date of the Provincial Council of the Canadian Legion after a period of silence in memory of those who have made the supreme sacrifice in the cause of freedom.

The toast to the ladies was proposed by the local President, Mr. Watts and was fittingly responded to by Mrs. Harry Scott presiding officer of the Auxiliary who returned to the duties for assistance which may be met following the cessation of hostilities and the return to peace. Mrs. Scott pledged the support of members of the Auxiliary in meeting any demands which may be made.

Mr. George Martin proposed the toast to the Armed Forces and this was responded to by Lieut. Sam Watt of the C.W.A.C. who forcibly reminded the audience of the sacrifices which are being made on behalf of those on the home front. Lieut. Watt expressed the very great regret of all members of the C.W.A.C. Training Centre for the fact that the Centre is closed, to be closed and thanked the people of Vermilion for their help in operation in all efforts and for the generous hospitality which has been tendered the personnel of the Canadian Women's Army Corps during the past two years. Other C.W.A.C. staff members attending the dinner were Lieut. Barrington-Foote, Capt. Hesketh, Chaplain, Sergeant Major Greene and Staff Sergeant Virginia Horton.

Capt. Hesketh proposed a toast to the Provincial Command of the Legion in fitting terms, mentioning parts that the great youth which has been taken during the war period through the mission and entertainment centres set up by the Legion in the Provincial Command. In support of the toast that the Centre of the province and his personal interest in the organization and he was pleased to support this toast. Mr. Carlson in their further efforts to reorganize and equitable attitude of mind when fresh scenes, fresh problems and fresh people will be met with. He outlined that plan as a member of the C.W.A.C. and had no doubt the Legion in general would be interested in seeing that the people of the reestablish themselves in civil life.

Mr. Hesketh outlined the highlights of the Provincial Council meeting held in Edmonton on March 31st and 1st. He referred to the committee on rehabilitation and the education of those who have left their trade or their occupation for a time to serve against the forces of oppression and urged a general understanding of the problems which are to arise those of the men and women who have seen active service, but are the direct responsibility of every citizen.

Major J. W. G. Morrison was called on and after brief remarks presented to the Vermilion Branch a beautiful picture of the presentation of a machine gun to a Vermilion detachment during the last world war picture with the grounds where the high school now stands are shown well known Vermilion men in the persons of Norman Murray, formerly a barrister of Vermilion who gave his life in France, Sir James Outram still James J. Duncan. Mr. Duncan was present at the dinner and was introduced to the gathering. The pictures are greatly appreciated by the Legion and will be hung in the main room of the Memorial hall. The thanks of the Branch were extended Mr. and Mrs. Morrison by President Watts.

Mr. Don Taylor gave a most enlightening picture of the workings of the base post office at Ottawa, describing in some detail just how mail for the armed forces is handled; he pointed out that loss or mail was largely due to carelessness in packing and addressing.

PO Geoffrey Reimacombe, a local boy who has served in the air force for the past two years was present with his wife and was presented to the guests and made welcome.

Members of the Air Cadets arrived at the hall along 9 o'clock and Mrs. MacDonald or the T.M.C.A. entertainment staff of the C.W.A.C. Training Centre showed motion pictures of Gen Bradley's mission to Britain and Ireland to say the mission carried an impressive message and gave some hint as to just why all Canadians should unite in the support of Victory Loans and other war efforts.

A brief dance ended the evening's entertainment and many expressions were heard in favor of making the affair an annual one.

The summer weather continues and for the past week frost has been registered even at nights. Snow is still zone and farmers are contemplating an immediate start on the land. Good Friday and Easter Sunday were perfect summer days.

PULSE CROP SEED SUPPLIES DEMONSTRATED

Farmers who are interested in seeding grasses and legumes for hay and pasture purposes are advised by the Alberta Department of Agriculture that seed supplies are definitely limited. Already, supplies of certain kinds of seed are exhausted.

Because of the important place of forage crops in any permanent system of farming it is essential that farmers who plan to sow these crops this year should not be disappointed in securing seed. Fortunately, considerable supplies of Brome and Alfalfa seed were reserved by Alberta farmers. District agriculturists are able to advise as to available stocks of these kinds of seed, but it is essential that orders be placed without delay since it is expected that very little will be available in a short time.

SHORT EASTER VACATION

School children enjoyed one of the shortest Easter vacations for years, having just closed Friday and start Monday. Up to this year they had the whole of Easter week, amounting in all to a ten-day holiday. The shortened vacation was due to school not starting until Oct. 10 last fall.

BATTLEVIEW SCHOOL NOTES

The weather is fine, roads and fields are drying up and threshing is starting again. George Harrison started to thresh Tuesday morning. We have a wonderful country as there are not many places where you have two threshing seasons per year.

GARDEN NOTES

Buying Plants

For quick results, the use of started or budding plants will help. These may be secured from the nearest seed firm or florist or professional gardener. They are plants from thousand sown indoors, usually in a hotbed or greenhouse, and are well grown when set outdoors as soon as danger from frost is over. They now come in a great variety of both flowers and vegetables.

Only by the use of certain started plants is it possible to get flowers and vegetable maturity in some parts of Canada. Petunias, for instance, would rarely reach blooming stage in most parts of Canada if sown from seed outdoors. The same is true of tomatoes, and possibly of cabbage and other things. In transplanting these from the flats or hotbeds in which we buy them, one should water well, and if the soil is hot it is a good thing to provide a little shade for a day or two. Also, if these plants are in flower or are very tall, it is advisable to snip off flowers and pinch back main stems to encourage bushy growth.

Speed Up Plants

There are various little ways the experienced gardener uses to hasten things along. With tiny seeds like those of lettuce, onions, etc., sowing will be more economical and need less subsequent thinning if the fine seed is mixed with a little sand and the mixture spread thinly along the rows. Allow perhaps a pinch in a sunny, warm room for a week or two and see that you get a thin stand in planting. Soak the seeds of beans, peas, beets, etc., before planting.

For tender and crisp vegetables growth must be kept speeded. If because of neglect, drought or any other reason growth is allowed to halt for a few days then tough, woody fibre results and both flavor and texture are impaired.

Professional gardeners get quick, tender growth by pushing things along. They use a good deal of fertilizer, cultivate at least once a week, and more often in dry weather, and they get their vegetables plenty of room for development. The means such things as carrots, radish and beets, etc., are thinned from two to four inches apart, and when this space is filled one can start harvesting every other plant, leaving the rest for further development.

Another way the professionals ensure tenderness is to have their vegetables coming along in succession They would not think of planting all their carrots, beets, beans or anything else at the same time. They spread sowings over several weeks. In most parts of Canada one can go on planting carrots, beets, beans and other things right up to the middle of July, thus ensuring a continuous supply of the highest quality young vegetables, until frost.

Muskrat Crop

Thousands Of Trappers Are Engaged In A Lucrative Business

All winter long our streams and marshes have lain silent and still under the grip of ice and snow. But with the approach of spring that quiet places are becoming the scene of intense activity. Thousands of trappers are beginning the spring harvest of Canada's $3,500,000 muskrat crop.

Clad in warm clothes and hip boots, the hardy trapper braves the raw winds and cold waters in the early morning to discover what Lady Luck has brought to his trap-line. This is the first step in a chain of events which will result in warm and beautiful coats for my lady of fashion.

The fur of the muskrat is soft and durable and the hunter's pursuit is to the public in many pleasing forms. It is used extensively in its natural, undyed state. One of the most popular processed forms is known as Hudson Seal. A special exhibit at the Royal Ontario Museum shows the various steps by which the long-haired, brown pelt of the muskrat is converted into short-haired, glossy Hudson Seal. Muskrat is also dyed and processed to resemble other furs such as mink, or fur-seal. However, the finest muskrat pelts are those which are for the furrier. They do not concern the busy trapper as he harvests his spring crop, racing, not as the farmer does against the advent of frost and snow, but against the approach of warm weather which rapidly dens the pelt of the muskrat unprime and commercially inferior.

Britain Supplies Maps

Royal Engineers Responsible For Production For The Armed Forces

Britain has, for years, been a producer of first-class maps, and has been able to apply a great amount of expert experience to keep the British Army supplied—and not only the British Army, but the American Forces. Under Mutual Aid Lend-Lease, Britain supplies all maps used by the United States Army and the U.S.A.A.F. in Britain or based on Britain, and most of the maps used by the United States Forces in the Mediterranean theatre. The responsibility for map production and supply rests with the Royal Engineers, which has developed a widespread organization of highly-trained experts to do the job. One of the main jobs of Royal Engineers Survey in the fields is to supply, at short notice, accurate maps of any locality, and to provide them where, when and in the quantity needed. Every unit is equipped with a truck in which a complete photolitho and rotary printing outfit is contained The press prints in color at the rate of 4,000 copies per hour. At one point during the North African campaign, the Royal Engineers' mobile presses worked 24 hours a day, every day for six weeks without a break.—Bl. Thomas Times-Journal.

Ran His Own Special

Naval Officer Borrowed A Train From Mediterranean Is Study

They tell a story now about a naval officer who landed with invasion forces on the west Italian coast of Sicily and had to go to Syracuse 200 miles away. All railway trucks had stopped because the line ran too close to the fighting front. So the officer borrowed a train from the local stationmaster and ran his own "special". The officer was Lieut. G. S. Ritchie, D.S.O., Royal Navy, of Aberdeen. He had several ratings with him and some gear on, he said, "to go by train was the simplest way."

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—
Horseshoe--And Clover Leaves
By NELEN PARTCH
McClure Newspaper Syndicate

There was nothing in the day to cause apprehension—blue sky, high cloud puffs, and air like wine. But Lola gripped the car as it slid to a stop by the airport, and her eyes sought Benny's anxiously. "You won't be long?"

"About an hour. Sure you won't come along?"

"I can't."

Your mother had no right to make you promise. Everyone dies."

"I know. She'll feel better about it after a while."

"I hope so." Benny squeezed Lola's hand and hopped out of the car. "But I'll be back up with you soon. Can't have my wife grounded."

Lola flashed. Wife. Yes, she would be Benny's wife in a few weeks now. The thought brought color to her cheeks and a catch in her breath. She said above the catch, "We—we couldn't drive over to Carlton Field, could we?"

"Worried? You couldn't be worried." Benny's eyes were intense.

"N—o."

Benny glanced hastily around, leaned into the car and kissed her. "Who cares?" he said, his own breath a little short. "Let 'em care!"

Lola watched him jump the long, and stride across the field. A plane was just taking off—a blue and silver plane. Six occupants now, and a girl in a red jacket. Lola had seen them climb into the cabin. The girl was laughing. Everyone took a place in his stride. Everyone who could. There were four privately owned planes on the field in front of Lola now. Not Benny's. He would bring his from the hangar.

But he didn't. He came out and trotted back across the field. "Something's gone wrong," he said. "Pete found it when he fueled the bus and started to bring her out. They're working on her now. But I've got to make Carlton Field in fifteen minutes to meet Major Donley. Carl's taking me."

"Oh, Benny, I knew it!"

"Know what? It's just a minor matter. Anyway, I'm going with Carl. What's eating you, baby?"

"I don't know." Lola twisted her hands together. She didn't know. Except that she was acting silly. "Couldn't we drive over?"

"Twenty miles in fifteen minutes? Listen, sweetheart—"

Lola leaned forward. She had noticed something. A little gold pin on the lapel of Benny's coat was dangling. "Your pin" Benny you didn't fasten the safety."

"Thought I did." Benny lifted a hand to the pin. Behind him on the field Carl's gangling figure was climbing into the cabin of his plane. Benny said "Got to be going sweet heart."

Lola called after him. "Don't lose the pin Benny." She tried to fix her mind on it a tiny horseshoe and its four-leaf clovers. Used to remember the day she had given it to Benny, fastening it to his coat with fingers that trembled a little because his fa- was so close, and because he had just kissed her, his lips warm and eager on her own.

She heard the engine of Carl's plane sputter, stall, catch. She watched the plane wobble across the field, gain speed, rise slowly, steadily—and take to the air. She thought I'm a crazy fool. There is nothing to be afraid of. Everyone is careful. Benny's ashamed of me

She turned on the car radio. Fools rush in . . . Open your heart and let this fool rush in." She shut it off.

The blue and silver plane had come back. The boy got out, and the girl with the red jacket. She was still laughing. She stooped and picked up something. She held it in her hand as she came towards the car. She said to the boy, "This little thing. I wonder whose it is?"

Benny's pin! Yes, it lay in the girl's hand, a little horseshoe, and two four-leaf clovers. Lola called apologetically, "I guess that's my pin. At least—"

"Oh!" The girl came over and gave it to her. "Glad I found it."

Lola fastened it on her coat. She looked at the clock. Only twenty minutes! She turned on the radio again, then shut it off. What on earth was the matter with her?

Less than an hour had passed when she heard Carl's motor. It was ship-ping badly. The engine died, then caught and held with all cylinders firing freely. Lola would know that black plane with the silver wings anywhere. She shielded her eyes and watched it. How silly she had been. How silly!

And then it happened. One minute the plane was in the air. The next it hurtled towards the ground. It crashed nose down, far out on the field, and turned over on its side. Someone ran to it. Spectators ran towards the plane. Lola ran with them. It was she who had screamed The sound of explosion, and the sickening crash of the plane. They pulled someone from the cabin. A single man. The other was burnt like flames. Lola went down. Right there in the middle of the field.

When she came to, Carl was with her. He was calling her name distractedly. "I'm all-right, Lola. And Benny is back at Carlton Field."

"At Carlton Field—"

"Yes. He lost a pin or something, and wanted to look for it. He sent me up to pick him up in my plane in the car. He was afraid you would worry if we were away too long."

Lola's eyes slipped to the burning plane. It was all too apparent what had happened. Benny had not happened in on the lower side. Her hand slipped to the pin on her shoulder. It rested against her father's shiny gold horseshoe, and two four-leaf clovers.

Canada's Food Rules

The Vitamin C Values Of Available Foods Compared

Canada's food rules call for one serving of tomatoes or citrus fruits or their juices every day. These are the food which are the best year-round sources of vitamin C and one serving supplies more than half the day's needs The rest of the day's supply of this vitamin comes from the three servings of vegetables and the one serving of other fruit, prescribed by the food rules

If it is a question of how to use citrus fruits or tomatoes daily, extra servings of vegetables and other fruits will help make up the deficit. To show how these compare with citrus fruits in vitamin C value, Nutrition Services at Ottawa has worked out a chart.

A value of 10 has been set for one serving of citrus fruit or tomatoes and on that basis extra servings of the fruits and vegetables listed have been given comparative values

One-half cup applesauce 3, two small bananas 3, ½ cup cooked black currants 15, ¼ cup cooked broccoli 15, ½ cup kale 10, 4 rounded tablespoons cooked cauliflower 5; ⅝ cup cooked or raw cabbage 5; ¼ cup cooked green or wax beans 5, ¼ cup cooked peas 5; medium baked potato 5; ½ baked potato (mashed) 3, while the same potato mashed with cream rates 1. ½ cup cooked squash 5, ½ cup cooked turnips 5, 3 large raw turnip sticks 3, 1 cup cooked parsley 3; 4 large radishes 2

High Potato Yields

British Columbia Grower Produced 900 Bushels Per Acre

The distinction of having grown what is considered to be the highest yield of potatoes per acre ever obtained in Canada—900 bushels per acre, of which 843 bushels were of marketable grade—goes to Leslie Gilmore, R.R. 1, Steveston, B.C., when he took part in the 1943 potato competition of the Columbia Potato Growers' Association, Lulu Island British Columbia. The Association has held these competitions annually for the past 10 years with the object of benefiting the potato industry at large by increasing yield per acre, quality, and demand, and by obtaining more uniformity in type

These annual competitions are assisted by persons interested in improving the potato crop and by officials of the Dominion Department of Agriculture who also act as judges and verify the yields. In 1943 competition, the members of the Association in general obtained the highest yields per acre they ever had. Also the quality of the crop was much above average. The variety for the competition was "Netted Gem" which is popular in British Columbia and in several of the Western States. It has been grown commercially in British Columbia and Alberta for the past 40 years. "Netted Gem" is not considered to be one of the highest yielding varieties, hence the 1943 record yield is all the more outstanding. Incidentally, the fancy wrapped and boxed potatoes imported into Canada and sold as "Idaho Bakers" are the same variety as "Netted Gem".

"COMBINED OPERATIONS INCLUDE YOU"

● Invasion demands more action from every fighting service . . . combined operations. Combined operations include you, too.

Despite the shortage of help and equipment, Canadian farmers have responded nobly to demands for increased production of foods.

But there is one thing on which a better job can still be done.

MORE MONEY is needed to fight a more intensive war.

All Canadians will be asked to furnish this money. It's a duty that we who are at home owe to the men on the fighting fronts.

In these days most farmers have higher incomes . . . money to save. And that is the job that they are asked to do . . . save money and lend it to Canada.

You are not asked to give money . . . just to lend it. When the war is over you'll have this money to "plough back" into your farm. So save now to lend to your country. Save to have money to improve your farm; money for new stock and implements; money for more land or new buildings . . . for a new car . . . for new furnishings and conveniences for your home.

All you can lend is little enough for a cause so vital for a need so urgent. And the more that you can save and lend to your country now, the more you will have for your own use when the war ends.

NORRISON

By the numerous signs of spring it appears that the winter months are over for another year. Crows, gophers and crocus buds have been seen in the district. By the middle of the week it will probably not be an uncommon sight to see plows and seed drills on the move again.

Word has recently been received from L. Cpl. Laurence Gould saying that he is back at his duties again after being in hospital for quite a spell with malaria fever.

Mrs. Harry Van Den Dolder returned home from the coast where she visited with Florence and George for a few months. Part of her trip was made by airplane

The school kiddies have been continuing their purchases of war savings stamps generously, and have up to now saved slightly over a hundred dollars worth this term. Good work children!

The last club meeting was at the home of Mrs. Payne where a quilt was started. Six members and one visitor were present.

Mrs. Wells has recently received 200 baby chicks from the hatcheries. They were the first ones in the district, but not the only ones as Granny Sherwood and a hen hatch out five on Sunday April 2nd.

Betty Giles is home again to help with spring work, after being employed in town for a few months.

Mrs. Gunn Jr. plans to visit the city during the Easter holidays where she will be with her husband during his furlough.

Granny Sherwood celebrated her 76th birthday Easter Friday at the Giles' home. May you enjoy many more Granny.

Mrs. Bert Gould sponsored a tea on Friday afternoon for the ladies club in this district. An enjoyable time I reported.

Wheat flour production in Canada in 1943 totalled 24,474,695 barrels or 2,774,300 barrels more than in 1942.

Rural Housing Has Important Place In Post-War Planning

OTTAWA.—A building program to provide Canadian farmers and farm laborers with an average of 9,400 new houses annually for twenty years at an estimated total cost of $282,000,000 is recommended by the Report on Housing and Community Planning prepared by the Committee on Reconstruction.

The Committee recommends replacing 100,000 farm houses which are in such bad condition that it is better economy to replace them than to repair them. In addition it calls for the erection of 35,000 new farm dwellings to house farm families who are now sharing homes with other families.

Another 43,000 farm homes are needed to replace these which become obsolete and run down as time goes on.

It is recommended that this total of 188,000 new farm houses be regarded as a minimum target, and that the building of them be spread over a twenty-year period.

The Report suggests setting up a special rural division of the National Housing Administration, or a Farm Housing Advisory Committee, in the Department of Agriculture to co-ordinate farm housing with other policies affecting land utilization, production credit, marketing arrangement, trade and price policies, and farm labor policy.

A proposed Farm Improvement Plan could be set up to provide for government subsidies on interest or on capital, and to grant long-term loans at low interest rate. It is also recommended that the Government pay mortgage insurance instead of the farmer.

Other recommendations include the erection of farm laborers' cottages and community centres, and the donation by the Federal government of electrical, plumbing, heating and refrigeration equipment to farm housing projects in return for the labor of installation.

D. C. Jones Again Wins Hard Production Competition

The Department of Agriculture Trophy for the highest average production of butterfat for herds under test with the Provincial Cow Testing Service was won by D. C. Jones of Lodge for the second successive year.

Mr Jones' herd of Holsteins, with nine completed records showed an average of 16,766 pounds of milk and 529.3 pounds of butterfat. These cows are producing over three times the amount produced by the average cows in Alberta.

If land end on end, consumers' ration books in Canada would stretch from Toronto to Winnipeg.

WOODVALE

Easter has come and gone with lovely spring weather and was enjoyed by all. Jay King was home from Edmonton, returning Sunday night. Mrs. Heidebrecht of Vermilion spent the long week end at the Van Wageningen home, while her daughter Ruby was a guest of the Crocker family.

Farmers are busy preparing for spring work and are branching and vacinating their cattle, cutting their wood—and weather permitting several threshing outfits will be on the job again. Threshing in spring is getting to be a habit around here — a habit no one likes.

We heard that Virginia Cannuston, formerly of Woodvale, has joined the C.W.A.C. and has been in training at Vermilion for the past month. We are very sorry that we haven't seen anything of her during that time.

Wedding bells will ring this week for one of our Woodvale bachelors and are we glad in this community to have a couple settle in the district instead of moving out, as has happened so often lately.

Betty Sweeney has been working in Vermilion the past few weeks at Captain' cafe.

Roger de Breville spent the Easter in Lloydminster with his daughter Evelynn, and plans to visit Edmonton afterwards.

Mr. Thomas of Kilmorly is busy drilling wells for farmers around here. He completed one at Bob Wilson's, two at Sweeney's and is busy at Gautier's now.

Peter Gautier, the Red Cross canvasser around here, reports a collection of $131, almost 50 per cent more than last year and he wishes to thank everyone who so generously donated money and the people who so kindly sent him the money, or left it for him at Kohnee store, which saved him many a cold ride.

The Gautiers and Arnot Brown test a battery in the Maxwell garage for Roy Gordon is working in the Strother blacksmith shop at present.

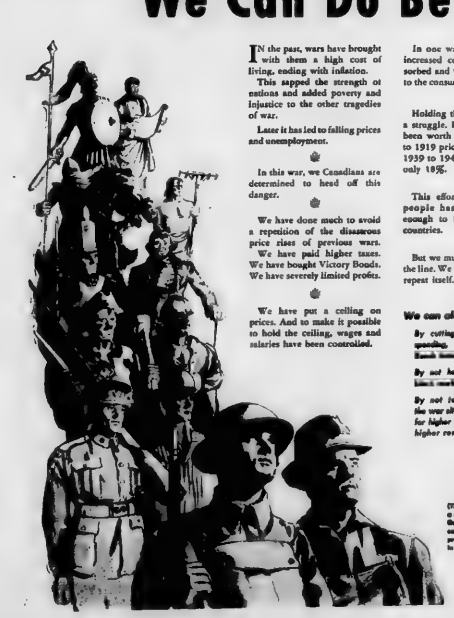
We Can Do Better



IN the past, wars have brought with them a high cost of living, ending with inflation.

This topped the misery of nations and added poverty and injustice to the other tragedies of war.

Later it has led to falling prices and unemployment.

In this war, we Canadians are determined to head off this danger.

We have done much to avoid a repetition of the disastrous price rises of previous wars.

We have paid higher taxes.

We have bought Victory Bonds.

We have severely limited profits.

We have put a ceiling on prices. And to make it possible to hold the ceiling, wages and salaries have been controlled.

In one way or another most increased costs are been absorbed and very few passed on to the consumer.

Holding the ceiling has been a struggle. But the results have been worth while. From 1914 to 1919 prices rose 60%. From 1939 to 1944 the rise has been only 18%.

This effort of the Canadian people has been successful enough to be noted in other countries.

But we must continue to hold the line. We need not let history repeat itself. We can do better.

We can all help—

By cutting down unnecessary spending, and buying Victory Bonds instead.

By not hoarding or buying in black markets.

By not taking advantage of the war situation to press claims for higher prices, higher wages, higher rents or higher profits.

This advertisement is one of a series being issued by the Government of Canada to emphasize the importance of preventing a further increase in the cost of living now and deflation later.)

Devotional reading: I Timothy 6. 11-16.

Explanations and Comments

Paul Preaching at Damascus. Acts 9:19-25. Two weeks ago we left Paul in Damascus a changed man. The vision of Christ on the way there had changed the rabid Pharisee, the hated persecutor of Christians into a contrite follower of Christ. In the first chapter of his letter to the Galatians, Paul refers to the story in Arabia about which Luke makes no mention: "When it was the good pleasure of God to reveal his Son to me that I might preach him among the Gentiles straightway I conferred not with flesh and blood, neither went I up to Jerusalem to them that were apostles before me, but I went away into Arabia, and again I returned into Damascus. Then after 3 years I went up to Jerusalem." It is thought that by Arabia he meant, not the Arabian Peninsula, but the country of the Nabateans in the region of Damascus. Here in solitude Paul thought out his vision and all that it implied for him and his future work, even as Jesus at the beginning of his ministry had gone into the wilderness to meditate on his mission.

On returning to Damascus Paul straightway boldly proclaimed in the synagogues that Jesus is the Son of God. The Jews who heard him were amazed, recalling among themselves how he had come to Damascus with the avowed purpose of arresting the believers in Jesus. Paul grew strong by his Christian experience and ability to preach, and was constantly "proving that this is the Christ."

The Jews sought to apprehend him. Paul tells briefly what happened in his second letter to the Corinthians (2 Cor. 11:32, 33): "In Damascus the governor under Aretas the king guarded the city of the Damascenes in order to take me and through a window was I let down in a basket by the wall, and escaped his hands." He was smuggled out of the city by night, as if a criminal fleeing from justice.

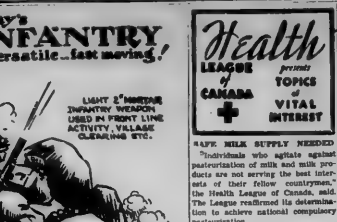
Paul Preaching at Jerusalem. Acts 9:26-30. Paul entered Jerusalem, not "breathing threatening and slaughter against the disciples," but breathing Christian fellowship and good will for them. When he tried to join them, they were skeptical of his discipleship and were afraid of him. Paul found that past was against him.

"Paul had come to visit Cephas" (Gal. 1:18). He had not come to be inducted into the apostolic office. Human authority he had received from the Lord Jesus, not from man (Gal. 1:1). But Paul wished to carry on his Gentile ministry in harmony with the apostles and there was much that he could learn about the earthly life of Jesus from Simon Peter during these two weeks. But the disciples were afraid of him. The wolf might shrive off the sheep's clothing and again ramus the fold." (A. T. Robertson).

But Barnabas, "that good man" (Acts 11:24) came to his rescue. He took Paul by the hand, presented him to the apostles, and guaranteed the reality of his commission and the worth of his work in Damascus. Barnabas succeeded in setting the fears of the disciples at rest, and they admitted Paul to intimate and full fellowship.

CANNOT GET OFF

Mrs. Kingston lads hopped on an open freight car for a free ride and couldn't get off again until the train stopped at Belleville, Ont., 50 miles away. Something like that happened to Hitler when he hopped on his war chariot.



2-INCH MORTAR

Chief Sitting Bull would have had his own name for it; probably "Small stove-pipe go boom: Make much smoke." But the Old Chief wouldn't have sat long in the vicinity of bursting 2-inch mortar bombs.

Primarily a smoke-producing weapon for screening movement, and unexcelled in that role, it is also a regular little Jack the Giant-Killer when it comes to lobbing high explosives into inaccessible enemy positions. It doesn't pack enough authority to be useful against armour-plate, pill boxes or even buildings, but in an anti-personnel role it's a mean little devil capable of peeking out the enemy in his hidden positions and making life very, very miserable.

Every infantryman is a 2-inch mortar man, so that no matter what happens there's always someone handy who can put the weapon into action.

That's the Infantry! The versatile lads with brains and fighting heart.

Health League of Canada presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

SAFE MILK SUPPLY NEEDED

"Individuals who agitate against pasteurization of milk and milk products are not serving the best interests of their fellow countrymen," the Health League of Canada, said. The League reaffirmed its determination to achieve national compulsory pasteurization.

"Those individuals who, chiefly by letters to newspapers, attack the advisability of pasteurization are either ignorant of the facts or are prompted by other motives." The Health League declared. "The public should realize that these persons are setting up their unsupported opinion against the universal findings of the medical profession and associated scientific workers.

"Milk is a wholesome, beneficent food, if proper precautions are taken. In its raw state it is a menace to health and life," the League said. "It is doubtful if in all the years summer diarrhoea among people have been killed, as there have been by drinking unpasteurized milk."

"Weeding out of dairy herds those animals which suffer from tuberculosis, Bang's disease, and other communicable diseases, is a necessary step, but this alone will not assure a safe milk supply," it was stated. Milk has frequently been found to have been contaminated by human handlers.

"Those who oppose pasteurization should be prepared to accept some responsibility for the harvest of illness and sickness taken annually in Canada by such milk-borne diseases as bovine tuberculosis, undulant fever, typhoid and paratyphoid fevers, septic sore throat, diphtheria and scarlet fever."

Canada's War Effort

Dana L. Wilgress, Canadian Ambassador to Soviet Russia, was host at a dinner in Moscow to Russia's new Ambassador to Canada, George Zarubin, and Mrs. Zarubin.

Ilya Lagiday has written a long article in Red Star, entitled "Canada", giving details of the Dominion's contribution to the war in materials and manpower. It cited the participation of the Canadian Navy in sea warfare and related Canada's war effort in praiseworthy fashion.

Canada is enjoying a period of warm friendship on the part of the Soviets.

Tribute To Churchill

The World Needs This Man In The Anxious Years Ahead

Mr. Churchill might have added that he will be 70 years old before this year of 1944—a year filled with great portents for the Allied cause—is over; and even so vigorous a person as he is not looking to new political preferment at that age. But let there be no mistake about this: Britain and the United States and the world need this man in the anxious times ahead. His personified the valor and the strength and the faith which held back the Nazi tide in modern civilization's blackest hour.—Buffalo Courier-Express.

Spanish explorers in 1508 introduced American timber to Europe, believing it would cure many serious diseases of mankind.

Needed For Experiment

Frog Famine In Britain Is Hampering Work Of Scientists

There is a frog famine in Britain, and newspaper advertisements are offering to (£1) a dozen for live specimens. They are wanted, not for food, but for experimental purposes by scientific institutions, universities and schools. They have been scarce since the war. In 1941, 2,000 live frogs were flown here from the U.S. in a bomber, in specially built water tanks.

BATTLE OF BRITAIN

A sentence in a speech by Flight-Lieut. Tesling, in recent foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons, provokes fruitful reflection: "People do not realize that only 700 people took part in the Battle of Britain, which was as important in many ways as Trafalgar and Waterloo."—London Spectator.

The first diadems, worn by the ancients instead of crowns, were made of silk or wool and set with precious stones.

For Safe Flying

Science Solves Many Strat-osphere Problems At Home

How high can men and machines fly? How cold is cold? How much cold can man or machine stand? At what height does man faint from lack of oxygen?

These and many other problems are being solved these days in a decompression chamber somewhere in Canada where scientists, in co-operation with the Royal Canadian Air Force, duplicate the atmospheric conditions above the earth.

Out of these experiments in a temperature 70 degrees below zero have come new and finer flying suits, goggles which don't frost over, food proof oxygen masks, heating devices which make words plain and intelligible over the roar of four motors, and several secret devices for safe flying. Science in the first instance, then the skill of Canadian workmen, stand back of every pilot or bombardier or navigator as he starts on his increasing offensive sweeps over enemy strongholds.

As science checks and double checks the lessons that the fliers learn, orders go to plants for changes in construction or design or method. Everything about war is changing and few items of clothing examples have to be found anywhere than in the ever growing aircraft industry of Canada.

SPITFIRE HAS NEW ENGINE

The Spitfire fighter plane has a new engine, the Rolls Royce Griffin, which has a 23% greater capacity than its predecessor, the Rolls-Royce Merlin. The Griffin has a two-speed, mechanically-driven supercharger and performs equally as well at low levels as at a height of 30,000 feet, the height at which most air battles take place.

Muscular tension is believed to be one of the major causes of light sleeping.

ADDRESSES ON THE MOVE...

IN SPITE OF ALL WAR HAZARDS

31,500,000 LETTERS

REACHED YOUR MEN OVERSEAS LAST YEAR

DO you remember the "Change of Address" form which you filled out when you moved your civilian home? After that was filed at your local Post Office, every letter sent to your old address had to be redirected to the new one, and that went on until your correspondents were familiar with your new location.

Probably you didn't move very often, but the chances are that you did, the Post Office gave redirectory service. And if you will think about that for a moment, you will begin to see what a stupendous task confronts the Canadian Postal Corps in handling the military mails, when thousands of men are being moved almost daily!

Yet, in spite of the need of tracing men from reinforcement units to their locations on fighting fronts . . . in spite of the need of tracing them through hospitalization . . . or to let us leave . . . when their unit is moved . . . in spite of delays in air mail service caused by adverse flying conditions . . . of delays in surface transportation caused by enemy action . . . in spite of every war hazard you can think of . . . your Post Office and the Canadian Postal Corps delivered 31,500,000 letters to men overseas in 1943!

It is inevitable that, in tracing men who have been moved, or wounded, some delays occur. It is inevitable that enemy action holds up delivery in some cases. But everything that human ingenuity and effort can do to give you a service that means speedier delivery of the letters your men are waiting for, is being well and thoroughly done, and will be done. New methods of speeding mail deliveries are being put into effect, new possibilities are being studied. Think of your own friends who have been posted to new locations overseas, and realize the task of tracing them when their mail arrives at their former address!

You can help your Post Office and the Canadian Postal Corps to give even better service if you will take a moment to make sure that your mail is correctly prepared. Do these simple things . . .

1. Always be sure each letter or parcel (properly packed) is fully and correctly addressed.

2. Use light-weight paper for regular Air Mail, or use the Armed Forces Air Letter Forms. Airgraph letters take a little longer because they must be processed by Canada and overseas.

3. To men in hospital, mark your letter "In Hospital", if you are advised to this effect.

4. Never put loan parcels perishable food, or any substance that can be damaged by extremes of temperature.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY — 1928

April 12, 1928

Tenders are being called for the construction of stretches of highway between Vermilion and Edmonton.

Winter re-asserted itself during the past week and dampened visions of an early spring. Ground is still frozen though the heavy snow which fell over the week-end is gradually melting.

Stan Rigby of the Royal Bank has been transferred to Innisfail while E. Simms of the Commerce goes to Calgary. His place here is being taken by Mr Fowler of Saskatoon.

In its local improvement program for this season the town council contemplates replacing the plank walk on the north side of Main street from the Vermilion hotel to the Imperial block with a concrete sidewalk.

Thirty-two Years Ago Today

The butcher business of Woodward and Morgan has been purchased by Fred Pollard.

Vermilion's new home of moving pictures "Park Theatre" opened Monday night with a first class show.

Three town by-laws are advertised this week as follows: To raise $1000 by debentures for agricultural park grounds and improvements; To raise $1000 in a similar manner for extensions to electric light system; and to raise $1000 for sidewalk extension.

The Red Shield Amid Blood And Fire In New Guinea

Salvation Army officers hiked up to their posts in New Guinea. They went with the men into the front line.

The average distance of welfare centres behind forward fighters was about 250 yards. Welfare workers did not stay back there. When troops could not come back for hot coffee the welfare men took it into them at their forward posts. The Red Shield was so close to the enemy line that a hungry Japanese, overcome by the aroma of brewing coffee gave himself up to get a feed.

In the middle of a burial service Captain Pedersen was conducting at Senananda a Japanese machine-gun post opened up 150 yards away.

"We all hit the deck," he said, "and stayed there until a spotting plane had directed our mortar fire to silence the nest. Then we finished the service."

One night he was awakened by machine-gun fire. In the morning he stumbled over a dead Japanese at the door of his tent.

It was hard to get supplies through, although transport pilots helped wonderfully by cramming in a few cans.

Package Bees To Be Subsidized

W. G. le Maistre Provincial Apiarist, advises that honey producers will receive a refund of 2½ per pound on bees imported this year as package bees from the United states. According to instructions, Government regulations of refund cannot be paid until after the bees have arrived. Certain formal application on application, on form 1750 will have to be completed and forwarded to the Commodity Price Stabilization Corporation Ottawa.

This refund by the Dominion Government will be made to all district associations and individuals who are importing bees before June 15th. This refund is payable to all bona fide growers who are using imported package bees, and it is intended to assist in offsetting the increase in cost of these packages, the price of which has risen rapidly since the beginning of the war. Some beekeepers have been discouraged from ordering bees due to the high price of the packages, but the subsidy should help to increase the number of hives to be operated. It is understood that orders can still be filled by some Alberta dealers.

One of the essentials of a good lease is that it should be fair to both parties. A farm lease is equitable when the landlord and the tenant share the income in the same proportion that each puts into expenses.

RAIL MEN INCREASE SUPPORT TO THE RED CROSS

The Money Crop Is Good

Despite lamentations heard frequently these days, that a man is finding it difficult to scrape up enough money to pay his 1943 income tax balance, let alone to buy a bond or two, cold figures back up the statement that there is far more uninvested cash throughout the country than is needed to meet the objective of this Sixth Victory Loan campaign.

The total of savings accounts standing now roughly at about two and a half billion dollars as against about one and a half billion dollars when the war began. Notwithstanding the drain on savings and current income made twice a year through the period of the war by three Victory Loan drives, current savings accounts have risen steadily. It is reported, for example, that the temporary reduction of savings accounts caused by the Fifth Victory Loan campaign last fall was less than twenty percent.

An important factor in this appraisal of savings available for Sixth Victory Loan purchases is the very large increase in savings accounts in Canadian rural districts. After a long struggle the farmer has at last come into his own and become as good a prospect for the Victory Loan salesman as any other class of citizen in the country.

Encouraging too is the knowledge that current incomes in the aggregate remain steady in all other branches of industry. This in spite of a few major dislocations of personnel among war factories due to changing requirements of war production.

Then one big task facing the Press in our effort to smooth the way for the sale-man is to point out emphatically that the people of Canada is greatly prosperous. The amount called for if they open wide the savings account faucets, and purchase as many bonds as possible out of current income during the coming six months.

There are More Good Reasons for Buying War Bonds than for Buying Any Single Thing Ever Offered to The Canadian People

EVERYONE of us wants to win this war — to see peace restored — to have jobs to see back to when the war is won.

MILLIONS of us, already in the Armed Services have dedicated time, effort, lives if need be, to the mission.

The rest of us have not been called to arms. Our big chance to get into the fight is to buy the Sixth War Loan to the absolute limit.

This is the People's Loan, and we, the People, will not fail—
We will not fail to buy Bonds—and keep them.
We will not fail to buy Bonds—and so help to keep Canada the kind of land they went to see when they came home.

REMEMBER—We are lending not spending.

The money we lend is still ours to use in the years ahead when we need it most.

The Future Of Germany

ALTHOUGH IT IS FREQUENTLY STATED by officials of the Allied command that an early end to the war should not be expected, there is bound to be widespread speculation as to the fate of Germany when she is finally overcome. Naturally there is a general desire to see a nation which has so brutally overrun the greater part of Europe made to suffer for her crimes, and numerous proposals have been brought forward in this connection. As in many other matters related to the war, it cannot be expected that the Allied leaders will make any definite commitment in advance, but it is believed that a plan does exist. Following the conference at Teheran, when Prime Minister Churchill, Marshal Stalin and President Roosevelt met, it was announced that problems of the future had been discussed, and without doubt the fate of Germany figured in these conversations.

Ensure Peace And Security

While there are many who are of the opinion that Germany should be drastically stripped of territory and resources, it is thought that action in this regard may not go to the lengths sometimes advocated. There is no question but that German war industries must be entirely destroyed, and that measures must be taken to make sure that they have no opportunity to manufacture war materials in the future. The opinion has also been expressed in the British press, that Allied supervision must be exercised over many of those industries which remain inclind ng the transportation and power controls, and territorial settlements. It is clear that Germany will have to relinquish all the land she has acquired by aggression and that her boundaries will have to be adjusted in the interests of European peace and security. There is also the probability that certain states now within the Reich, such as Austria, may choose to withdraw when the war is over.

Re-education is important

Official circles have not favoured plans for partitioning Germany into a number of small units, for history has shown that such action only serves to strengthen the nationalist spirit and to promote trouble and unrest. It is also felt that to bring about her complete financial and industrial collapse would have a serious effect upon the whole economic structure of Europe. It is apparent, however, that she will be stripped of all means of building up another war machine or in any way preying on economic systems. Present plans for a strong European Federation also make it appear unlikely that Germany will ever again menace the security of that continent. One of the most important problems which will arise in connection with the settlement of the war will be the re-education of the German people. The destruction of the Nazi ideology, and the substitution of normal, sane thinking will be an undertakme of eventic proportions and of the utmost importance to the future of the world.

Jet-Propelled Ship

Invented By Englishman And Is Now Actually In Existence

Close on the disclosure that a jet-propelled aircraft had been built comes word that a jet-propelled ship is actually in existence, capable of making fair speed through water although without engines, propeller, rudder or funnels. It is the invention of P N Wild, an Englishman, whose brother, S O W Wild has reserved the patent on the invention in Britain. "My brother has carried out experiments with it but not boat," said Mr Wild. "It is propelled by jets of highly compressed products of combustion. He prefers to describe his method as 'ejector' propulsion." Jet propulsion for ships has long been a subject of experiment and the Admiralty were responsible for some which were carried out nearly 90 years ago.

Captured German Arms

Many Russian Includes One Of Germany's Closely Guarded Secrets

A Moscow exhibit of newly-captured German arms includes a self-propelled, electrically-controlled land torpedo used as an anti-tank weapon.

Tass News Agency said the torpedo, captured along with a 10-barrel reactive mortar mounted on an armored carrier, had been a close secret by the Germans, but had been abandoned during the rapid retreat from the Leningrad sector.

Among other exhibits are a 105-mm gun with range of about 11 miles, and a 150-mm. gun with a range of more than 12 miles.

The total area of Britain's airfields today is greater than the combined areas of the counties of London and Middlesex. Flying from London to Liverpool, a distance of some 200 miles, one is never out of sight of an airfield.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—I understand that the coupon value for most preserves has been changed. Which sugar may I now get for a preserve coupon?

A—No change was made in the coupon value for sugar. The amount of sugar obtainable for a preserve coupon remains at half a pound.

Q—I am thinking of buying a rail business and believe there is some regulation that must be observed in that connection. What is it?

A—You must apply to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board for a permit entitling you to enter the business in question. Please give complete particulars when making application.

Q—Is it possible to buy two preserve commodities on one coupon?

A—Yes. Any combination of retailed preserves may be purchased, providing the total value of the preserves does not exceed the total coupon value.

Q—I buy very little butter and use very few coupons. My grocer always tears out the unused coupons and keeps them. Should he do this?

A—No. You are required under rationing regulations to remove the coupons from books which are no longer valid and destroy them.

Q—My son celebrated his twelfth birthday yesterday. I would like to obtain his ration card. Please advise as to how I can do this.

A—Sorry, but you will be able to get ten rations for your son until the new books are issued . . . about April 1st . . . as he did not become 12 years of age before September, 1943, he is not eligible for these coupons until the new book is issued.

Q—Is there no rule against storekeepers buying coffee that is sold over the counters for the best customers?

A—There is no rule that the merchant who thinks ahead will not, in the long run, be the probability to patronized. Instead, he will endeavor to make an equitable distribution of the limited supply of his goods amongst his customers.

Please send your questions or your requests for the pamphlet "Consumers' News of the Week" (the latest book which gives the latest in track of your ceiling prices) mentioning the name of this paper to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Has Greatly Increased

Number Of Canadians Filling Income Tax Returns Is Around 3,800,000

Before the war income tax returns were required from about 300,000 Canadians. This year the total is around 3,800,000. The work of income tax staffs is therefore nearly seven times as great, and one needs but to list assessments are away in arrears. Those taxpayers are fortunate who know what their income tax returns for 1942 were correct, though filed a year ago, and thousands are said to be in that position. The fact that there has been ample cash that even if the department were able to obtain returns promptly it would prefer its level out the work to serve the entire year; but even another delays are inevitable as it is and the public is not cleared up.—Toronto Telegram.

More Vitamin C Per Grapefruit

As Mortimer Sherd says, "It looks as if Spring had sprung!" Half in spite of that good news we all realize that it will be several weeks before our garden's output supplies us with any of those little green things that are so full of vitamins. Meanwhile, the supply of vegetables on hand is fast dwindling—and so is any vitamin C that they may contain!

These next few weeks mark a Vitamin C danger-point for Canadians—for we are more likely now, than at any other time of the year, to suffer from a shortage of ascorbic acid.

So let us think it a point of honor with ourselves to see that our families have an orange or half a grapefruit every day, without fail. The citrus fruits are plentiful now and can be a very welcome help to the dessert problem that always seems to face us at this time of year.

A word about grapefruit: the grapefruit we buy are still rather green, so bring them home, put them in a spot that is not too warm (but not in the refrigerator) and let them stand a week before you use them. They will be ripe, richer in flavor, and the Vitamin C content will be higher. This means keeping a supply of grapefruit on hand ahead of time but you'll find that it's well worth the effort. Try it and see!

Wheat Syrup

New Process Developed In U.S. To Manufacture Syrup From Wheat

A process for manufacture of syrup from wheat has been perfected in United States and commercial production at the rate of 1,000,000 pounds per month "is already under way," Cecil Lamont, vice-president of Northwest Line Elevators Association, said at Winnipeg.

He said development of the wheat syrup was announced at a recent United States farm chemurgic conference at St. Louis, Mo., from which he just returned. The conference was attended by leaders of agriculture, industry and science from United States, Canada, South America and China.

The process was developed at the United States government's northern research laboratory at Peoria, Ill., and the product now was being manufactured in a best sugar plant, its quality and taste equalled that of corn syrup.

With slight plant adjustment, Canadian sugar beet plants could produce upward of 60,000,000 pounds of wheat sugar annually, he said. Several plants are located in Ontario, two in Alberta and one at Winnipeg.

The wood for the cabinets comes from old pianos which Wood bought up at auctions and from second-hand dealers. It takes him about a month to complete one clock.

Stiff Defence

Nazi Luftwaffe Ran Into Trouble In Sweeps Over Britain

After the Luftwaffe failed to crush London in the daylight Battle of Britain, it expected to smash the ground defences which consisted of the famous British three inch anti-aircraft guns. Instead, the Nazis came up against a secret British 9.7-inch anti-aircraft gun, firing a shell six pounds heavier and 12,000 feet further than the 88 millimeter German counterpart and with 2½ times the accuracy of its predecessor—just one of the weapons which helped to defeat the German offensive in 1940.

Vermilion Squadron No. 97

No more last week, the adjutant did not seem to be able to find time to get it written up.

Sunday the local air cadets paraded in C.W.A.C. drill order, after they took part in the Easter church parade with the C.W.A.C. girls. Capt. Collins (Padre) accompanied and inspected the parade and took the salute on the "March Past" PO. Brimacombe (Chief) acted as commanding officer and the boys were very pleased to have one of the home town boys act in this capacity and show such an interest in the air cadets.

On Monday we held our usual parade at air craft recognition and after the parade the air cadets were the guests of the local Canadian Legion at their annual Vimy Night and a very enjoyable and instructive evening was held Wednesday night April 19th there will be the usual maintenance and signals parade and a good attendance is expected.

Now that the weather is getting better and things have dried up alone we will hold a few more drill parades and prepare for the annual inspection which will be held on June 5th. We are going to try and turn out as good a squadron as the inspecting officer will see on any of his visits and this will require the co-operation of all the air cadets.

Move Home of all kinds are always welcomed by the Standard.

SOCIAL EVENING AT SALVATION ARMY HALL

Captain Hustler Honored

A social evening was held in the Salvation Army hall on Easter Monday when over sixty young people, their parents, friends and soldiers of the corps with members of the Home League, met for a surprise party. The first part of the evening took the form of a program of songs, recitations, and selections by the Salvation Army string band after which games were the order of the day for the young folk.

A hearty lunch was then enjoyed by all, to the singing of "For He's a Joly Good Fellow." Capt. Hustler was called to the front and the youngest member of the sunday school, little Miss Leonora Partridge presented the Captain with a silver tray, a gift to him from the combined young people of the Sunday school and Band of Love. Mrs. Bellingham.

Young People's leader, spoke briefly on the good work done by Captain Hustler among the young folk, during the past year and tendered to him the best wishes of the children for his coming marriage. Mrs. Pilsate the Home League secretary next presented a hand worked luncheon set from the ladies of the Home League. A basket of personal gifts from the soldiers of the corps and friends was also presented.

Captain Hustler thanked the different departments for their gifts and good wishes, also everyone also who had either helped in any way. He said he was looking forward to bringing his bride back to Vermilion for a short while at least.

A very pleasant evening was then brought to a close with a prayer.

LOCAL ELKS DONATE $100 SAVE THE CHILDREN FUND

Wading Pool Project and Sports Day for Kiddies Discussed

At their regular meeting held on Tuesday of last week, Vermilion Elks made a further handsome donation to the Dominion "Save the Children Fund" in the amount of $100. This makes a grand total of $150 sent by the local lodge to date.

Wading Pool Possibility

Other business dealt with at the meeting included consideration of the proposal to build a wading pool for the kiddies. The committee in charge was instructed to secure a local price on this project and providing that same is satisfactory, and the co-operation of the town council and the public generally can be secured, there is a definite possibility that the wading pool project will be undertaken by the Brother Elks.

Propose Kiddies' Sports Day

Another proposal advanced was that of providing a sports day for the children of public school age and under. As there has been nothing of this kind in Vermilion for the past three or four years it was felt that such a holiday would be appreciated by parents and children alike. A committee was named from the chair to look into the advisability and feasibility of the proposal. Reports on both these projects are to be made at the Elks meeting on Tuesday evening next.

VERMILION LIVESTOCK BREEDERS EXHIBIT AT PROVINCIAL SPRING SHOWS

Vermilion and district livestock breeders have exhibited their stock at both the Calgary and Edmonton spring livestock shows recently with very gratifying results. The Standard's information is not quite complete but at Edmonton W. L. Robinson's year old Shorthorn bull, "Glenrotha Balmachy Stud" was adjudged champion Shorthorn. His later sold for $440.

W. D. Williams showed 4 shorthorn bulls and a heifer calf at the Calgary show and won first with his aged bull. W. L. Robinson also showed 5 bulls at Calgary and all the animals of both these well known purebred livestock men sold for very satisfactory prices.

Homer Campbell was also very much in evidence at the Calgary show with his Hereford stock, but the standard lacks information as to just how he made out.

RACES AT VERMILION FAIR

The Directors of Vermilion Fair at their last meeting decided to again hold horse races at the coming Fair; the patrons from a wide area over expressed themselves as pleased with the program in 1943 and now the fact once in action in July next. Efforts are now being made to line up an interesting program and arrangements are under way to have the track put in first class shape.

The 1944 Prize List, covering exhibits of various kinds has been greatly extended and a special invitation has been extended to the Mannville District Calf club to hold their annual show and sale at the Fair.

Proposals call for full three day program for the Fair so that the large crowds which have been concentrating on the second and third days will be materially better accommodated if they take advantage of the less crowded grandstands on the first day. This has been set aside as Kiddies' day and special efforts are being made to give the youngsters complete entertainment from early afternoon on Thursday, July 20th.

Mail Card for Ration Book 4

EDMONTON.—People who failed to obtain Ration Book 4 during the distribution campaign may take or mail their application card III 98, from the back of Ration Book 3 to the nearest local ration board, or ration office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board All information must be complete on the application card before a new ration book is issued, says regional superintendent of rationing, C. G. McKee

In the case of children under 12 years of age, the application card should be accompanied by the sheet of E coupons from the Number 3 book of the superintendent states

The original ruling applying to late applicants for new ration books was modified because many persons, through no fault of their own, were unable to call for Ration Book 4 during the distribution campaign.

Sixth VICTORY Loan Opens Monday

Vermilion Unit Quota $170,000

Preparations have been completed to open the Sixth Victory Loan campaign in smart style on Monday next, R. C. Heebner, unit organizer, has been working for some time lining up the territory and enlisting the aid of the necessary representatives.

In the past week a conference of the representatives has been held and the details of the new loan have been discussed so that members of the public are assured of expert advice in connection with their purchases of Victory Bonds. The Vermilion-Mannville-Islay unit quota has been set at $170,000 which is slightly more that of the Fifth Loan, but actually requires greater effort on the part of district citizens as the C.W.A.C. totals do not come into the unit sales.

The territory surrounding Derwent has been reformed into the unit and added to Clandonald-Dewberry, while the south half of township 52 in range 5 has been included in the Vermilion territory.

The bonds of the Sixth Victory Loan constitute the finest investment for surplus funds ever offered the people of Canada and it is hoped that every citizen will make sure that this great effort is freely oversubscribed; bonds may be purchased for cash or on the monthly instalment plan, while farmers or others who receive their regular may make their purchase by making a rash payment or ten per cent and the balance may be paid at any time within six months.

Victory Bonds form the best possible collateral security for temporary bank loans and the interest rate charged is only one per cent greater than the bond interest rate. Those who have assisted in former loans are reminded that whereas the banks only pay one and one-half per cent interest on savings the Dominion of Canada pays three per cent on Victory Bonds and the safety factor is infinitely favorable in investment in the even plete resources of Canada through the medium of bonds which provide money necessary to the maintenance of our boys on the fighting fronts of the world

The following loan representatives will be in action next week and up to 4pm 11th in an effort to exceed the $170,000 quota and you are urged to be ready to do your part when your representative calls:

Vermilion Area—C. W. Robinson, John Reid, G. M. Lavery, Billie Pittis, Geo. R. Maxwell, W. M. Dalgleish, Earl Fisher, W. J. Machak, with E. E. Webber or Tolland handling the south east corner of the territory. In the Mannville district Messrs. E. A. Mercer and R. E. Williams will be on the job and Islay staff consists of J. T. Pyle, Miss Muriel Stone and John Shaw.

BUY BONDS EARLY

It is hoped that sales of at least fifty thousand dollars may be reported on the first day of the loan and all who have decided on the amounts they feel they can purchase are urged to contact the representative or go to the bank of their choice not later than Monday afternoon and help to roll up a substantial total; volunteer loan representative hate to use their own cars and their restricted gasoline rations in order to sell bonds and the cooperation of all will be sincerely appreciated in cutting driving to a minimum

Last year Vermilion Unit over the top with a bang in the first week—transfer savings accounts from the 1½% earning class to the 3% class and every effort should support to those who fight for us.

EXAMS WON'T END UNTIL JULY 14th

Annual departmental examinations for grade 12 students in Alberta high school will open at approximately 200 centres in the province on Thursday, June 15, according to the timetable issued Friday by the department of education.

On Monday, July 10, the only subjections will commence for grade 9 students.

For grade 12, the examinations will start from June 15 to Friday, July 14. Last year, 8,200 students wrote the exams.

The examinations on grade 9 will be held July 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14. As the annual summer holiday commences this year until the middle of July, the departmental tests are being held later than usual.

CHATSWORTH CHATTER

Roads are practically all dry throughout this part of the district now. It is very much like spring with ducks, geese, crows, meadow larks, robins and bluebirds here again. We heard a yellow-hammer also and red-winged blackbirds. We note robins on the ground so perhaps we will soon have leaves on the trees. Let's hope they don't come too soon as the maples are quite cold yet. Crocuses are in full bloom and every hill top is a picture.

The Bird Hill school teacher, Miss Stewart, and school children were hosts to the Chatsworth school children at an Easter party on April 6th. Softball, bingo and a quiz were enjoyed during the afternoon. Lunch was served by the hosts, the children also being treated to chocolate bars and candy. The Chatsworth pupils were conveyed by the Cobaldstown boys in their truck.

Mr. Hughes spent the Easter week end with Mrs. Hughes and Dave.

Mr. Harvey Good spent a couple of days at Easter visiting Mrs. Poole in town.

Spring work is well underway this week, a number having started about the middle of last week.

Allen and Kenny Thompson are back to school at Chatsworth again.

A number of faiths herewhouts celebrated birthday anniversaries recently —Mrs. Hughes, Mr. Cobaldstown and Jack Thompson, celebrating all on April 6th; Mr. Sam and Joyce Cobaldstown bedding here April 19th.

Mrs. Harry Cowden and two children of Cinadonald have been visiting the former's mother Mrs. Barnwell at George Mostmore's for the past week.

Mrs. Matt Farbash returned from Lemon last week.

The Junior Red Cross bingo party and dance to have been held on the 21st has been cancelled indefinitely.

Bernie Fisher of the R.C.A.F is home on two weeks' Sporting leave." He is being transferred to Winnipeg.

Miss Cotsel spent the Easter holiday at her home north of Marwayne.

Michael Farbash, who has been working on Vancouver island during the past winter, returned home on April 9th. Leo Kinsbinsky, who spent the winter in Vancouver is also back. He brought his little son Bernie with him.

Mr. Cobaldstown is a visitor to Ft Saskatchewan and Edmonton this week.

A subsidy is being paid on importations of packaged bees between March 1 and June 15th.

Production of farm machinery repair parts this year is to be 150 per cent of 1943.

Stagette Notes

We haven't been heard from for some time but we are still meeting each Tuesday evening as usual. The knitting continues and is entertain on while we knit an educational programme has been successfully launched. This takes the form of discussions led by two girls each week. The first topics chosen was "The Treatment of Foreigners in Our Midst", led by Jessie Swanson and Eva Clarke. The second discussion was led by Cora Harrison and Dolly Isley. For the next meeting it was moved that we invite Mrs. Bowerman and if we are unable to have the person in mind, Evelyn Dodge and Ruth Elder have agreed to take up the discussion.

Last week parcels were packed for ten local boys overseas.

The girls have been collecting magazines and books which were delivered to local B.A. agent who forwards them to the B.A. distributing centre, for the men in the services.

During the past few weeks we have been pleased to welcome four new members, namely Margaret Currey, Nellie Hall, Audrey Cuthbertson and Lois Schoenmaker.

CHANGE NAME OF LADIES' CLUB

The name of the Seasoned-Wild-mere-Beaver Club has been changed to the "Welfare Workers." It is hoped that the club will flourish under the new name as it did under the former one. Mrs. Annie M. Garnett is the president of the Welfare Workers and Mrs. J. Wallington is secretary.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. L. S. Woodstra and family wish to extend their sincere thanks for the many kindnesses and floral body received during their recent bereavement; for the beautiful floral tributes; to the matron and staff of the Vermilion municipal hospital; to the special nurses, Mrs. E. Corley and Mrs. C. Brennan for their care and attention to Mrs. Woodstra during her illness.

WILDMERE WHEEZES

We will try and catch up with some late items.

The shower and party held at Beaver-mere for Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tibbs on March 31st was a jolly affair. Cootie was first played and prizes given to O. winners. At the shower the young couple received a lot of useful and lovely gifts for which they heartily thanked everyone. After supper a short dance was held. Albert Smith and Mrs. Garnett supplied the music and J. C. Wallington was M.C.

The club meeting was held on April 6th with a good attendance. A play concert attended and a lot of finished work was handed in. The ladies have been busy as well as industrious being in knitting and sewing this last while but we do not expect so much now that the spring work is on hand. It was decided by the majority of the members to change the name of our club and from now on it will be known as Welfare Workers. It was also decided to serve lunch at Mr. Carlson's sale. Next meeting to be at Mrs. Carlson's. Everyone invited to come. Garnett then served a tasty lunch.

We noticed a news item in the paper that Mr. Charm's new car had two calves twice. Mrs. Stanley Martin of Triangle has a cow that has had 3 sets of twins and 3 single calves in the Hanson's that's quite a record.

Albert Hoprard of the air force has been home on furlough. He left again on Friday night on Tuesday of this week. Pte. Earl Graham is also home on leave. He is helping Jim Wallington clean seed grain these days.

Mrs. Bert Jones and her son had calves twice, Mrs. Stanley Martin of Triangle has a cow that has had 3 sets of twins and 3 single calves in the Hanson's, that's quite a record.

Albert Hoprard of the air force has been home on furlough. He left again on Friday night on Tuesday of this week. Pte. Earl Graham is also home on leave. He is helping Jim Wallington clean seed grain these days.

We notice a number of new auction sales as there are this spring? We are sorry to see our neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jones leaving Mr. and Mrs. Andy Carlson leave on. Mr. and Mrs. Morand and family intend making their future home in Calgary. There are hopes at some future date that Mr. and Mrs. Andy Carlson will decide to locate their farm. Andy seems to become a C.S. soldier for the duration. To them all we wish the best of luck.

Threshing has again started in our district. Billie Smith is finishing his last job and J. Wallington intends to finish on Thursday.

J. Kennedy is the first to work on the land in our part, and next week will see everyone raising a dust.

A farewell party was held at Battleview school last Friday night for Mr. and Mrs. Pete Jensen and Mr. H. Brother who are all leaving to reside in Vermilion. A nice crowd attended, dancing was enjoyed for a few hours. Mr. Brother the departing folks. Mr. and Mrs. Jensen were presented with a trifle reading lamp and Mr. Brother a nice easy chair, from their many neighbors and friends. They all thanked everyone for the nice useful presents. We are all sorry to see them leave but are pleased they are able to take life a little easier while they are in good health to enjoy it Mr. and Mrs. Herman Eyben and family are moving to the Carlson farm so we extend to them a hearty welcome to our district.

Mrs. Sadie Crothers is again living on her farm. She has for the present her daughter-in-law Mrs. Russell Crothers and baby visiting her.

Sunday callers at the writer's home were Albert Heward, George Crothers and wife, Bill Adam and Albert Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Baike visited a while at the Carlson home on Sunday; Baillie Hotte of Vermilion spent the week end at his uncle's Mr. John Wilson; A supper party was held at the home of Henry Smith of Thorncliffe on Monday April 10th in honor of L.AC and Mrs. Ted Riley.

An Old Battle Cry

General Montgomery Used Same One As Oliver Cromwell

Mention is made of General Montgomery's "battle cry" for the Allied Invasion forces—"Let God arise and let His enemies be scattered." It is interesting to note how in these dangerous days, the leaders of England turn for inspiration and examples of high courage to the great men of the seventeenth century. At no time since the Norman conquest were the British people so conscious of danger both from without and within, and as in the hundred years from 1555 (just previous to the defeat of the Armada) to 1655, when the last battle was fought on English soil. It is not strange, therefore, that the leaders of the Commonwealth period should be heard again in this present hour of danger.

In his recent book, "Atlantic Meeting," F. V. Morley records the story of the commander of the Prince of Wales who, just before going into action against the Bismarck, went for the chaplain and asked him to read the prayer of Sir Jacob Astley at Edgehill on the morning of that company—"Lord, I shall be verie busie this day; I may forget Thee, but doe not Thou forget me." And then to the order was given to fire!

General Montgomery's battle cry is, of course, that of his great predecessor, Oliver Cromwell, at the Battle of Dunbar. As the Ironsides rolled away and the first daylight broke, it was saw that the enemy was delivered into his hands. Shouting, "Let God arise and let His enemies be scattered, let them also that hate Him flee before Him," he led the charge which destroyed the Scottish troops and swept all before it.—New York Herald Tribune.

History Repeats Itself

But Germany Forgot This When Planning Invasion Of Russia

The Germans, in attempting to make history, have failed to read it. In the 15th century at Lake Peipus, where the Nazis are retreating in a hurry now, Alexander Nevsky pushed many of the invading Teutons into the lake and shouted after the rest of them:

"Go and tell all in alien lands that Russia lives. Without fear, anyone who wishes may come here as a guest.

"But if anyone ventures here with the sword, he shall perish by the sword"—Ottawa Citizen.

Engineer And Fireman On London Express Saved Train And Passengers

Few passengers, if any, on a London night express recently knew that only the prompt and courageous actions of the driver, Herbert Blunt, and his fireman, William Page, saved them from great danger.

An air raid was in progress when the packed express entered a tunnel, and most of the passengers were asleep. When about half way through, Blunt saw that the end of the tunnel was silhouetted in a dazzling white glare, and that incendiary bombs were falling down.

He slammed on all his brakes and stopped his train just inside the tunnel mouth. Then, with shovels from the engine, Blunt and Page went out into the open and set about extinguishing the fires—some of which had already set fire to the wooden coaches.

Despite the danger from possible explosives they carried on and extinguished nearly 40 incendiaries lying on the track. Other incendiaries on either side of the embankment in the illuminated area were smothered around.

Having completed their task, Page and Blunt found from another train that the next signal cabin, briefly reported the incident and said that as no highexplosive had been dropped and the track was safe they proposed proceeding "at caution". This they did, and a total time loss of only 20 minutes.

On arrival at their depot neither the driver nor fireman of what they had done, and it was a day later when the district locomotive superintendent heard of the incident from another source. Asked why they did not report the matter, Blunt, who is 57, answered, "I did not want to blow my chest out about nothing."—London Daily Telegraph.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY — GIFT OF THE BRIDE

— By —
MARY LOUISE HICKEY
McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Pat Denton breathed a sigh of relief as he beat an unheralded retreat to the cool dark porch off the game room stairway at the Westland Country Club. His sight was rather short by the sound of stifled sobs coming from a limp bundle curled up in a corner of the wicker couch.

"I know women are supposed to cry at weddings, but don't you think you're a bit early? The wedding isn't until tomorrow night."

Only a slight burrowing movement from the bundle indicated that his remark had been heard. He wished that he could see her face or get an idea of her mood. It would be easier to know what brand of sympathy to offer. He didn't want to soothe her with the wrong syrup. It wouldn't do much good to chirrup that she mustn't take the boy friend's slipping under the table seriously if she were somebody's bridesmaid. If only she'd say something. . . .

"Come on, now," he urged with peculiar tenderness, "tell Uncle Pat the trouble."

She spoke. "Go away"—a muffled, unenlightening phrase.

His eyes were growing accustomed to the gloom. He moved toward her. "I've an unbelievable shoulder to cry on," he offered cheerfully. "I have testimonials—dozens of 'em."

"Go away." Not quite so muffled as before.

She must be fairly young, he decided, to achieve such a compact position of head, arms and legs. She reminded him fleetingly of an Angel Bob sheepdog because he wasn't quite certain where to bestow a reassuring pat. He concluded that it might be better to withhold the pat until the right moment. He sat down at the far end of the couch.

"I don't know who her you've met Ellen," Marion said. "Ellen Lanier. My new sister-in-law."

"Sister-in-law!" Pat Denton gasped "You're Brad's sister, you little wretch, and you'll always love him, too. Why, I ought to—"

She interrupted him hastily. "Pat, honestly I couldn't help it. You were the beautiful understanding . . . I couldn't waste that. Pat . . . please . . . you're holding up the line. I'll meet you at the chicken stand in three minutes . . . you can time me"

Wartime Problems Of Your Lumber Merchant

One of a Series of Articles by F. C. Pickwell, Well-Known Western Newspaper Writer.

Early this year a Manitoba farmer called on his local lumber dealer. It was one of several visits. He sought information on the possibility of securing specified material for a new building, the cost of which was to be about eighteen hundred dollars. The merchant pointed out that he would have great difficulty in securing the necessary lumber for the undertaking under consideration. He could not even promise when sufficient suitable material could be accumulated from the mixed shipments reaching his yard.

The customer expressed confidence in the lumber merchant's integrity and felt sure deliveries would be made at an early date. Meanwhile he offered to pay cash in advance for the full amount, thus in his opinion closing the contract. The dealer appreciated this generous gesture, but said he could not accept the money until such time as the desired material had been supplied. He stated there would be no delay in filling the order once the lumber arrived.

That's the country club he decided that the quickest way to get a word with Ellen was to go through the reception line, and he started along that tortuous path.

Marion and Brad shared majority honors and looked, frosen smiles. Marion gave him her hand and said, "Brad, this is Pat Denton. You remember Pat. He was here in Auntie and me on the boat coming back from Havana. And then she passed him along to Ellen

He stated there would be no delay in filling the order once the lumber arrived.

"I'm foregoing is typical of what has been going on for two years or more all over the Prairies. Agricultural income has been at a very good level that farmers have been liquidating old accounts to a surprising and refreshing extent, and for the first time in many years they are now in a position to repair their buildings and add new ones. Manitoba farmers had a total cash income of $61,800,000 in the banner pre-war year of 1928. That was increased by 1942 to $101,200,000, and to $136,-700,000 last year. Cash returns in Saskatchewan for 1943 totalled $223,-400,000, and Alberta received $223,-190,000

In normal times these record incomes would mean intensified building activity. The money is there to pay for it but unfortunately the lumber is not, due to no fault of the community lumber dealer. For the first nine or ten months of the war the demand for lumber in the West was not increased to any great extent. Since the summer of 1940, however, the demand has grown by leaps and until today it is practically unlimited. In July of 1940 there were four billion of lumber in the hands of the mills and the dealers. But these stocks have been used up and for the last eighteen months at least, we have been living on a hand to mouth basis so far as lumber is concerned. Broadly speaking the situation is this. That the Government sets aside certain quantities for direct war requirements, either Overseas or in Canada. Further quantities are then set aside for direct war requirements in the United States and the balance of Canada's production is made available to the domestic trade. The result is that both in quantity and in size and grade, the local lumber dealer has had to accept what was left after direct war requirements were filled.

This situation will doubtless prevail till the war ends, and there can be no sound argument against such priority. No chance can be taken with the needs of our fighting men, but even if the result is that lumber yards are obliged to confine their stocks to types and grades of lumber which they have not carried in the past. The cream of lumber production has to be set aside for war purposes and the domestic consumer will have to be satisfied with skim milk.

In spite of the rigid restrictions imposed by the Government on the distribution of lumber supplies, the local lumber dealer has, through his association, kept up consistent pressure on Ottawa for lumber required in connection with the production and processing of food. These representations were favorably received by the Government and as a result, during 1943 and 1943 approximately 160 million feet of lumber was made available to Prairie yards on priority. This quantity fell far short of meeting the demand, but it did ease a very critical situation, particularly in 1942 when little or no elevator space was available for the large crops of that year.

And so it becomes apparent that for at least the duration, Canada's highest grade lumber will continue to be reserved for war production purposes. Civilians can hope for little more than secondary grades, and that will have to be distributed as equitably as possible to meet pressing requirements.

The public appreciative that the problems ahead are greater than ours, and will plan accordingly. It should, in that imaginary mood compared to the sacrifices our own boys are making overseas to insure the freedom of action at home when the war is won.

Till such time as Peace again reigns over the land, your community lumber dealer will endeavour under restricted conditions to service your requirements to the best of his ability.

Women Patriots

Are Serving In Many Helpful Ways In Occupied Europe

The helpful part that women have played in this war will be long remembered and applauded for many generations. Included in this applause, and accorded a special credit, will be the gamut of women patriots of occupied Europe. They have served in the Underground. They have fought with guerilla bands and been entrusted with missions of highest importance.

Danielle Casanova, often called the second Jeanne d'Arc of France, was tortured by the Gestapo because she possessed information about the resistance movements. She finally passed on as a result of the ill treatment but without disclosing a word which would endanger her comrades.

A Belgian woman, Marie Dumine Van Decalyne, was executed for recruiting members for an underground sabotage organization.

Greek women have fought beside the guerillas. Yugoslav women are serving in Italy to join the forces of Marshal Broz (Tito).

There are thousands more like these. They know the Nazi penalty for their activities. They know and it makes no difference. They have set a standard of courage for future generations. Christian Science Monitor.

Maple Leaf in Italy

Booklet To Serve As A Temporary Record Of Canadian Campaign

Maple Leaf in Italy", a collection of dispatches from Canadian Press war correspondents in Italy, has just been issued by the Canadian Press. A sequel to "Redpath in Sicily", the booklet is intended to serve as a temporary record of the Canadians' campaign from Reggio to Ortona until a more permanent history is written.

The dispatches, selected from almost a thousand by five C.P. war correspondents, cover the Canadians from their landing Sept. 3, on the toe of Italy through their Apennine drive to the bloody battle of Ortona and beyond. The correspondents are Lionel Shapiro, William Stewart, Douglas Amaron, L. V. Hunter and Fowler Barclay.

The illustrated 16-page booklet contains three sketch maps by Stewart giving operational details never before published. Instructors at military training centres have expressed interest in the booklet which is not being sold commercially but is available at cost of printing for study or reference use

CANADIAN RAILWAYS COMPARE FAVORABLY WITH U. S. LINES

NEW YORK.—The operating ratio of the Canadian National Railways compares favorably with the average operating ratio in the United States," said A. J. Gardiner, assistant general passenger traffic manager of the National System, speaking at a meeting of the National Railroads' promotion in the Grand Central Terminal, New York. "Out of every $100 of additional revenue in 1943, compared with 1942, the Canadian National," he said, "earned $45 to net revenue, whereas United States Railways only managed to earn $20.

"In the usual tests of operating efficiency," he went on, "the C.N.R. compares with the average class 1 railroads of the United States. Train speeds are similar. Coal consumption is somewhat lower on the Canadian National. The percentage of loaded freight car miles to total freight car miles is also somewhat better. The freight car miles per day are practical ly the same. There is but little difference between the operating performance, although the traffic density of the Canadian National is less than one half of the average Class I United States railroads."

Farmer Meetings Source Of Valuable Information

A great deal of interest is being evinced throughout the Dominion in the farm meetings sponsored by McColl-Frontenac Oil Company Limited, some hundreds of which are being held the Dominion over as part of the Company's service to the Canadian farmer.

Doubtless many of our readers have had an opportunity of attending one of these Farm Meetings as they have already been held in many sections of the country.

In these districts where meetings have yet to be held, we would strongly advocate that when one is scheduled in your section you make it a point of attending. For, not only can you look forward to being entertained but you will decidedly come away with a great deal of added knowledge of the latest and most scientific methods of getting more work out of your farm equipment and making it last through proper lubrication.

Of decided interest is a technicolor motion picture entitled "Tale of Two Thieves", the 'thieves' incidentally being Rust and Wear. This picture vividly illustrates how the ravages of rust and wear shorten the life and run down the efficiency of farm equipment, and shows the best and easy way of overcoming and preventing these conditions.

One thing that is definitely brought home, is the fundamentals in connection or relying upon one grease or lubricant to do a "jack-of-all-trades" job.

This picture is indeed a revelation of how essential correct lubrication is to today's modern farm equipment. It is a picture that no power farmer can really afford to miss.

As part of this educational farm program, McColl-Frontenac Oil Company Limited make available at these Farm Meetings or upon personal request to any of their farm district representatives or Red Indian dealers in farm areas, such valuable aids to proper lubrication as Tractor Lubrication Guides, Farm Machinery Lubrication Guides and a unique Tractor Check-Up Check Chart that provides a complete and easy-to-keep record of the time and cost of tractor operation for each field or job

In addition, a series of Bulletins are available giving timely hints and advice on a host of subjects and petroleum products designed to help the farmer in his business.

Of more than especial interest, is a splendid farm manual entitled "Harvest Gold" which, in its 130 pages is to be found a digest of the best farm machinery service information available. Of such value is this comprehensive brochure that it has become a standard reference in many agricultural schools and colleges.

In the words of Mr. E. McMillan of the Marketing Division of this Company, "The Canadian farmer has a great responsibility in seeing that food production is maintained, not only for the immediate needs of the United Nations and the Home people of Europe, but for the feeding of still more countless thousands when the war has been won." "This responsibility" continues Mr. McMillan, "can be discharged only if every piece of valuable farm equipment is kept in constant top-notch condition and that it is his Company's objective, as far as essential lubrication is concerned, to help the farmer discharge his obligation."

NEED QUALITY PIGS

Canada will try to deliver 600 million pounds of bacon to Britain during 1944. If those requirements are to be met, says the Dominion Department of Agriculture, and the domestic needs of Canada supplied as well, every good quality hog that can be raised will be urgently needed, so it is essential that plans be made to maintain hog production at the highest possible level.

One butter ration coupon now falls due each week, instead of two each fortnight

McColl-Frontenac farm lubricants will safeguard your farm machinery the year 'round. For these better lubricants retard wear and prevent costly breakdowns. They will keep your equipment operating economically and for a much longer time.

When it's a question of what farm lubricants to buy, you can always depend on McColl-Frontenac. And, remember, there is a specific product available for every piece of your farm equipment—among which are the following:

More Sacrifices Must Be Made Before War Won

TORONTO. — The war, United States Navy Secretary Frank Knox warned, "is far from won."

In fact "the period of greatest sacrifice still lies ahead," he said at a dinner connected with Canada's Ninth Victory Loan, which opens April 24. The two major Axis powers still hold their main fortresses intact and the roads to Berlin and Tokyo will be "long and bloody."

The navy secretary, introduced by Canada's Navy Minister Macdonald, sounded great encouragement was to be found in the current trend of the war, "with the initiative firmly in the hands of the Allies." But he reminded his listeners there had been "those misguided prophets who predicted victory for last Christmas . . . and immediately began to turn their thoughts to post-war periods."

Now is the time, he said, for the peoples of the United Nations to put forth "our utmost effort (while) we have the Nuts on the run . . . we can do no less than our best . . . we cannot—we must not let down."

For those at home to relax their war effort at this point would be "a species of treason." Mr. Knox said. He likened the Allies' present position to that of a prize fighter who has driven his opponent to the ropes and prepares to "swing from the floor" and land the knockout punch.

Mr. Knox praised accomplishments of the Royal Canadian Navy in battling the Nazi menace, especially escorting to convoy some 50,000 ships across the North Atlantic.

He also noted Canadian naval exploits in the invasion of North Africa, Sicily and Italy, along the convoy routes to Russia and in the recapture of the Aleutian islands.

The navy secretary lauded co-operation between Canada and the United States in the field of war production. "We have made a record without parallel in history," he said. "Together, we have wrought a miracle."

He stressed the need for continuation of such inter-Allied co-operation by the post-war era particularly between the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States. This, he said, would be "the indispensable prerequisite of any world understanding that will prevent aggressive wars in the future."

Responsibility for nurturing this relationship among English-speaking peoples lay largely with Canada and the United States, Mr. Knox said. He advised that all similarities, rather than differences, between the British and American peoples be emphasized by writers and public speakers.

LARGE PORK STOCKS

Storage At April 1 Was The Highest In Canada's Entire History

OTTAWA.—The Dominion bureau of statistics reported that storage stocks of pork in Canada, most of it destined for shipment overseas, totalled 104,348,631 pounds at April 1—highest in the Dominion's history —compared with 98,793,235 at March 1 and 49,906,780 at April 1, 1943.

Lard stocks also were heavy at 19,281,284 pounds compared with 18,828,319 a month ago and 1,977,059 last year

Beef stocks were reduced to 35,307,945 pounds from 40,043,925 a month ago. Last year the stocks were 15,770,508 pounds. Veal in store amounted to 2,355,939 pounds compared with 2,262,198 March 1 and 1,366,004 April 1, 1943. Mutton and lamb in storage totalled 6,678,063 pounds compared with 7,740,094 a month ago and 1,761,465 on the corresponding date last year.

GRAIN MOVEMENT

Program To Move Quantity Of Grain To Head Of The Lakes

OTTAWA.—Federal Trade Minister James A. MacKinnon announced that a meeting of the emergency grain transportation committee was held in Winnipeg to lay out a program to move the maximum quantity of grain to the head of the lakes before the end of the crop year July 31 next.

It was estimated the maximum loadings on the prairies in order to move the minimum domestic, United Kingdom, United States and other export requirements would mean the loading of more than 1,800 cars a day beyond the unloading of approximately 825 cars a day at the Lakehead elevators.

The meeting coincided with opening of lake navigation and the loading of 2,800,000 bushels at the Lakehead on the down bound lake fleet.

A large fleet of lake vessels now is en route to the Lakehead and it is estimated stocks of grain now in the Lakes there will be moved very rapidly.

RCAF Transport Growing In Size And Importance

OTTAWA.—What could easily become the transition school between wartime and peacetime flying—the R.C.A.F. transport service is growing in size and importance. Right now it covers routes extending from Whitehorse, Yukon territory, and the Queen Charlotte Islands, B.C., in the west, to Cairo in the e [illegible]

Chief of the command is Group Capt. E. Lewis Leigh, O.B.E., 37, who considers Lethbridge, Alta., his home although him are Wing Cmdr. Marlowe Kennedy, A.F.C., 28, of Winnipeg, in charge of passenger operations; Wing Cmdr. Bruce Middleton, A.F.C., 33, Fort Frances, Ont., in charge of cargo and mail transport, and Sqdn. Ldr. Ernest Hall, 42, Cumberland, B.C., in charge of the factory-to-air-station ferry service.

Kennedy's passenger-carrying department embodies schedule and non-schedule flights. He flies high-rank ing officials on urgent missions on the North American continent.

Most famous schedule is the "Blueberry Run" from Ottawa to Halifax and intervening points. The "Canderberry Run" from Moncton, N.B., to Candor, N.B., and the "Gooseberry Run" from Moncton to Goose airport in Labrador carry cargo as well as passengers and mail and come under Middleton's supervision.

The original scheduled run to Halifax during the days when U-boat packs were threatening east coast shipping and much of Canada's war effort was concentrated at that port, was named for the Maritime blueberry country over which the planes flew. The names of the other two runs were an obvious development.

Middleton also has charge of the planes that transport mail to men of the three Canadian armed forces serving in the various theatres of war. Hall's group flies the Mosquitoes, Canso, Harvards and Ansons from the Canadian factories to the R.C.A.F. home stations.

Kennedy and Middleton also have the supervision of transport pilot training. This is centred in Moncton, hub of the famous "Berry" runs. However, this school is slated to be moved, possibly to the west coast.

No "screwballs" are wanted in Leigh's outfit. The fellow who likes to dive-bomb his girl's home in the next town or make a show-off flip under a bridge near his parents' farm needn't apply to the transport service.

"We need steady men and that is the type we are getting," said the slim transport chief

He said most of the men now coming to him had done their full stint of operational flights over hot spots like Berlin and Frankfurt. Some of them have married since the war and the great majority have reached that "settled" stage where they want to carve out a secure berth in the post-war. And their first-love—flying—seems to offer that opportunity through the transport service.

Two weeks ago H. J. Symington, president of Trans-Canada Airlines, told a House of Commons railway committee that the R.C.A.F. had been asked to supply 75 pilots and 150 aircrew men for commercial routes and it is generally assumed that the transport service will handle this first peacetime manpower order.

Mines Laid By British Planes Sink Many Enemy Ships

LONDON.—More than 1,000,000 tons of enemy shipping has been sunk by mines laid by British planes since the spring of 1940 in the thousands of square miles of water along the enemy coast from the Bay of Biscay to the Gulf of Danzig, the admiralty announced.

The offensive also is designed to check the import of raw materials from Norway, Sweden and Spain.

"The coal and iron ore traffic between Germany and Sweden has been seriously interrupted," the ministry said.

The airborne mine is a long cylinder weighing about 1,500 pounds, which is released by parachute. The firing mechanism is either magnetic or acoustical. The former is activated by the magnetic flux of a ship passing over it and the latter by the sounds of the ship.

The minimum contract quantity of dried egg powder is equivalent to 48,000,000 dozen shell eggs. Prewar egg exports to Britain were about 1,000,000 dozen annually. Shipments of dried eggs in 1943 were the equivalent of 24,000,000 dozen shell eggs.

NO CHANGE SEEN

Daylight Saving Likely To Stay Until War Is Over

OTTAWA.—Dominion department officials said there was little likelihood of any change, for the duration of the war at least, in the present Dominion-wide policy of daylight saving time throughout the year.

They were commenting on a resolution adopted by the Ontario Educational Association at Toronto, asking the federal government to return to standard time.

A department spokesman said the government considers the saving of hydro power and fuel and the fact the urban population favors daylight saving, outweighs the disadvantages claimed for the rural population.

Canadians Need Not Worry Over Debt Increase

TORONTO.—Canadians should not be frightened by increases which have taken place in the country's debt so far or which are likely to take place before the end of the war, Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, said in an address at a Canadian Club luncheon.

"I do not wish to suggest that public debt could be increased at the present rate for an indefinite period of time without placing an intolerable strain on the economy, even although the additional interest payments are made to our own people," said Mr. Towers, and pointed out the man of the national war finance committee.

But I do say that the increases which have taken place so far, or are likely to take place before the end of the war, should not frighten us.

"The real burden of public debt depends on the taxable capacity of the country, and that, in turn, depends on our production and earnings. National income has approximately doubled since before the war. At the present moment, the real burden of debt charges is less than it was 20 years ago."

The amount owed by the Dominion government and the Canadian National Railways had increased $6,600,000,000 between Aug. 31, 1939 and Dec. 31, 1943. The domestic debt had increased somewhat more than this, but had been offset by a considerable reduction in foreign debt.

"The average cost of war financing has been a little less than 3½ per cent. Moreover, average interest costs of pre-war debt have been reduced during the last four years as it has fallen due and been refunded. Finally, the cash receipts of the government from its investments in or advances to other organizations, such as Bank of Canada or foreign exchange control board, have to be taken into account in determining the net interest burden, and receipts of this character have increased substantially since the war," said Mr. Towers

The key to the debt problem as to many others rested chiefly in the maintenance of a high level of employment and income in the post war years said Mr Towers. But we must try to be successful in the economic field to gain the understanding and support of its people

Would Choke Off Neutral Trade With Germany

LONDON.—Britain and the United States—acting in concert before the opening of the western front to choke off neutral trade with Germany—called for a showdown with Sweden on that country's export of war materials to the Reich.

This further demonstration of a new "get tough" policy swiftly followed protests against increased chrome shipments from Turkey to Germany and the seizure by Spain of Allied oil stocks at Tetuan, Spanish Morocco.

The economic isolation of Eire was tightened.

Delivery of the Anglo-American note concerning Swedish trade with Germany by the United States minister, Herschel V. Johnson, at Stockholm thus put the fourth blade in United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull's new program. It was widely expected to be followed by a similar representation to Lisbon on Portuguese wolfram exports to Germany.

The Swedes' recently renewed trade pact with the Germans provided a reduction in iron, steel and ballbearing deliveries. The Allies now are exerting pressure for a maximum shutoff of supplies to Germany to cripple Hitler's war machine as the climax of the war approaches.

Stockholm reports said the note demanded Sweden halt export to the Axis of ball bearings and war materials and machines used in making the bearings.

The reply returned to London indicated the Germans were not taking the Allied moves lying down and were sending delegations to Turkey and Portugal to preserve or boost [illegible]

A report from Lisbon said Portuguese trade papers contained advertisements of German offers to barter steel and modern machine tools, including the Nazis still felt they could spare these items in their strained economy in exchange for vital raw materials such as wolfram and currency for foreign trade.

The Berlin radio broadcast a despatch by Georg Schroeder which was an implied threat to neutral nations against giving away to the Anglo-American demands.

Declaring that "one-sided economic support of a belligerent party" meant an end of neutrality," the broadcast said that "England and America with their present pressure for which Hull fired the starting shot, are pursuing their old policy with old arguments."

Further the broadcast asserted that Britain and the United States "do not respect the rights of neutrals and thus ignore international agreements."

MAIL FOR TROOPS

Time For Delivery In Mediterranean Area Has Been Cut

OTTAWA.—The post office department disclosed three days have been lopped off the transit time for delivery of surface mail from Canada to Canadian troops in the Mediterranean area.

Since then the average time has been cut to 56 days, with prospects that the time will be further improved.

Once more the days seem when I get time I'm ready going to sit down and write a long letter home telling the folks about all the action we had getting to Italy from Britain, but right now we're too busy for me to do an honest job of it. Maybe later I should say water.

We were getting pretty close to Gibraltar when we had a submarine scare, but we didn't see anything of them. We were just well started when a Nazi plane came hedgehopping around but it didn't stay long. A couple of Spitfires came hustling out to the islands and Jerry beat it for home in short order. We were sort of disappointed though because the boys were all hoping the Spits would run over a "kill" and we could see the Nazis bite the dust—or me, he should say water.

Saves Child

Walter Futterly, Canadian Pacific Railway locomotive engineer, of Winnipeg was bringing his freight train into Minnedosa, Man., when he saw an object struggling in a hole in the ice of the Little Saskatchewan river. He stopped his train, ran to the river and "hellied" his way out over the ice to save the life of an eight-year-old Minnedosa girl who had fallen in. Engineer Futterly has been 36 years with the Canadian Pacific, enlisted on August 31, 1941, and was overseas for four years in the first Great War.

Health League of Canada presents Topics of Vital Interest

SAFE MILK SUPPLY NEEDED

"Individuals who agitate against pasteurization of milk and milk products are not serving the best interests of their fellow countrymen," the Health League of Canada, said. The League reaffirmed its determination to achieve national compulsory pasteurization.

Those individuals who, chiefly by letters to newspapers attack the advisability of pasteurization are either ignorant of the facts or are prompted by other motives," The Health League declared. "The public should realize that these persons are setting up their unsupported opinions against the universal findings of the medical profession and associated scientific workers.

"Milk is a wholesome, beneficent food, if proper precautions are taken. In the raw state it is a menace to health and life," the League said. "It is doubtful if in all the wars in human history as many people have been killed as there have been by drinking unpasteurized milk."

"Weeding out of dairy herds those animals which suffer from tuberculosis Bang's disease and other communicable diseases is a necessary step, but this alone will not assure a safe milk supply." It was stated. Milk has frequently been found to have been contaminated by human handlers.

"Those who oppose pasteurization should be prepared to accept some responsibility for the harvest of lives and sickness taken annually in Canada by such milk borne diseases as bovine tuberculosis undulant fever, typhoid and paratyphoid fevers septic sore throat diphtheria and scarlet fever."

Says Russia Has Asked U.S. To Continue Aid For Three Years After The War

The London Sunday Observer said that Russia has asked the United States to continue lend-lease aid for three years after the close of the war in Europe

Washington's reply, the newspaper continued, was reported to be a request for a promise that Russia will co-operate fully with the Western powers in the waging of the war against Japan.

"On this question, however, Moscow has been reluctant to make any commitment" the Sunday Observer said.

"The result is that Washington has deferred giving a definite reply to the Russian lend-lease request and now is considering what policy to adopt should the Russians remain unwilling to pledge support in the war against Japan."

Not Taking Any Chances Of Getting Into Trouble

As we got this story, a suburban matron stopped into the Bulletin office for an appointment with her husband, who had arranged to take her to lunch with a business acquaintance. Not finding him in the lobby, she made for the dining room. At the entrance, the headwaiter asked if he could help her. "No thank you," the matron said. "I just want to go inside and look for my husband. He's lunching here with a friend." At this, the headwaiter unobtrusively blocked her way and casually inquired, "A lady?" "No, a man," she said. "Oh, that's all right, then," he said, bowing her in.—The New Yorker.

Trans-Canada's First Employee

When Trans-Canada Air Lines was organized early in 1937, its first employee was Donald R. MacLaren, D.S.O., famous ace of the last war. He came to T.C.A. from Canadian Airways, in which he was Assistant General Manager, Pacific lines, based at Vancouver and taking in territory as far as the Yukon. Today he is Superintendent of Passenger Service for Trans-Canada, at operating headquarters, Winnipeg

T.C.A. has just awarded service pins to all its employees with five years' service and more. In issuing them to 232 employees on the system, H. J. Symington, C.M.O., K.C., President, said that the initial building of a modern transport system had been "a great and satisfying undertaking" and that the service pins were awarded "as a concrete recognition of the job done." Pins are being held for 50 employees on active service overseas.

Will Resist Smuts

New Wheat To Be Tested On Prairies This Year

By about 1946, if all goes well, farmers in western Canada will be able to start growing a wheat which will resist the ravages of the smuts.

The outcome of ten years' painstaking research by Dominion government agricultural experts, this wheat is to be given comprehensive tests on the prairies this year. At experimental farms and universities it will be given thorough plot tests followed by further milling and baking tests.

Some of the experimental wheat is now nearing harvest in southern California. The seed was taken to California to take advantage of climatic conditions in order to speed up production. One Dominion government official said: "If we come through the year's tests we will be fairly certain that the wheat will stand up."

If all experiments justify the hopes of the experts then the wheat seed will be distributed in quantities of four or five bushels to all farmers who apply.

An early British clockmaker spent 13 years building one masterpiece which ran 16 months on one winding.

In 1935 a Russian glider pilot made 300 loops, said to be a world record.

PAUL BECOMES A MISSIONARY

Golden text: The Holy Spirit said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them. Acts 13:2.

Lesson: Acts 13:1—14:28.

Devotional reading: Acts 1:6-11.

Explanations and Comments

The First Foreign Missionaries Chosen and Ordained at Antioch of Syria, Acts 13:1-3. In the flourishing Christian church at Antioch there were prophets and teachers, men of special inspiration. Among them was the lovable and helpful Barnabas; Symeon who was called Niger, black; doubtless an African; Lucius of Cyrene, the province in north Africa lying next to Egypt, who perhaps was one of the Cyrenian evangelists who had helped to establish this church at Antioch, Acts 11:20; Manaen, who was the foster-brother of Herod the tetrarch (Herod Antipas, son of Herod the Great), seemingly a person of some social importance, and, lastly, Paul of Tarsus.

"We know nothing of Symeon and Lucius of Manaen, and yet it is good to have their names, for they remind us of the host of faithful witnesses of the 1st.h who stood back of the Christian movement, and encouraged the leaders to carry on. George Eliot, in one of her fine tales, speaks of 'the faithful who are not famous.' What should we do without them? All great causes demand great leaders. Without Paul and Peter and Barnabas the early Church would have been as an undisciplined army without officers, or as a ship of state, but Niger and Lucius and Manaen were needed as surely as Barnabas and Paul.—The New Outlook.

While the church was carrying on its services of worship, prayer and fasting, the Holy Spirit directed it to send forth Paul and Barnabas, their leading workers, to the work to which he had called them—to the forward movement into the Roman Empire

Then, with special significance, the other Christians, after fasting, praying, and laying their hands on the chosen missionaries, sent them away on their mission. The Greek verb here translated "sent away" signifies rather "set free". The laying on of hands signified a bestowal of the blessing of the Antioch church on its representatives in the foreign field.

Church In Rome Has Oldest Wooden Doors In Existence

Cypress manufacturers are proud of the fact that the oldest wooden doors in existence are the cypress doors of Saint Sabrina's Church in Rome. These doors, made about 425 A.D., are carved to represent the life of Christ, and are said to be the earliest illustration of the Crucifixion extant. After more than fifteen hundred years' exposure the doors are still quite sound. Decay has not touched them.

A LOT OF WOOL

Evidence of returning freedom of the seas may be found in the news that the United States is being swamped with wool. Ships returning from Australia and New Zealand are carrying wool as ballast, and now there is a stockpile of about 800,000,000 pounds. Still, wool is a good thing to have about in this variable climate.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

Disappearing Islands

Many Are Nothing But Tops Of Submarine Volcanic Peaks

There are volcanic areas under the sea as well as on land, and many islands are nothing more than the tops of submarine volcanic peaks. Christmas Island in the Indian Ocean, for instance, is thought to be the top of a submerged mountain 14,000 feet high, and Pantelleria in an extinct volcano. About a hundred years ago an island of cinders and ashes rose 200 feet out of the sea between Sicily and the African coast, though in three months it was washed away by the waves. In the Bering Sea, too, islands have been rising and disappearing frequently during the last century. Here, land formed by one eruption is frequently submerged by the next, and Bogoslof Island especially has been a nuisance to navigators.

Travel By Boat Will Likely Be Greater After War

Although the advertisements about the great streamlined airliners of the future, the truth is that probably more people will be travelling by boat after the war than ever before Curtis Reed says the pent-up desires for travel will best be realized by sea travel and not by the quick hops from point to point that a plane makes, and the trtuh of the matter is that for all the people who are in a hurry and want to get to their destination fast there are many more who are not in a hurry. Also the bulk of freight will still go by sea, so the day of the ship is not over by any means.—Liberty.

ADDRESSES ON THE MOVE . . .

MAIL TO REINFORCEMENT UNITS A CHALLENGE TO US ALL . . .

THIS is a war of movement. Never before have troops been moved such incredible distances, in so many theatres of war, so quickly. Night and day, thousands of men are in motion, by sea transport; motor truck and air . . . edging into enemy territory, shifting to keep the element of surprise. Did you ever stop to think what it means, under these trying conditions, to find your friend or relative, and put your letter into his hands?

Yet in spite of the tremendous task involved, tracing men who are moving from reinforcement units in England to group depots in Italy . . . or from one location to another . . . or through hospitalization or while on leave . . . in the face of every sort of war hazard . . . 31,500,000 letters in addition to parcels and other items, reached our men in 1943.

U.N.R.R.A. Meets In Canada

IT WAS RECENTLY ANNOUNCED that the second meeting of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, now commonly known as U.N.R.R.A., will take place in Canada, in June. The first gathering was held in Atlantic City, in November, 1943, when detailed plans were drawn up for a world-wide program of relief and rehabilitation. The problems faced by this organization are enormous, and the proceedings of the approaching meeting in Montreal will be of great interest to the people of all the United Nations. As the tempo of the Allied offensive against Germany increases the importance of having a well-organized plan for the relief of war-stricken particularly in the countries now occupied by Germany, is apparent. The function of U.N.R.R.A. is to "plan, co-ordinate and administer or arrange for administration of measures of relief of war victims in any area under the control of the United Nations."

Positions Held By Canadians

Representatives of U.N.R.R.A. are thirty three United Nations, ten associated nations, and the French Committee of National Liberation. The Director-General is Mr. Herbert H. Lehman a former governor of New York State. Mr. Lehman was also at one time the United States Director of Relief operations and he has had wide experience as an administrator and in the realm of social reform. The Deputy Director is Sir Arthur Salter, a British expert on economic relations and international transport who has held many important administrative posts in the government of Great Britain. A Canadian, Mr. L. B. Pearson, Minister Counsellor of the Canadian Embassy at Washington, is the chairman of the Key Committee of Supplies. Other Canadians who are giving their services include Mr. Andrew Haydon, of Edmonton, who is Chief of the division of Food and Miss Mary Hiester, Director of relief.

Many Resources To Be Required

The purpose of U.N.R.R.A. is to "heal the wounds of war" by the provision of clothes food and medical supplies and to rebuild the war-torn countries from the standpoint of economics and agriculture. All this will be done with the object of putting these countries as soon as possible, in a position to help themselves. It is apparent that this all represents a task of enormous proportions. Estimates of some of the financial resources which will be needed include a billion and a half dollars from the United States, 320 millions from Britain, 90 millions from Canada, and 40 millions from Australia. These make up only a portion of the total requirements. Other resources which must be made available will be twenty three and a half million tons of shipping to carry raw materials, and fifty million tons of food. As a great agricultural country it is clear that Canada has an important part to play in the work of U.N.R.R.A. and the forthcoming meeting will be of great interest here, and to the people of all the United Nations.

"I've found I can give up dosing!"

"I've found a far better way to correct constipation! One that gives me the kind of lasting relief I've always wanted, and never got, from harsh pills and purgatives. I've tried everything, but It's KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly for me from now on." Such a happy experience is just one of thousands among people who have tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN for constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet! ALL-BRAN corrects the cause of such trouble, by supplying "bulk-forming" material needed for easy, natural elimination! If this kind of constipation has plagued you, try eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly, or several ALL-BRAN muffins every day. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't prefer its welcome relief! Policy Of Expansion

Britain Will Try To Keep Up Employment After The War

Col the Hon. J. J. Astor, president of the Empire Press Union and proprietor of the London Times, said at Ottawa that Britain after the war will strive to keep up employment, purchasing power and her home market by a policy of expansion and by adaptations of the "strictest principles" of finance.

In an address prepared for delivery before the Ottawa Canadian Club Col. Astor said that, like Canadians, the people of Britain now are thinking not only of the war but also of the peace, even though their first preoccupation is the war effort.

Empire News

Much To Be Done In Spreading Information When War Ends

While the collection and distribution of Empire news have been greatly improved, much more remains to be done in the way of regular publication of this type of news in the peace years.

It is a complaint of long standing that the British daily newspapers devote little space even in normal times to news of Empire origin. Their main preoccupation is with European happenings. Similarly, the press of the Dominions while carrying much British news and comment largely neglects to chronicle leading events in sister Dominions. Distance, of course, is an impediment to the growth of keen interest but now that the war has revealed their strong community of interest and mutual aims there may be an improvement during this line when the war ends.—Calgary Herald.

PLENTY OF WORK PROMISED

Telecommunications have plenty already in their desks to employ 30 per cent. more workers and to purchase new equipment running into millions of dollars by the end of the first year of the post war period, a survey made by the Financial Post indicates. The survey covers 2,600 Canadian firms, employing 50 hands or more.

According to the last census, 73 per cent. of the Canadian homes had radios.

GARDEN NOTES

On Guard

The small garden, both flower and vegetable, but more especially the latter, is very subject to pest damage. Sparrows may pounce on the lettuce, cut worms girdle the tomatoes, grubs attack the carrots or beets. One must be on guard continuously because if we are not ready to go into action the instant the attack occurs, it will be too late. Indeed with certain pests like sparrows, starlings and cut worms it is best to be prepared in advance.

Often a few strands of a few bits of fluttering rags, or a little brush spread over garden or lawn will scare away birds. In cases of lettuce and such tempting lines are grown under a wire netting, which is removable for cultivation.

Paper collars around the stems of tomatoes and cabbage just above and below the surface of the soil will protect against cut worms, but a poison mixture secured from any seed store is better. Special dusts can also be purchased for protecting cabbages, celery, cucumbers and melons.

A good general guard against pests is cultivation. Cut worms and many other grubs don't like to be stirred up.

Keep 'Em Speed

One can save oneself a lot of stooping and bother by proper spacing observed when sowing. With beans, peas and such seed, from three to five inches apart is about right. With fine seeds like those of carrots, lettuce and such, it is difficult to space evenly and thinly, but with a little care one can prevent bunching. This care in sowing will be repaid later when the plants start to grow, as much thinning will be saved.

But even with this careful sowing some thinning is inevitable with beets, onions, parsnips and similar slow seed plants. The object is to give room for early growth. It is not necessary to thin say beets and carrots to more than an inch or so apart. Long before they have reached full maturity a lot of the beets and carrots will have been pulled and eaten. When the plants are well grown one can start using every second one in the row.

Two For One

In the small vegetable garden, output can be increased substantially by alternation of rows of early maturing, narrow vegetables and tall, later sorts.

The first category would be beets, radish, carrots, lettuce and, possibly, spinach. These might be planted early, take little room and mature quickly. Rows of these should be spaced about 18 inches to two feet apart. Then in between put the larger and later-maturing vegetables. Things like beans, tomatoes, corn, potatoes, cabbage and celery. The first named will be used and out of the way by the time the larger and later vegetables need all the room. In this way a small vegetable gardening soil should be well fertilized and cultivated.

Annual Competition Has Been Proposed For Canadian News Writers

An annual Canadian journalism award of $1,000, comparable to the American Pulitzer prize, was proposed at the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association board meeting by Dora Dougherty, Toronto, national president of the Canadian Women's Press Club.

The proposal was that the competition, open to men and women who are legal residents of Canada, be confined to the best journalism—news coverage, editorials or articles published in the daily, weekly or monthly press of Canada.

Vermilion Squadron No. 97

The following air cadets have been reclassified from AC2 to AC1 having completed the required training with the local air cadets: Anderson, Ilerry Ford, Buckingham, Dixon, Dorey, Gibbons, Gould, Laverty, Messier, Reid, Richardson, Rogers, Rosner, Shaver, Washington, Webb, Wilson.

On Monday there was a drill parade and an aircraft recognition parade and also at this time the cadets were measured for summer issue of cloth ing. This will be issued as soon as received and checked.

Wednesday there will be a marham ain and signal parade at the usual starting time of the hangar.

A great improvement in the appearance of the cadets has been noted since the headquarters moved the new girls for uniform, the closed collar has been done away with and the open neck collar substituted in its place. This makes the uniform much more attractive and also a lot cooler.

The following cadets were absent from parade on April 17th—Brassard, Buckingham Carruh gibbons, Hether ington Lonn, Spencer, Wilson, Cameron.

Squadron standing orders are now on display in the barracks and each cadet is required to read and sign these orders as no excuse will be taken for not knowing their contents.

Victory Loan "In High"

The local Unit headquarters of the Ninth Victory Loan is pleased to announce that everyone at time of going to press appears to be eminently satisfactory; and we for the first few days of the Loan campaign indicate that those who have surplus funds have come to a full realization that Dominion of Canada bonds are the safest investment available and that the provision of essential funds is a matter of grave concern when the lives of our fighting men are at stake. At the close of business on Wednesday the Vermilion Manville-Islay unit had subscribed over $75,000 of a total quota of $170,000. Larger numbers of applicants seem to desire a share in the great Victory Loan.

Units of our fighting force, even in the thick of battle to Italy have every man in the voting queue set for them; the people of the Vermilion district will doubtless wish the word to go abroad that the home staying people

"It Pays to Deal at Wener's — The Busiest Store in Town!"

PARIE FARMERS TO RECEIVE $59,000,000 WHEAT PAYMENTS

OTTAWA. — Trade Minister Mac Kinnon announced Friday night payment of participation certificates for the 1940, 1941 and 1942 wheat crops through which approximately $59,000,000 will be distributed to about 200,000 prairie farmers.

The basic payments will be 6% cents per bushel for 1940 crop wheat, 9¢'s cents for 1941, and 11¼ cents for 1942.

The actual per bushel payment for each grade will vary to allow for the differential between the initial prices under No. 1 Northern which have been recently to be estimated at the beginning of each crop year, and the final spread obtained for the sale," Mr. MacKinnon said.

If added payment figures for each grade will be brought to the closest third decimal point in each case and said that this closes out the three crop years.

It was recalled that Mr. MacKinnon recently told the commons that the 1940 participation certificates would be cashed in first.

"The board is now completing the actual fractional calculations on all grades and these will be announced in three or four days," Mr. MacKinnon added.

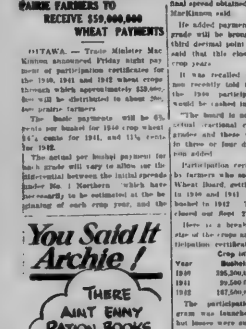
Participation certificates were held by farmers who sold to the Canadian Wheat Board, getting 70 cents a bushel in 1940 and 1941 and 90 cents per bushel in 1942. These crop years closed on July 31, 1942.

Here is a breakdown showing the size of the crops and the value of participation certificates for each year:

Year	Crop in Bushels	Certificate Value
1940	286,500,000	$25,100,000
1941	20,500,000	14,800,000
1942	167,500,000	18,800,000

The participation certificate program was launched before the war, but issues were suspended and the 1940 crop is the first one to realize a profit.

Alberta farmers probably will receive one-third of the total distribution or about $20,000,000, grain men in Edmonton estimate. Alberta wheat marketings over the three years were close to one-third of the western delivieries, but as only the wheat board knows what proportion of this province's crop it handled, only a guess can be made at the stage.



Traffic in Loans Coupons Illegal

EDMONTON — Casual exchanges of rationed commodities are now permitted by the Wartime Prices and Control Board but this does not allow a person to detach unused coupons from their ration books and give them to their friends. It is against the law to traffic in house ration coupons. No one is entitled to accept a house ration coupon, either a consumer or a retailer. Board officials emphasize.

ISLAY

Buy a bond!—Day SOME bonds! $7,000.00 Bond Sales First Day

Though Islay had sales of $7000 the first day of the drive for which the committee are grateful—yet to make the quota of $20,000 more buyers are needed. "Put Victory First"—that now no second bond ear lies.

CLEAN UP DAY FOR ISLAY

Islay hopes to have a "Clean up Day" on Wednesday afternoon, May 3. Be sure to have your cars backyard and clean it up, and then help with those vacant lots in the very midst of our town. Let's all pull together.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Young and family, Clandonald, visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. John Young on Sunday.

Bishop Barfoot preached in the Anglican church Sunday afternoon.

DEATH OF REV. J.E. BROWNLEE

Noticed in the Anglican church paper the death on March 9th at Spruce Lake, Sask., of Rev. J. E. Brownlee. He occupied the pulpit here in Islay back about 1925-26. Many will remember Mr. and Mrs. Brownlee and their sons Peter and Willie. Pt. Lt. Peter is Chaplain in the R.C.A.F. and Willie is on the farm at Spruce Lake.

N. McLennan delivers milk to town now by Ford car, to their store. The customers now go to the store for their supply.

Mrs. David Martin spent a few days last week renewing acquaintances in Lamont.

Farmers are busy on the land now for the last few days. We hear the chug chug of tractors all round. But even if the second hand tractors are selling at such advanced prices they don't chug any faster or louder.

SCHOOL FESTIVAL MAY 26

Islay-Kitscoty School Festival will be held on May 26th. Send your entries to the secretary Miss Nellie Redmond, Islay.

Mrs. S. Millward and son Donald, after spending some time at her parents Mr and Mrs. T. Bushwell, returned to her home in Victoria Monday April 24th.

R. R. Brennan was on the free movie van in the Vermilion branch of the Fish and Game League by carrying in the first dead crow of the season.

Board of Trade Notes

Nothing new was introduced at the board of trade meeting on Wednesday as the time was taken up with an accumulation of correspondence and some committee reports. Mr. J. R. Robson acted as chairman and presided Mr. Jim Irving and Mr. F. Van Wagenaar to the meeting. There were 25 members present.

J. C. Heckbert reported on the progress of the Victory loan; and Mr. W. P. Pitkin announced that the Red Cross drive was wound up with the grand total of $8,654.54. The board of trade went on record as expressing its thanks and appreciation to Mr. Pitkin for the efficient and satisfactory manner in which he organized and carries out the annual Red Cross campaign for funds.

The meeting of the board will be held on Wednesday next week as usual. The decks are all cleared for new business and the session should be an interesting one. The executive will meet immediately after the regular meeting.

STANDARD COMMENCES 36th YEAR OF PUBLICATIONS

With this issue, the Standard commences its 36th year of publication. This entire period has been under the guiding hand of the present Editor, who, in his 72nd year, is still "going strong" in spite of the fact that he has been in the publishing business 46 years, dating from the spring of 1898.

THEY DO NOT FIGHT ALONE —

Our purchase of Victory Bonds does not line us up as an active participant with the Canadian in battle dress in the grim battle being waged in Europe. We cannot feel ourselves on this point. For there is little or no sacrifice here in Canada that can be related even remotely to the hazardous life or death work in which our boys are engaged overseas.

Yet the purchase of Victory Bonds is vital to the well-being of our men in battle for two reasons. First the cash we thus provide maintains the flow of necessary material to the fighting forces. Secondly, and perhaps more important, the enthusiastic support which Canadians at home give to a Victory Loan informs the boys overseas better than any other method we have at our command that the hearts and minds of the overwhelming majority of the folks back home are with them.

Incorporation of Cost of Living Bonus in Basic Wage Rates

The National War Labor Board today stated that information reaching Ottawa indicates that some employers still appear to be in doubt as to the application of the regulations which required the incorporation of cost of living bonus in basic wage rates. This regulation was embodied in the Wartime Wages Control Order, 1943, which revoked and superseded the Order previously in effect.

The Board pointed out that all employers not specifically excluded from the provisions of the Wartime Wages Control Order were required to pay a cost of living bonus of 60c per week commencing with the first payroll period on or after Aug. 15, 1942 to receiving less than $25 a week; and that beginning with the first payroll period on or after Nov. 15, 1943, it became obligatory for employers to increase this bonus to 85c a week or 3.6% of the weekly wage rate.

CHATSWORTH CHATTER

Everybody is very busy on the land with some tractors working all night as well as day. We have had quite a few days of high winds—perhaps that is an indication of a dry spring. Bonds and fields are quite dusty.

Mr. Archie Good finished threshing for Mr. Hope last Friday morning. They started there on Wednesday a.m. It is reported there was practically no damage from mice or rabbits—some difference to last year!

Mr. and Mrs. John Bauer and family left our district last week, moving to the Hughes school district and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Smith have also moved away. They are now living north of Mannville near the former's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Franke, Jimmie and Keith spent last week end at Jim Thompson's.

Mr. Twyning was a patient in the hospital during last week. The Archbaldsen's were looking after his chores while he was away.

Martin Rudolf of Wetaskiwin was a visitor to Vermilion last week end.

Alice Thompson is out of school with the chicken pox.

Miss V. Pastor of Dapp, Alta., is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pastor.

Mrs. Henry Carlton and two children of Clandonald who have been visiting at the Nestman's since Easter went back last Sunday.

Mr. Randolph Hutchison has a new Oliver tractor complete with rubber tires, lights and starter.

Our fighting forces face a harder and more dangerous task than ever. Yet they are willing to make any sacrifice.

We at home must show the same unselfish spirit. We must buy Victory Bonds till it hurts. It's the very least we can do.—You are who is able to buy them who escape this duty! So let's prove we're ready to do our share by buying EXTRA Victory Bonds.

Urge Economic Council For The British Empire

LONDON.— Parliament held an empire clinic, but in deference to the forthcoming meeting of dominion prime ministers, the government made no commitment on proposals for improving unity.

"The government is going to take no final decision on these matters that have been discussed until we have had an opportunity to discuss them with the dominion governments' representatives," explained Hugh Dalton, president of the board of trade, after the first half of a two-day empire debate.

Replying for the government after members advanced such proposals as creating an economic council to plan development of the empire's resources, Mr. Dalton said it would be wrong and discourteous if a government spokesman were to prejudice any matters raised in debate which would be considered at the coming "family council".

This council was called "at the most decisive moment in the war and the most decisive and dramatic moment in the history of the world and of the empire itself," he added.

Dr. Dalton promised a frank discussion on all matters with the dominions' prime ministers and said the government would seek to achieve a united empire policy in peace as it had in war. The government aimed at full employment and raising standards of life in each part of the empire.

Regarding trade, he said the government would not alter any preferential arrangements as they now exist except after discussion and agreement with the dominion governments.

"We must expand our trade with the empire but it is not necessary to do so with other important areas of the world" he said.

The board of trade president added that nobody but Britain is to disassociate herself from the South American market and she had no intention of doing so.

All speakers in the debate agreed on one thing—the close wartime unity in the commonwealth would be perpetuated in peace.

Emmanuel Shinwell Labor opened the debate in the morning with the economic council proposal.

The economic council representing the whole empire should plan development of resources in the empire and post-war economic arrangements with western European countries Mr. Shinwell said. It should make an immediate inventory of the empire's resources and inquire now, in preparation for the war's end into possibilities for economic expansion particularly in India.

Mr Shinwell said also Britain should consider the possibility of effecting some arrangement with Scandinavia, the Netherlands, Belgium and Iberian Peninsula which could dovetail into the economic commonwealth.

Mr Shinwell asserted, "We have no intention of throwing the British Commonwealth of Nations overboard in order to satisfy a section of the American press or anyone else."

Mr Shinwell pointed out Russia for entering the war without waiting for the war to come to her area said there were elements who feared in the time 20 or 30 years hence when Canada would be the greatest country in the world.

But he added, the dominions could prosper only by disposing of their products. The British market was still the one most important bargaining factor in trade and commerce and Britain should avail herself of the empire's vast goodwill market.

STILL A MENACE

Germany Likely To Use Submarines Again, Says British Commander

OTTAWA. — German submarine warfare is still a "very definite menace" and is likely to break out again with renewed fury, Lieut.-Commander Jewell, one of Britain's outstanding submarine commanders said here in an interview.

Lieut Jewell, who has sunk or damaged 14 enemy vessels, said the current lull in U-boat attacks probably had repercussions among many personnel" he said. "The Germans undoubtedly have been forced to keep their submarines at home through low morale and because they want as many as possible on hand when the Allies invade the continent."

BANK OF ENGLAND GOVERNOR

LONDON. — Lord Catto was elected governor of the Bank of England, succeeding Montagu Norman who announced his retirement April 8, "due to illness and advanced age." For a quarter century, Mr. Norman had headed the bank. Basil Gage Catterns was re elected deputy governor.

OTTAWA. — Air Minister Power said in the commons that transport aircraft for the movement of troops in the defence of Canada would be available in 1944, a year earlier than had been expected.

Britain Plans Measures For German Control

LONDON.— Britain is determined that no far as humanly possible nothing will stand in the way of curbing Germany's future war potential, Lord Cherwell assured the house of lords.

Speaking for the government in a debate initiated by Lord Vansittart, Lord Cherwell promised professional scientists would be asked to help and the government intended to take the necessary steps without permitting a relapse of resources to the enemy or hamper it might involve for him" to interfere

Lord Vansittart proposed the government appoint a committee of scientists to plan measures of control, particularly for Germany's chemical industry.

He urged partial demilitarization of Germany after the war and said he presumed they would be under Allied control of German heavy iron and steel industries and prohibition of such industries as aviation, machine tools, synthetic gasoline and synthetic rubber

"A great part of the world's present appalling troubles has arisen from the fact that Germany has been greatly over-industrialized and these measures would, I think, be part and parcel of reasonable demilitarization" said Lord Vansittart, an outspoken proponent of the idea of breaking Germany

Lord Strabolgi suggested that German heavy industry might be useful in the reconstruction of Europe and said he thought people in control of industries rather than the existence of industries caused wars

"We need to see a new German generation growing up which will collaborate with Europe and with peaceful, prosperous and contented," he said.

The Earl of Perth proposed that Germany be deprived of aircraft, battleships submarines and tanks. Airplanes for internal needs ought be imported under licence and Germany should lose the right to acquire freely such metals and minerals as manganese, wolfram, tungsten and nickel.

LIBERATED AREAS

Russia Has Not Asked For Assistance Under United Nations Relief Plan

OTTAWA.— Brooke Claxton, parliamentary assistant to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, said in the commons that as far as he knew Russia had not yet requested assistance for liberated areas under the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration.

He was answering Hon. Grote Stirling (P.C., Yale) during discussion of a bill covering a Canadian contribution to U.N.R.R.A. expenses. Mr. Stirling asked if Russian areas recently liberated and eastern European countries it was hoped would soon be liberated were covered by the U.N.R.R.A. arrangements.

Mr. Claxton said U.N.R.R.A was not undertaking the task of reconstruction as of industry, but simply sought to rehabilitate nations so they could help themselves

Experience in North Africa, Sicily and Italy had added U.N.R.R.A. in estimating the needs of other lands to be liberated These estimates were being revised from time to time

RICHES OF NORTH

Conceded To Hold More Minerals Than Any Other Part Of World

CALGARY. — The pre-Cambrian shield which runs from the south shore of Great Bear Lake, south to westend of Great Slave lake, east of Fort Smith and through northern Saskatchewan and Manitoba, is conceded to hold more mineral wealth than any other part of the world, declared Colonel Harry Snyder, F.R.G.S., world explorer and big game hunter, who spoke to a service club here.

Col. Snyder, who owns a ranch in the Red Deer valley west of Olds, spoke of his expedition in the Northwest Territories in 1934 to find out about the wood bison.

The area contains every kind of metal including tin, vast timber resources, the greatest natural water power in the world and good farming land.

TENSE SITUATION

Danes Call General Strike For Killing By The Nazis

STOCKHOLM — German troops dispersed thousands of demonstrating Danes in Soderberg during a general strike called after German naval guns had killed one person and wounded two Crowds accompanied the coffin to the Central station and sang songs directed at the Nazis

Copenhagen dispatches said the situation was tense in the town, a manufacturing centre of 40,000 in southern Jutland, and that a number of arrests had been made

Barbed wire barricades were erected and Danish police assisted by Germans patrolled the streets with machine-guns

Canadians Man Two Aircraft Escort Carriers

OTTAWA.—Canadian naval personnel have now manned two escort aircraft carriers of the Royal Navy, it was announced by Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, minister of national defence for naval services

Manning of the carriers had been forecast in two previous statements by the minister It has been pointed out that the carriers are Canadian manned so far as seaman personnel is concerned, flying personnel is of the Royal Navy's fleet air arm. The ships are under operational direction of the British admiralty

Manning of the carriers introduces a new set of facts, figures and formulae to Canada's Navy To date it has been a navy of small ships manned largely by inexperienced young men reared far from the sea, who have brought many new ideas to old problems Naval officials suggest it is perhaps just this quality which has enabled the much larger aircraft carriers to be taken over without fuss and with very little bother.

The carrier is actually a hull built around a complete flying field in miniature It has runways and hangars repair shops high test gasoline storage, a complete meteorological station, and the latest in ranging and detection devices In addition there are hundreds of electrically powered auxiliaries ranging from freight elevators large enough to lift a several ton aircraft to power flight deck and hangar deck, down to the small half horsepower motors powering precision drills and valve grinders

Nearly 500 feet long from stem to stern, the flight deck, clean and flat as a billiard table, stretches from end to end The elevators which take aircraft to and from the hangar deck immediately below it, are flush with and form a part of the runway when in position

Smokestacks are carried out below the flight deck to one side and at one point rise above it. The superstructure with its navigating bridge, mast and aerials, has been crowded over to the starboard side, completely clear of the runway and overhanging the side of the ship.

Below, the hangar deck runs the full width of the ship and almost the entire length. It houses rows of aircraft, wings folded against their sides.

Says Empire Should Unite On Air Power

VICTORIA — The British empire should stand together in development of the air power of the future, Premier George Drew of Ontario told a Kiwanis-Canadian Club luncheon here

He said that now is the time that decision should be made and that there should be a full discussion of the matter.

Development of air transportation is going to mean that the nations of the empire and commonwealth will be able to knit themselves more closely together than ever before.

There had been a feeling, the premier said, that talk of the empire working together in a great and powerful fellowship would be resented in the United States He said he does not agree with this

"I believe the people of the United States are hoping for a more strongly knit empire to stand side by side with them in the years to come," he said "I believe they are hopeful that the ties as of the empire will become true and great and powerful partners it is to their advantage, too that we should strengthen that feeling in every way."

There is a clear indication, he said that the United States has no thought of becoming part of an international air system

"It would be supreme folly if we of the British empire should follow that course," he said, adding he did not criticize the U.S. for its course, and that the U.S. would not criticize the empire for standing together in the air, "if, with sensible self-interest, they (the empire countries) decide to work together."

CHAPTER XIV

I'm right sorry I've been so long in writing but so much has happened lately that we haven't had much time to write and now that I've got much ing but time on my hands it's not an easy to tell you what went on.

You've all heard of Casalina. Even those of home, thousands of miles away, you folks probably know as much about the general fighting as I on and I sure only got to see a mighty small part of it.

After sitting around for some time we got sent up the line to reinforce our lads at Cervaro—which is only a big pile of broken buildings now — and I'm there no time at all before I get it.

"here isn't really much to tell. The fighting was plenty thick and we seemed to be going alright when we heard a shell coming with a mighty roar close to us. That's the last I remember. When I came around I'm in one of our front line hospitals with a broken leg and a few shrapnel wounds. I guess that shell sounded too funny because it was getting me to living right close to where I'd been living near an old wall.

This is about the first time I've really had much to do with the Army Medical Corps, but you can take my word for it that the R.A.M.C is a mighty fine organization. Working at the front under all kinds of difficulties they do everything they can to make a man comfortable and tend his wounds and you get top service even though the men of the medical corps are working under difficulties.

And while I'm talking about such things it may be an idea to tell you folks at home that supporting the Red Cross and their 'blood bank' is really something worthwhile. Take me for instance. The boys say when they get me out I was mighty weak from loss of blood, but you'd never know it now. Blood plasma which they gave me right suddenly did the trick.

I know now I'm through as a fighting man, but when I get home I'm going to mak- it my business to travel to (algar) as often as the Red Cross folks will allow me to donate blood because I know that it's really needed really saves lives—and will become even more important when the big push starts.

Right now I'm in hospital in the south of Italy just getting back my health and strength. Soon they tell me, I'll be headed home and even though it will be grand to see the wife, and the home and all the folks, I'm mighty sorry that my part in the war was so small and that I won't be here for the big push.

Once we start back home there won't be any chance to write, because we'll be moving just as fast as the mail, so I guess this is about the last I'll be penning until we're home again.

CLOSE ARMY CENTRE AT GRANDE PRAIRIE

OTTAWA. — The Canadian Army basic training centre at Grande Prairie, Alta., will be closed April 30, an army spokesman said early this week.

He said the centre was being closed with the completion of the courses being conducted there. The centre, commanded by Maj. K. W. Watt, was opened in 1940 and the first class was graduated Oct. 5 of that year.

It could not be learned immediately to what use the buildings would be put after April 30. There were reports it would be used as a veterans' rehabilitation centre.

Many women are rendering war time service as members of local ration boards.

WOODVALE

Spring seems to be really here with almost every day warm and plenty of sunshine. Even the bushes are getting a green tinge and buds about as early as we have ever seen them. We hope that no heavy night frost will spoil their fresh green beauty. The vetsite even cut her first separating for dinner on Sunday and that has never happened before in April.

The very best wishes of the community go to Mr. and Mrs. Brooks-Lessne, who were married recently. After their return from their honey moon several young folks from the Island, Woodvale and Beckingham districts charivvied them on Monday night and enjoyed a dainty lunch and a pleasant visit. On Wednesday, 19th the young couple gave a wedding dance at Woodvale school where a pleasant time was had by all and where they received several useful and beautiful presents with the best wishes of their many friends. Mr. C. Foster spent a few days with them at his home where we caught him working in the flower garden. Mrs. Foster, Vera and Hughie are all working in Edmonton at present.

Virginia Cunnington and her sister Marjorie (Mrs. Petrie) and the latter's family all visited at the Rankin home on Sunday the 16th. Virginia graduated at the C.W.A.C. centre last Friday. Mrs. Cunnington and Howard came over for the occasion and met quite a few of their former Woodvale neighbors in Vermilion that day.

Mrs. A. Dixon and Angie have returned from the East and will be back with their farm in the Hindville district.

Over half a dozen boys and girls of the Tofland district have joined the Orinsky Boys' Band at Hindville. We feel sure, that our district agriculturist Mr. Buckingham, will be glad to have any girl or boy in the Woodvale and Hindville district join too, the age limits are 13 to 22 years.

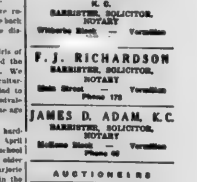
The amateur program and hard-time dance at Valon school on April 14 was a great success and the school was packed with young and older folks. Hazel Thomson and Marjorie Lewis were the prize winners in the contest, making a cute pair a ladies singing an evenly, "Little Lady, Dressed in Blue". Mrs. Johnny Tattersall and Mrs. Walberg, the only ladies dressed for the hard-time dance, carried away the prizes for it.

Coming Sugar Ready May 25

OTTAWA—First five P cargoes in Ration Book 3 designated for sugar for canning will become valid on May 25, and the second five P cargoes on July 6, according to the Ration Administration, WPTB. Each coupon is good for one pound of sugar, then the total per person is 10 pounds of sugar for canning purposes.

Housekeepers are reminded that they may convert P coupons for canning sugar to D coupons at local ration boards, if they prefer to buy their preserves rather than do their own canning.

The way could still be lost as easily by unconcealed inflation as by a shortage of munitions.



Use of primary kapok is now restricted to the production of life-saving equipment.

George was almost on his knees pleading with Eddie. There was a wild look in George's blue eyes. The sun runs twice, the saying goes, but the third time he fights. George was no lion, but he'd been refused fifteen times. Repetition does things to a man as well as to a lion.

Now, shouting at Eddie, George's hair was disheveled, his collar was open and long since wilted, and his size 11½ neck was raspberry red. "Eddie," he screamed, "you've got to help me. I'm a ruined man if I don't go to the big dance tonight. They'll never forgive me. She'll treat me like ice, hot ice. I've got to have your friendship, Eddie. The other fellows are either going themselves, or are too fat or skinny or tall. And I can't run alone. I've got just enough for the dance and the trimmings."

"Is that so?" Eddie questioned politely. "Sorry regrettable."

"Eddie," George said hoarsely, collapsing on a chair, "you'll lend me your tux, won't you? You wouldn't leave a pal on a desperate ship, would you? Would you, Eddie?"

"Ah, of course you know, George," Eddie finally started, "I like Judy myself. And seeing you I: such a position does not, you understand, bring tears to my eyes."

George's voice was very faint. "Yeah, I know, Eddie. But don't you ever think of suffering humanity? Don't you ever . . . ?"

"No, I never," Eddie interrupted surtly. "But I know when I'm licked."

"You do?" George managed, a delirious grin on his face.

"Sa," Eddie said with a peculiar smile. "Look boy; O.K. by me. I'm a sport. After all, the best man wins and Judy has given you the decision."

George gaped at Eddie, flabbergasted. "Then the war's over?"

Eddie nodded. "Yes. Over. Truce. Armistice. Peace and what have you. I retire from the field of battle. You win and I lose."

"Then you'll lend me your tuxedo?"

"Of course, George. Of course. I'd lend you my ears if you wanted them, George. But I shall continue to like Judy. Privately, though, to you."

"Eddie," George said solemnly, clapping him on the back, you're a real pal. A staunch, stalwart pal. A man that would give his heart's blood for a friend."

"Save it, George. Save it for my birthday. My tuxedo's in that closet. Put it on gently. It cost me good American cash."

"Thanks, Eddie," George yelled, as he dove for the closet. "Thanks!" he shouted, running for the door. "I'll never forget this."

"No," Eddie murmured as George bolted out of the room, "you never will. You're going to see to that myself." A few minutes later Eddie reached for the phone. He dialed swiftly, a contented smirk on his face.

"Hello," he purred smoothly, "Park Central Valet Shop? This is Eddie Lewis. I rented a tuxedo from you two weeks ago. Yeah, of course I know it's not paid for! Don't get excited, man, you'll destroy me. There's nothing worse than a woman who shrieks. You'll get your money. A friend of mine is wearing the tux tonight at the school dances. Get this. His name is George Winthrop. He's agreed to pay for it. Send someone over to collect." Eddie put down the phone, his wide smirk threatening to reach his ears. "George," he muttered, "you're so stupid it's a crime to beat you out."

Eddie unfolded and went to bed. Eight doors down the hall, George was struggling frantically into a tuxedo. On his dresser he had two dollars and change—just enough for a movie after the dance.

It seemed to Eddie as he got up the next morning, that the sun was shining brighter than ever before. The sky was never bluer—he had never felt better. All in all, a very satisfactory awakening. Eddie hummed as he washed, thinking of Judy. He sang as he dressed, thinking of Judy. He whistled as he went out to breakfast, still thinking of Judy.

George's door was at the head of the stairs. Eddie knocked in passing, and was astonished to hear a feeble, "Come in!" Eddie stopped whistling. He pushed the door open and entered. George was sitting on the end of his bed pulling on his socks. "Good morning, Eddie," he greeted. "How's the boy?"

Eddie stared wonderingly at the smiling George. "Did you have a nice time last night?" he asked after taking a deep breath.

"Yep," George replied, beaming happily. "And you can be the first to congratulate me, Eddie. Judy and I are engaged."

Eddie gaped.

"We didn't go to the dance last night," George continued. "Judy's uncle was taken sick and she had to stay with him. So the dance was called off. And, Eddie, it was all so funny. When I went in Judy kissed me right away. It was much better than any dance." George rubbed his lips.

"Where's my tux?" Eddie asked weakly.

"At Judy's uncle's," George replied. "The Park Central Valet Shop, you know. I'll have you rent it. Judy said she got your phone call. And that's what I'm wondering about. Why'd you want to call the Park Central, Eddie?"

Super-Factory

Was Built in Scotland In The Short Period Of Four Months

Near a Scottish city, an 8,000 foot super-factory has been built in four months. Before the war an undertaking such as this one would have taken nine to twelve months. Two weeks after the site was settled, the final scheme was approved and the contract was let a month later. Consulting engineers were called in at the preliminary stages, the consultant staff working alongside the architectural staff. Bulk orders were placed with suppliers as soon as the contract was let and in order that the work should run smoothly, an organization including architects, engineers and surveyors was set up on the site from the start of the construction. Due to this idea, quarries were settled promptly and efficiently and it also resulted in an excellent team spirit between the contractors and technical staff. So that work should not be stopped during rainy periods, an ingenious invention of tubular scaffold frames with tarpaulin sheets was erected—and the work went on uninterrupted.

Wooden Wonder

Mosquito Plane Flies Higher And Faster Than Any Other Bomber In The World

They call the Mosquito plane "The Wooden Wonder" and there is nothing derogatory about it. She is the No. 1 pin-up girl of the aviation world.

Her evolution goes back to Dec. 29, 1939 when man with vision laid plans for construction of a wooden bomber so fast she need have neither gun turrets nor gunners for protection.

May 15, 1941, saw the first flight of the fighter prototype and Sept. 19 that year the Mosquito completed her first mission, a photographic reconnaissance from 44½ miles up.

May 31, 1942, brought the bomber version into action for the first time.

Nothing was said about her until Sept. 25, 1942, when Mosquitoes carried out a dashing attack on Gestapo headquarters at Oslo. She made the front pages then, where 1942-43 saw the fighter-bomber carrying 2,000-pound bom.b loads with full range armament of four cannon and four machine-guns. The unarmed bomber version carried 3,000 pounds of bombs.

Jan. 30, 1943, Mosquitoes went to Berlin and spoiled Nazi party birthday celebrations. In March that year the Mosquito appeared as a day fighter, ranging deep into France and covering the Bay of Biscay.

The night of Feb. 23-24, 1944, they really bombed her up. On the morning of the 24th they announced the "Mossies" had carried 4,000-pound blockbusters into Germany.

There is nothing so far to touch her because today this small town girl is flying higher and faster than any other bomber in the world—something far in excess of 400 miles an hour.

Story From Northland

Dentist Found One Patient Who Had Used His Ingenuity

Lieut. George A. Bonstock, dental officer, central Canada command, United States army, has met some odd patients during duty tours in Northland.

He found a trapper who wore two wolves' teeth, fitted with gold, in his plate, and that fitted have a mortal fear of dentist chairs

A gunsmith trapper mushed 300 miles by dog team to "see the dentist".

"He had a bridge for two front teeth made years ago by Lieut Bonstock. "The teeth, however, had fallen out, and the trapper had taken two wolves' teeth, filed them and fitted them into the bridge with glue.

"They were serviceable for a time, but the glue didn't hold too well.

The American soldier, whose home is at Linderhurst, Long Island, N.Y., treated many Indians and Eskimos in the north.

"Getting the Eskimos into the chair is something," he said. "Sometimes they put up stiff resistance."

GARDEN NOTES

Cultivation

Killing weeds is only one function of cultivation. In the well-cared-for garden, where weeds never make much growth anyway, the main job is to improve the soil by maintaining moisture, letting in air and keeping soil fine. One or two thorough cultivations of vegetable or flower gardens after planting, and then a little stirring up lightly with a cultivator —preferably once a week until the middle of summer—and growth will come along almost regardless of dry weather.

How To Plant

Flowers and vegetables divide themselves into three general groups —hardy, semi-hardy and tender. In the seed catalogues and on the packets these are the general descriptions used, and this information provides the key to planting time in any part of the Dominion.

The first group can be put in just as soon as the soil is fit to work, which is when it crumbles and not packs into a ball when squeezed.

Among the very hardy are spinach, lettuce, radish and peas, among the vegetables; and most of the poppies, cosmos, bachelor buttons and sweet peas, among the flowers.

In the semi-hardy line, vegetables and flowers which will stand a light frost or two would be carrots, beets, beans, potatoes and corn in the vegetable line; and zinnias, calendulas, calliopsis in the flowers.

Tender plants will not stand any frost at all. In the list are the melons, cucumbers, peppers, pumpkins among the vegetables; and gladiolus, dahlias, cannas, in flowers.

Layouts

The most effective layout of flowers, lawns and shrubbery, for the average gardener, is an informal one. That is, curved paths and borders rather than straight lines. But when we put in these curves, especially in paths, landscape experts say, we must be sure to make a reason for them otherwise the whole effect will be artificial. At the bend in the driveway or path, therefore, it is well to have a tree or a group of shrubs or a flower bed.

In screening, it is not necessary nor desirable to cover the whole of fence, wall or garage unless the same is unsightly. Much more pleasing results follow where the shrubbery, vines and trees partly break the lines of the man made structures and blend in, but leave enough showing for contrast.

SMILE AWHILE

"There's only one way to get rid of your surplus fat. Exercise, and plenty of it!"

"Nonsense. How do you account for my wife's double chin?"

* * *

"I called to make an appointment with the dentist."

"He's out to lunch now."

"Ah, when do you expect him to be out again?"

Cereals Have New Role in Wartime

Breakfastfood Foods Are Plentiful, So Menus Vitamin Vim Them Three Times A Day

(By Barbara B. Brooks)

Women are taking the food situation in their stride When the grocer announces he has run out of this or that, or the bin in the super-market is empty, they no longer get the desperate what-will-I-have-for-supper look. Cheerfully, they are using the foods that are plentiful—whether they ever used them before or not.

Cereals, for instance. They're still on the grocer's shelves. Of course cereals aren't new. People have been eating them for breakfast for generations. But cereals for lunch and dinner are off the beaten track. Yet today women are buying crisp prepared cereals and using them in cooking with results that are little short of amazing.

As food stretchers, cereals do a fine job. Combined with meat they make a little look like a lot. But cereals do more than stretch. They add fir ror, interest and food value.

Pare, core and slice apples crosswise into thirds. Put apple slice between two patties and press together. Bake in shallow pan in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30-35 minutes or until meat is done and apple is tender. Yield: Six servings.

Sprinkle with paprika, cover and cook about 15 minutes Yield: 4 to 6 servings. Note: Sweet cream may be used in place of sour cream.

Saving Money

Canadians Have Huge Savings To Ease Post-War Difficulties

R. L. Wright, research director for a Canadian advertising agency, told the Toronto Graphic Arts Association that Canadians have a savings cushion of more than $3,000,000,000 to ease the difficulties of the post-war transition period.

He suggested this reserve might be increased at the rate of $2,000,000,000 a year.

He warned that these savings might lead to a "gigantic post-war spending spree" and added that it might be necessary to retain wartime controls to maintain equitable distribution of supplies and to avoid inflation.

The Garden Plot

Gardens Supply Vegetables High In Nutritional Value

The kitchen garden planted to supply the family with both fresh vegetables all summer long—and canned, or stored vegetables for winter use plays an important part in keeping Canada strong and healthy.

Father doubtless has his planting plans well in hand by now—but Mother, with her knowledge of food values should make a check to be sure that those vegetables especially high in nutritive values are given their proper share in the garden plot. Nutrition Services at Ottawa rate tomatoes a "must" for every garden.

The leafy vegetables, spinach or chard and kale, so rich in vitamin A, should be given priority—and the yellows—including squash and corn when the garden is big enough, should be among those present.

MANY GET LICENSES AT A. M. A. BRANCHES

Nearly one-third of the motor car owners in the province had taken out licenses by April 15th, according to reports received by officials of the Alberta Motor Association. The total was 32,000.

Officers of the A.M.A. have been extremely busy during recent weeks in handling motor license applications, along with drivers' licenses and the issuance of the AA federal coupon, radio permits.

The convenience offered by the A. M. A. branches in securing licenses promptly has won the high commendation of many motorists.

Stickers for the windshield and rear window of cars also have been issued with the current year's license. Car owners are making use of the plate they displayed in 1942.

Juticker by all indications, there will be a heavy issuance of motor car and drivers' licenses this year. In fact, provincial officials feel confident that the total of about 83,000 in the 1943-44 license period that ended on March 31 will be exceeded.

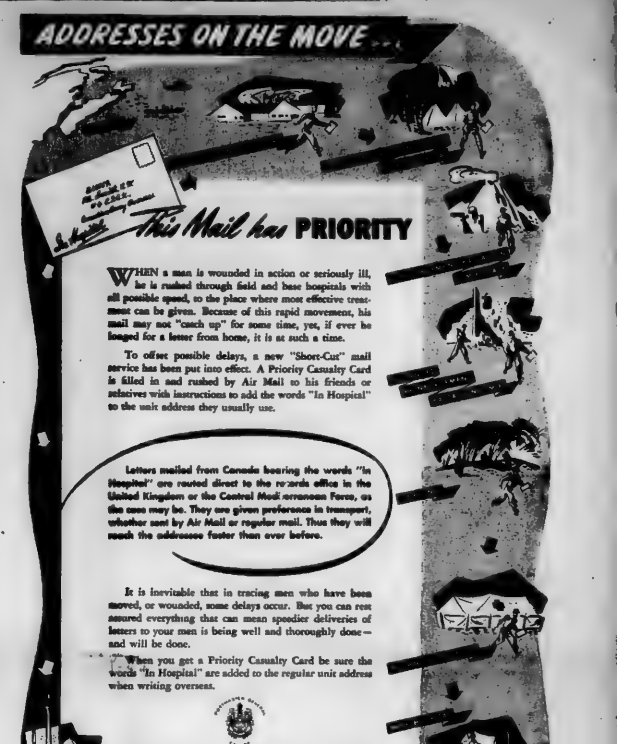
DEPARTMENT OF MUNITIONS AND SUPPLY

ADDRESSES ON THE MOVE . . .



WHEN a man is wounded in action or seriously ill, he is rushed through field and base hospitals with all possible speed, to the place where most effective treatment can be given. Because of this rapid movement, his mail may not "catch up" for some time, yet, if ever he longed for a letter from home, it is at such a time.

To offset possible delays, a new "Short-Cut" mail service has been put into effect. A Priority Casualty Card is filled in and rushed by Air Mail to his friends or relatives with instructions to add the words "In Hospital" to the unit address they usually use.

Letters mailed from Canada bearing the words "In Hospital" are routed direct to the records office in the United Kingdom or the Central Mediterranean Force, as the case may be. They are given preference in transport, whether sent by Air Mail or regular mail. Thus they will reach the addressee faster than ever before.

It is inevitable that in tracing men who have been moved, or wounded, some delays occur. But you can rest assured everything that can mean speedier deliveries of letters to your men is being well and thoroughly done—and will be done.

When you get a Priority Casualty Card be sure the words "In Hospital" are added to the regular unit address when writing overseas.

Post-War Housing

PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL, in a recent radio address, dwelt at some length on plans for post-war housing which are now being drawn up in Britain. The need for these plans is urgent, for it is estimated that in the first ten years after the war, 4,000,000 permanent new homes will be required there. Considerable study has been given to the subject and a number of reports have been submitted to the government. Emphasis has been placed on the necessity of giving careful consideration to problems relating to community development. It has also been recommended that a "master plan" be made for the proper use of Britain's land resources. Mr. Church.ll has defined the most urgent needs of the country after the war as food, work and houses, putting housing among the most necessary post-war requirements. Bomb damage has destroyed many residential areas in the United Kingdom, and has greatly aggravated a shortage of living accommodation which had been evident even in times of peace.

* * * * *

Similar Need is Felt Here The housing situation in Britain, and the manner in which it is being handled, is of much interest to Canadians, for we have a similar problem which is now receiving considerable attention. While the housing requirements here do not reach the proportion reported in Britain, it is believed that from 600,000 to 1,000,000 new dwellings will be needed in the Dominion during the first ten years after the war. These will provide for the relief of overcrowded conditions, and for the demand for new homes in that interval. Housing authorities report that at the present time we have a shortage of about 300,000 dwellings. If all requirements were to be adequately met, the Dominion Housing Research Advisory Committee on Reconstruction has been studying problems of Housing and Community Planning, and their work has produced many interesting facts relating to this subject.

* * * * *

Special Study Of Farm Homes The importance of town and community planning has been emphasized here, as it was in Britain. There have also been proposals in regard to simplifying the financing of new homes or of repairs to dwellings now in use, both in urban and rural localities. Attention has been directed towards the housing situation in farming communities and it is estimated that 190,000 farm dwellings will require repairs and improvements, while there will be need for about 125,000 new farm homes, in the ten-year period following the war. For some time it has been felt that rural housing is a highly specialized study, and that efforts should be made to plan farm houses adapted to the needs of rural life. It is suggested that architects familiar with farm conditions departments of agriculture, and farm men and women should work on such plans for post-war improvements. These are only a few of the many aspects of Canada's housing problem, but they show the need for careful study and planning for the future.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—I would like a correct list of the contents of the new ration book number four.

A.—One sheet of green tea or coffee coupons; Second—one sheet of pink sugar coupons; Third—one sheet of yellow preserves coupons; Fourth —two sheets of orchid colored butter coupons; Fifth—four sheets of buff meat coupons; Sixth—one sheet of "M" coupons, Sixth—one sheet of "N" coupons. If your ration books have any of the above-listed sheets missing, or have too many, take the faulty books to the nearest Local Ration Board for correction.

Q.—Will you please tell us whether or not the prices of cold wave permanents are controlled?

A.—The prices of cold wave permanents are controlled. Here is the official ruling on this matter. Operators may not charge more for a cold wave permanent than they did for their home priced permanent during the basic period, back in the fall of 1941. This is an Official Wartime Prices and Trade Board ruling.

Q.—My husband gave me a cloth coat trimmed with persian lamb for my birthday last week. He tells me he paid 85 dollars for it, but since then I've been doing a little window shopping, and I find that the same coat is selling in other stores for 75 dollars. Isn't there a price ceiling on coats?

A.—Yes, there is on cloth coats, but not when they are fur trimmed. This is a matter I have to be ruling on fur. You may have noticed the high prices of furs this year compared with last year.

Q.—Can a tenant be called to vacate when he's behind in the rent? A. Yes, but before the tenant is more than fifteen days behind in his rent he may be required to vacate under provincial law.

Price Control

What Women Have To Say About Keeping Down Inflation

(By Edna Jaques)

On the farm, in the city home and all the way to Parliament Hill in Ottawa, women have only one opinion about price control. Remembering what the last war did to the household budget, they are thankful for the price ceiling. And they know it is their responsibility to check prices of everything they buy, and keep food at a level where they can be assured of enough "to keep the kids growing," as one of them put it—and set a good table.

Here are some of the things women have said about price control:

"Price control and price ceilings have saved the country. There have been a few mistakes, naturally, but on the whole, price control has been our salvation"—Mrs. Cameron Dow, President of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada.

"But for price control they would be desperate. Hundreds of my people live on fixed incomes, old age pensions, pensions for the blind, etc., and if prices were allowed to rise, the plight of people like these (and they are legion) would become desperate in the extreme"—Thelma Williams, executive secretary of the Ottawa Welfare Bureau.

"Every organized group leader in Canada should bring before her organization the vital problem of price control. The fight against inflation and uncontrolled prices must be waged in every kitchen in the Dominion"—Mrs. John Patteller, of London, Ont., national educational secretary I.O.D.E.

"However, who remember the years of the last war will undoubtedly agree that the present system of price control has many advantages. I recall distinctly the days of the last war when butter was 75 cents a pound, potatoes in the neighborhood of $7.00 a bag"—Senator Cairine R. Wilson.

"Price control in Canada has certainly been a boon to this country and saved the inflationary prices with which the United States has to cope"—Mrs. George Black, of the Yukon.

And the Red Cross women at a church meeting summed it all up without guns or feathers when she said: "We are not asked to push on and storm a beachhead, or build a bridge under enemy fire, we are only asked to hold the line against inflation—and that's ground in right smack in our own kitchens, that's our job, ladies!"

Plastic Paint

Another Important Discovery Which Has Benefited Even Remotest Areas

When is paint not paint, that is the question? And the answer is, when it's plastic! Such a product has just been perfected for painting ship's bottoms. The result is a cleaner hull; and a cleaner hull means less drag on the engines, more speed, and less time in dry dock, not to mention a saving in fuel.

Plastic paint is one of those wartime discoveries which resulted from pre-war research.

Danger From Moths

How To Protect Clothes During Summer Storage

The problem of protecting winter clothing from moths during summer storage entails more care than when summer clothing is put away for the winter, because in warm weather insects are more numerous. At the same time, insects may be quite active in wool in heated buildings. There are two main points to be observed in the protection of household articles subject to attack by moths. The articles to be stored should be thoroughly clean, and the receptacle in which they are placed should not have the slightest hole or crack through which a moth might enter. If there be such a means of entrance, the trunk, box, drawer, bag or whatever receptacle is used, is not mothproof.

Washable articles before being stowed away should be washed. Clothing, blankets, and such-like articles, should be thoroughly brushed. Preferably, where possible, they should be sent to the dry cleaners before being placed in storage. To reduce the chance of infestation, moth balls or other repellent may be used. In trunks or boxes they may be scattered about, but a much tidier way is to obtain pin-up medallion repellents which may be bought at most stores. They may be pinned up in cupboards, and on the inside of the lids of trunks and boxes. The fumes from these chemicals are deadly to insects, and being heavier than air they penetrate to the bottom of the receptacle. Particularly with bags, it is easy to suspend the repellent near the top of the bag where the hanger, and away from the clothes. Where napthalene flakes can be obtained, an effective method is to enclose an ounce or two in a homemade cheese cloth bag and suspend it from the top. Moth balls may be used in the same way.

Piano tuning may be guarded by suspending the repellent in a cheese cloth bag inside the piano, and keeping the piano closed when not in use. Further information about the protection of articles in the home will be found in Publication 637 (Circular 201) "Control of Some Common Species of Household Insects", obtainable free by writing to Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Two Women Welders Astonished Foremen Of Aviation Plant

Two girls (who modestly wish to be nameless) startled the workers and officials of a local construction firm by their unorthodox knowledge. It happened this way:

The two nameless girls learned arc welding at Toronto Shipyards, and so enthusiastic were they in their work that they learned many things about shipbuilding from mechanics and fellow workers. . . When a big construction firm was confronted with the problem of welding a new type shell plate and had no mechanic to do the job, an S.O.S. went out to the Toronto Shipyards. . . There was a plate shop man who could be spared, but one of the girls said he "knew a couple of words that might take an hour off and show 'em." He named the girls, who admitted they had picked up considerable knowledge of the plate shop work. They were despatched forthwith to the big construction firm. They were not in a startled foreman. They did bend the required plates themselves, and it was an A1 job.—Toronto Telegram.

FARMERS IN BETTER POSITION TO PARTICIPATE IN VI VICTORY LOAN

Through Wheat Participation Payments

Suggestion that Alberta farmers earmark the returns they are to receive from their wheat participation certificates for Sixth Victory Loan bond purchases was made by officers of the Provincial War Finance Committee at Calgary.

According to a statement tabled in the House of Commons recently by the Minister of Trade and Commerce the Canadian Wheat Board had an over-all surplus on its operations for the crop years 1940-41, 1941-42 and 1942-43 estimated at around $40,000,000.

It is understood participation payments on the 1940-41 operations will shortly be in the hands of the producers, and that settlements for the 1941-42 crop year will be forthcoming during the next few months. Alberta will share substantially in this. Generally speaking, therefore, the position of our wheat growers is much more satisfactory than they, or anyone else, have credited.

While there will be some necessary calls on these monies, the War Finance officials agreed, much of them will constitute reserves in the farmers' hands, and it is hoped Sixth Victory Loan drives will borrow from purchases through low wheat income in the Sixth Victory Loan they have the opportunity to make arrangements for purchases, confident that their wheat participation payment will liquidate the obligations they incur in so doing.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange
Director, Research Department
Searle Grain Co. Ltd.

RATES OF SEEDING

Recent experiments made by the Dominion Experimental Farms and by the Western Canada Irrigation District farmers at times have lost some shell by sowing their grains at too low a rate per acre. Grains such as Marquis and large kernels such as Red Bobs, Marquis and Regent Wheat, and such barley varieties as Plush, Newal, Warrior, Bonanza, and Hannchen need to be sown at a higher rate to the acre than smaller kerneled varieties such as Thatcher wheat or Charlottetown 80. C.A.C. 21, Mensury, Mensumoi 38, Brunal, Prospect and Titan barleys

It is further noted that if seeding is delayed for any reason then a heavier rate of seeding is required to obtain the same yield

It is discovered also that if the land is light and sandy, early seeding will give better results than late seed for Summer-fallow. Heavier seeding of late grain too, will help better to control weeds.

The Dominion Experimental Farm, Lethbridge, tell us that they have found there is no advantage to be gained in lighter sowing because of a dry season.

All in all, then, it would appear that there is much of a loss in yield by sowing at too low a rate. When ever, therefore, the farmer is in doubt it would appear that heavier sowing will give him a better assurance of a higher yield.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

The U. S. A. estimate the use of wheat for feed this season at 470 mil lion bushels — Production of bread grains in Sweden in 1942 was at about the same level as in 1941, but consiederably lower average—Switzerland has begun rationing of bread and is Remember!!!

When the markets collapsed after the last war?
When bank credits stopped and the mortgage company demanded payment?
When interest payments were greater than your income?
When prices dropped out of sight in the 1930's?
When your son rode the rods or worked for $5 a month on your neighbour's farm?

WHY?

Because the packing companies controlled your market
Because the banks controlled your credit
Because the Investment companies controlled the price of your machinery!
Because the Grain Exchange and the millers controlled your grain prices!
Because monopoly ruled!

NEVER AGAIN !!!

The C C F —Your Party— Believes:
You should own your own farm!
Monopolies must serve the people not rule them!
Credit should be your servant not your master!
You should have grower controlled Marketing Boards to sell your products, at parity prices!
You should have co-operatives to reduce costs.

THE CCF WILL BRING:
Planned production of plenty for all, in peace as well as in war.

PAUL WINS RECOGNITION FOR GENTILE CHRISTIANS

Golden text: Being therefore justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ. Romans 5:1.

Lesson: Acts 18:1-23. Galatians 2 1-21.

Devotional Reading: Ephesians 2: 11-22.

Explanations and Comments

A Crisis at Antioch of Syria, Acts 14:27; 15:3

The Headline Conference at Jerusalem, Galatians 2:1-10. It is the general view that Paul here is writing about what occurred at Jerusalem on that momentous occasion. Titus, a Gentile convert, was with Paul and Barnabas and before the general council meeting the three held a consultation with the Three Pillars of the Church, James the prominent, Peter the authoritative, and John the beloved.

Paul's words are helpfully paraphrased by the One Volume Commentary: "It was an impulse from the Spirit which led me to go and explain my teaching to the leaders there, that I might see whether they approved it. That they did so was shown by the fact that they did not demand the circumcision of my companion, Titus, Gentile though he was. Some, no doubt, desired it, but on account of the Judaizers, who were trying to bind the burdens of the law upon us, I utterly refused, because by allowing it I should have compromised the truth of the Gospel. But the most influential leaders of the Jerusalem Church, who had authority be what it may, that does not concern the truth or divine approval of my teaching—had no desire to correct or supplement my views, but recognized that I had my sphere of labor among the Gentiles as truly as Peter had his among the Jews, and that each was successful in his own sphere. Not only so, but these leaders, James Peter and John, gave us the right hand of fellowship in token of their approval and sympathy, and bade us God-speed in our foreign mission while they themselves sought to evangelize the Jews, only asking us to send contributions for the poor at Jerusalem, which indeed we were eager to do."

A Great Church Decision, Acts 15: 6-21 The meetings of the larger conference followed. There the momentous crisis gave an account of what had taken place in the newly-founded Gentile churches. Lengthy discussions followed, for no great matter, which involved the question whether the gospel was for all Gentiles or only for the few who would first become Jews, could not be settled off hand. Then Peter arose and after declaring that God had made no distinction between Gentiles and themselves, cleansing all hearts by faith, asked, Why make the trial of God, that we should put a yoke upon the neck of the disciples which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear? We believe that we shall be saved through the grace of the Lord Jesus in like manner as they.

Helpful Suggestions

Weird Ideas That Were Offered To The British Government In Last War

Every war brings its share of screwy inventions. While we are waiting to hear about the strange contrivances inspired by the present conflict it might be of interest to consider some individual suggestions which were offered to the British Government during World War I. They follow:

Blot out the moon on moonlight nights by means of a great beam of "black light," so the Germans could make no moonlight raids.

Build a cement gun to squirt cement over the Huns and "petrify" them.

Freeze the clouds and mount artillery on them from airplanes.

Send over the German lines a fleet of balloons carrying powerful magnets which would jerk the guns out of the enemy's hands and the tin hats from their heads.

Shoot poisonous snakes into the German trenches by compressed air.

Been have a hook-and-eye system on their wing edges, enabling them to fasten the front and back wings into a single unit in flight.

Swallowed Needles

French Canadian In Army Detention Barracks In England Was Hungry

Needles may sound like very unsatisfying fare to most people, but to a French-Canadian in army detention barracks in England, they were better than nothing. He said he swallowed them because he was always hungry. Pte. Paul Gagne once earned a living on the stage in Coney Island swallowing knives, razor blades and pieces of glass. He went back to his tricks more recently to "beat" the army, as he described it, because he had been put in detention. At various times he swallowed three needles—about three inches long—and they cause him no injury. "In barracks I was on bread and water and was always hungry," he explained. "In hospital I was able to get a good meal."

HAS SECOND EIGHT

John E. Lindley, of Tucson, Ariz., spent his 100th birthday, is through with glasses. He used them until he was 90, then cast them aside because he couldn't get a pair to fit. Now he reads daily the small print of his Bible without so much as a squint.

Health LEAGUE of CANADA presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

ILL HEALTH CONTRIBUTED TO ENCHANCE OF CRIME

"Poor health is one of the most persistent and challenging of the many and varied problems which confront the probation officer in his day-to-day attempts to rehabilitate offenders," says William C. Nay, United States Probation Officer, whose job is the rehabilitation of persons freed by courts and prisons. In an article on "Poor Health—A Persistent Problem in Supervision," appearing in the quarterly periodical, "Federal Probation," he says, "In normals times a large number of probationers have physical ailments; but today, when the physically fit have been inducted into the armed services, the percentage of cases with health problems is extremely high. Throughout the country many probation cases involving frequent job changes, temporary unemployment, a return to delinquent ways of living, alcohol and narcotic addiction, and other types of social maladjustment, may be traced to some form of poor health."

Many of the problems involved in dealing with probationers and parolees whose health precludes their adjusting normally to their environment, both physiological and psychological aspects, according to Mr. Nay. He mentions the need of vocational training or guidance for handicapped ex-convicts, and the special supervision needed in cases of persons suffering from tuberculosis, venereal disease, and other ills.

New types of cases are resulting from the war, he points out. "Already our courts are hearing cases involving service men discharged for medical reasons and, no doubt, these cases will multiply."

BEING WELL ADJUSTED

Dr. William Beebe's famous bathysphere, in which he observed and recorded the strange life at ocean depths for his popular books, is now being used by the U.S. Government for testing depth charges. The scientist reports. Dr. Beebe feels that he is well out of it.

WILL BE REFLECTED

Within a few hours after the announcement that the cruiser Pensacola had been sunk, Blackpool, which had adopted the ship, telegraphed the Admiralty it would raise $9,000,000 by the end of the year to replace the ship.

Steps Up Production

British Factories Have Found Music Great Help To Workers

The seven dwarfs' line of music while you work has become so popular since the outbreak of war that several hundred factories now have broadcasting systems in their workshops. Personnel managers have found that music steps up production considerably by counteracting mental fatigue and staleness among work people.

The type of music played and when it is played also seems to make a difference. Marches when shirts change create a cheerful atmosphere, and waltzes during fatigue periods help relax tired muscles, it has been found.

Buttons covered with cloth were prohibited in England in 1721.

Training In India

Bullocks Go Through Hard Training To Get Used To War Conditions

Bullocks are now receiving battle training in India to get them used to the noises and shocks they will be subject to as members of the new Indian pack-bullock companies.

Their instructor is Lieut. A. J. Mills, who put them through a tough course. Red flags are waved in front of their noses, thunder flashes explode all round them and on their forced marches through the jungle they encounter gas-rattles and sirens. When the course is finished they are given battle dress—which consists of camouflaging their white hides.

From 1853 to 1930 the play "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was showing somewhere in America, giving it the longest continuous "run" of any production.

THE FUTURE

The future of wheat growing in the prairie province depends principally on the settling into production of Eastern Canada when the war ends. If the Dominion persists in its high tariff policy and an effort is made to maintain in operation the expanded industrial life of the Dominion through the use of tariffs prospects for large wheat exports will be poor. If on the other hand Canada emerges, as here in the freedom of trade charter in the Atlantic Charter, there is good opportunity for the expansion of Canadian wheat exports.—The Bridge

The following parades are scheduled for the week ending May 7, Monday May 1, drill and aircraft recognition; Thursday May 4, mathematics and signals.

The commanding officer has requested that all cadets make a special effort to attend the drill parades and get ready for the annual inspection which will take place on June 5th at 11:30 hours the general public is invited and although it takes place in the afternoon we are in hopes of having a good turn out to watch the boys go through their paces and to give the cadets the feeling that they have the people or Vermilion behind them.

The parade will take place on the east side of the public school.

The following cadets were absent from parade for week ending April 23rd: Brewster, Bolme, F. Brewer, Dewy, Dourlas, Gibbons, Gayen, Hoth-

CAPTAIN CHARLES HUSTLER MARRIED IN EDMONTON

The marriage of Captain Winnifred Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Graham of Edmonton, and Captain Charles Hustler of Vermilion, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hustler of Calmar, B.C., took place in the Salvation Army Citadel, Edmonton, on Thursday April 20th at 8 p.m. Brigadier E. Rayner officiated.

Daffodils, narcissus and ferns decorated the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore the uniform of the Salvation Army with a corsage of red roses. She carried her testament on which was laid a red rose. Captain Lillian Bray and Mrs. Ernest Thorpe attended the bride. Both the attendants wore their army uniforms with corsages of red and white carnations. Captain Melvin Hamilton was best man while Sgt. Major Jack Shepard played the wedding marches. The Salvation Army quartet sang, "Thou Wilt Keep Him in Perfect Peace".

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Alberta avenue Citadel with one hundred and fifty guests attending. The bride's table was set with white damask cloth over pink and was centered with a cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Narcissus, daffodils and ferns and white tapers were used for decorations.

The bride's mother received the guests and wore a navy blue two piece ensemble with white shoes. Her large picture hat was also trimmed with white and her corsage was of pink and white carnations.

Telegrams containing best wishes to the happy couple were read by Captain Hunter after which he and Lieut. Tamasi sang a duet, "He Leadeth Me."

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Miles Fitch, Calmar; Captain Thos. Smith, Olds; Captain O. Krauetz, Lloydminster; Captain Ida Arkinstall, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Green and Rev. and Mrs. Edward Crane, Wetaskiwin; Mrs. Walter Irving, Lethbridge, and Mrs. Bruce Bellingham of Vermilion.

After a short wedding trip to Calgary, Captain and Mrs. Hustler will be stationed with the Salvation Army in Ve.milion.

Stagette Notes

At our Tuesday night meeting discussion continued on the proposed welner roast but the girls are still of the opinion that it is too cold.

It was moved seconded and carried that we sponsor a cotton ball on June 7th, certain conditions permitting. The girls were enthusiastic over the idea of all wearing long evening gowns. This would be our first formal since the days of the "CAT." Also that it was generally agreed they were not the thing. So come on girls—show your skill and dig out those and thread. Let's make this a welcome to summer with our gay prints of every description.

After the business of the evening Claire Lanteigne gave the girls a most interesting and instructive talk on social diseases. This was thought to be a timely discussion under prevailing conditions throughout the nation. Claire was in a position to give first hand information having worked in clinics in Edmonton and Calgary for some months. She covered the subject fully under the following headings—Source of infection, Symptoms, Treatment, Control. The speaker had many tales to relate which gave the girls an insight into the lives of the "other half".

The Stagettes are grateful to Mrs. Lanteigne and hope to hear her again at another meeting.

THANK YOU!

The members of the Carleton-Hughes-Claymore Red Cross auxiliary wish to thank all those who helped sell tickets, or in any way assisted, in the recent raffle of the calf, and to all who purchased tickets and attended the whist drive. The sum realized was $185.00 and this was further augmented by the generous action of Mrs. D. Cooper who won the calf and then had it auctioned off half the sale price being donated back to our auxiliary. This amounted to $194.75 and made a grand total of $314.35 which has all been turned in to Mr Pibus for the Red Cross.

Grace M. Barr, Sec./Treas.

Pleats on trousers for service dress uniforms for the three services are now permitted by the WTB.

CANTON-WATSON RED CROSS

Ten members met at the home of Mrs. Wilson Ford on April 13 and spent the afternoon in making a large quilt. After a delightful lunch plans to give a dance and pie-social at Watson school were discussed, but nothing definite was decided upon. The auxiliary plans to buy 22 pounds of fleece wool for their quilts and the secretary was instructed to inquire about cost of having the wool carded in Edmonton. The next meeting and quilting bee will be held on June 7th at the home of Mrs. Watson.

Nineteen finished articles were turned in and 46 handkerchiefs and 18 other garments given out for work. The collection brought 96 cents.

Elks Plan Sports, Treats For Children May 24

Gala Day for Students and Kiddies As Guests of Brother Bills

A mammoth day of sports and treats for all high school students, public and pre-school age children of Vermilion and district is planned by the Vermilion Elks lodge on Wednesday May 24th. All kiddies of school age and under for miles around Vermilion are cordially invited to attend and will be welcomed by the Brother Bills, who are providing a mammoth day for every one of them.

There will be races for boys and girls of every age group, from four year old toddlers up, with generous prizes; novelty races, such as 3-legged race, sack races, boot and shoe races, have a prominent part in the program, as well as long and high jumps for the boys.

At the same time a comprehensive program of softball is being planned, for which prizes will be given the winners in the various classes. Further information on softball will be given next week, so watch for it.

But that isn't all — every youngster of public school and under will be given tickets when entering the grounds which will entitle them to three free treats, consisting of ice cream, popsicles and a fruit drink. These will be dispensed on the grounds at a special rental. There will be other booths as well where refreshments of all kinds, oranges, drinks, hot dogs, tobacco, etc., may be purchased.

Admission to the grounds is absolutely free to the children, and a small admission of 25c will be charged each adult.

Other attractions are being arranged, details of which will be announced later. Watch for posters and plan on taking the kiddies to their sports day, May 24th at the Vermilion Elks grounds.

A big dance at night in the Elks hall will wind up the day. Don't miss it!

CLEAN UP YOUR PROPERTY BY MAY 16th

Co-operation of Citizens Asked

Co-operation of all residents of Vermilion is being asked by the property committee of the town council in an effort to make Vermilion a final clean-up of the town. Citizens are asked to have all rubbish at the back of their lots handy to the lane by Wednesday May 10th from where it will be picked up and hauled away.

BROTHER AND SISTER RE-UNITED AFTER 32 YEARS

Mrs. Daisy Thwaite of Tonawanda, New York, and her brother Mr. H.S. Frost of Allandale, met again in Edmonton after a period of thirty two years. DISASTROUS FIRE ON FRED HAINES' FARM

(Extract from Wildmere Winks)

While chopping grain on Monday April 24, a spark flew from the exhaust of an engine on Fred Haines' farm and set fire to the straw roof of a nearby barn. A very high wind was blowing at the time and the fire was soon out of control destroying a barns chop granary, wagon and box, chicken house, harness enough for 12 horses and a good many smaller things. Mr Fred Haines was alone at the time but managed to get out four horses and several head of cattle that were in the barns at the time. Besides the buildings several loads of wood hay and sheaves were burned, leaving the Haines Bros without feed for their horses during spring work and also no harness. Mr George Haines was in Edmonton at the time of the fire.

SEEDED APRIL 24th — CROP UP APRIL 29th

E. Wells who farms north west of Islay, finished seeding 25 acres or oats on April 29th and the whole area was up on April 29th — which should almost create a record for quick germination. The oats now present a very uniform stand about 3 inches in height.

Sgt. Major Joe Jones from the Pacific Coast overseas is spending ten days with his parents Mr and Mrs A E. Jones in town. This is the first time in fourteen years that he has visited Vermilion or seen his parents

SAVE the BIRDS

Several residents in the west end of town have complained to the staff and that there is considerable shot gun fire in the evenings, both from their homes shooting at targets of any kind within the town limits — strictly against the law. It is also contrary to law for any boy under the age of 16 years to have firearms in his possession

Parents should check up and make sure it is not members of their family who are the culprits in this respect

Hunting should be confined to those outlaws of the bird world, ie. magpies and crows. A little help to the boys and teachers along these lines should work a marked change for the better.

Global War

"GLOBAL WAR" is a term which is frequently used in connection with the present conflict, and as centres of operation shift from one part of the world to another, the aptness of this phrase is increasingly apparent. When war was declared in 1939, and defences were set up along the Maginot Line in France, there were few who anticipated that some of the most decisive battles would be fought in Africa, that British, Canadian and American troops would engage the Germans on the soil of Italy, or that the major British and American holdings in the Pacific would be taken over by Japan. Geography has indeed assumed increasing importance in recent years, and those who have followed the course of the war closely, have doubtless added considerably to their knowledge of this subject. Through this interest in strange and distant places, we may be laying the foundations for the broader international understanding which it is hoped will develop after the war.

* * * * *

Are United By Common Bonds

Through the men of our armed forces, who are serving in many parts of the world, Canadians have become more conscious of the bonds which unite us with other members of the British Commonwealth and with our Allies. So far, Canadian forces have not participated in any great numbers in the war against Japan, but as the conflict in Europe nears its climax, there is speculation as to what part we may eventually take in the Pacific operations. Canadian airmen are becoming familiar with India, since there is now an air route between these two members of the Empire, and for some time Indian airmen have trained here under the Commonwealth Air Training Plan. It seems likely, therefore, that this will be the beginning of a stronger bond of friendship and understanding which may prove of value and importance in later years. Japanese offensive action against India in recent weeks has added interest to developments in that theatre of war.

* * * * *

More Hopeful View Is Held

The vastness of the Pacific, and the great advances made by the Japanese at the beginning of their attack, have made it difficult for observers to predict the length of time it may take to achieve an Allied victory. Commenting on this situation in his last radio address, Mr. Churchill said, "When I spoke a year ago I drew attention to the possibility that there would be a prolonged interval between the collapse of Hitler and the downfall of Japan. I still think there will be an interval, but I don't necessarily think it will be as long an interval as I thought a year ago." This is an encouraging statement, and one which carries a tribute to the United States Forces in the Pacific, the Allied armies in Burma and the Australian and New Zealand troops fighting in New Guinea. It is to be hoped that this phase of the war will be ended soon, but we may be sure that before it is over, we shall hear much more of the Islands of the Pacific, of the area around the Indian Ocean, and of other once distant places, which the swiftly moving events of global war have made no longer remote.

A newly devised five-mile-high beam of light nearly 100,000 times as strong as that of a reading light, making it possible to find the altitude of clouds with amazing ease, is help- ing to overcome flying hazards for airmen at home and in battle areas.

"Wholesome Food Ends Constipation"

"Sure, I'm happy about ALL-BRAN. It really solved my constipation, and so gently. It proved that I could quit laxatives and enjoy perfect relief. So that's why I praise ALL-BRAN — eating it helps me regular — and it's a whole- some cereal, too."

Good food, as well as a gentle laxative. That's the big news on ALL-BRAN—if your constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. So, simple, too. Just eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly, and drink plenty of water. This pleasant cereal helps to produce smooth-working "bulk" and prepare waste for easy elimination. Then, to stay regular, you'll enjoy eating ALL-BRAN every day. Remember, it's a cereal—not a medicine. You grocer has ALL-BRAN in 2 handy sizes. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—The school teacher in our village boards at my home. Do we take the canning sugar quota allowed her or is she supposed to have them for her own use?

A.—There is a 5 "P" coupon regulation governing this matter, it is something which should be settled between your boarder and yourself. If she is to be with you next year perhaps you could arrange to give her a share of the preserves you wish to make.

Q.—Where can I exchange "P" coupons for preserve coupons. Are they valid now?

A.—The first 5 "P" coupons will become valid on May 25th. At that time you may exchange them for preserve coupons if you do not want to purchase canning sugar. Take them to your nearest local ration board and they will make the exchange. The second 5 "P" coupons become valid July 6th.

Q.—Must we still turn in used tubes in order to purchase tooth paste and shaving cream?

A.—No, this is no longer necessary. However, everyone has been asked to save all rubber they have ever possible so that the metal content may be salvaged and re-used.

Q.—Can American visitors obtain ration books if they are visiting in Canada?

A.—Yes. Temporary ration cards are issued to visitors who remain in Canada for five days or longer. American visitors applying for rations should go to the local ration board in the district in which they are staying

* * * * *

Q.—Has a grocer the right to refuse to sell sugar if they are known to ration because he is saving them for canning purposes?

A.—The display of merchandise does not in any way come under any obligation to sell—merchants have been asked to distribute available supplies as equitably as possible to their customers. The grocer may have acquired all his supply of rations to fill orders from regular customers.

Use Of Lactose

Wonderful Products Are Made By Scientists

What can a farmer do with milk? He can drink it or feed it to his pigs or make it into cheese or butter. He can churn butter. But the Dominion Department of Agriculture explains the scientist can get a lot more than butter or cheese from a can of milk. He can get drugs, for example, and even fireworks.

Some such products the scientist obtains from milk, sugar or lactose. There's about a quart of crude lactose in every three quarts of milk and this is how it is obtained in the one Canadian factory producing it.

First, the milk is separated into cream and skimmed from the milk. Most of the skimmed goes into mixed feeds and are refined by filtering through charcoal. Again the moisture is extracted and the refined lactose crystals are ready for use.

Confectioners have made use of lactose in candies and foodstuffs. Manufacturers of cheese found that lactose crystals decorate the inside of a bottle with an attractive frosty effect.

In the war, lactose is used in the preparation of hypodermic tablets, to relax a patient before he is given an anaesthetic. In Canada, lactose is the culture in which is grown the amazing new germ-killer, penicillin. And, strangest of all, the milk by- product is a constituent of incendiary bombs and of flares used by the armed forces for night signalling.

The Canuck with the Cairn is L.A. Irene "Rene" Mott, R.C.A.F., motor transport driver from Leader, Sask., who has served almost a year and a half at headquarters of the Canadian Bomber group in Britain. Her friend is "Skipper."

The Return Of Father

Sonny Wasn't Taking Any Orders From His Daddy

A delightful human story was told by Mrs. G. Abbott, organizing secretary of the Women's Gas Council, at the Bradford Fuel Exconomy Exhibition. Her four-year-old grandson, who has never known anything but a world at war, was overjoyed when his Daddy came home recently and father and son met for the first time.

In Sonny's view Daddy was the perfect playboy, and it was a delighted small boy who rushed to his mother and announced, "Mummy! What do you think?—Daddy says he'll come an' live with us after the war!"

But Sonny's opinions underwent a change when, as midnight approached and he had shown no signs of settling down in his cot, Daddy began to exercise his authority.

"Now look here, we've heard quite enough from you. Lie down and go to sleep!" he ordered.

Ignoring the order, Sonny looked at his mother. "Put him outside, Mummy—we don't want him here," he said.—Leeds Yorkshire Post.

Look To Future

Urges Anglo-Soviet Pact With Dominion Victory Assured

Sir Edward Grigg, a former parliamentary Undersecretary of State for War, proposed a stronger alliance with Russia, with definite post-war military commitments, as the only means of preventing some future "Great Warfare" result on this island from the continent.

Britain already has a 20-year alliance with the Soviet Union, drawn in May, 1942, providing for military and all other mutual aid in the war against Germany and her satellites and for common action to preserve peace after the war. The post-war commitments, however, are vague regarding straight-out military assistance.

Man Given Prison Term For Removing Cover Of Dead Sow

In Belgian Limburg Province lives an old gentleman, Armand de Menten de Horne. One of his sons was executed by the Germans for patriotic activities during this war. Another son was a pilot in the Belgian Air Force in Great Britain. He was shot down during a raid over Germany. The father had masses said in his home town, St. Trudden, and in Brussels, for the repose of his soul. The German Military Court has just announced Armand de Menten to six months' of hard labor for having arranged these ceremonies to which he gave "the character of anti-German manifestations."

British War Brides

Canada Should Offer Their Open-Handed Hospitality

To British women Canada may seem a country of strangely contrasts. Home equipment and home methods are often very different from those to which they are accustomed, the are the social habits to which they are suddenly introduced. But Canada has a reputation for friendliness and open-handed hospitality. These new wives of our boys overseas deserve the best we can offer them.

We may be sure that any kindnesses we can do them will be heartily appreciated and fully reciprocated in the end.—Halifax Chronicle.

Itching Scalp
A Simple Home Treatment
If your scalp has broken out with ugly pimples, rashes or irritations — DON'T DELAY with fingernails as that only serves to make matters worse. Instead, apply Zemo, a doctor's prescription of herbs in Mineral's Emerald Oil and use this night with an equal quantity of olive oil. It's easy to use—all you do is apply to the scalp with your finger tips gently rubbing it in. Usually by the next day, or at least soon a day and almost every fourth day shampoo using a good soap. You'll find this combination start right in —promoting faster healing. Continue the treatment until relieved and the skin feeling soothed. If not entirely satisfied after 7 days, and if then you are disappointed, get your money back. Druggists everywhere sell Emerald Oil.

Wheat Quota This Crop Year Will Be Higher

OTTAWA.—Trade Minister Mac-Kinnon said the government will limit marketings of wheat permitted producers in the crop year 1944-45 probably will be higher than in 1943-44, but the government is not as yet able to announce the delivery quotas to be granted for prairie wheat producers.

The minister said that in the present crop year the delivery quota initially was established at 5 bushels per authorized acre and later raised to 12 bushels.

In establishing the wheat quota which might be delivered to the wheat board the government will take into account probable exports and domestic usage, and the quantity the railways are able to handle.

"The demand for grain, both in Canada and-for export is running at very high levels," said Mr. MacKinnon.

The understanding had been that about 280,000,000 bushels of wheat would be marketable in western Canada in the present crop year.

The volume of wheat to be marketable in 1944-45 "will be considerably larger than the limitations in effect during the past two years," said Mr. MacKinnon.

The government's policy in regard to oats and barley would be the same as in 1943-44, with minimum prices guaranteed and advance payments of 70 cents per bushel for oats and 15 cents for barley made from equalization funds at the time of delivery.

Prices for sunflower seed and rape seed established in 1943-44 will be continued.

An unusually dry April in most districts following a winter of light snow has caused concern in Winnipeg grain circles that wheat acreage will increase substantially because wheat is hardy than the coarse grains. Wheat acreage a year ago was about 17,900,000 acres.

SHELL PRODUCTION

Work Will Be Stepped Up And More Workers Required

OTTAWA.—Canadian shell production is to be stepped up and some 10,000 additional workers will be required almost at once, Munitions Minister Howe said in an interview

The new shell program will affect plants throughout central and eastern Canada and may result in the re-opening of the large Defence Industries Ltd. shell plants at Nobel, Ont., although no definite decision on this point has been reached

"The program will be carried on in plants from Winnipeg to the Atlantic," said Mr. Howe. "We have always anticipated that plants would go on production and reduced might be required in return to full production and provision was made for this."

The new program is understood to have resulted from revisions made as a consequence of actual battle experience. Greater supplies of heavy munitions it has been considered necessary to increase them further and heavy calibre for Canadian plants have followed.

Recent layoffs in war industries have centred largely in shell and explosive plants

SIXTH VICTORY LOAN

Put Victory First Is The Loan Rallying Cry

With news of Allied gains on the front pages every day, Canadian men and women who purchase a slice of the future in other Campaigns, are expected to support the Sixth Victory Loan as never before Indications are that this Victory Loan is being welcomed as an opportunity to place the United Nations at 11 farther along the road to victory, and the remaining members of the Axis correspondingly nearer defeat.

"Put Victory First" is the rallying cry for all Canadians in the Sixth Victory Loan, with its minimum objective of $1,200,000,000, every dollar of which is urgently needed for some part in Canada's war programme For the armed forces, the next few months mean danger, perhaps death For those at home, the next few weeks demand full financial support to make the Loan go over the top.

Tea And Coffee Rations Will Be Increased

OTTAWA.—Tea and coffee rations will be increased approximately 40 per cent. May 1, the prices board has announced.

The announcement said coupon values will be raised to four ounces for tea or 16 ounces for coffee, with two coupons valid each month—one every second and fourth Thursday. At present, coupon values are two ounces for tea and eight ounces for coffee, with two coupons valid every three weeks.

Coupons due before May 1 but not used will be accepted on or after May 1 at the increased va- ue.

Limit of one cup of coffee or one serving of tea will continue in restaurant and other eating places.

The increase is in line with the board policy of liberalizing rations as supply situations justify," said R. T. Mohan, tea and coffee administrator. "Added to the increase last September the new ration will double the amount originally allowed when tea and coffee were first placed under ration on Aug. 3, 1942."

The tea and coffee ration was increased by one-third last September.

Mr. Mohan said Canada's dependence on shipping for tea and coffee makes it necessary to keep a close check on supplies.

Twenty-five per cent. of tea supplies come from Ceylon and 75 per cent. from India, where some ten thousand acres are close to the battle areas. Coffee supplies come from Central and South America and Jamaica. Invasion plans might at any time interfere with shipping facilities from these countries.

"There are already indications that less shipping will be available for coffee shipments in the next few months," he added

Tea and coffee are being kept on the ration together. Mr Mohan explained, because they are almost equally popular with Canadian consumers and are completely interchangeable with each other as beverages.

STOCKHOLM. — Hitler's special deputy and minister to Denmark, Werner Best, said that the Germans were moving swiftly against Danish saboteurs and underground elements affecting German interests.

AVIATION PLANS

Britain To Look To The Great Dominions In India And South Africa

LONDON—The United States may have an advantage in civil transport planes after the war "but we will soon get back to the position that we are in on the military side today" in which British planes are ahead of anything in the world, says Lord Brabazon, who heads the' committee studying post-war aviation plans.

In a speech in the London publicity club, he said there is no incentive for the United States to run air services past Europe to the east or to Africa "for she has a tremendous job to link up the two Americas and to deal with the Pacific."

"The great routes to India and South Africa cannot help being ours and we have an enormous slice of the world which we can develop and use without any rivalry from America," he said.

FOOD SITUATION

General Situation At the Present Time Is Fairly Good

MONTREAL. — Canada's general food situation at the present time was described as a press conference in Montreal as "fairly good" by Prices Board Food Administrator Kent Taylor

"We have at the present time a pretty good supply of everything," Mr. Taylor said. He added that Canadians could look forward this year to about the same supply of food as last year.

However, he warned that the food situation was a quickly changing one from surpluses to shortages and vice-versa owing to shipping difficulties.

MAPS ARE SEIZED

RESEARCH STATION

To Be Established On Prairies For Fisheries Industry

OTTAWA.—Recently in the House of Commons it was announced by Hon. Ernest Bertrand, minister of fisheries, that it is intended to establish on the prairies a permanent fisheries research station, similar to those operated on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts.

While this step will not be taken immediately it is understood unofficially that this station will be located in or near Winnipeg as the logical centre of the prairie fishing industry.

A conference was held in Ottawa at which means of improving and maintaining the quality of whitefish were discussed. As a result it was decided that the provinces will make a survey of whitefish producing waters, the board will undertake a program of fresh water fisheries research and machinery will be set up for whitefish inspection.

The lake surveys will be started by the prairie provinces this summer and the appointment of a chief biologist is to be made.

King George Pays Visit To Canadian Camps

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND.— The King has inspected thousands more Canadian second-front troops— his second pre-invasion visit to Canadian camps this spring.

He now has been all the Canadian army troops in England who will be going into Europe when D-day comes Arriving by royal train at a station in the centre of the Canadian camps, His Majesty, wearing a serge army uniform without greatcoat, was met by Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, commander of the Canadian army, and several senior officers from the formations he was to visit.

While the tour was kept secret until his arrival, 300 school children and housewives in the town, sensing that royalty was arriving, crowded around the station entrances and gave the King a welcome.

Then he drove into the countryside and in a large field inspected massed troops drawn up in an open square.

The King and the official party lunched at staff headquarters and in the afternoon His Majesty walked several more miles through lines of soldiers standing three deep.

His new infantry and artillerymen and tank and service corps.

During the inspection the King discussed detailed army problems with officers ranging in rank from generals to lieutenants, asking many questions. He was particularly curious about new equipment and anxious to know if it was proving satisfactory in invasion preparations.

While the King was in the invasion area, ack-ack gunners stood to their 3-inch guns and Spitfire patrols whined overhead.

Want Private Control For Radio Network

OTTAWA.—Canada's second radio network should be placed in the hands of private enterprise and a control commission should be set up outside the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to regulate broadcasting, Joseph Sedgwick, counsel for the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, said at a meeting of the commons radio committee.

In an 80-page brief on behalf of the 64 privately owned stations who are members of the C.A.B., Mr. Sedgwick said such a setup would mean a complete change of Canada's radio policy and he said he felt it was time to "cut away" from the Aird report—the basis of the present radio setup.

While the CBC would be shorn of its control powers, Mr. Sedgwick conceded an important place for it in the general radio picture, with the CBC network possibly providing educational and public service programs much along the line adopted by Australia in dealing with its public and private radio systems.

The commission would have power to cancel or suspend licences or alter wavelengths and pass regulations applicable to private stations. The CBC presumably would have control over its own network.

At present, the CBC has a Trans-Canada network and recently inaugurated a second chain called the Dominion network. The C.A.B. contends that if a second network is desired it should be placed in the hands of private enterprise, thus confining the CBC's operations to its present network or augmented by private stations "by fair affiliation agreements" and "not by compulsion."

The second network would be re-established on a station co-operative basis "with a fair division as between it and the CBC network of station outlets and United States network affiliations" and with "fair" time facility arrangements on the new network "may be truly independent."

Some committee members said they thought this might lead to a deterioration of the class of program offered. This commercialism might create an atmosphere of "the public be damned," said Dr. J. J. McCann (L., Renfrew), committee chairman.

"We wouldn't try to run our programs down the public's throat," said Mr. Sedgwick. "We couldn't if we wanted to. If they don't like a program they won't listen."

PRISONERS OF WAR

May Vote By Proxy In The Next Dominion Elections

OTTAWA.—The commons committee on the Dominion Elections Act approved a recommendation that provision be made for Canadian prisoners of war to vote by proxy in the next Dominion election.

The recommendation said every person on active service officially recorded as a prisoner should be entitled to vote by proxy on a special certificate issued by the chief electoral officer, Jules Castonguay

"Such certificates shall be issued not earlier than two weeks before polling day to the person officially recorded at headquarters as the next-of-kin of such prisoner of war, provided such next-of-kin is qualified to vote in the electoral district in which the prisoner of war ordinarily resided prior to his enlistment," said the recommendation.

Vancouver Yards Expect To Receive Orders From Government

VANCOUVER.—The Province in a newspaper editorial said that contracts for new-type "supply" ships possibly totalling $31,000,000 in value will be awarded Vancouver yards follow ing a survey now being carried out here by government departments interested."

The newspaper added that "if materials and manpower enough are available city yards will get orders for 24 vessels. . . . The new work will extend capacity operation of all four city yards several months, at least to the end of 1944."

COMFORTS FOR SERVICEMEN

OTTAWA.— An estimated $112,000,000 was collected from the beginning of the war up to March 31 last by newspapers and other organizations which inaugurated funds to supply comforts to servicemen and women, prisoners of war, to bombed out Britons, to British school children and others, War Services Minister LaFleche said in the commons.

Seeding is really going ahead now. Everyone is very busy with short help and long days.

Andy Carlson left for the States over the week end. His family is staying with Mrs. Carlson's parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Erben for the present

Our own and the community's heartfelt sympathy is extended to LAC Russell Cruthers and Mrs. Cruthers in the loss of their little baby daughter to be passed away Friday morning last after a short illness. God wanted another little bud to bloom in Heaven. It is just another of those things hard to understand on this earth.

Triangle lost another of its citizens when Alex Rise passed away on Sunday morning at the local hospital. He had been riding a horse and it threw him, hurting him badly internally. Everything that human aid could do was done to save his life but to no avail. He has been farming in the Triangle district for quite a number of years and leaves one brother Andy who works at Manville to mourn his passing. Funeral was held Tuesday from the Roman Catholic church in Vermilion.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Morand and family left on Thursday for their new home at Calgary.

Pte. Earl Graham returned to his unit at Calgary on Saturday after spending his furlough with his children at Wallington.

Congratulations and best wishes to Mr and Mrs. Brooks Lysons for a long happy married life.

AN ARRESTING IDEA —

There is a man in Windsor, Ontario, with an idea worth examining. He envisages his purchase of Victory Bonds as his personal support of his young nephew now serving in Italy.

Explaining his plan to a friend the other day, he said that his children were all girls. So he chose his sister's son as his direct war interest. "It's funny how it works", he said. "When I bought bonds in the first and second loan, I measured my purchases by figuring out how much I could conscientiously afford. But since I have begun to think of my bond purchases as my backing of this particular lad, I find myself thinking in terms of what he needs instead of what I can afford."

If this idea were adopted generally throughout Canada for the next campaign, bond sales might rise in startling fashion.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO PAINT!

FOLLOW THESE SIMPLE RULES:-

Outside Painting

Be sure the surface is dry; but the sun or wind dry is not after a rain. Remove dirt from corners, putty up any cracks and holes. Don't lay the paint on too thickly—you'll get a better job if you brush it on sparingly. If you apply more than one coat, let the first coat dry thoroughly before putting on the second one.

Inside Painting

Make certain your surface is clean. Remove any film of grease or dirt from walls or furniture, especially in the kitchen, for instance. It's a good plan to wash surfaces with soapy cool water before painting; if you do this, be sure to let it dry first. Smooth your wall surface by plastering holes and cracks, and sandpaper any rough places in furniture, before applying your paint.

Most Important of All:

Let the whole family have a say in settling on your colour scheme. Ask your Sherwin-Williams Dealer to lend or show you his beautiful Paint & Colour Style Guide—it's full of good ideas on decoration and painting.

Use only the best paint, varnish or enamel. Good paint costs so little in relation to long-lasting results obtained; cheap paints only bring you disappointment eventually. Sherwin-Williams Products give you colours that really last and real protection against wear and weather.

Consult your Sherwin-Williams Dealer. He will gladly give you valuable assistance and advice and will supply you with the right Sherwin-Williams Paints for each purpose the utmost value for your money.

This is the Job We Have to Do

THIS COMMUNITY MUST BUY $170,000 VICTORY BONDS

That is our share of the one billion, two hundred million dollars ($1,200,000,000.00) objective set for the Sixth Victory Loan.

We Must Do Our Share

It's a big job. We've done big jobs before. We've put five Victory Loans over the top up to now. But just because we've put five loans over the top is no reason why we can be indifferent about this loan. We must not assume that the job will be an easy one. We must realize that it's a big job—and assume that it will be a hard job—and make sure that the job will be done: then it will be done.

ALL MUST BUY BONDS and all of us must buy
ALL THE BONDS WE CAN

It must be plain to all of us that the opening of a new battle front means a more costly war. More equipment will go into action. Losses will be heavy. Replacements must go through without let-up. Our men on the fighting fronts must have everything they need.

There is no let-up on the fighting fronts. There must be no let-up on the home front. We've got to raise the money. Every Canadian must save and lend. Most of us are earning more. We can save more. Others are risking their lives, surely we can lend our money.

Buy Bonds With Savings

BUY MORE OUT OF INCOME
DURING THE NEXT SIX MONTHS

Most of us have some money which we have saved. We can buy Victory Bonds with this money . . and we can buy more bonds on convenient Deferred Payments, paying for the bonds as we earn the money, over a period of six months.

Fulfil your obligations to the men who are fighting.

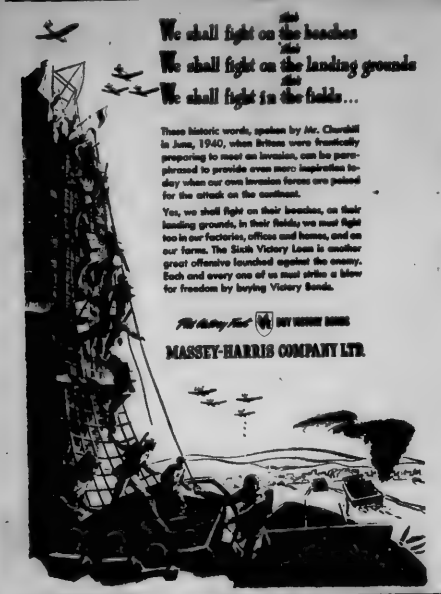
We shall fight on the beaches
We shall fight on the landing grounds
We shall fight in the fields...



These historic words, spoken by Mr. Churchill in June, 1940, when Britain were frantically preparing to meet an invasion, can be paraphrased to provide even more inspiration today when our own invasion forces are poised for the attack on the continent.

Yes, we shall fight on their beaches, on their landing grounds, in their fields; we must fight too in our factories, offices and homes, and on our farms. The Sixth Victory Loan is another great offensive launched against the enemy. Each and every one of us must strike a blow for freedom by buying Victory Bonds.

COMFORTABLE HORSES PAY

A horse that is uncomfortable will do much more work than one that is uncomfortable. Farmers who are concerned about the comfort of their horses should see that their horses' collars fit properly. The hames should be snug. When out to the field the collars should occasionally be lifted when they are not in use there is a tendency to let the shoulders dry and the shoulders should be washed at the end of the day's work with salt water. If this is done there will be no sore shoulders.

A tip for Victory gardeners to remember is to avoid working among the rows when wet to the field the soil packs as rubbers are used. Soil should occasionally be lifted when they are not in use there is a tendency to let the shoulders dry and the danger of spreading plant diseases.

BRACKEN CLUBS ARE WELCOMED TO ALBERTA

Organization of the first Bracken Club in the province of Alberta is taking place at Calgary on April 21st. Arrangements are being made for the formation of another Bracken Club in Edmonton before the end of the present month. Originating in Winnipeg, sounding the clarion note that a better informed electorate in the foundation of better government, recruited from affiliates of all parties and citizens who have never had party affiliations, Bracken Clubs are thus staging a friendly invasion of Alberta.

So popular was the first Bracken Club which sprang almost full grown from Winnipeg that requests for information about it came thick and fast from outside points in Manitoba, as well as from other provinces. Winnipeg appointed an extension committee which invited friends of the Bracken Club movement from all provinces to a series of meetings at which it was decided that the visitors should form themselves into a provisional national committee to organize Bracken Clubs throughout the Dominion. At these meetings a set of resolutions covering both the objectives and methods of organization were drawn up.

From the beginning it was determined that Bracken Clubs would be open to any good citizen, regardless of party, creed, race or sex; that they should foster better information about important national problems and bring intelligent action by the people to the furtherance of better government in Canada.

Since the original Bracken Club was founded, they have spread through the Province on a wide scale and two Bracken Clubs are flourishing in the old City of Quebec. It is natural to assume that they will be equally popular in our sparsely populated province.

Outing to Canadian policies of subsidizing imports and distribution by coops, Canadian, foreign office are probably the lowest in any country of the world, being several dollars a ton less than in the United States or in the United Kingdom.

MACHINERY RATIONING

Although factory output of farm machinery will be considerably greater than in 1943, rationing of farm machinery is still necessary, because the output will only be 80 per cent of the normal production and not nearly enough to fill all farm demands. Production of repair parts is 156 per cent of normal.

SHUR-GAIN News OF THE WEEK

COMPARE ... the cost of raising hogs on GRAIN ALONE — against the cost and high profit of raising hogs on a smaller amount of grain, PLUS the proven SHUR-GAIN HOG CONCENTRATE:

It takes 1100 pounds of grain to raise one hog on GRAIN ALONE . . . cost, about $13.75. To this you must add the cost of maintaining the sow, about $3.88 per weaned pig. A total of $17.38.

BUT . . . feeding the SHUR-GAIN WAY — you need only 700 pounds of grain plus 60 pounds of SHUR-GAIN HOG CONCENTRATE. The feed bone cost, including the cost of maintaining the sow is only $14.85.

The difference between feed cost and selling price, when hogs are fed on grain alone, is about $8.75 per hog. BUT THE SHUR-GAIN WAY makes the difference $12.60 per hog—an EXTRA profit of $3.85

Health
LEAGUE of CANADA
presents
TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST
PROTECT THE CHILDREN

Springtime is danger time for children who have not been protected against communicable diseases, the Health League of Canada warned. It urged parents to have children immunized for diphtheria, smallpox, and whooping cough before the schools open and the young people take to the playgrounds and summer camps.

"Human sacrifice of this kind has no place in civilized Canada," the Health League declared. "Diphtheria deaths are due to neglect by parents and guardians to give children the benefit, of toxoiding, which is both safe and sure."

Parents everywhere in Canada were cautioned to have immunizing done now and not to confine the protection to those children attending school. Children should be protected at the age of six months and thereafter

In the 10-year period of 1933 to 1942, diphtheria harvested 2,626 lives in Canada, and whooping cough killed 6,833— mostly children. Scarlet fever filled 1,875 graves

"While we are talking of social security measures after the war, let us at least avail ourselves of proved means to make child life more secure," the Health League urged.

Japs Not Wanted

B.C. Does Not Want Them Back After The War

Hon. R. L. Maitland told the B.C. executive of the Progressive Conservative Association that B.C. does not want the Japs back on this coast after the war

Their possible return is a federal question, but as Attorney General of this province Mr Maitland is not quite helpless in the matter

It would show how much in earnest he is and how much the people of British Columbia resent Japanese domination in business if Mr Maitland would introduce a provincial enactment at ,the earliest opportunity. Japanese could be excluded from all those opportunities in which are involved the issue of provincial licenses to engage in this or that calling or business.— Vancouver Sun.

India in The War

Her Assistance Saved Middle East For Allies, Said Wavell

Field-Marshal Lord Wavell has gone on record as saying: "Without the assistance of India, both in troops and in material, we must certainly could not have held the Middle East, which was best, I think I can claim, the keystone of our present successes."

The war has brought about the development of one important new industry to India—shipbuilding. Before the war there was none in the Indian Empire. Today Indian shipyards are building ships for submarine and general patrol duties, minesweepers, motor launches and other craft. Over 4,000 sea-going vessels of all types were repaired in Indian shipyards in the first two and a half years of the war.

The development of war industries has been little short of amazing so. From the outset of hostilities up to March, 1942, India supplied the bulk of war materials for the Middle East, she produces the latest types of artillery, and her ordnance output has grown by leaps an1 bounds. She makes over 6,00o,%o garments per month for army use, and over 4,000,-000 pairs of boots a year for the army.

All the above figures are official, and should serve to convince all men the deliberately purblind that India is behind the war effort heart and soul, despite the lugubrious prophecies of Gandhi and his satellites that the Indian people would not back the Allies until the British Government had withdrawn from the sub-continent India has every reason to be proud of her war achievements—Montreal Star.

Caring For Children

Clubs Opened in London For School Children Up To 14 Years Of Age

Five clubs have been opened in London for school children up to fourteen years by the Save the Children Fund to give the children somewhere to go between four o'clock, when school ends, and seven when their parents come home from work. In some instances bombed public houses and drugs have been converted into clubs. The membership fee for these clubs is two cents a week. The clubs are run by professional welfare workers, but they remain more or less in the background in order that the children should regard the club and its grounds as their own. The children have helped to convert and decorate the premises and their activities are interesting and varied and include carpentry, pottery, cooking, shoe repairing, etc., as well as games, entertainments of all kinds. There is lots of activity and plenty of noise, but one can see after a time that out of that seeming chaos comes order, self-discipline and a community sense. Outings are arranged for the children and they are taken to organized games in the parks, swimming parties and excursions to the seamstress.

PAUL CROSSES INTO EUROPE

Golden text: I press on toward the goal unto the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. Philippians 3:14.

Lesson: Acts 15:36—16:40. Epistle to the Philippians.

Devotional Reading: Philippians 1: 3-11.

Explanations and Comments

Paul and Barnabas Separate, Acts 15:36-41. After the Council in Jerusalem, Paul and Barnabas remained for some time in Antioch of Syria. Then agreed to separate, Barnabas go with him onward, and he proposed to Barnabas that they revisit the cities where they had preached on their first journey. Barnabas wished to take John Mark with them, but Paul objected, for Mark had left them before the work was finished. Barnabas, a Cyprian, went not with them to the north. The Christians remained upon having Mark, and the great workers then agreed to separate, Barnabas going with Mark to Cyprus, and Paul and Silas going by land to Syria. We are not told anything further about Barnabas, the Great-hearted, but admire his tradition continued to preach with great success wherever he went.

Timothy Joins the Company of Paul and Silas, Acts 16:1-5. Timothy and Silas reached Lystra Paul chose a young disciple named Timothy to be his companion. Strenuously as Paul had objected to a Jewish rite being in the condition of his admission ; its Gentiles, he had no objection to their themselves observing all their customs Although Timothy's father was a Gentile, his mother was a Jewess, and Timothy himself was, therefore, considered a Jew. "Because of the Jews who were in those parts." Paul had the rite performed for Timothy. They went on their way and the churches they visited were strengthened in the faith and increased in numbers daily.

The Call to Go Forward into Europe, Acts 16:6-10. After Pergo Paul and his company went westward. Being "forbidden" to preach in the province of Asia, and hindered from going northward into Bithynia, they crossed Mysia to Troas. There at Troas Paul had his famous vision and call to Macedonia. "I am confident," said Lincoln, "that on the Almighty wants me to do, or not to do, a particular thing, he finds a way of letting me know it." Troas was the time of the vision at Troas, the Holy Spirit had exercised his influence by hindering, restraining. Then at Troas a challenge was set before Paul: he was called to make a new advance.

It is here at Troas that the "We Section" begins in The Acts, indicating that Luke, the writer of The Acts, joined the group of missionaries.

In two days' time they sailed from Troas to the island of Samothrace and thence to Neapolis in Macedonia (a province in Greece). Ten miles inland from this port was Philippi.

PROOF ENOUGH

One of those super-intelligent senior students at Saint Wisdom at colleges and universities entered the professor's office one morning and in a very superior tone remarked:

"Last night, professor, your daughter accepted my proposal of marriage. Fully realizing the importance of the step, I have called to see you and to inquire if there is any insanity in your family?"

The old professor looked up over his glasses and surveyed the young man in silence for a moment, then coldly nodding his head, answered: "Yes, you. There must be."

Teachers' Salaries

Poor Quality Must Be Expected Today For Poor Pittance

It stands to reason that poor salaries must eventually make for poor teachers and, in that event, the country would be penny wise and pound foolish. No country possesses a greater asset than its children and few things are more important to the children than an adequate education at the hands of qualified and competent teachers. To secure that latter the basis of salary must be fair and reasonable. In some parts of the Dominion, at present, it is neither.—Brantford Expositor.

HIDDEN THEIR PARTY

A woman living on a farm somewhere in those wide open western spaces wrote to a friend back East: "My sister and I aren't really lonely out here. We got each other to speak to. But we need another woman to talk about."

World Sugar Situation Explained By Sugar Refiner Controller

Sir William Rook, British sugar controller, warned Prices Board officials at Ottawa during recent discussions that world supplies of sugar are so short that larger rations may not be expected "for the first year or two after the war," the board said. Sir William termed "incomplete and inaccurate" the view that all Britain had to bring it enough shipping space to transport sugar from producing to consuming countries.

GARDEN NOTES

Plenty Of Time

There is still plenty of time to have an excellent garden. One gets some personal satisfaction in getting vegetables planted weeks ahead of the neighbors and, if all goes well, a thrill out of being able to tell his friends that he has had his first radishes long before the usual season. But extra early planting is a gamble and that is why experts urge that only part of the seed be sown then and the balance reserved for planting at the usual time and later. When planting is spread over weeks in this way there is the added satisfaction of having the harvest also spread over weeks in the summer and fall.

As a matter of actual statistics, the beginner almost always starts to plant his garden too soon and also stops planting too soon. There is still ample time in most parts of the country for planting all sorts of vegetables, and in fact the tender things like melons, cucumbers, peppers, tomatoes, etc. are best not sown or set out much before the date.

Not Too Deep

Generally speaking, the amateur is inclined to plant too deep. Seed so planted will not germinate well. The general rule is three times the diameter, which means more preparing into the soil for fine seed like that of radish, poppy, carrot, etc., and about one or two inches deep for beans and peas. With bulbs and tubers like gladiolus and dahlias from six to ten inches deep is recommended, the heavier the soil the shallower the planting.

Good Seed

There is not a substitute for good seed. Germination may be beyond control but the gardener has absolute check over this foundation. Without good seed the first place. With flowers that are grown from bought seed is usually important. They must have room or they will grow spindly and break down probably in the first wind storm.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

"GOOD TREASURE"

A good man out of the good treasure of the heart bringeth forth good things.—Matthew 12:35.

It is impossible to live pleasurably without living prudently, and honorably, and justly; or to live prudently, and honorably, and justly without living pleasurably.—Epicurus.

The serene, silent beauty of a holy life is the most powerful influence in the universe. It is the mighty of the spirit of God.—Pascal.

The joys of heaven will begin as soon as we attain the character o heaven, and do its duties.—Theodore Parker.

The good man's hope is laid far—far beyond the sway of tempests, or the furious rage of mortal dissension.—W. K. White.

"I was horrified at the idea, but I played up my stupid old heart for more than it was worth, and got her. I wired Jack to follow instructions that very day . . . and waited.

"A few evenings later Amy called about the signing papers or something and he's planning to surprise me!"

"Not a doubt of it," I said. But Amy didn't see what she did.

"A week went by. I was much better and had just stopped in at Amy's when she finally got word from Wally. I watched her read the letter . . ." Aunt Jane paused dramatically.

"Well, go on!" I cried. "Was it Wally she married today?"

"Why don't show me what Wally wrote," the old lady continued maddeningly. "But the stricken look of her was enough to tell me what a blow it was. He's still in New York. It was Tom, Amy married today."

ALREADY DONE

One of the best Derby race stories —told by Pet Ridge, the novelist— is about a colorful, muffled-up passenger in a train, of whom a fellow-traveller begged an explanation of his appearance.

"Bought a ticket," said the muffled man. "Derby sweepstake. Sold it for the half-crown (60 cents) I gave for it. Horse comes in first and I might have took Eighty-five pounds ($430)."

"Terrible luck," cried the fellow passenger. "Dreadful misfortune. Why, you must feel almost inclined to cut your throat."

"I 'ave," said the man.

Samuel Lees, Locomotive Engineer, Is Retired After 56 Years Of Service

With a record of more than half a century of railroading to his credit, Samuel Lees, locomotive engineer of the Canadian National Railways, has retired under the pension rules of the company. the National System, transferring to the motive power department of the Grand Trunk Railway in 1896 and becoming a locomotive engineer in 1901. He obtained all the qualifications of the operating ranks and was promoted to the position of locomotive engineer in 1904.

The highlight of his fifty-two years of service came in 1939 when he was at the throttle of the National's big 6400 type engine which hauled the Royal Train carrying Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth from Ottawa to Brockville on their tour of Canada. When the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York, later Their Majesties King George V and Queen Mary, came to Canada in 1901 Mr. Lees was also at the throttle of the engine which brought them to Montreal.

Seized Allied Planes

Say Neutrals Are Putting Some Of These Into Commission

Talks between Allies and neutrals may include the question of air forces some neutrals are building up with Allied aircraft seized on their territory, writes Colin Bednall, Daily Mail air correspondent.

"These planes include a whole range of military types from fighters to bombers which have been forced to land through distress of one kind or another," he wrote.

"Here's air force, for instance, now is flying Spitfires and Hurricanes and fleet air arm Martlets and Hudsons.

"Spain has put into commission a number of flying fortresses and Sweden has even made plans to open an airline to Britain with converted Liberator timbers forced down on its territory.

"Rather than meet the heavy charges which would accrue for aircraft stored throughout the war, belligerent countries have made a practice of selling impounded machines to the country concerned"

Teachers And Taxes

Present Method Of Financing Education By Taxes Comes Hard In Rural Areas

The biggest obstacle to decent remuneration for teachers is the present narrow method of financing education by realty taxes alone. This may work well enough in highly settled districts but it is a milestone around the necks of the sparsely populated districts, especially in depression times. Although as a matter of fact the municipalities right across Canada are in better financial shape at the moment than they have been for years and all of them could do something toward increasing the salaries of their teachers—Winnipeg Tribune

30th and Last C.W.A.C. Graduation Held On Friday

Marked by Afternoon and Evening Ceremonies

The 30th and last graduation exercises at No. 2 C.W.A.C. Basic Training Centre, Vermilion, took place [redacted] this week end when all members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps graduated after completing a five-week fundamental training course.

The Commandant, Major Daly L. Royal, individually inspected the girls; 16 of whom were from Saskatchewan, 15 from British Columbia, 11 from Alberta and three from Manitoba. They will be posted in various districts throughout the Dominion.

Since the official opening of the only C.W.A.C. training centre in western Canada, in July 1942, hundreds of young army women have received their basic training in the buildings formerly occupied by the Alberta Agricultural College. Recruits are now being sent to No. 2 C.W.A.C. Basic Training Centre, Vermilion, Ont., which is under the command of Lt.-Col. Mary Dover.

In the latest edition of the training centre's news sheet The Khaki Kiwi, RSM Fred Pyrah, who trained the first group of girls before the formal opening of the Vermilion training centre, wrote: "The time: 0530 hours. End of August, 1942. The place: C.N.R. station, Vermilion. Some 500 sleepy girls roll out of their berths and are greeted by yours truly and a few very timid and 'scared' instructors. The sight of the trainees, marching to the training centre across the golf course, is one never to be forgotten—tall, short, thin, stout — with various modes of dress, different types of headdress with astounding shades of colour, all went to make up a picture that was stamped in my memory never to be erased.

The amusing incidents which occurred during the first muster on the parade square have caused many a parade square have caused many a laugh.

The scene changes. The time: three hours, 8th September, 1942. The place: the parade square at the training centre. The same 500 girls waiting for His Honor, the Lieut.-Governor of Alberta to come down to take the march past—all go to stamp in my memory another picture which, as before, will never be erased. The remarks of Brigadier F.M.W. Harvey, V.C., M.C., district officer commanding, M.D. 13, can be repeated word for word today, as neither is any the sincere were they.

Where are all the girls who have passed through this centre since 2nd of August, 1942? Every province in the Dominion has them and the U.S.A. and Great Britain. In each place are some girls who must at some time or other sit down and think of their Alma Mater.

And now we come to that day when No. 2 C.W.A.C. (B) T.C. must pass into history, but in spite of all the heartaches, the trials and tribula tions, one thing stands out and that is the fact that the 'A and T' staff at the training centre have done their part in the war effort, and that their influence on the young Canada to come will be felt long after the

VERMILION-MANVILLE 4-DAY UNIT SCORES FURTHER SUCCESS

The Vermilion-Manville 4-day fifth Victory Loan unit has marked down another success in its effort to raise money for Canada's War effort; with a quota some fifteen thousand dollars higher than that of the Fifth Loan all representatives have been more energetic in their efforts and are now entitled to the thanks of the district. Shortly before the official date set for the opening of the loan the representatives became active in the rural areas and the first day recorded sales of $47,400, the highest single day's total ever secured in the Unit; ten minutes to aggregate drive the Unit reached its minimum official quota on the second Thursday of the three week period, establishing a further record of achievement.

At the time this report was received from the Unit headquarters the total bond purchases of urban and rural citizens in the territory stood at just over $245,000 or an increase of $15,000 over the top figure of the previous loan and slightly better than 25% above the asked amount of $170,000.

R. C. Heckbert, unit organizer, in discussing the splendid success which the standard expressed a most sincere appreciation of the work of the loan representatives and for the grand co-operation given by all the citizens, this Unit has now raised well over one million dollars by means of loans made against the security of Canada and, not only is the district to be congratulated on the effort, but the citizens are to be congratulated on their wise investment of surplus funds.

Doubtless there will be other loans in the future and as long as our boys are engaged in a participation to defend Canada there can be no doubt but that continued support will be forthcoming in a financial way.

Farm Help Broadcasts

Farm operators of Alberta will receive with interest the news that measures in the Dominion-Provincial Farm Labor Committee is sponsoring HELP WANTED broadcasts every Monday at 8.45 over a network of fifteen radio stations.

During 1942, thousands of farmers throughout the Province listened keenly to the series of broadcasts to learn of the latest developments in the labor situation, how to apply for help when it is available and generally, to take advantage of the provincial organization in growing and harvesting their crops.

The Farm Labor Committee is composed of representatives of the Dominion Department of Labor, the Provincial Department of Agriculture and the farmer organizations of Alberta. Through the medium of local service offices under District Agriculturists and Farm for Victory committees savings in time and labor transfer are effective by means of the information broadcast.

Initial broadcast in the series went over the air May 1 when Hon. L. [illegible] man Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Chairman of the Alberta Committee outlined the accomplishments of last year and the problems of this current growing season. Mr. Leverin was followed on May 8 by R.M. Putnam, Secretary of the Committee and Director of Extension in the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

In future broadcasts farmers will hear officials of National selective service, plain farmers and hired men and girls, lawmakers and others from the future army of potential vacationists who've tell of their experiences. The latest information available on labor supply will be broadcast each week.

Farmers and all townspeople are urged to tune in for these lively and important broadcasts at 8.45 p.m. each Monday. Missing one broadcast may deprive any farmer of the help he needs at some special time [illegible] Beware or it's available!

The Canadian Broadcasting Corp. is co-operating with the Farm Labor Committee in sponsoring the broadcasts

SMALL SHIPMENTS OF WASTE PAPER NOW MADE POSSIBLE

Board of Trade Salvage Committee Plans Immediate Action

Owing to the critical shortage of paper, an adjustment in freight rates has been made by Wartime Salvage Ltd. This adjustment makes possible the shipment of less than carload lots at greatly reduced freight rates, and makes feasible the collection of waste paper in Vermilion. The reduced rates are in effect up to Sept. 15th and the local Salvage committee plan on making two shipments prior to that date.

As soon as advised of the new freight arrangement, the salvage committee of the Board of Trade made immediate preparations to once more gather newspapers, magazines and corrugated boxes. They have also arranged to pick up your waste paper bundles on Wednesday afternoon May 31.

Here is what the householder must do:

Newspapers—flatten all same size. Bundle and tie securely with strong twine. Bundles should be about 20 pounds.

Magazines—tie in secure bundles of about 20 pounds each. The securely.

Rags, wrapping paper and scrap paper pack tightly into sacks or cartons.

Corrugated Boxes—flatten, bundle and tie securely.

PLACE YOUR SALVAGE PAPER BUNDLES AT YOUR FRONT GATE at noon Wednesday May 31 where drivers will pick it up.

Another pick-up will be made late in August.

IMPORTANT

Citizens must see that their bundles are securely tied. They must stand handling and slipping to Winnipeg. It is possible that those bundles will be loaded straight from the drop into the freight car, so no loose paper or poorly tied bundles can be taken.

The need for paper is more acute than ever. The demand for more paperboard containers as well as for other paper products to serve our armed forces grows daily, and the present waste paper supply is wholly inadequate to meet the increased demand.

OIL FIELD PRODUCTION HITS NEW HIGH, MARCH

18,761 Barrels of Oil Produced

Total production of the Vermilion oil field set a new high for the month of March when 18,761 barrels of crude oil were produced. This compares with 13,952 produced in February. Figures are taken from the latest Alberta Conservation Board report. There were 31 wells on pump, making an average daily production of 605 barrels. This compares with an average of 451 barrels for February, 1944. To show the development which has taken place in the past year there was an average of 67 barrels per day in March 1943.

Individual well production figures will appear in the Standard next week

VICTORY BONDS AND THE POST-WAR ...

A silly and harmful suggestion heard too often these days is that when the war is over the Government of Canada may not be able to meet its obligations, with a consequent doubtful future for Victory Bonds. Finance Minister Ilsley, in a speech at Windsor this week, dealt with such talk, and it is to be hoped that his words are read widely. Said he:

"It will be of the greatest importance that we maintain, indeed assure, a ready and stable market for all these millions of bonds that we have sold. We have now the monetary and financial machinery and we have developed the methods for accomplishing this, and we will therefore be able to deal with any situation which may develop in a way which will keep faith with the millions of small investors who are supporting the savings program in this emergency."

The notion that this rich country is going to pass into poverty or chaos with the war's end, unable to meet its obligations, is a fantastic travesty of obvious fact. We have the resources, the people, the plant and machinery, the managerial and productive skills — why on earth should anybody imagine that we will be incapable of using them?

Will Draft Men From Industry For War Service

OTTAWA.—Labor Minister Mitchell said in the commons he thought that when all possible draftees had been taken from industry under examination now in progress, future call-up requirements would be met by men reaching the age of 18½ years.

The minister said figures showed that Canada had reached the point where she was pulling her fair weight in the war on a par with other nations.

"That's a condition the opposition, the government and the country should feel rightly proud of," he said.

His department had been conducting a check to see what men could be spared from industry, he continued, answering Howard Green (P.C., Vancouver South), who asked information on where the minister expected to obtain men to meet call up requirements.

About 100,000 young men reached military age each year and the minister said he could guess that about 50,000 of these would be available for service in the armed forces. The National Resources Mobilization Act, Mr. Green said he thought only a small number could be called in the older age groups and he said he wondered if the government proposed to call men from the ages of 18 years rather than 18½. Mr. Mitchell replied he could not tell what the future would bring. Men were called at 18 in the United States.

Men on postponement were being re-examined, specially those who had been examined medically by private doctors.

"But we are about at the bottom of the barrel," said the minister.

He could put 180,000 persons to work if they could be found and that included some men over 45 who could be trained for the forces and industry.

In a democratic country like Canada, "we have to be more or less cautious in pushing people around."

Mr. Green said the minister seemed to say what class of men on deferment would be called last, and Mr. Mitchell replied he could not say, equipment supplies could not be depleted without danger.

"Without conscription this country is as well organized as any country on the side of the United Nations, and the figures indicate that every place we can find a man we are taking him for war," the minister continued.

Mr. Green said there appeared to be no policy on calling men after taking in those now on deferment.

Mr. Mitchell said he would, himself, if he said there was no policy. The problem was one which had to be dealt with from day to day and the policy was altered in light of conditions

Mr. Green: "A very indefinite policy."

There had been talk of a "manpower muddle" in Canada during the last session, but the experience of other countries, and the production of weapons of war was the essential output had shown how successful the Canadian policy had been, Mr. Mitchell said.

Mr. Mitchell said he did not think more men could be taken from farms and military equipment had to be supplied. Men had to be retained in the basic industries, but industrial engineers were examining industries to see what men could be spared

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

FORT KNOX, Ky.—Alex Cooley 20 was inducted in the army from Lewis recently and during his first few days at Fort Knox, the top sergeant sent him into town on an errand

When Pte Cooley returned, the sentry challenged him with the usual, "Who goes there?"

"You didn't know me if I told you cause I just got here," Pte. Cooley replied

After he got out of the guard house Pte Cooley wrote friends in his county "This army is a funny business now they ask you 'Who goes there?' and what they mean is 'What is the pass-word?'"

POLICE AGREEMENT

EDMONTON.—An order-in-council passed by the Alberta government authorizes a five-year renewal of the agreement between the Dominion and provincial governments under which the RCMP. will do the policing of the province. The present agreement, made June 1, 1936, expires May 31 this year.

NAZI AIRPLANE

A New Type Has Been Reported By Canadian Airmen

LONDON.—A new type of German airplane was reported by Canadian airmen who hammered railway yards at St. Ghislain, Belgium, in a heavy attack described as "highly successful."

The German plane "was a peculiar looking thing," said P/O. Martin Albers of Mirror, Alta., a Lion squadron bomb aimer. "It was something like a rocket that rose to a certain height and then spurted off on a horizontal plane."

Possibility Of No Quota For Wheat This Year

OTTAWA. — Ottawa authorities saw the possibility that western farmers might not be permitted in the crop year 1944-45 without quotas limiting amounts which may be delivered by producers.

In recent years a heavy surplus of wheat and limited storage accommodation made it possible for wheat deliveries to elevators to be continued without a check. In the present crop year, which ends July 31, the limitation was that a producer might deliver 14 bushels of wheat per acre of land devoted to wheat production and authorized under quota regulations.

This quota later was raised to 18 bushels an acre as wheat sales to the United States and other buyers continued at a high level.

The Minister of Agriculture told the commons that the futility of wheat marketable in the coming crop year now is being studied. A decision cannot easily be reached as the volume of the new 1944 crop cannot be established and there is uncertainty as to the transportation facilities to be available for the movement of grain in 1944-45.

But at present the demand for all Canadian grains is running at very high levels and there are indications it will continue. The sales have eased the storage position in both western country and terminal elevators and space is becoming available for more grain now held on farms.

The improvement is indicated by the official estimate that the carryover of wheat on July 31 will be about 320,000,000 bushels, compared with more than 600,000,000 on the same date last year

Oats and barley are in good demand and there will be no difficulty in disposing of surpluses of these grains from the 1944 crop, Mr. MacKinnon said

Minimum prices for the feed grains are being continued in 1944-45 and officials said another factor encouraging major production in the west is the Trans-Canada Air Lines. They have the war first hand and they know what the Victory Loans mean to men in the heat of battle

AIR TRAINING

Schools Which Are Being Closed Will Be Utilized Again

CALGARY.—Schools in the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan which are being closed as aircrew training centres "will definitely be utilized," and "plans are now in hand" for their reactivation, said Air Marshal Robert Leckie, C.B., chief of air staff, R.C.A.F., in an interview here.

Contraction in the air training plan was not a matter of regret, as "it shows we are in the fortunate position" that quantity production of aircrew is no longer necessary, he stated.

"We have achieved our first objective—quantity. Now we can concentrate on quality," in aircrew training, he said.

FARM MACHINERY

Production Confined To Types Essential To Output Of Foodstuffs

OTTAWA.—H. H. Bloom, administration of farm and construction machinery for the prices board, announced total tonnage of farm machinery produced in 1945 will be approximately half the tonnage manufactured in 1940 and 1941, and said there will be no restriction on the production of spare parts for farm machinery.

Mr. Bloom said tonnage devoted to the 1945 manufacturing program will be confined to those types of machinery designated by Canadian agricultural authorities as essential to Canada's output of foodstuffs.

In addition to their output for equipment for ordinary domestic use Canadian manufacturers are being asked to produce an additional tonnage of equipment specifically for the establishment of war veterans on the land.

"Rationing will continue to be necessary, and only the most urgent and essential needs can be met . . . Canadian manufacturers and importers will be permitted to commence production and import of 1945 equipment quotas July 1, 1944, but as it takes approximately six months to produce most machines after ordering, quotas will reach Canadian farmers before January, 1945."

AVIATION PROJECT

About Four Hundred Airports Are Required For Canada

TORONTO. — Plans of the Aeronautical Institute of Canada for development of airports for post-war aviation crisps across the Dominion at a cost of about $20,000,000 were outlined at the institute's annual convention by President C. Roy Patterson.

Mr. Patterson advocated that the municipalities and provincial and federal governments share equally in the cost of such projects.

POST-WAR TRADE

Britain Wants To Return To Trade Routes After The War

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Great Britain wants to return to the world's trade routes after the war but that is not a matter which should cause concern to two countries who each want the partner to be vigorous and strong, Viscount Halifax said here.

Speaking at the annual dinner of the Charleston chamber of commerce, the British ambassador said:

"It is no luxury standard we are out to get. The plain fact is that we must renew our shipping and our overseas trade not in order that we may live well but in order that we may live at all."

Canadian Navy In North Patrol Did A Fine Job

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT — First Royal Canadian Navy ships to patrol the icy waters off Labrador a flotilla of sub-chasing motor launches are back in their home port here after three gruelling months of coastal work in the north Atlantic sea lanes

The M.L.'s—this made up of six sub chasers under the command of Lieut. Jack Sharp, R.C.N.V.R., of Duncan, B.C., a veteran of the navy who received his training in Britain—a speedy motor torpedo boats in the English channel, operated as a striking force from its "mother" ship, H.M.C.S. "Preserver"

The Royal Canadian Navy recently announced that the navy has had two mother ships in service for more than a year. The other one is H.M.C.S. "Provider." They supply fuel, supply and repair bases for the M.L.'s).

"Despite monotonous routine, constant patrolling, cold weather, dehydrated food and all the inevitable discomforts that go with the guarding of northern territory, the morale of the crews was wonderful," said Lieut Rose McDiarmid of Winnipeg

"I never thought such a bunch of kids could brave it like they did."

"We hardly ever went ashore," he continued, "but when we did we were glad to get back to the boats."

The flotilla didn't contact any U-boats, but the men all agreed that their presence there was the cause of no ship sinkings.

"We felt that because we were there the sub grew in a wide margin said Lieut Garnet Trowsdale, 21 year-old commanding officer "and we believe the ships passing by felt very much the same way.

"The weather and icebergs were our greatest hazards" he said "One day we bit into the biggest sea I've ever seen. We were bucking 25 to 30-foot waves and could make only three knots. But the boats came through unscathed. Some of the icebergs towered as high as 350 feet and we had a pretty close call.

The only discomfort the men actually complained about was the food situation and their main desire, they all agreed, was to put their teeth into a fat, juicy steak. The only vegetables were dehydrated and the meat was all frozen

"The meals" Clark said, finally boiled it we to soup, bread and jam and two vitamin pills." But nobody left the service without feeling he'd done his part for it."

Nazi Paratroops Transferred To Danger Zones

LONDON.—Canadian troops in the stemming of Fortress Europe may find themselves at grips with Hitler's parachutists who provided such fierce opposition in last December's battle for the Italian coastal town of Ortona.

The British radio has reported transfer of Nazi paratroops from Italy to danger zones on the German Atlantic wall and these units are fanatic — specialists in war at close quarters. While the opposition they provided in Italy converted Ortona into a pocket-Stalingrad they were beaten by Canadians of the 1st Division

Reports from neutral Sweden say German defences against what will be history's greatest amphibious operation include radio-controlled bombs, midget submarines, shore based torpedo tubes and reborn human-like which can be delineated by a button. There also will be coastal artillery

Two-fifths of the German air force is believed now in the west to meet the invasion and E-boats and destroyers are expected to appear when the first real shipping arrive

Behind the defences all-ng 3,000 miles of coast are expected to be massed the troop pools from which counter-attacks will develop. Estimates of German strength in the west vary, but the most popular is 50 divisions in France and the Low Countries five in Denmark, and 12 in Norway

One version of German strategy is that the eastern front has been left weak on the ground that the last hope of victory depends on beating the invasion. If the threat from the west were defeated, Hitler then could turn his full strength against the east, according to this version.

One Halifax Costs Million Dollars

WINNIPEG. — Including the bomb load and the money spent on training the crew, every Halifax that takes off from England to attack Hitler's Europe costs a million dollars, Squadron Leader R. M. Freyze, R.C.A.F., recently returned from overseas, told a Victory Loan rally of Canadian National Railways officers and employees in Winnipeg. "One Canadian boy," he added, "is worth more than all the money in the world. Let us give the boys overseas the best kites money can buy." Paying tribute to the Canadian Army, Navy as well as to the Air Force, he said, "No country could turn out a better bunch of men to do the dirty job of getting rid of Hitler."

Elks of Canada Donate Total Of $47,000 To "Save The Children" Fund

TORONTO.—During April the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of Canada and Newfoundland turned over an additional $17,000 to the Save the Children Fund, bringing their total giving to within the past two years to more than $47,000, J.C. McNicol, K.C., Toronto, chairman of the Fund, announced today.

More than 19,000 contributed by the Elks in April came from the lodge at Kamloops, B.C., where a drive to reach this objective had been sponsored for some months. Regina Lodge held a tag-day and was successful in raising over $600.

Established in Britain a quarter of a century ago to relieve suffering European children, the Save the Children Fund now cares for thousands of British children enduring hardship because of the war or left homeless by enemy bombing.

Under an "adoption" scheme, money now is provide fund for clothing for undernourished and sick children living in their own homes. As well, junior clubs and play centres are provided where they are given a sense of security and offered friendship and guidance.

Heavier bombings over Britain make the support of the Fund's work even more urgent. Twenty-six residential nurseries in rural England, Scotland and Wales have been set up. Children's day-time and nursery schools have been established to care for children of working mothers who want to keep their children with them as long as they can. One of these schools has children of 10 different nationalities.

The Fund also sends mobile canteens and kitchens up and down lonely rural areas to serve hot nourishing meals to school children. When these mobile canteens are no longer needed in England, Fund officials plan to use them in Europe.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

HOT BACON

By FRANK BENNETT
McClure Newspaper Syndicate

When fire was discovered in the forward hold of the Dvina, every man except Easy Reilly turned pale. The fire didn't seem to excite him much. He just let out a few good American cuss words and believed, "Let's put the fire out!"

But the rest of us had just one idea about it—to get away. You see, there were ten tons of ammunition—everything from machine gun cartridges to fifty-pound bombs—packed in boxes marked BACON and stored in that hold. Besides, there was the South American coast within sight. No, sir, we didn't bother to put out the fire. We made a rush for the two lifeboats, ripped off the canvas covers and climbed in. That is, everyone did except Easy.

Easy had one leg over the gunwale of my boat when Dutch Joe said to Gronzo, "In think of all the money we were going to get out of that ammunition—it makes me sick!"

Now, Easy didn't know much German, but he did know the word for money. He lifted his foot out of the boat. "Money," he said in English. "I gotta have money. Why, Sadie and me can't get married if I don't get my money." And he turned right around and started for the hold.

"Come back here, you idiot!" I yelled after him.

"Maybe that fire ain't so bad as you boys think," he said, hoisting right on his way. "Maybe it can be put out easy."

I got up with the intention of going after the big hook and dragging him back to the boat, but Captain Yost roared, "Sit down, sir! Lower the boat!"

The last glimpse I had of Easy was his big blond head disappearing into the hatch. Then the boat went over the side rail and settled into the water. Someone shoved an oar into my hands, and I fell into the stroke. Swiftly we began pulling away from the Dvina and her ten tons of hell-raising "bacon".

I sat facing the ship. Smoke poured out of the forward hatch; big white billowy clouds of it. The air was still, and the sea was as smooth as glass. That smoke spread out and hung in the sky like a big circus tent, and down there among those bacon boxes was Easy Reilly—big, dumb, good-natured Easy.

I'd run across Easy in—well, no matter where. He was broke and out of a job—and homesick. When he learned that I was from the States he nearly cried for joy. Then he showed me Sadie's picture and told me about a dairy farm somewhere in Wisconsin. He wanted Sadie, and she wanted the farm—and that took money.

"How would you like to help run some supplies through the blockade?" I asked. "It's a gamble—a long shot, but if we make it you can buy the farm and more cows than you and Sadie can milk in a forty-night-hour day. It's dangerous but—"

"When do I start workin'?" he interrupted.

Easy was a poor mat-h- solid bone between the ears, but he had one saving virtue, and that was his strength. He could carry those boxes of ammunition around as if they were really filled with bacon, and do it easily. In fact, he could do any kind of hard work easily if someone had the patience to teach him how. I guess that's why he got his nickname.

In spite of his thick-headedness he wasn't a bad sort, and since he and I were the only Americans on board we were together a lot. He talked most of the time about Sadie.

I was thinking of all this as we put more water between us and the ship and how I had got Easy into this mess, so I leaned back on my oar and said in German, "Captain, that fool hid many crates to his messes before its too late and jump over board. Let's hold up and see what happens."

"Ha," Captain Yost said, "We're too close to stop."

"Look!" cried Dutch Joe. "There's the fool now!"

Sure enough, there was Easy leaning over the rail of the Dvina, shouting something we couldn't understand.

Yost cupped his hands and bellowed, "Jump, you fool, jump!" Then, remembering Easy was pretty weak in German, turned to me: "You tell him, Stanton."

I got up and shouted, but Easy just stood there waving his arms and yelling back. "We're too far away," I said at last. "He can't hear me."

The captain swore in three or four different languages; then said, "Keep rowing."

"He's gone," Dutch Joe said, pointing his chin at the ship.

Suddenly Easy reappeared at the rail with the captain's megaphone.

"Come back," he called. "Come back! I put the fire out. The ship's safe."

"What a man!" Captain Yost said as we rowed toward the Dvina. "What a man! As strong as an ox, as brave as a lion!"

A little later I had Easy down in the mess cooking, smearing his face and hands with lard.

"You know, Jack," he said, "it got hot down there. I was about ready to give up once. Even thinkin' about Sadie didn't help much. Then I got ready the word 'bacon' on them boxes and that made me think about those poor hungry devils on board—I've been hungry myself—and the first thing I knew, I had that fire licked. Yes, sir, that bacon'll sure taste good to 'em."

"Bacon?" I laughed. "Those boxes were just labeled that way to fool the authorities. Every box is crammed with explosives. That's why they were so heavy."

"Explosives?" Easy sank down on a stool.

"You don't mean to say. . . ." I never finished the sentence for Easy had fainted dead away.

Canadians Do Not Realize What British People Have Endured

Our war "privations" in Canada are utterly trivial when compared to what the people of Britain have had to bear, and what many of them are now facing in the evacuation of their homes. One has rightly said that what we in Canada, spared from the cruel and devastating ravages of war, owe to "those sturdy Islanders who could not be cowed or driven into panic" is beyond all computation. They have won and richly deserve our deepest gratitude and affection.—Halifax Herald.

ABOUT THE JAPS

Anyone who knows the Japs will tell you that to belittle their Emperor in broadcasts would be to unite the whole Japanese nation, military and civilian, in a fierce hatred of the belittler. No, the Allies are not pussyfooting when they do not call Hirohito names on the air. It would simply be poor propaganda to do so.—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph

Food Rules

Healthful Eating Is Good Eating, Says Dr. L. B. Pett

"Most times and meals themselves should be anticipated with pleasure and enjoyed with gusto," says Dr. L. B. Pett, director of Nutrition Services at Ottawa.

"With no foods barred by prejudice and the Food Rules providing a simple guide to the foods essential to health, families will find that healthful food is good eating."

From the idea that bananas would give the baby convulsions to the theory that fruit and milk should never be taken at the same meal, food fads have, from time to time, swept the country like a prairie fire. An increasing knowledge of nutrition showed these food fancies to have no basis in scientific fact, many faddish ideas have passed into oblivion. However, surveys made of the eating habits of different groups of people show that there are still many whose meal plans are guided by prejudice and outmoded theories of nutrient than getting the foods they need for health.

The daily "musts" are milk, fruits, vegetables, whole grain cereals and meat or one of its alternates. Add at least three or four eggs a week; liver, heart or kidney once a week and remember cod liver oil for the children. Those are the simple rules for healthful eating. When the "musts" are looked after, the "likes" [illegible]

United Church Is Scene of Pretty Wedding May 3

The vase of pink and white carnations and trailing palms made an attractive setting in the United church Vermilion, on Wednesday afternoon, May 3rd, when Agnes Anna Fraser became the bride of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Fraser of Ambleside, becoming the bride is Lawrence Algert Isabl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmar Isabl of Wainwright. The Rev. E. Sinclair Reikie officiated.

The organist, Miss Beda Nordstrum, played the "Wedding March from Lohengrin," the radiant bride entering the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was lovely in a floor-length gown of white lace over silk taffeta modelled on princess lines with long fitted sleeves, the bodice being softly pleated at the bust and the shoulders and shaped waist inserted with overlapping rows of narrow Valenciennes lace and finished with a row of tiny self-covered buttons from the center of the sweetheart neckline to the waist. Her veil was of white net, outlined with embroidered at the corners and attached to a tiara shaped headdress of embroidered net with a small cluster of orange blossoms. She carried a white bible with a shower bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Clarence Fraser, brother of the bride, was best man and Ethel Fraser performed the duties of usher.

During the signing of the register Miss Beda Nordstrum played on the electric organ "I'll Forget You."

At 6 o'clock the wedding party met in George's cafe where a banquet was prepared for the 25 guests, the private reception room being decorated with vases of pink and white carnations. The long dining table was laid with the white linen cloth, the embroidered centre-piece being occupied by a 3-tier wedding cake, and pink and white festoons were laced from the ceiling to the corner of the table down to the table length.

Tae Rev. E. Sinclair Reikie proposed the toast to the bride.

Receiving with the young couple were Mrs. Angus Fraser, mother of the bride and Mrs. Elmar Isabl, the groom's mother. Mrs. Fraser chose for her daughter's wedding a turquoise blue crepe gown trimmed with ripple tucking and embroidery and a small navy blue braid hat with feather ornament. Mrs. Isabl, for her son's wedding wore a tailored two-piece rose crepe gown, richly embroidered, and a small rose felt hat with ribbon trimming.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a gold bracelet, to the bridesmaid and to the organist he presented a pair of gold earrings each, and to the groomsman a gold tie pin and clip. The bride presented her husband with a signet ring. In the evening a wedding dance was held in the Automobile Hall where refreshments were served to more than 150 people.

The next day the bride and groom left for a short honeymoon trip, the bride choosing for her travelling costume a smartly tailored two-piece suit of Horizon Rose herringbone wool suiting with beret style felt hat in navy blue and accessories.

MOISTURE SUPPLY

Some of those interested in crop production in Alberta have expressed concern about the lack of soil moisture at this season of the year. It is pointed out however, by A. M. Wilson, Field Crops Commissioner, that while the soil is admittedly drier than it has been in the past two years, it is not advisable to become unduly pessimistic over crop prospects.

Although ample moisture to desirable at the time of grain seeding it does not follow that good crops necessarily result. The spring of 1926 was ideal when planting, but the hot dry summer caused one of the lowest yielding crops recorded. A dry soil at planting time was experienced in 1935, but good growing conditions later in the year resulted in excellent yields.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Islay, Alberta, May 8, 1944.

To Editor and Readers:

This being so close to Mother's Day I would like to see this lovely piece of poetry printed for other mothers to read. It was sent to me from my son Laurence Gould who is in Italy. I thought it a lovely thing to send to a mother. I am sure all the other boys away from home are thinking the same thing as he is, and wishing for home and this war to cease. He was away from his duties four months with malaria fever but was back on the job again as a L.M. Yes, you can depend upon him to deliver the goods to the front lines, and keep the wheels rolling. He says a can't get over quick enough to suit him, so let everyone at home do their share in helping in every way.

He has just received his cigarettes from the Vermilion branch, but has not received his Xmas box as yet. I feel sure he will as he has just received a box in April which we sent him last June, so here's hoping he will get it between now and next Xmas.

Here's wishing before another Mother's Day we will have our dear boys home which will make it much happier for us, instead of a Mother's Day spent in tears.

I do hope anyone reading this will have hope and courage and feel closer to their dear one on this special day for us all.

"TO MY DEAR GIRL FRIEND—MY MOTHER"

To a day gone by
My mind tonight,
Reflects in fancy;
And steps to light
Before me here,
In this fire I see;
There is a person
Meaning all to me.
O'er the flame it hovers
And then comes clear;
I see it plain,
'Tis you my dear.
I've brought you pain;
I'd give my all
To live again
To start anew,
On a clean new sheet,
To give you memories
Both true and sweet.
'Twould mean so much,
If I could erase,
Those lines of care
From that dear, dear face.
Perhaps some day before me
Before my day is done,
I'll have done one thing
To make you say,
I'm glad that he's my son.
Thanking you,
Mrs. Bert Gould

CANADIANS WELL FED

While other nations have eaten less under the stress of war Canada has been fortunate and Canadians have eaten more. This is true of milk and milk products, grain products, meats and so forth, only in comparatively few items or food has total consumption in Canada been under the pre war figures.

Canadians should be thankful that the farmers of this Dominion have the ability, endurance and energy, to increase food production to such a high capacity. Canadians have been the world's best fed people during the war years thanks to the efforts of the [illegible] farmers.

Education In Europe

ALLIED WAR CORRESPONDENTS in Italy report that work has already been commenced on the task of reorganizing the educational system in that country, and of ridding the text books and curriculums of Fascist propaganda. For the twenty years the history taught to children in Italian schools has been distorted to suit the purposes of the Fascist Regime, and similar distortion has been made in any subject which an opportunity appeared. The harm which has been done by instilling the false principles of Fascism and Nazism into the minds of the youth of Italy has been amply demonstrated, and it is agreed that work cannot be commenced too soon to undo the fascist system of this influence. Text books are being re-written to replace those which were formerly used but much more difficult than the revision of texts will be the process of reclassifying the teachers. Thousands of Italian students who have passed through Italian schools during Mussolini's Regime

Nazi Ideas Are Widely Taught

This problem applies not only to Italy, but to Germany and in all the countries which have been under Nazi domination. With complete thoroughness the Germans have used the schools as a means of perpetuating their system of government. To this end, they have seized on every text-book containing anything favourable to democracy and eliminated all teachers who were in sympathy with Nazi ideas. In some of the Occupied countries the German language has been enforced in the schools to the exclusion of the national language. The grave effect of all this on the minds of young people and the governments of Occupied countries exiled in Britain have made plans for a complete and far-reaching reorganization of education when peace is restored. In October 1942 a conference of Ministers of Education was held in Britain, with the object of discussing and exchanging views on general problems of education in Europe and the United Kingdom.

* * *

The countries represented at this conference included Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Holland, Luxembourg, Norway, Poland, Yugoslavia, and the French National Committee. The chairman was Mr R A Butler, president of the British Board of Education, and observers were present from all the British Dominions, India, the United States, Russia and China. Much practical work has been accomplished as a result of this conference, at which several commissions were appointed to consider specific problems. A commission on books and periodicals has made progress in arranging to supply libraries and educational institutions in Europe after the war and already over forty sets of books and periodicals have been purchased for that purpose. A further undertaking is that of a committee of Allied historians who are planning the publication of two books, a History of European Civilization for pupils from sixteen to eighteen, and a Handbook of suggestions for teachers of history in all types of schools. The Allied Ministers of Education hope that in addition to re-establishing sound educational systems in their own countries after the war they may also lay foundations for inter-Allied and eventually international co-operation in educational matters in the post-war world."

Every division will need 250 tons of supplies daily.

These supplies have to be taken over and great depots established on the other side. The home dumps must always be kept full. The German says the number of our divisions may be 50. Hazardous Job

Salvage Operation By Canadian Navy Tells Story

Salvage men of the Royal Canadian Navy a few months ago were commended by the United States War Shipping Administration for their part in a hazardous job. A Liberty ship had been turned into an inferno of flames and fumes after a collision with a tanker. Towed into an eastern Canadian port, the vessel was beached and successfully salvaged.

Not everyone is called upon to do dangerous and difficult work like this but in many cases the salvage of paper, rags, fats and bones in Canadian homes can be almost as important as the salvaging of a flame-scarred cargo.

Waste paper, especially brown paper, containers and corrugated paper are now urgently required because of the great scarcity of virgin pulp wood, and because of the greatly increased need of paper containers for the packaging and shipment of food and munitions supplies to Canada's armed forces overseas and at home.

Rags are an important salvage item for they are urgently needed by the Royal Canadian Air Force and by many of the country's largest munitions factories

Fats and bones, salvaged from Canadian kitchens, by every Canadian kitchen commando, are required for the preparation of basic ingredients for ointments, pharmaceutics, etc, and soap for hospitals and Canada's armed forces.

Smith--Fine! I've reached the highest point of efficiency. I can put my socks on from either end.

* * * *

Mrs. Brown—My dear, he's too eligible to be considered old.

"All extremely bright men are conceited."

He shrugged gracefully.

"Oh, I don't know. I'm not."

* * * *

"My young lady is terribly dual, and that's awful trouble, Bob."

"Well?"

"I had to yell so loudly when I proposed to her that the woman next door has axed me for breach of promise."

* * * *

"Why are you wearing spectacles, old man?"

"Well, through crossword puzzles I've contracted an optical defect. One eye travels vertically and the other horizontally."

* * * *

"Do you find it economical to do your own cooking?"

"Oh, much! Since I have been cooking my husband only eats half what he used to."

* * * *

Man—So my speech at the dinner last night evidently got you of the days when we were courting. How was that?

Wife—I thought you would never come to the point.

* * * *

"And is the prince incognito?" asked the reporter, referring to a titled guest.

"Well, no sir," replied the hotel porter. "I don't know so I'd say that. But it's certainly 'id a few."

* * * *

Bill I hear they have taken the car- morning train off your route. Do you mind it?

John Not since they have taken it off!

"Will you marry me if I have my health restored?" asked the millionaire octogenarian.

"I'll marry you, all right," said the sweet young thing, "but you lose your health the way it is."

* * * *

"Why is marriage like a cafeteria"

"Because you grab what looks nice to you and pay for it later."

"I've been home two years and never complained," she said to her cut-slimmer boarder. "What are you leaving for now?"

"I just found out you ain't got no bathtub."

TANKS CARRIED IN TANKS

War Services Minister LaFleche said in the Commons that comforts for Canadian troops in Sicily and Italy went to these areas in the same boats as the soldiers and were packed in tanks. The tanks, filled with cigarettes and other comforts, of course were emptied of the comforts before they went ashore." The comforts were carried ashore separately.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—Since meat rationing has been suspended, is there still a price ceiling on meats?

A—There certainly is a price ceiling on meat. Butchers and all those who handle meat at retail must have the regular meat charts posted in their stores in a position where the consumer may see them. These charts show the cut of meat and the prices at which the storekeeper is allowed to sell them.

Q—We have a little green house and garden in the country in the spring. We want to know if we can raise the price from 25c a box to 35c a box. We think 25c is not enough with the high price of seeds and coal.

A—Garden plants that you mention are classified as plants and are exempt from the maximum price regulations.

Q—What is the necessary procedure to secure a ration book for my pet baby?

A—A ration book for the new baby may be obtained by applying to your local ration board. Any responsible member of the family may secure it for the baby. It should have either the baby's certificate or baptismal certificate if these certificates cannot be obtained at once applying for the book will have to sign an affidavit on the form provided.

—o—

Q - Thanks for sending me that grand little booklet on how to remake clothes. Some of my friends are interested and would like to secure copies. Can they get them now?

A—There are still copies of the Consumers Which Re-Make Booklet available Write to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province for copies.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book Ration Guide in which you keep track of your ceiling prices) mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

GARDEN NOTES

Garden Pests

Beginners are inclined to worry too much about insect and other garden pests, experienced gardeners believe. True, there is almost one special insect for every plant that grows in Canada. As a rule, however, if we keep our garden growing and healthy through regular cultivation, in many cases the plants will outgrow most of the damage. But some dusting or spraying is advisable to ward off heavy attacks. Usually we can purchase ready mixed materials. The important thing is to get them applied just as soon as damage or pests first appear.

General Care

The most important job, after a garden is planted, is cultivation. There are others, too, and they should not be neglected but of all of them, the experts agree, timely cultivation heads the list The major object is to keep the surface of the soil loose, that is a valuable by-product, but to stir up the soil, to check evaporation let in air and to generally produce a healthy environment for the growing plants.

After heavy rains, which will pound the soil flat and encourage hard surface baking when the sun comes out, it is especially desirable to go over the garden with a cultivator. In the small Victory plot or flower bed, cultivation can be carried out with a hand tool Where the cultivation is larger, a rake, hand-drawn cultivator or a horse or motor-powered scuffler or cultivator will do the work

Most professionals make it a regular practice to cultivate once a week during June and early July, and especially after each heavy rain. One must be careful, however, not to work the soil when it is still wet and soggy This will do more harm than good as it is liable to pack the ground into hard lumps which will bake in the hot sun It is important to wait until the garden soil remains moist but not muddy.

Concentrate

If the plot of vegetables is very tiny, then authorities advise concentrating on vegetables which give the biggest yield This means small, compact things like onions, carrots, beets, lettuce, radish, spinach, beans, and possibly a few staked tomatoes With the first three items, even 10 feet of row if given a little attention in the way of thinning, cultivation and perhaps watering and fertilizers, should produce three or four good meals for the fair-sized family And as the rows can be spaced a mere foot apart, a plot a dozen feet each way will grow a lot Spinach and beans take a little more space, but 20 feet of row will furnish several meals.

Tomatoes will take up more room, but if staked can go in about 18 inches apart One plant will grow a big basket of tomatoes and if all side shoots are nipped off and the plant tied loosely to a good stake it will ripen the fruit surprisingly early.

Television Industry

Extensive Research In Britain Has Brought Good Results

Thousands of ex-servicemen and women will find employment in a comparatively new industry after the war - television. Experts are confident that it will sweep through Britain and make it possible for her people to see the world sights in their homes.

J. L. Baird, famous television pioneer, claims that through extensive wartime research Britain will be farther advanced than all her competitors, including the United States.

Mr. Baird and British experts already conducted successful demonstrations of color and stereoscopic (three dimensional) television. The first is a "cheap" set which would be "the television for every home" It will show three-dimensional pictures both in color and black and white. This set would receive the ordinary broadcasts.

The second set is much the same as the "cheap" one, but larger.

The third set is a luxury model. It would consist of an auditorium for grandmother gramophone records, and an all-wave radio set.

The "Televisor" created by British technicians has eliminated blurred outlines and reproduced faithfully the delicate shadings of color in a girl's hair and complexion.

Since the war started, astonishingly successful results have been achieved in the reproduction of color and life-like effect on the stereoscopic screen.

DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL WAR SERVICES

To my Fellow Canadians:-

For the citizens of Canada and members of the Voluntary Service Committees and many others in every city Hitchers have done an excellent war job

Canada, in doing her part to help win the war, has been greatly assisted by your voluntary and unselfish devotion to the important duty of saving and turning in the essential war materials. You have backed up the boys overseas and your activities have been a material factor in turning the tide of battle against the enemy. Now Canada's stock piles salvaged waste material you have discovered, saved, and assembled, are ready to be turned into weapons, ships, planes and munitions. Your Salvage Campaigns have been Battles and of National Importance.

Your job has been a big one which you have ably performed.

Then at war the past is the past and we must look to the future. Again I appeal to you.

There is another National war emergency which must be met and overcome. Experts on the matter have assured me that there is a critical shortage of Waste Paper and that the Air Force who will win the war for us, must have it. Waste Paper must be safely packed, to go march on seaboard to the enemy more supplies are required for Fighting Men. More — more save Waste Paper to wasted men.

Paperboard mills are working on a day-to-day basis and some are facing shut-downs because reserve stock supplies of Waste Paper are critically low. From now on it is necessary for every household to turn in to the Nation waste paper to be used in the war effort through regular Waste Paper channels.

Fellow Canadians please help!

Yours sincerely,

L. R. LaFleche,
Minister, National War Services.

CANADA NEEDS 20,000 TONS OF WASTE PAPER EVERY MONTH

WHAT IS WANTED: You can remedy this critical paper shortage by saving every scrap of waste paper, namely: wrapping paper—store bags—cardboard—cartons—corrugated boxes—old magazines and newspapers. These represent the largest-percentages of waste paper in Paper consumers.

NOW TO DO IT: Tie securely in separate bundles. (The little rings you get from thousands of man hours.) Save disposes of it through your local voluntary Salvage Committee or other War Veterans' Organization, or sell it through any known trade channel. Your dealer or others. The important thing is to get your Waste Paper moving to the mills.

CHAPTER XV

Quite a spell back I sat on old Paint's saddle, watching the sunrise and sunset colored the Rockies, and that day I made up my mind to join the Army.

Today I watched that sunrise again —this time from the window of the hospital train as it rumbled towards Calgary — and it still had the same fascination, the same sort of majesty that it had those many months ago.

I guess I didn't sleep hardly at all last night just thinking about getting home and how grand it was going to be

That hustle and bustle at the station, the Currie band playing "Auld Lang Syne" as we reached the 'rm ourites, and seeing my wife and the Rose again at the reception for the Alberta lads who returned is something I will always remember.

My army days are just about over Right now I'm going on disembarka tion leave, and after that it will be back to the ranch and trying to do a job on the home front to help the boys still overseas and still facing a mighty big task.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By M. G. L. Strange
Director, Research Department, Bank of B. N. A.

This war is no exception to the rule that wheat some way or other, In the spring of 1918 the odds were heavily in favor of the Germans winning the last war, and yet by November the Germans were beaten

Wars are won with great difficulty but they are lost easily. Most of the Wars have often been lost from the lack of a few articles, some extra equipment or munitions. But the only assurance of victory is to have more men, more and better weapons and equipment than the enemy.

There, then, is the way you and I have been young men killed in battle because they did not have at hand sufficient munitions.

To train, equip and transport manpower, to manufacture munitions and to make them available at the right moment costs money and lots of it. If Government people in on the sale of Victory Bonds for a considerable part of the sum is raised.

As I see it this is the reason why that we have to buy Victory Bonds. It is a simple matter of business. It is essential in order to supply the Government with sufficient money to purchase munitions, to keep the economy of the country stable and to prevent inflation.

Only by winning the war can we be assured of a return to peace time conditions.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

It is reported that the operation Government may buy everything two million bushels of oil and now ready for the first time season of 1944. The efficiency of the Canadian Pacific Line and transportation are said to be quickening with the Canadian Pacific Line and two carrier vessels.

Russia's food supply is expected to improve a little this year. Production figures of the wheat production in the U.S.S.R. are estimated at between 1,000,000,000 and 1,200,000,000 bushels. Production in 1943 is estimated at 1,000,000,000 bushels.

NORSEMAN HAD WAR

An appeal has been made to Canadians and others to help in the search to collect as much information possible to assist in the identification of the tall man of the Norse gods and goddesses. Horseshoe is urgently needed for Canada's war production.

Canadian Pacific Railway Company officials say that the search for horseshoes and rubber is going to be a big one. Farmers and others who have old horseshoes are asked to collect them and turn them over to the nearest railway station agent. Industrial horseshoes are also wanted.

Sufficient Canadian horseshoes are collected during the next few months and industrial horseshoes are collected, the total amount of horseshoes will be made available to Canada's war industries.

Mrs. Webster became an employee of the Canadian Pacific when she replaced her husband who has been on active service with the Black Watch, Royal Highlanders of Canada for two years. Private Webster is now serving overseas.

Press start to smile I have to admit my army life was great I learned a lot, met a few hard-to-believe characters from all parts of the world that I'd never set to see if I hadn't been a traveller in khaki, and ended up with a broader outlook on things in general. The wounds I got may slow me up a little but outside of that I'm in better health now than when I joined up. The trouble is the army hasn't a spot for a soldier with half a lung and that is where I stand

However, I still figure I can do a job to do because I can't drink, am not built just thinking about getting home and how grand it was going to be Edmonton Man Who Suffered From Broken Back Some Time Ago.

Again Getting Nazi Planes

A Canadian Mosquito pilot, WO. M. Simms of Vancouver, who took to the air again after suffering a broken back 18 months ago, shot down an enemy aircraft over a German airfield and damaged two others on the ground, in an early-morning mission.

Simms, a member of the R.C.A.F. City of Edmonton squadron, joined the unit after a remarkable recovery from the back injury. Until rescued after being hurt, he had to stay three days on Snowdown, a mountain in Caernarvon, Wales.

"When we came over the airfield it was a glorious sight to see the Hun fighters practically queueing up to land," he said on his return from the mission. "If we'd had time we could, perhaps, have done better. As it was we sent two one-second bursts into an aircraft and it went straight down."

Returning later, Simms shot up two other aircraft in their dispersal areas.

Simms' navigator, PO. J. Sharples, Toronto, also had made a recovery from illness. A sufferer from chronic air sickness, Sharples was cured after allowing himself to be used as a test patient for a new cure discovered by Canadian naval and British doctors.

A Sad Ending

Britain Is The Land Of The Unexpected

Britain today is the land of the unexpected. The unexpected sometimes is happy, but often it is sad.

The world was wrapped in a rosy cloud as far as Elizabeth Smith was concerned. She was young and in less than a few hours she was to become Mrs. H. J. Slocomb. She spread her wedding dress daintily on the bed and admired it for awhile. And knowing that in a few hours she would be wearing black instead of white.

A bomb struck the Elcomb flat and killed the husband-to-be and other Smith wedding guests who had already arrived to escort the bridegroom to the church.

News of the tragedy was brought to the bride in the midst of telegrams congratulating the bride and groom on the marriage that would never take place

Creates Problem

Large Size Planes Require Runway Like Main Highway

Increase in plane size and performance creates a problem to the men who build the runways on airfields in England. The added pressure creates more wear and tear on the runways and all fields which are not used exclusively for light aircraft, must have runways built like a main highway. Most of these have from 9 to 13 inches thickness of concrete from 80 to 100 yards wide. Besides the main runway in the prevailing wind, an airfield usually has two subsidiary runways, for taking off into winds that deviate from the prevailing one.

Railway Man Loses Hands in War But Signs Up For Victory Bond

"All out for victory" said Raoul Audet demobilized as Major in the Canadian Active Army to re-establish himself in civil life as station agent at Levis, Que., for the Canadian National Railways with whom he had been employed as relieving agent prior to joining the Chaudiere Regiment in September, 1939.

While serving overseas Major Audet lost both hands in a grenade explosion. After hospitalization he adapted himself to the use of devices performing many manual functions and became so adept as to resume the use of a telegraph key.

In the photograph Major Audet (right) is seen with J. A. Tregid, Canadian National superintendent of the Levis division, signing for a bond of the Sixth Victory Loan issue. Major Audet, with personnel experience and knowledge of what war means declared "We must put Victory First".

Splendid Fighters

Natives Of Fiji Islands Doing Their Bit In This War

When Kipling wrote of the "Funny Wuzzies" he was not describing the natives of Britain's pretty Pacific colony; the once cannibal isles of the Fijis, but he might have been. The Fijian's kinky hair, worn in that fashion for protection against the sun, makes the name fit him as a cartridge does its chamber. Once one of the most warlike of the races or tribes of Oceania, the Fijian has changed in 75 years of mission-training and humane colonial administration to a peaceable and respected citizen of the British empire.

The' he still is a mighty warrior when the occasion demands, however, as attested its deeds of New Bougainville that a Fijian battalion fighting there with the United States troops was in a score of 135 Japanese dead against one Fijian killed and two wounded. Kipling's "Funny Wuzzies" nevy fought that well. No white battalion has bettered that record.—New York Times.

PAUL IN THESSALONICA

Golden text: Rejoice always; pray without ceasing; in everything give thanks. I Thessalonians 5:16-18

Lesson: Acts 17:1-10; 1 Thessalonians 2:1-13.

Devotional Reading: 1 Thessalonians 3:2-10.

Explanations and Comments

Founding of Thessalonica. Acts 17:1-4. After his exciting adventures in Philippi, Paul went to Thessalonica, passing through Amphipolis and Apollonia on the way. Thessalonica, now known as Salonica, is situated at the head of the Thermaic Gulf, overshadowed by Mount Olympus, the fabled home of Zeus and other Greek deities. Paul reasoned with Jason and at once began his work. With the support of Jason himself and his companions (1 Thess. 2:9,

Luke, the historian, records only Paul's preaching for three Sabbaths in the synagogue, and says that he "reasoned" with the Jews, proclaiming from the Old Testament Scriptures what the prophets had told of the suffering and resurrection of the Messiah, and then declaring that the Messiah is Jesus. Several of the hearers were convinced by his reasoning, among them perhaps Secundus and Aristarchus (Acts 20:4) and Gaius (Acts 19:29), and large numbers of Gentile proselytes (devout Greeks) and leading women. Arnot explains Paul's "reasoning" by this figure: "The Jews were like little children who had a tree in their garden, their father's legacy. The children had gathered the fruits as they grew, and laid them up with reverence in a storehouse; but they knew not how to break open the shell and so get the meat of the nuts. Then Paul broke the shell, opened out the kernel, and presented it as food to the hungry."

Driven from the City, Acts 17:5-11. Several months were probably spent in Thessalonica, and Paul writes in his letter to his converts there that "We were well pleased to impart unto you, not the gospel of God only, but also our own souls, because ye were become very dear to us." Then the hostile Jews, who were jealous as everywhere they were of Paul's success, gathered a crowd of idle loafers and set the city in an uproar. The "wife fellows of reliable," as Luke calls them, probably knew how poor and easy anything about Paul's 'work nor about the leniency of the Jews, but if there was to be any kind of rioting, they wanted to be in it. They mobbed the house of Jason where Paul was staying. Not finding the apostles there, they dragged Jason and certain brethren before the rulers of the city, crying that Jason had received the men "who have turned the world upside down," also incorrectly proclaiming "another king, one Jesus."

The rulers settled the trouble by "taking security from Jason and the rest," making them responsible for any further disorder. Paul could not continue his work without endangering the life of Jason, so he and Silas left secretly by night and went on to Berosa.

Says Russia May Purchase Hydro-Electric Equipment in Canada

The Toronto Globe and Mail says in an Ottawa dispatch that the Russian government is negotiating through its trade representatives in Canada for the purchase of Hydro-Electric generating equipment to replace Dnieper installations destroyed in the German advance in 1941.

"While the amount and details of the proposed deal are a closely-guarded secret, it is understood that the cost of the equipment would be in the neighborhood of $25,000,000," says the story. It said the Canadian government would guarantee low-interest bank credits to equipment manufacturers to finance the transaction.

OBITUARY

MRS. CATHERINE MANSON

Mrs. Catherine Manson of Ritscoty, widow of the late John Manson, passed away in the lobby hospital on Friday, May 5, 1944 at the age of 73 years, 7 months and 24 days. Funeral services were held at the United church Vermilion, on Monday May 8 and interment took place in the Vermilion cemetery. The Rev. E. Simmons officiated.

Mrs Manson was born at Ray, Sutherlandshire, Scotland, coming to Ritscoty district with her parents years ago. She was predeceased by her husband on January 4, 1943, and by her daughter Mrs. Jamison on March 1942. Surviving members of the family are one daughter and five sons in the district and one son in Toronto.

Pall bearers were Howard Nelson, Chris Cairns, John Bootsman, Dick Bootsman, Pete Bootsman, Tim Bootsman.

Beautiful floral tributes were received from: The sorrowing Family, Jack, Kate, Fred, Allie and Morven; Jack, Jessie and Jimmie; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Jamison; Mr. and Mrs. John McKay, Courtenay, Vancouver Island; P. Bootsman and Sons; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rooks and family; John Myrtle and Grace; Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen; Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Bootsman; Mr. and Mrs. Bootsman, Edith, Vic and Dick; The Watson Family.

Moderate Speed Best for Operation of One-Way Disc

High speed operation of the one-way disc is costly. According to J. MacGregor Smith, Professor of Agricultural Engineering at the University of Alberta, operation at a speed faster than 5 miles per hour increases the cost per acre out of proportion to the increased acreage per hour.

Operation at speeds of 3 to 5 miles per hour the one-way disc requires less power per acre than any other tillage implement. At 5½ miles per hour stony land may be one-way without undue breakages to the disc. High speed pulverizes the soil and destroys the trash cover, so that soil drifting becomes a direct hazard.

Tractors should be balanced with one-way disc of sufficient width to load the tractor efficiently at the proper speed.

WOODVALE

Everyone is still working in clouds of dust in the fields and hoping that rain soons will fall, as it is getting uncomfortably dry.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Goutier and the children went to Vegreville to see their older children who are there at school. A few days later Paul got word that Maurice was in the University hospital but nothing about his illness. Luckily enough, when he arrived in Edmonton, it proved to be for a minor sickness, but it gave them all rather a scare.

It seems quite possible that Wood vale school will be re-opened next fall as the school board has been asked to repair and clean the school ready for inspection by the end of June. Everyone, especially the parents of the small children will be very glad to be able to send them to school once again.

Bob Elson has been in the Vermilion hospital for treatment of his eye. A straw was blown into one of them during threshing this spring and despite treatment in time the eye got worse. He'll soon be back though to resume spring work.

Glen Young returned home from Stettler where she has been working in the hospital all winter.

Mrs. Ernest Pertumlich is expected home on a two-week's leave this week end.

Our sincere sympathy goes to Mr. and Mrs. R. Crathers on the loss of their baby daughter and to Andrew Klos, whose brother died after a brief accident.

Championship Softball Games Arranged For May 24th

Mannville Bluebirds and Edmonton Bomberettes in Double-Header Exhibition at Elks Sports

Under arrangements just completed this Thursday morning, the local Elks announce a special softball attraction on Wednesday, May 24th, when the Mannville Bluebirds, former Alberta champions, will play the Edmonton Bomber-ettes in a double-header exhibition. Games will start at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. and a whistling fine display is guaranteed by these high class girls' teams. Don't fail to use this added super feature at Vermilion fair grounds next Wednesday.

With all arrangements practically "in the bag" for the Elks-Kiddies' Day sports on May 24th, it is now up to the weatherman to smile on the day and thus assure a successful outing for all the children, students and adults of the town and district. The youngsters are eagerly looking forward to the big day when they will get two free ice cream cones and a free soft drink served out to them by the Big Brother Lilly from their booth on the grounds, and also take part in the many and varied athletic events being provided. Children are reminded to get their tickets for their free soft drinks when they enter the grounds.

Entries are coming in for the four big softball tournaments and as an added feature the Vermilion Air Cadets will stage a short drill in front of the grandstand. The drill will be followed by a talk on "The Flag" by the Ven. Archdeacon Laverendye.

A dance in the Elks hall has been planned for the evening and will provide an event for the small "young sters" as a wind-up of the big day.

Numerous subjects came up for discussion including salvage, oil field development and the 24th of May holiday

"Mrs. Consumer Week" From May 22nd to 27th

Mrs. 22 to 27 has been set aside as "Mrs. Consumer Week" to be observed in every city, town and village across Canada. Its chief purpose is to do their part in paying tribute to women of the country, who have done their share in keeping our economic wheels rolling.

The plan grew out of a meeting of producers to officially inaugurate Consumer Week. It was decided to keep themselves well informed on matters of price control and rationing, and without their help the jobs of the retailers could have been much more difficult

Up to the present co-operation public and wholesalers have been much more than encouraging. The consumers are closely associated with the plan through the efforts of their women's organizations. The Canadian Federation of Business and other agencies are intensive campaign of education to wartime regulations and restrictions has been carried on since price control was instituted The majority of Canadian women have attempted to keep themselves well informed on matters of price control and rationing, and without their help the jobs of the retailers could have been much more difficult

"Mrs. Consumer Week" is the answer

Price control and rationing both two of the major points in Canada's policy of economic stabilization

"Mrs. Consumer Week" is planned not only to make consumers more fully conscious of their responsibilities in the future

Changes In Parking Being Considered by Town Council

More Space Necessary

The council has under consideration a complete change in the present system of the town in order to provide additional parking space. To accomplish this it is proposed to abolish centre parking which has been a source for the past ten or twelve years and institute curb parking on both sides of Main street and First street South. On Bruyea avenue, which is a narrow street, one side of parking will be used. This will be on the east side of the street

Changes were considered after a delegation of farmers waited on the board of trade asking that more parking space be provided for Saturday afternoons. At the request of the town council the Board of Trade drew up a complete plan of the proposed changes and submitted it to the council. This plan was discussed by the council and a by-law encompassing the changes is now being drawn up. It is not expected that the new system will go into effect before July 1

The proposed new parking regulations street by street will be as follows

MAIN STREET—Curb parking both sides of street from the Lotion Hall corner to the imperial block corner, with the exception of spaces in front of Rose & Spencer's garage and fire hall

FIRST STREET SOUTH — Curb parking both sides of street from the Lotion Hall corner to Andrew McWilliams corner Northeast corner of park reserved for trucks as now. Block 7 from store on the north side of the street only, as this street narrows from that point on

BRUYEA AVENUE—Curb parking on east side of street only. Take in from Geo. Webb's pre-war addition running north east to the M.P. room on the new fire hall corner. Co-op store hold ing to river hill road

There will be no parking in front of the theatre and Imperial Motors, and no parking within 20 feet of any intersection

SHORTAGE OF EGG GRADERS

Attention was recently drawn at a meeting of the Poultry Advisory committee to the fact that a very serious shortage of egg graders exists at present in the province. It is also felt at the meeting that a great many people in Alberta have had experience in this work and are not at present employed in this capacity.

In the present emergency which exists regarding the War Food Production it was suggested that this matter be given as much publicity as possible over the air and through the press, making the request that all people with such experience should give some time to this work during the next two months, if only on a part time basis. Residents with such qualifications are asked to contact Mr. A.F. Darnell, 103 Bank of Montreal Building, Edmonton, or any wholesale egg firms or country grading stations where their services are so urgently needed.

RAPID DISCUSSION ON VENEREAL DISEASES

TORONTO.—First of its kind on the continent, and possibly anywhere, a radio discussion panel on venereal disease control was carried by the trans-Canada network of the C.B.C. on Wednesday May 17. The program was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada, working in co-operation with the Health League of Canada. The program was of a half hour's duration.

The Junior Chamber has also arranged with the C.B.C. for an Alberta program to go up at 8:45 p.m., MDT on May 29 to coincide with the opening of a venereal disease education campaign in that province. Speakers will be Dr. E. C. Manning, premier of Alberta; Hon. W.W. Cross Minister of Public Health, Gordon Agnew, executive director of the Jr. Chamber for Alberta region.

On the first of the month, Mr. A. Peart of the Department of Lands & Mines was transferred to the staff of the Credit Unions. Mr. Peart is a pioneer of this movement, and his appointment to the staff regarding the organization or meetings and other activities will be helpful to the Association.

In the disposal of deliveries of wheat from the 1939 crop by the Canadian Wheat Board, a sum of $9,816,210.35 was finally incurred, which was assumed by the Government of Canada. It can be obvious that no payments will be forthcoming on deliveries to the wheat board from the 1939 crop.

Farm Reserves of Feed and Seed Are Important

The importance of feed and seed reserves is stressed by A. M. Wilson, Field Crops Commissioner, that may happen to a crop between seedtime and harvest, and the wise farmer will so manage his operations that he is prepared for any contingency.

Feed and seed reserves should be held on every farm. The lifting of delivery quotas on feed grains now makes it possible for a complete "roll out" of all grain, including that which may be required for feed and seed in another year. There may be a tendency to take advantage of this state of affairs at the expense of better judgment.

The security of the farmer in this province depends on reserves, says Mr. Wilson. A short crop this season without reserves, combined with large feed and seed requirements, would mean a disaster of enormous proportions.

BANANAS FIFTEEN CENTS POUND IN MOST AREAS

All sales of bananas must be by weight and the highest retail price per pound that may be charged is 15 cents in Manitoba, the western provinces and the Maritimes, and 16 cents in those parts of Ontario and Quebec which are north of the 47th parallel; and 14 cents in Ontario and Quebec south of the 47th parallel.

Cure Of Future Will Be Marvels According To Forecast

Post-war automobiles, profiting from wartime electronics, can be equipped to print little newspapers by facsimile radio, receive newsreel screens by television, hand read instructions from radio police, turn on lights at darkness automatically, and observe red and green traffic signals on the dashboard—with sound effects of music to focus attention.

This forecast was made recently before the New York Electrical Society by Dr. Orestes H. Caldwell, editor of Electronic Industries, who also added that electronic phonevision will report your speed to police.—Christian Science Monitor.

FOR PRINCESS ELIZABETH

Be with her, God—she is so young and fair
To feel the burden of a throne, or bear
The sceptre and wonder of a crown—
A slim white Princess in her satin gown,
Shrouded with purple for purity and grace,
With cuffs of deepest gold to frame her face.
Be with her, God—now as she comes of age,
Conscious and proud of her vast heritage,
Heir to a kingdom bought with blood and tears
Oh, give her wisdom for the coming years,
Walking in ways uncharted and unbeaconed
Amid the blazing splendor of a nation's love.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

FOR GOD AND JAMES

By FRANK CHEAVENS
McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Jim told me all about that terrible time he found the purse with a thousand dollars. Jim is a shoe-repair man in a village down here on the Texas coast. Years ago, people began calling him Honest Jim. The lines of his face were as good and comforting as an old hymn. And after talking with him five minutes, you no longer felt the world was getting worse.

People would tell little things about him, in the affectionate way they sometimes have, to show how they believed in him. A neighbor told me once that Jim "lived his religion." Somehow, the expression did not sound smug and trite.

The trouble about the purse came up this way. Jim lifted to fish. Before James, his only son, had gone away to school, the two had fished together. Since then Jim had fished mostly alone. He would take his skiff with a good-bye after James and ease into the lumpy cushions of his Model A, which would hop ship and bump down to Jackman's Point on the bay.

One such afternoon he had been trying for reel bait among the weed beach at the Point, when he stepped on a heavy leather bill-fold with a hand-carved Aztec calendar on the flap.

Jim grunted softly as he opened it, for he saw money. But when he found himself staring at ten one-hundred-dollars bills, "in grunt became deep and a lit... I tightened.

For Jim somehow, since his son James had returned to medical school pale and gaunt after a spell of malaria, his father had grown to think of the kid going back to the grind in such shape, and staving in a bakery after school to pay his way. Holding the bills in his hand, Jim pictured James getting plenty of sleep, a chance to regain his strength, and even break with the other fellows in his studies. The only other thing in the pocketbook was a tattered snapshot of a frail woman standing before a farmhouse.

Jim did some arguing with himself as he rowed home. He wanted the money as much as he had ever wanted anything. Found money was anybody's money, he told himself. But then, because he was Honest Jim, he admitted that it was no more his than money behind the bars of a teller's window.

Back home, he kept his secret. To satisfy his conscience he advertised in many papers, without revealing his identity or what the purse contained. But no answers came.

After two weeks he began to do some imaginary spending. Nine hundred would see James comfortably through medical school. One hundred would buy the skiff that Jim had wanted for many a year for the deep channels where the fish run in great numbers.

But the thing that kept bothering Jim was that the money really wasn't his. No, even if he kept it a year, or longer, he knew that he would never feel that he owned it.

It worried him so much that he decided to forget by fishing. On his outing he came to a decision. Since there had been no claimants, and James needed the money now, Jim would send it to him anonymously. Over-conscientious scruples must not stand in the way.

Just then a gluetoning car pulled to a stop along the beach. A man climbed out and started slowly pacing the shell, his eyes searching every foot of it.

Jim's breath quickened in resentment and fear, for he knew this must be the owner of the purse, who had evidently missed reading the ads. Jim's first impulse was to flee. But that would be a give-away. So he would stand his ground and tell nothing, for his son's sake.

The stranger came toward him. "Haven't seen anything of a bill-fold around here, have you, friend?" The man looked like a rancher.

"If I had seen one, I won't!" Jim was repeating to himself as the stranger spoke.

"I lost it about three weeks ago. I've been so many different places I just didn't know where to look. Almost forgot I'd been down here. Reckon if it dropped here someone picked it up long ago." The man's dark eyes were pleading as they looked at Jim. His voice was so low and sad as the soft sweep of waves on the shore.

Then Jim remembered. When James had left for school a month before, he had said, "Never mind about money, Dad. You've given me everything but the stranger." "What was it like? Was there much in it?"

"It was one of those Mexican purses. Aztec calendar on it. A photograph in it. . ."

Jim's hand was shaking as it fumbled in his hip pocket. "Look like this?"

"That's it, thank God!" His brown hands clutched it, held it against his breast a moment, then brought out the picture and pressed it again and again to his lips. "You are—" But Jim finally explained, "my wife gave me this just before she died." His hand caressed the bill-fold. "This is my only good picture of her. God bless you, friend, for finding it. I wish I could show you how grateful I am. Why, maybe there's a way. This money. It's not much—take it—it's yours."

"Man, you're crazy! That's a thousand dollars!"

"I'd give a hundred thousand for this picture. All those San Juan oil wells are mine. And what do they mean to me with Mary gone? I'd give them all just to see her one moment. Here, for God's sake, take the money!"

And Jim took it, for God's sake as for James.

From A German's Diary

German Nazi Does Not Appear To Think Much Of His Country

A friend sends me this translation of a revealing extract from the diary of a German officer captured in Italy:

Yesterday evening, during the retreat, I broke finally and irrevocably with my old life. Gone are all the old values, all that was precious to me. In my soul only one thing remains, a hatred for the bestiality of the German Army. What have we to fight for? Every one curses the Nazi Government, but few have the courage to turn against it. Why? Because the brutality and the power of oppression are still so strong. If opportunity offered, I would help strengthen the Russian forces looking for final collapse. If I survive to leave the field alive, at least I shall have seen through the lawdry facade of Nazi politics. I shall know the points at which the Nazis are weakest.

Why was I born a German? I feel myself always a slave.

My friend vouches for the authenticity of this document. The writer, I am told, was at one time a hero Nazi.—Leslie Morrison.

Experience is highly praised as a teacher. But common-sense often gets just as good results with much less publicity.

Air Cadets

Summer Program Will Include Flights For Senior Members

Flights in R.C.A.F. aircraft for air cadets will be part of the 1944 summer camp program, it was announced by the Air Cadet League of Canada today. Arrangements are being made to give familiarization flights to senior cadets who qualify in accordance with requirements.

Cadets will receive flights as a reward for faithful attendance at squadron parades and progress in training. A waiver form signed by his parent must be obtained by each cadet who qualifies and is recommended for flights by his commanding officer. Trips are expected to be of thirty minutes duration or less and will be carried out within a radius of twenty miles from the station.

Speaking for the Air Cadet League, President Arthur L. Melling of Montreal said: "This is a concession which we have long desired and I am convinced that it will have a tremendous influence on future progress of the cadet movement throughout Canada."

"Our boys are keen to fly and will strive to qualify for this coveted privilege," said Mr. Melling. "Moreover in a comprehensive survey covering many thousands of parents 96.3% were willing to have their boys taken on properly supervised flights."

It is expected that several thousand air cadets who attend camp at R.C.A.F. stations during the coming summer months will have an opportunity to fly in service aircraft.

The Age Of Chivalry

Has Not Passed In Opinion Of Eastern Newspaper Man

We rather like the retort of the London, Ontario, Free Press to a charge that because men remain chivalrous to women the age of chivalry is dead. "Yet these," says the newspaper, "are the men who when they are home wash dishes, rock the baby, tend the furnace, paint the house, carpenter in the basement, and who, if they have a wife who runs the bill collectors, figure out income taxes, go down stairs at night to look for burglars, mend frozen pipes and make their wives a cup of coffee in the morning."—Edmonton Journal.

Much is Required

Rehabilitation Of Europe Is Going To Be Big Job

According to the estimates of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (commonly known as UNRRA) total import requirements to help rehabilitate Europe in the post-war period will require from all sources, 45 million tons of foodstuffs, feeds, oils, fat, chemicals, fertilizers, rubber, wood, paper, hides, leather, clothing, coal, metals minerals, machinery, vehicles, seeds, drugs and hospital supplies. One of Canada's major contributions will be food, especially wheat Dr. C. H. H. Barton, Canadian deputy minister of agriculture, who is chairman of the agricultural food board, was head of the Canadian contingent at the United Nations food conference held at Hot Springs, Va., in May, 1943, at which a world food board for close co-operation and continued collaboration among all the United Nations was established. The United Nations have agreed to bring relief to victims of war immediately upon liberation of the countries enslaved by the enemy.

Plight Of A Deer

Game Warden Finds A Buck Deer With Its Leg Caught By Its Antlers

The plight of a buck deer whose left front leg had become caught over his head by his antlers was discovered by game wardens.

The three-year-old black-tail deer had been forced to move about on three legs for an estimated three months, Warden Vic Steele said. The leg hung over his head and the hook dangled against the right forelegs.

Steele expressed the theory the leg was pinioned by the antlers in a fight with another buck or in the deer jumping back after and he was bounding around.

Help For Refugees

Britain Has Had Outstanding Record During This War

Britain's record as a refuger for the victims of Nazi oppression is one that should not be allowed to become forgotten. It is particularly true when the size of the island, and the wartime conditions are remembered—stringent restrictions in food and clothing, overcrowding with Allied troops, and total preoccupation with the prosecution of the war. Despite all this, Britain admitted over 60 000 non-British refugees between May, 1940, and April, 1943, since when, according to an announcement made last week, they were still being admitted at an average rate of 800 a month.

Farmer's Week

Now that the smoke raised by E. H. Faulkner's book, "Farmer's Folly," has cleared away, we are left wondering what remains. Presumably most of our readers have heard of the book which, in the words of its author, "sets out to show that the mouldboard plow—the last satisfactory implement for the preparation of land for the production of crops." Tons of paper have been used for the publication of more or less controversial discussion of the subject and we don't propose to use more.

The Canadian farmer is shrewd, and is most likely to change his tillage methods until convinced of the wisdom of doing so. It is estimated that 150 million acres of land will be plowed in the United States this year and, as usual, the mouldboard plow is at work on the Canadian prairie. True, there are highly productive fields in Southern Alberta that have not been plowed for a quarter of a century. But on other parts of the prairie, the mouldboard plow is considered indispensable. The plowless fallow with trash cover, often combined with strip farming, is very effective in the control of soil drifting, especially in some districts, if tillage operations are carried out efficiently and at the proper time. It does not follow that this practice should be adopted universally.

The prairie plowman's wisdom is beyond question because he adopts his tillage methods in the light of his own and his neighbours' experience and advice from those whose duty it is to examine and to test methods which have successful exponents.

Thirty-two Years Ago Today

A 10,000 club for Vermilion has been organized.

Wilkmore S. D. No. 3699 is calling for the erection of a school building on the corner of Sec. 13-49-7.

The Vermilion Agencies Ltd. has been incorporated with a capital of $100,000 for the purpose of conducting a general agency business including real estate, loans and insurance.

Two little boys named Morrison arrived at Vermilion last week, having travelled all the way from Kirkland to join their mother who lives some 25 miles north of Vermilion.

Dr. G. W. H. Ross has purchased a new Ford auto through Messrs. West Brothers, the local agents.

Canadian manufacturers are being asked to produce equipment specifically for establishing war veterans on the land. Canada will also contribute production of farm equipment for rehabilitation under the UNRRA program, the administrator stated.

Mr. Bloom pointed out that the increased output in 1945 does not indicate that demand for all types and varieties of agricultural equipment can be filled. "Rationing will continue to be necessary and only the most urgent and essential needs can be met", he said.

Farm Implement Production Up

OTTAWA —Total tonnage of farm machinery production in 1945 will be approximately one half the tonnage manufactured during 1940 and 1941, according to H. H. Bloom, administrator of farm and construction machinery for the WPTB. There will be no restriction on production of spare parts for farm machinery.

The tonnage devoted to the 1945 manufacturing program will be confined to types of machinery essential to Canada's production of foodstuffs.

In addition to machinery for domestic use Mr. Bloom pointed out that any small service charge on small bank accounts. A Toronto bank manager disagreed with him.

An editorial berates the town for lack of policy in building and repairing sidewalks.

A $25,000 fire loss was suffered when a large horse barn and machine shed were destroyed at the demonstration farm.

MORE THAN 72,000 CAR LICENSES OUT

More than 72,000 new passenger licenses have been taken out since April 1, when the present license year opened, according to information received by the Alberta Motor Association. The number is said to be well ahead of the similar period of last year.

Drivers licenses are closing on the 100,000 mark, but it is pointed out that several drivers in the same household hold licenses and drive the same car, which accounts for the total being substantially higher than the car license aggregate.

For the period ended March 31 last, approximately 92,000 passenger car licenses were taken out. Judging by present indications, the total for the present year may exceed the previous year, in the opinion of officials of the provincial secretary's department.

In all likelihood, there will be a spurt in licensing prior to the opening of the summer motoring season.

Branches of the A.M.A. at Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge have issued a large percentage of the passenger car and drivers' licenses, in addition to AA gasoline ration books.

Confidence that the majority of girls now in the Canadian Women's Army Corps will be ready to settle down to normal civilian life when the war is over was expressed in Winnipeg recently by Lieut.-Col. Mary Dover, commanding officer of the C.W.A.C. basic training centre at Kitchener, Ont. Lt.-Col. Dover said that she believes girls will be better prepared for civilian life as a result of the excellent training they receive in the Corps. They have no illusions about glamor in the Army, she said. Many have been doing humdrum jobs for two years and still execute their duties with the same conscientiousness.

An Acute Labor Shortage Seen For This Year

WINNIPEG.—Predicting that the country is moving into a year which will develop into a period of acute labor shortages to a degree heretofore undreamed of, Arthur MacNamara, deputy minister of labor, in a letter to Fred J. White, regional superintendent, Winnipeg, states that the situation must be met by more vigorous and rigorous action.

"During the winter," Mr. MacNamara writes, "we have enjoyed a temporary lull from the anxiety of meeting acute emergency shortages. In fact, there has been too much talk of layoffs and unemployment. Actually there has been few cases with a surplus labor supply and in few cases has the surplus been large.

"We are moving into a year which I am positive will develop into a period of acute labor shortages to a degree undreamed of heretofore.

"Already the necessities of war require that large numbers of new men and women have to be sent back into plants where there was a layoff a few months ago. Ten thousand men and women are needed immediately. Packing plants are desperate for help. Railways are pressing for men for shop and track work. Base metal mining is short 2,000 men. Foundries and agriculture implement plants are short. We must find a quarter of a million men for agriculture.

"These and other indications point to the most difficult year we have had to face in providing manpower for industry. Over and above the problem of meeting the needs of industry, we must find 88,000 men in top physical condition for the armed forces.

"We must meet the situation by a more vigorous and rigorous approach to compulsory transfers. We must comb all less essential industries and move people to essential jobs. The Mobilization division has called over 1,000,000 men for examination for the armed forces, and over 900,000 of those have been rejected."

Mr. MacNamara's letter continues by stating that national selective service has authority to transfer men employed in industries or establishments included in the compulsory transfer orders to industries where their services are vitally needed, and that it will be necessary to use that authority vigorously "if we are to meet existing shortages in high labor priority establishments."

German Must Learn That Aggression Is Not Profitable

PHILADELPHIA.—Jan Masaryk, deputy prime minister of Czechoslovakia, told a Philadelphia meeting of the International Labor conference that "we must prove to Germany once and for all that "aggression does not pay."

At the conclusion of his speech, he said: "What I said about Germany naturally applies to Japan."

"I am not one to want the extermination of the entire German nation," he said. "After the last war we lost the peace by not persuading the German nation that it was beaten."

He said he planned to investigate the possibility of private airlines operating to Russia from the United States.

FOR PACKING PLANTS

Conscientious Objectors Are Being Employed In This Industry

OTTAWA.—To cope with the huge run of hogs on western packing plants, conscientious objectors are being employed in this industry for the first time during the war. Those with families or those otherwise unsuitable for farm work are being used to meet the emergent labor situation that exists in the industry.

Farm labor in the west is being brought into the plants when there is no emergent situation on the farm, and, with seeding completed in parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan, a large number of men have been obtained. For the next six weeks it is estimated that the hog run on the plants may reach 140,000 weekly.

Selective service officials are suggesting that where practicable more women be employed in the plants, and they believe there are still a number of operations which can be adequately handled by women.

WHEAT FROM CANADA

WINNIPEG.—Gen. McIvor, chairman of the Canadian wheat board, in an interview here, said Great Britain will "continue to take large quantities of wheat from Canada."

RAILROAD FOR NORTH

World Open Up A Rich Country And Provide Employment

WINNIPEG.—Construction of a branch railroad to facilitate post-war settlement in the fertile areas of the Northwest Territories was urged here by Col. James J. Cornwall, of Peace River, Alta.

He said the railway, which would start at Prince George, B.C., and run through the Peace River country, would open up the country and take agricultural and mineral products down to tidewater near Vancouver.

Col. Cornwall said it would be an ideal post-war answer to many of our prospective problems. "There is plenty of fine soil, coal, fish and precious metals in the areas." He said 2,000,000 men and women could be placed in the areas and the rich resources scarcely scratched. He said he would take his plan to Ottawa.

United Nations Plan Conference On Civil Aviation

LONDON. — The United Nations will hold a conference possibly this year to decide on the post-war international regulation of civil aviation, Lord Beaverbrook announced in the house of lords, but he added that Britain has "reluctantly" abandoned a Canadian-sponsored plan covering this field.

The Canadian-born lord privy seal said the British government instead favors the basis of agreement reached between Britain and the United States in recent talks h...

The Canadian proposal was presented to a commonwealth meeting on aviation problems in London last year. Lord Beaverbrook said decision to ditch the "draft convention" drawn up by the Dominion's munitions and supply minister, Hon. C. D. Howe, was taken after the American expressed the opinion Mr. Howe's plan provided too rigid a basis for talks at an international conference.

The Canadian plan called for an international regulating authority with power of enforcement of the authority's decisions. Each country would have been allocated frequencies of air services and national quotas for international air traffic. The proposals advanced by the United States delegation included an international authority with no power to enforce its regulations, at least during the immediate post-war period.

Lord Beaverbrook said the broad purpose of the forthcoming international conference will be to draw up an international air convention on air navigation to be implemented by an international transport organization. This body would evolve standards, seek to eliminate uneconomic competition, assign each country a setquota of participation in world transport and maintain a broad equilibrium between air and transport capacity and traffic offerings.

Lord Beaverbrook said the overseas dominions, Great Britain and the United States now are in agreement on these general principles.

OTTAWA.—Canada probably will participate in a further post-war civil aviation conference along with the United Kingdom, the United States and perhaps other countries in spite of the rejection of a Canadian plan for fixed control, national quotas and central international enforcement authority, it was learned.

Munitions Minister Howe, Canadian representative at recent conferences on post-war civil aviation, said he had no immediate comment to make on Beaverbrook's statement.

CANNED GOODS

Larger Output For Canadian Farms Expected

OTTAWA.—Gleaning anxiously at the barometer, agriculture department authorities permitted the forecast that overall Canadian production in 1944 would be greater than in 1943.

In brief, the west generally needs rain and the east, warm, dry weather to permit seeding to proceed without delay.

The weather apart, officials pointed to these 1944 achievements and factors:

1. Combined slaughterings of all meat animals were the highest ever recorded in the first quarter of 1944, due principally to an increase of 75 per cent, or 1,200,000 head over 1943 in hogs. Slaughterings of beef cattle were up 39 per cent; sheep and lambs 40 per cent, and veal calves six per cent.

2. Poultry production has shown a "phenomenal increase". Deliveries of eggs to the special products board for export were more than 25,000,000 dozen to the end of March against less than 10,000,000 dozen in the same period in 1943

3 The output of creamery butter is down, but production of cheese is up

4. The acreage planted to field crops will be at least as large as in 1943 if farmers' plans are carried through

5 Larger production quotas for farm machinery are in effect, although the lag between increase in quotas and increased output has resulted in some delays in filling approved applications for rationed machinery.

The maximum output of food products from Canadian farms will be assured of a ready outlet to meet the continuing needs of allied nations during the war or to build up post-war reserves for the United Nations relief and rehabilitation authority or other relief agencies.

Prairie wheat and coarse grains prospects have been affected by the limited moisture reserves in the soil and poor precipitation in many areas this spring But the outlook still may be improved by good rains.

Russia Supplied With Equipment From Britain

LONDON.—Britain supplied Russia with 5,301 tanks, 6,778 airplanes and more than ($5,000,000) (about $360 000 000) of raw materials and other supplies from Oct. 10, 1941 to last March 31, Prime Minister Churchill disclosed in the House of Commons

The prime minister's statement was followed by an admiralty announcement that the United Nations have delivered nearly 1,250,000 tons of war equipment in the last six months with a loss of less than 16 tons in every 1,000 tons of freight.

Observers greeted Mr. Churchill's statement that the figures included some supplies made available to the United Kingdom through Canadian mutual aid and some obtained in the United Kingdom, partly with the help of Canada, $1,000 000 000.

The cheering was especially loud when the prime minister said that of the 5,031 tanks supplied Russia, 1,223 were Canadian

"For the help thus given, I should like to have this opportunity of expressing the government's appreciation," Mr. Churchill said "Since July 1, 1941 supplies from Canada, also have been going forward by direct arrangement between Canada and Russia"

The figures, he said, did not include aid sent directly from Canada under the Canadian-Russian agreement

"In exchange Russia has given whatever it possibly could but owing to the congestion in Russian ports there had not been many opportunities to send any quantities of lumber which the Russians were very willing to send," the prime minister said.

Of the 6,778 airplanes sent Russia, 2,627 were American made.

In his statement on shipments to Russia in the last six months, the admiralty said the ships' passage had been safeguarded "by British and Allied warships under the general direction of Admiral Sir Bruce A. Fraser, commander-in-chief of the home fleet."

BOWTELL BULLETIN

Everybody thought that Bowtell's was burning up one day last week when an oil pit was set on fire to save gold ducks from getting mired in it. The slough of oily waste looked just like water and quite a number of wild ducks landed in it. Once in they couldn't get out and died from starvation.

Mrs. Low will kindly donate the wax, Mrs. Fenton the coffee, Tom sherwood will be floor manager and Mr. Repp will take the tickets. Quite a number of donations for the soldiers' parcels were turned in. One this month will be sent to Jim Walsh.

STOCK LOSSES FROM WEED POISONING

Every year, reports are received of losses of stock from weed poisoning. Poisonous plants usually begin to grow early in the spring, offering succulent forage before native grasses have made much progress. Stock may be tempted to eat these weeds before good forage becomes plentiful.

Heavy stock or animals in poor condition, exercise little discrimination in their choice of fodder and should not be allowed to run on pastures where poisonous plants are known to exist. Pastures that have been grazed too closely are sometimes dangerous, since the animals may be forced to eat foliage that under normal conditions they would not touch. Weed infested sloughs may be fenced off from the rest of the pasture, or stock kept from such pasture until the dangerous periods are past.

Live stock should be allowed free access to salt. If animals do not get a sufficient amount of this mineral a prevented or depraved appetite may result and plants may be eaten that would not be consumed if the appetite were normal.

A bulletin "Plants Poisonous to Live Stock" may be obtained on request from the Extension Service, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

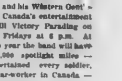
DR. E. W. STANTON
Minister
Line Elevators Farm Service

Of This and That

This column is now nearly four years old. Writing it is something like speaking over the radio, in that the audience is unseen and innocuous. There is no heckling, but neither is there any applause! Of course, we are often obliged to deal with distasteful subjects such as diseases, insects, weeds, soil erosion, etc.

When this department, now known as Line Elevators Farm Service, was organized, we were told to make ourselves useful to farmers. This we have endeavoured to do and, judging from the demands made upon our services and publications, our efforts have not been in vain. In case the terms self-entitled, we confess disappointment in the response to our weed identification service. Last year, about 800 specimens were sent in by Line Elevator agents for their farmer patrons. This is not enough. It would not be so disappointing if provincial departments of agriculture and experimental farms were kept busy naming weeds, but they are not.

No farmer can plan weed control measures intelligently unless he knows the weeds. Many farmers have become involved in very heavy expense because an unidentified perennial such as leafy spurge, gained a solid foothold before it was recognized. These two statements merit attention. It is not much trouble to take specimens to a Line Elevator agent, and the identification is accurate because when in doubt we appeal to the Division of Botany, Ottawa. If you prefer to send directly to a government department, by all means do so. But send unknown weeds somewhere.



RADIOGRAMS
Jim Allard

"The world's foremost singers of western melodies" is the well-earned phrase used to describe The Texas Rangers, famed cowboy troubadours of radio and screen, now heard regularly over CJCA. But these eight men are true musicians who sing, play and love every type of music. And, believe it or not, these musical knights of the saddle often gather after a program rehearsal to listen with rapt attention to the recorded works of Brahms, Liszt, and Tschaikowsky. Ear the Texas Rangers over CJCA Friday nights at 9:30 and watch this column week by week for stories of interest about each member of this famed group.

Mart Kenny and his Western Gentlemen—pride of Canada's entertainment world—are still Victory Parading on Mondays and Fridays at 8 p.m. At the end of this year the band will have done over 50,000 spotlight miles — will have entertained every soldier, airman and war-worker in Canada — and for the third time will have travelled from Halifax to Victoria. It's a great job well done—and though Canada's Armed Forces have had the biggest break of the deal, we at home have enjoyed our share of listening pleasure.

SEE FISH DEMANDS FOR CAR LICENSE CUT

Renewed efforts to bring about a reduction in motor license fees in Alberta will be considered when directors of the Alberta Motor Association hold their summer meeting in Calgary on June 3, according to official information.

The A. M. A. maintains that more than 50,000 cars were scrapped in Canada when the provincial governments gave a license cut only to models of 1931 make or earlier.

Various subjects of interest to motorists will be taken up at the Calgary meeting, but the launching of fresh demands for car license reduction will be among the uppermost.

In view of the possibility of an early session of the Alberta legislature, the A.M.A. will consider the form or new representations to bring about a license cut. Only a nominal license fee is imposed in Ontario, and British Columbia this year gave a general reduction of 20 per cent in license fees.

EXTRA FARM HELP GET EXTRA RATIONS

Arrangements have been made by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to provide this year extra rations of food for extra farm help engaged seasonally in all parts of Canada, on the basis of a limit of five meals per person per day.

Any farm household in Canada, engaging seasonal help for such work as threshing, silo filling, woodcutting, and other work, will be able to make application for extra rations for these crews up to a limit of five meals for each member of the crews, if five meals are being served each day. The rule was in effect in 1942 but only in a comparatively small number of cases was it utilized to the limit. Application forms for the extra rations will bear a statement this year to the effect that rations may be applied for up to five meals a day per person, if required.

Officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board believe that this extra allowance will enable farm homes to meet their needs for most rationed foods for the extra gangs. No further concessions can, however, be made for sugar.

Canada's smallest wheat crop in the past 25 years was 189,000,000 bushels harvested in the bad drought year of 1937. Canada's largest wheat crop (566,726,000 bushels) was produced in 1928. At first the 1942 crop was thought to be the largest but it now takes second place on a final estimate of 554,681,000 bushels.

To Use Up 1943 Potato Crop

OTTAWA.—No importation of potatoes will be allowed while there are sufficient stocks on the 1943 Canadian crop available, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announces in relaxing an order, effective May 25, setting maximum prices for domestic and imported new potatoes.

This provision is designed to help producers dispose of the balance of the 1943 crop without loss. "Canadian producers did an excellent job last year and the supply situation is much more favourable than it was a year ago", the administrator states.

Health League of Canada presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

EDUCATION IN PRISONS

"Information on the subject of venereal disease should be given in some of all prisons and jails, refuges and shelters by means of lectures, films and literature," John Kidman, honorary secretary of the Canadian Penal Association, said in Montreal.

Mr Kidman commended the national educational program on venereal disease which is being sponsored by the Health League of Canada in co-operation with the public health department.

"But," he said, "there is a tendency in some parts of the country to bring information to service clubs, church groups, and others who do not need it as much as some other persons. "The inmates of our correctional institutions, by and large come from unsatisfactory home environments. A great majority of them have not enjoyed the fortifying influences of good homes, church associations, and other factors that make for stable social living. These people of all, should not be overlooked in the present educational drive."

Mr Kidman suggested that provincial health departments should take steps to make sure that every inmate of a correctional institution leaves at least one lecture from the institution physician, one at least one educational film on venereal disease, and gets at least one booklet on the subject. Additional lectures by prison chaplains and available social service workers should be considered. "There is an opportunity to talk to inmates on the whole question of marriage relationships and community living that should not be ignored." Mr Kidman concluded.

As soon as conditions permit ordinary newspapers to appear normally the official publication will be withdrawn. Editor and staff, already chosen, will go over from London.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PAUL IN CORINTH

Golden text: But now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love. I Corinthians 13:13.

Lesson: Acts 18:1-18; I Corinthians 12 - 14.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 133.

Explanations and Comments

Paul's Experience at Corinth, 1 Corinthians 18:1-16. Twotmaking was the next city visited by the took up his abode at Corinth with other tentmakers, Aquila and Priscilla, and wrought with them. His two new friends were born in Pontus, the province of Asia Minor bordering on the Black Sea, who had lately come to Corinth from Rome because the Emperor Claudius had driven the Jews from that city on account of a series of disturbances due, as Suetonius says, "to the instance of Chrestus." This must refer to some outbreak of messianic enthusiasm among the Jews, or to some disturbance occasioned by Christian teaching.

At first Paul preached every Sabbath to Jews and Greeks, but when he testified to the Jews that Jesus was the Christ, and they opposed him, he definitely decided to turn wholly to the Gentiles. He took up his abode in the house of Titus Justus, adjoining the synagogue, and continued his preaching. He remained in Corinth a year and a half. Despite his turning to the Gentiles, a noted Jew, Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue believed his message.

When Gallio became proconsul of Achaia, the hostile Jews brought Paul before him, charging him with persuading men to worship God contrary to law. Had it been a question of wrong or villainy, Gallio told them, he would have considered it, but he was not minded to be a judge in a matter of "words and names and their own Jewish law," and he drove them away from the judgment seat. Paul lingered in Corinth many days longer and then sailed for Syria.

Love the Greatest Thing in the World. 1 Corinthians 13. "Thank God for their sins!" exclaimed Luther, referring to the sins of the Corinthian Church which led Paul to write his matchless hymn about love. Jealousy and strife were rife in that church. Many seemed to be conspicuous figures: some could teach, some could prophesy—which had the greater gift? Bitter arguments, sharp words, wasted energy resulted from their contentions. They wrote to Paul and asked him to decide certain vexing questions. In this letter Paul answered in chapters 12-14 their question concerning "spiritual gifts".

JUST IN NORTH ATLANTIC

The North Atlantic is the only area where icebergs offer a serious menace, although a few Antarctic bergs invade ship lanes on the western side of Cape Horn. Few ever get to sea in the North Pacific, most of them breaking up in the bays when they go adrift.

Eight minutes time is required for light from the sun to reach the earth.

Has Many Names

Daffodil Is Lovely No Matter What It Is Called

The botanists tell us there are eight or ten distinct kinds of daffodils, most of them boasting countless varieties, and that the right names for all of them is Narcissus. The fond lay public has its own systems of nomenclature. One hears, for instance, that Narcissus means the kind with many white flowers on a single stock; that the kinds with short cups are jonquils. But the daffodils don't care. By any name they speed the arrival of spring in the wintry garden, and by any name they are loved.

PRISONER OF WAR

Sgt. M. G. McGeer, previously reported missing over enemy territory, is a prisoner of war in Germany, his mother, Mrs. G. G. McGeer of Vancouver, was advised. His father is G. G. McGeer, Liberal member of Parliament, for Vancouver Burrard.

Saturation Bombing

Little Chance Of One Bomber Colliding With Another

When plans were first being worked out for saturation bombing, there was some fear that with a great number of bombers arriving over the targets at the same time, it might result in many collisions. In practice, however, this is not the case. The chances of one bomber colliding with another is one in a thousand—a good deal better than the chance one would take of being shot down by flak when the attack is spread over a long period and the German anti-aircraft guns are able to pick out the bombers individually.

Spreading Weeds

Slow Weed Seeds Are Distributed Over The Country

Many weeds are introduced on farms with imperfectly cleaned cereals, clover or other commercial seeds and with commercial feeding stuffs which often contain vital weed seeds stolen two National Weed Committee They are spread from district to district through the various transportation facilities are disseminated within a locality in stable manure from towns and cities and are distributed from farm to farm through threshing machines and from field to field by farm implements. The wind carries weed seeds long distances, not only in summer but with drifting soil and over the surface of the snow in winter Streams distribute them along their courses. They are spread by herbivorous animals and seed feeding birds, through the stomachs of which the seeds pass undigested. The seeds attach themselves by special contrivances, such as hooked and barbed hairs and spines to passing animals They are often carried by the boots and clothes of men.

TONS OF WASTE PAPER ARE NEEDED EVERY MONTH FOR MAKING ESSENTIAL WAR MATERIAL

● The need is desperate! To help Canada meet the critical shortage, not a scrap of wanted paper should be burned or thrown away!

WHAT IT WANTS

You can remedy this critical paper shortage by saving every scrap of waste Paper, consist: wrapping paper—store bags—cardboard—cartons—corrugated board—old magazines and books—envelopes and letters—newspapers. These represent the raw material for making vitally needed Paper containers.

HOW TO DO IT

Tie securely in separate bundles. (The little time you take will save thousands of man hours.) Then dispose of is through your local voluntary Salvage Committee or other War Voluntary Organization, or sell it through any known trade channels, your jobber, dealers or others. The important thing is to get your Waste Paper moving to the mills.

Do Your Part! Salvage every Scrap of Paper you can!

3-DIMENSIONAL MOVIES, they're called—so realistic that the characters seem to step from the screen and pass beside you. Planes roar out of the sky and into the very theatre. SMALL SHIPMENTS OF WASTE PAPER NOW MADE POSSIBLE

Board of Trade Salvage Committee Plans Immediate Action

Owing to the critical shortage of paper, an adjustment in freight rates has been made by Wartime Salvage Ltd. This adjustment makes possible the shipment of less than carload lots at greatly reduced freight rates, and makes feasible the collection of waste paper in Vermilion. The reduced rates are in effect up to Sept. 15th, and the local salvage committee plan on making two shipments prior to that date.

As soon as advised of the new freight arrangement, the Salvage committee of the Board of Trade made immediate preparations to once more gather newspapers, magazines and corrugated boxes. They have already arranged to pick up your waste paper bundles on Wednesday afternoon May 31.

Here is what the householder must do:

Newspapers—flatten all same size bundles and tie securely with strong twine. Bundles should be about 20 inch.

Magazines—tie in secure bundles of about 20 pounds each. Tie securely.

Bags, wrapping paper and scrap paper—pack tightly into sacks or carton.

Corrugated Boxes—flatten, bundle and tie securely.

PLACE YOUR SALVAGE PAPER BUNDLES AT YOUR FRONT GATE at noon Wednesday May 31 where draymen will pick it up.

Another pick-up will be made late in August.

IMPORTANT

Citizens must see that their bundles are securley tied. They must stand handling and shipping to Winnipeg It is possible that these bundles will be loaded straight from the dray into the freight car, so no loose paper or poorly tied bundles can be taken.

The need for paper is more acute than ever. The demand for more paperboard containers, as well as for other paper products in active use armed forces grows daily, and the present waste paper supply is wholly inadequate to meet the increased demand

China And The War

THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED NATIONS are determined to rid the world of the Axis threat to freedom and progress. Among those people are many whose countries have been invaded and who have suffered greatly. China is one of the nations which has been most severely afflicted. Invaded by Japan sometime before the war in Europe commenced, she has resisted stubbornly, and overcome enormous difficulties. After the attack on Pearl Harbour her hopes of Allied assistance were increased, but transportation problems have intervened, for since 1943 China has been cut off from communication with the outside world except by the dangerous and difficult air route over the Himalaya mountains. Nearly all of her heavy industries were taken over by the Japanese when they captured the Yangtze Valley, and Chinese forces have suffered acutely from lack of mechanical equipment. Nevertheless they have fought gallantly and have won widespread admiration and respect.

* * * * *

Plants Set Up in Wilderness

It is hoped that it will not be long before communications are re-established, and China can be furnished with military supplies by the other United Nations, as has been the case with Russia. However, great efforts have been made to produce as much as possible within the country and the results have been called "a triumph of human endeavour and resource over adverse conditions." It was found possible to move a small amount of plant equipment to the interior before the Japanese advance, and new industrial areas have been set up in regions formerly considered to be wilderness. Caverns, tunnels and artificial caves in the sides of hills now house textile industries and valuable machinery, and many up-to-date plants are now being operated in these strange surroundings

* * * * *

New Resources Are Discovered

While China's war production is not large when compared to that of Britain or the United States it represents a valiant effort on the part of Chinese engineers, technicians and scientists, and promises much for her future industrial development. The opening up of new territory in the interior has led to the exploration of many unknown areas, particularly in the Northwest, and has resulted in the discovery of rich natural resources. Deposits of iron ore, gold, coal, and mineral oil are being tapped, and power stations, factories, and railways are being established. In spite of great difficulties, eighty per cent. of China's pre-war industries are in operation, and plans have been made for continued expansion. These include the production of 3,000,000 tons of steel, 80,000,000 tons of coal, 300,000 tons of shipping, and other projects of similar magnitude. It is to be hoped that China will soon be free, and that her industrial development may continue under happier circumstances.

"How I stopped dosing constipation"

"Sure I'm another booster for ALL-BRAN for constipation like mine. Imagine—no more need for that nasty purgative which griped, yet helped only briefly. Believe me, eating ALL-BRAN is much better and far gentler. It's my idea of the way to keep regular."

It's simple and gentle. That's the beauty of the ALL-BRAN way—if your constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. Here's all you do. Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day, as a cereal or in several hot muffins—and drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN helps to produce smooth-working "bulk" and prepare wastes for easy elimination. The comforting relief convinces you it's wise to eat ALL-BRAN daily to stay regular. Remember, it's a cereal—not a medicine. So get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. 2 handy sizes. Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—How much tea and coffee do I get, now that the ration is increased?

A—Each coupon is good for 4 ounces of tea or one pound of coffee. One coupon only will become good at a time. Coupons will become due twice a month, on the second and fourth Thursdays of the month.

Q How can I find out when my ration coupons become valid? I always seem to be losing track of the various dates?

A—That seems to be a very common problem and yet the information is readily available. Many newspapers now features under a ration coupon calendar around the first day of each month. I would suggest that you find out when and where this appears, then clip it out and tack it up near your shopping list. "Soldier's Wife" radio program gives ration coupon bulletins every Thursday morning. Only storekeeper will have a good knowledge of your ration book before going shopping.

Q—Is it necessary to advise the ration authorities when I change my name and address?

A—Yes, it's very important. Either write, telephone or drop in to your local ration board and give them all the necessary changes they should make in their records. The ration book serial number should also be given.

Q—I want to buy a new milking machine. Is it possible? If so, must I fill out a mission?

A—Apply to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board for a form. The applicant must fill out and sign and also have the dealer from whom you intend to make the purchase sign it. This form is to be submitted to a farm machinery rationing representative of the Board.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Rationing Explained" to Blue Book (the book in which you keep track of your rationing prices) mentioned in the name of this paper to the nearest wartime prices and trade board office in your province.

A Strange Siege

Thousands Of Russians Starved Out Germans In Odessa Prison

"By night we raised Odessa." That was the triumphant statement of members of the "army of the calendar" correspondents who arrived in Odessa from Moscow by airplane and truck a scant 72 hours after the last German troops had fled toward Romania. Some of these men who came up to their liberated city from overseas had lived, cold and underground for two and one-half years in one of the strangest sieges of the war. It is the story of thousands of armed men and women living in subterranean galleries 75 to 160 feet below the city streets in the cellars of the boots of the German invaders. They lived in chambers hollowed out of the limestone rock, equipped printing presses, wireless stations, hospitals and food kitchens. There were some 100 men in Soviet Navy and 3,000 other refugees and toward the end their ranks were swelled by Slovak and Hungarian deserters from the retreating German armies. By day they clung to their hideouts. By night they sallied forth in forays against the German occupation forces.

Will Be Prepared

Canadian Equipment For Pacific War Being Thoroughly Tested

To provide a tough test for equipment to be used by Canadian troops when they fight in the Pacific theatre of war, Ontario soil is being used by national research council technicians to simulate that of the Japanese jungle.

Treated fabric is buried in the soil for two weeks and then four weeks, the soil being kept at a temperature of 90 degrees.

If any material emerges from this test unscathed it can be sent anywhere with safety.

This test is one phase of intensive work that has been going on in Ottawa since 1940 in preparation for Canadian participation in the Pacific war.

In the Pacific, with its steaming jungles and torrential rains everything rots within a few weeks unless it is protected.

The extent of this menace to the allied war machine was discovered early in the war.

Something had to be done quickly. New methods of combating fabric, new poisons to kill plant and animal life but which would leave the troops unharmed, had to be developed.

Canadian research scientists have kept in touch with all advances made in this urgent problem and, independently, have devised testing methods, developed water repellant materials and improved the weave of certain fabrics to supplement their rot-resistant properties.

Today it is reported that the battle against rot is going well.

When Canadian soldiers reach the battlefields of the Pacific they will know that their uniforms, tents and other equipment can take it.

Eighty-Five V.Cs Have Been Awarded In This War

Eighty-five Victoria Crosses—the highest recognition for gallantry awarded Empire fighters—have been won in the war to 31 by men from the Dominions and India.

Of 30 V.Cs won by army personnel, 26 have gone to Dominion and Indian soldiers, 24 to members of the British Army. Australians, with 11, were awarded the highest number in the Empire armies, while Indians are next, with seven; New Zealanders, five; Canadians, three, and South Africans, one.

Of 17 V.Cs awarded to members of the air forces, three went to Australians and two to New Zealanders. The remainder have been to members of British air crews.

All the 18 naval V.Cs went to Royal Navy personnel.

First award of the war was Capt. G. R. V. W. Warburton-Lee, of the Royal Navy, who led a force of five destroyers in the 1940 Battle of Narvik. He was killed in action aboard H.M.S. Hardy, and his last signal was "Continue to engage the enemy."

Two members of the British Expeditionary Force won the army's first Victoria Crosses of this war during the retreat to Dunkerque. L. Cpl. Harry Nicholls, of the Grenadier Guards—now a prisoner—won his in Belgium, and Capt. H. Brunt Andrews, of the East Lancashire Regiment, was awarded his for valor in France. The latter is still on active service.

P.O. D. E. Garland and Sgt. T. Over, of the Royal Air Force, were the first flying personnel to receive the V.C., awarded for a low-level attack on the Maastricht bridges over the Albert Canal in Belgium during the German attack of May, 1940. They never returned.

Canadian Television

Must Wait Until After The War To Secure Equipment

G. W. Olive, chief engineer of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, said in a statement that "many plans the CBC might have concerning the introduction of television must wait until after the war when equipment can be made available."

Mr. Olive made the statement commenting on reports that a television transmitting station would be built atop Mount Royal in Montreal. "It is not likely that television equipment will be available for at least two years after the war and that any extensive television coverage can be given in Canada for at least 10 years following its introduction," he said.

Text Book Uniformity

New Elementary School Readers For Saskatchewan

The Hon. Hubert Staines, Minister of Education, has announced that the "Highroads to Reading" series in use in Saskatchewan in Grades I to VI will be discontinued in 1945. For the past year a Departmental Committee has been making an extensive study of available readers with the purpose of selecting for authorization a set which incorporates the best modern and most scientific principles of reader construction and which meets the needs of Saskatchewan pupils. For some months sub-committees in different parts of the Province have been engaged in this work and extensive use has been made of the questionnaire technique in soliciting the opinions of teachers and other school officials.

This work has been carried on in co-operation with Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia with a view to securing a measure of text-book uniformity. An inter-provincial conference representing the four western provinces met at Calgary on March 1 and 2 to explore the possibility of agreement on the use of specific sets of readers. A large measure of success was achieved at this conference.

A second inter-provincial conference is called and agreements will be held about the middle of June.

The Department supplies readers, Grades I to VI, free to all pupils in the log and the insurance company paid him $300."

Did Essential Job

Women Gave Ships Or British Columbia Coast Good Cleaning

Women of Victoria, B.C., have made employment history by taking over the spring cleaning of British Columbia coast vessels.

Unlike housecleaning—a boat gets thoroughly housecleaned only once a year. This year, employment officers weren't able to find a single man who would agree to do his part in cleaning off barnacles, washing and painting, and cleaning off the "bilges". Even Chinatown was combed.

But the men who weren't already hard at work at jobs of their own, preferred to wait for something better than scrubbing, paint and bilges.

It's a dirty job. Your face soon is streaked with grease and paint. Temperature hits 100. And hands get rough. Women wanted the more attractive shipyard jobs that paid more. And so, waiting for them, those "soft" jobs are being built up, while the boats went dirty. Finally, the industrial placement officer of the women's division quietly approached each of these women. She told them about the ships that had to be housecleaned, and she told about the dirt, the reaching and climbing, that was involved. Perhaps her appeal struck that instinct in a woman that would go see things clean. Next day, 34 women turned up at the dockyard. They wore their oldest and warmest clothes, and they worked till every muscle ached. The following day they came back for more, and eight more came.

In time, 75 Victoria housewives and working girls were cleaning ships. As a result, all the ships of the coast service as well as a number of foreign ships that were docked at Victoria, were overhauled.

Forest Resources

Only Two Other Countries Have Greater Area Than Canada

The figures of Canada's forests, and reserves are said with reason to stagger the imagination, says the Edmonton Record. Only two other countries, Russia and Brazil, have greater forested areas. Canada's total is about 1,500,000 miles, is almost equal to the combined areas of the British Isles, France, Spain, Portugal, the Netherlands, Denmark and Sweden. Compared with the 35 per cent. of land area covered by forest, Canada has only 16 per cent. of present or potential value for agriculture.

The tuberculosis germ was discovered in 1882 by the German scientist, Robert Koch.

Better Emergency Food Has Been Developed And Is Supervised Now

The lives of hundreds of shipwrecked castaways may be saved by the use of a new daily ration containing 10 butterscotch caramels and a pint of water, developed by five conscientious objector "guinea pigs" living on a life raft in the waters off Cape Cod.

This simple ration weighs one-third as much as the former emergency packet of dry biscuits, malted milk tablets and tinned meat. It has been recommended by doctors at the Massachusetts General hospital who conducted the experiments under the office of scientific research and development.

In addition to taking up less room than the former ration and thus leaving more space for precious water the caramel candy reduces the loss of bodily water caused by something that improves the intellect is communicated and where the larger heart contracts itself to the mood and dimension of the smaller?—Anon.

ARMY GIRLS GIVE MOTHER'S DAY GIFT TO SGT.-MAJOR

Maybe the girls of the Canadian Women's Army Corps precision squad think sergeant-Major Instructor Fred W. Purkis is tough on the parade square but it was proof to the contrary Saturday, when their "Mother Superior" received a long Cheer-Ho in the Garrison Sergeant's Mess at the Prince of Wales Armory, that they think he's a pretty good "mother". Therein nestling in cool green paper was a sheaf of brilliant tulips in commemoration of Mother's Day.

The 26 N.C.O.'s who have been undergoing precision training for the last several weeks prior to their public appearance in Vermilion on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, enclosed a card on which was a picture of a "mother" woman knitting in a rocking chair with the following lines: "You may not be dressed in silk and lace but still we love you Sergeant's face".

Edmonton Bulletin

BUTTER RATION CUT AGAIN

OTTAWA.—Because of a decline in butter production the Canadian butter ration will be temporarily reduced next month by postponing the collection of butter coupons 41 and 42 from June 1 until June 8, the ration administration of the WPTB announced. The reduction will be the same as that applied during March when each consumer was asked to give up half a pound of butter.

The Board is also returning to the former policy of having two butter coupons due every two weeks rather than one coupon valid each week, as at present.

Butter purchased with coupons 39 and 40 valid on May 18 must last for three weeks, until June 8, instead of until June 1. Quota users will have a corresponding reduction, ration officials state.

ISLAY

Mother's Day service here had the church filled to capacity.

Victory Loan drive is over for another few months. Might as well wait up for the next one. Don't buy that second land car you now somehow have driving and that you would like to own, nor that new suit, but now take that expensive holiday trip, the boys at the front are having to last one time — and the sooner we get them home the better. Nevertheless Islay did well, the sum of $23,000 was subscribed and the loan committee here wish to thank those who have made the drive a big success. Here is hoping you have the money to lend next time, then terrible it would be if we were not able to make the money to loan, for thanks that we can call these days is peace and sleep comfortably at night!

We have a new telephone exercise in the person of Miss Faye McLennan, Mrs. Ruddle having resigned.

Word received in the town from friends of Mrs Hugh Gilchrist that she has been confined to bed on a sick now. Her two sons Gordon of Edmonton and Nelson of Waterways arrived over the week end, Nelson staying for a while.

Quite a number of Islay folk attended the musical evening in the United church, Vermilion, hearing the new Minshall organ. They were all thrilled it's a long time since anyone of us here heard so much and such good music, and the first time some of us have seen four artists, yes four at the same time at two pianos. We heard the organ and piano at the same time, the artists, Rev. Stanley Reible and W. B. Elford playing "Melody in F". The four artists playing at one time were Mrs. Barbara Hill, Mrs. T. Beake, Rev. Stanley Reible and W. B. Elford.

Funniest thing heard — Mrs. Annie Young who was relieving at the telephone office looked up to see how many persons were in the Mitchell's and rang the telephone to have them bring home the meat for the concluding number on the program.

Stagette Notes

The regular meeting of the Stagette club was held on Tuesday May 9th. There was a very poor attendance due to the rain.

Discussion took place relating to "The Cotton Belt" to be held June 1. There were arguments pro and con as to the wearing of long cotton dresses. Finally to settle the question a vote by ballot was taken and the shorts won. So ladies, have a summer dress ironed out for June 7th.

It was decided that the girls would go on a hike and weiner roast next Tuesday night, weather permitting. We'll meet at eight p.m. attired in slacks and equipped with a cup.

There was also talk of arranging for a banquet to bring the year's activities to a close.

We note that many of the knitted articles are nearing completion.

The meeting adjourned with the repeating of the Club Creed.

Tuesday evening May 16 proved to be ideal for our hike and weiner roast. Sixteen of the girls met at the bank steps and left from there. We took a long walk and when a halt was finally called a couple of miles up the river a healthy appetite had been worked up by all. A large fire was built, coffee boiled and weiners roasted. Wiebe's buns were delicious and Mrs. Davey's dill pickles were appreciated greatly.

After refreshments a sing song was held around the fire, lasting until it is quite when we hiked for town—with only the light of the beacon and fireflies to guide us—as the night was very dark.

The girls returned home about midnight tired but all satisfied that they had spent a very pleasant evening.

Women's Extension Service Demonstrations Start in May

An expansion in the Women's Extension Program was announced recently by the Department of Agriculture, and it is expected that permanent District Home Economists will be stationed this year at Lethbridge, Calgary, Red Deer, Hinthter and Wetlock. These economists will be available to Women's Club for lectures, demonstrations, consultation, and assistance with home problems at any time of the year.

In addition there will be District Home Economists stationed at Vermilion and Grande Prairie for the months of May to September inclusive. A sewing demonstrator has also been appointed whose services will be planned from Edmonton for the province.

Demonstrations begin this month and there are several topics under the main headings of Foods, Sewing, and Miscellaneous from which to choose. Details and application forms may be obtained from the Supervisor, Women's Extension Work, Alberta Department of Agriculture. Applications should send for these now, so that application may be made as early as possible.

CANNING SUGAR STILL 10 LBS.

EDMONTON.—Ten pounds of sugar per person for canning is the allotment throughout Canada, but consumers who wish to use D coupons to buy the 10 pounds instead of regular sugar instead of ready made preserves can get an additional 15 pounds or sugar, C.O. McKee regional superintendent of rationing points said.

There are 26 D coupons valid during 1944 each good for the alternative purchase of sugar. If a consumer uses all D Coupons for buying sugar together with the 10 pounds of canning sugar allowed a the season he acquires a total of 23 2pounds of sugar the super intendent stated.

Likewise, consumers can purchase ready made preserves instead or using canning sugar to make them, by exchanging F canning sugar coupons for D coupons at a local ration board. This exchange can not be made before F coupons become valid the first two are valid on July 25th and the second five on July 6th.

Tragedy Takes Two Lives South of Town

Roger de Breville and Raymond Thomas Asphyxiated in Well

A double tragedy south-east of Vermilion became known on Monday when word reached town that Roger de Breville and Raymond Thomas had been found dead in a well from asphyxiation. The well was being dug on the farm of Roger Watt in the Kendrew district. Roger de Breville was a well known old timer of that area while Thomas was a well-driller whose home is in Lloydminster. The tragedy happened on Sunday but the bodies were not discovered until Monday. Investigations were carried out by the R.C.M.P. and the coroner and no inquest was deemed necessary.

The well was being dug by Thomas, a well-driller, on the farm of Roger Watt. On Saturday Thomas had told Watt that he had run into several stones in the well and after getting some out had struck a big one which would require blasting. Watt said that he would come over Monday and help with the blasting. On Monday he sent over to the well but found no one in evidence but called to get his dinner. Thomas was in the 30-foot well. Unable to entrate him Watt went to the nearest house, that of de Breville but help but found no one there. It was not until Thomas had been removed that the body of de Breville was also discovered in the well. It is thought that Thomas decided to carry out the blasting on Sunday with the help or Mr. de Breville. The latter apparently went down the well, to see the result of the charge, and was overcome. Thomas had gone down and tried to bring de Breville to the surface by means of a hastily constructed pulley, but after inserting the rope around the unconscious man's body, had himself been overcome. The bodies were recovered and brought to Waring's Undertaking Parlors, Vermilion.

Roger de Breville was 56 years of age and was an old timer of the Woodvale district. He was a widower and leaves one daughter Evelyn in whom his hon. Funeral services will be held from the Holy Name church on Friday morning May 26 and interment will be made in the Rowan Calvale cemetery.

Raymond Roy Thomas lived in the Thomasville district south-west of Kitscoty, carrying on well drilling in many parts of the country. He was in his 45th year and was a bachelor. His funeral is being held at Kitscoty this Thursday afternoon.

RECITAL ENJOYED BY LARGE AUDIENCE

One of the season on musical treats in many years in Vermilion was enjoyed by the large audience attending the Recital by Mrs. Ruth Lean last evening, May 15 at the First United church. The program consisted of vocal and piano numbers and several selections by the choir of which Mrs. Lean is director, all of the last mentioned by Mr. W. H. Reid, organist of the church, who acted as chairman, and to whom great credit is due, both for the excellent variety and great interest in the program and for the finished performance of those who took part.

A very interesting and most enjoyable feature of the recital was the rendition of three piano quartets — by Mrs. J. R. Boake, Mrs. Melvin Hill, Rev. E. S. Reible and W. H. Elford. These gifted artists were heard first in "Valse Impromptu" by Seeboeck, again in "Polonaise Brillante" by Ed Dvorave and finally in Moszkowski's "Valse in A flat". Each of these numbers was keenly enjoyed, and generously applauded, and it is to be hoped that the people of Vermilion and district will have occasion in the future to other performances on this quartette.

Greatly enjoyed were vocal solos by Mrs. Glenn Good "The Hills of Donegal" by Sanderson; Mrs. Melvin Hill, "Carmena" by H. Lane Wilson, and Mrs. E. W. Eley Schubert's "Whither?" Mrs. Good is a newcomer to the concert platform in Vermilion, while Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Eley are old friends, all three offerings were very well received and added considerably to the general excellence of the program.

Mrs. Eley and Mrs. Good were also heard in a vocal duet "Neapolitan Nights" by Zamfrah, and Mrs. Hill and Mr. Donald Lean's song, a duet from L'Amitie's "Now on Land and Sea". Both these numbers were much appreciated and gained much laurels for the respective performers.

Besides his performance in the piano quartette, Rev. Reible was heard in a piano solo, Rubinstein's "Barcarolle"; in a piano duet with Mr W. H. Elford, "The Turkish Rondo", and in a piano and organ duet with Mr Elford Beethoven's popular Melody in F. Mr. Reible's very fine technique and sense of music came as somewhat of a surprise to many of his hearers, as he has not heretofore appeared in concerts locally, but it is hoped and expected that his ability and interest will make possible an important contribution to musical activities in this district.

A most attractive variation in the program were two numbers by the ladies chorus, "Gipsy Chorus" and "Queen of the British Isles" the latter being an arrangement by W. B. Elford of a number of well-known airs This chorus gave evidence of very careful training and their two appearances were altogether delightful.

Mr W. B. Elford was also heard in his usual able and sympathetic form in two solo numbers on the new organ which has just been installed in the church "The Last Chord" and, as the concluding number on the program the "Largo".

Victory Loan Final Results Are Pleasing

Tops All Previous Efforts

The final results of the Fifth Victory Loan in the Vermilion-Mannville-Islay unit are most gratifying to all who took part in the campaign as well as to citizens of the area generally. Against a grand total of an even $200,000 for the Fifth Victory Loan the unit subscribed in April and May the splendid amount of $241,150 and exceeded its quota by almost $75,000.

In the Fifth Loan the C.W.A.C. Recruiting Team included in Vermilion's results as was some $12,000 from the area surrounding Derwent; in the last loan no consideration was taken of the C.W.A.C. totals and the Derwent area was with the Clandonald-Derberry unit; despite the loss of approximately $23,000 in sales through these changes the local Unit topped all previous records and earned praise from the Provincial and Dominion loan officials.

The unit was broken up into 5 districts

Wartime Development

MANY VISITORS TO CANADA have been surprised and impressed by the magnitude of this nation's war effort. Since this continent is so far removed from the battle fronts, and since it has not been the object of enemy attack, it might be considered understandable if there was some attitude of detachment in respect to the realities of war. This, however, has not been the case, and Canadians have appeared from the beginning to have been deeply conscious of the seriousness of the struggle in which we are involved, and to have been prepared to make every effort to hasten an Allied victory. It is now a well-known fact that Canada's contribution in the resources of the United Nations is unsurpassed and materials is second to none, in proportion to our population.

Labor Shortage Is Expected

Proof of the extent to which our human resources are mobilized is given in figures which have recently been made public. These figures show that nearly sixty per cent. of the people here who are fourteen years of age, or older, are now either in the armed forces or at work. The contribution made by women who have gone into industries in order to release men for military service is demonstrated by the fact that 1,073,000 women were employed in October, 1943, as compared with 638,000 in October, 1939. It was generally believed that the peak period of manpower had been reached in September, 1943, when 219,000 workers were required. It is now expected, however, that an acute labor shortage will be experienced during the next year, when there will be increased demands both from the armed forces and from industry. Estimated requirements for this period include about 96,500 for the armed forces, 250,000 for agriculture, 10,000 for munitions work, and 2,000 for basic metal mining. It is apparent that many difficulties still be encountered in meeting all these demands.

Farm Problems Are Realized

Shortage of farm help has been a critical problem here, yet in spite of this, Canadian farmers have, since the beginning of the war, produced some of the largest crops in our history, and have met all commitments for agricultural products at home and abroad. It is realized that no further reserves of manpower can be drawn from the farms if we are to continue to fulfill our obligations to our Allies by supplying them with vital food stuffs. Of those in the eligible age group for military service, 145,339 have already been granted postponements for farm work. In addition, soldiers and airmen are given special leave to work on farms when it can be arranged. Canada now has the largest fighting force in her history, while her industries are developed to unprecedented proportions. Another Dominion Day is approaching, and we may observe it with the knowledge that we are meeting our full share of responsibilities during this critical period in world affairs.

The Extra Cheer

Canada's Name Of "Tiger" Is Not Understood In Britain

One Canadian custom seems to mystify the English. When Canadians call for "three cheers and a tiger" not many British know what a "tiger" means.

According to Maple Leaf, the Canadian Army newspaper, here is the order to one brass-hat framed to issue cans of the situation:

"It was mentioned verbally some time ago that 'three cheers' for someone meant three cheers only and did not include 'tiger'. If an additional cheer is wanted, the command will be 'Four Cheers' 'Tiger' will not be called for."

It is said that the troops do not call three 'Tiger' tanks longer but "Four Cheer" tanks.—Winnipeg Tribune

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Will the increase in tea or coffee rations affect the ruling of only one cup of coffee or one serving of tea to one person at one sitting at a restaurant?

A.—No. These restrictions remain in effect.

—o—

Q.—I read somewhere that blackstrap molasses was not rationed. Is that correct?

A.—Yes, but the "blackstrap" molasses is of a type not usually consumed by human beings and is customarily used for feeding livestock. Molasses for canning purposes is very definitely on the rations list.

—o—

Q.—Should I take my ration book to the hospital with me?

A.—It is not necessary to take your ration book to the hospital unless you are going to remain there for two weeks or more.

—o—

Q.—Please advise me the correct amount of evaporated milk I may purchase with one coupon.

A.—Each "G" coupon is worth 96 fluid ounces of evaporated milk. It usually put up in 16 ounce tins. Therefore you would surrender one coupon for six of these tins.

Moving An Army

Description Of The Secret Transfer Of The 8th Army

A major from London's Chelsea district read aloud from Gibbons's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" to keep himself and his colleagues awake as British 8th Army headquarters trundled across Italy at 10 miles an hour.

It was soon one March day when they set off from an Adriatic port to an olive grove over the Apennines more than 150 miles away. Before they reached the end of the journey the major had read a large part of Gibbon's monumental history.

The army's move along serpentine roads, through blizzard, snow and ice, was a feat of organization and planning without precedent in the Italian campaign.

It was carried out with clockwork precision, and apart from a few cold feet and number hands it was achieved without mishap.

A platoon of sappers equipped with bulldozers strengthened the roads, dug diversions for heavy traffic and reduced the wear and tear on some stretches by one way diversion signs.

The group commander said: "It was a most tricky move, because it was not known till it was well on its way in what of the three alternative routes would be used on account of the snow.

"The men were warned that it would be very cold and were advised to be well muffled up," he said. "We beat the snow drift to the staggering area for the night. Then the blizzard began.

"We got outside riders — jeep drivers and motor cyclists—and the houses first. Others slept in vehicles parked by the roadsides or in buildings where available.

"We pushed on next morning with cars sliding along slippery roads and edging through snow drifts. We drove at 10 miles per hour with 10 minute stops every two hours to stretch our legs.

"I have taken part in many long desert moves, but I have never been in smoother handled mass movement-not across the backbone of a country

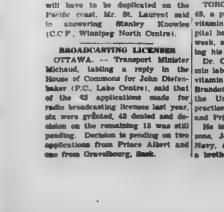
PENETRATING WARMTH



Would Set Up Canadian Radio Technical Board

OTTAWA.—Dr. Augustin Frigon, acting general manager of the CBC, told the commons radio committee the CBC was ready to convene a meeting of interested parties for the setting up of a Canadian radio technical planning board.

Other highlights of the sitting, at which Dr Frigon completed his testimony, were:

1. The committee deprecated the wording of a telegram from the Writers', Artists' and Musicians' war council which referred to committee members as "irresponsible". The charge arose out of the tabling at a previous session of a pamphlet charging the council with being left-wing.

2. The committee adopted a recommendation that the Social Credit party be included among the political groups granted free network broadcast time on the CBC in the periods between elections.

3. Need for a national orchestra, band and repertory company for CBC broadcast was suggested. Rev. E. G. Hansell (S.C., Macleod) said these organizations would be a good advertisement for Canada if they were to broadcast to the world from the new shortwave transmitter being built at Sackville, N.B.

Speaking about the "unfortunate tone" of several CBC officials to more remunerative posts, E. L. Bushnell, program supervisor of the CBC, said:

"I am afraid that it will always be the lot of the CBC to be a training ground for young, able and highly-qualified men, who will go on to other remunerative positions in their chosen profession."

He replied to criticism which he said had been received at various phases of the CBC effort. He said it was with "considerable disquietude" he heard repeated questioning the accuracy, responsibility and integrity of the corporation's news bulletins.

He said he suggested a careful examination of all the facts would convince anybody that whatever the limitations imposed by the frailties common to the human race and the limitations of time, the CBC in providing its shareholders with a news service that is unbiased and impartial—a service that is factual and objective as any being broadcast anywhere in the world today."

He said he had investigated reports that responsible members of the CBC staff were interested in the advancement of a political party and had found the reports "are as untrue as they are disturbing."

He referred to the work of the CBC in encouraging talent and said he denied "most emphatically" the charge "now in force that you have got a job in the CBC."

He said the CBC had embarked on a quest of new authors, composers and playwirters.

"At the moment we are engaged in assisting composers to have their works published," he said. "We cannot afford to spend very much money on this project but, if we can arrange for a down works to be published each year, it will not be long before we have a fair-sized list of musical works of a high standard that can and will be played in other countries, and from the performance of which Canadian composers will receive a fee for performing rights."

SECURITY FORCES

May Need More Royal Canadian Mounted Police For Pacific Coast

OTTAWA.—Security forces of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police on the Pacific coast may have to be increased this year if the war tempo in that area increases, Justice Minister St Laurent said in the commons

There was always a possibility that the security forces which have been acting on the Atlantic coast will have to be duplicated on the Pacific coast, Mr. St. Laurent said in answering Stanley Knowles (C.C.F., Winnipeg North Centre).

BROADCASTING LICENSES

OTTAWA.— Transport Minister Michaud, tabling a reply in the House of Commons for John Diefenbaker (P.C., Lake Centre), said that of the 43 applications made for radio broadcasting licenses last year, six were grabbed, 43 denied and decision on the remaining 13 was still pending. Decision is pending on two applications from Prince Albert and one from Gravelbourg, Sask.

Post-War World Will Co-Operate To Keep Peace

LONDON.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King, head of the British commonwealth called for a post-war organization to be established similar to the League of Nations—but armed with power "to prevent aggression and violence."

Through the united voices of the five prime ministers, the British commonwealth declared its desire that all countries help each other to "better and broader days."

The premiers spoke in a declaration drawn up at the close of their first war-time conference and released simultaneously in the commonwealth capitals.

The declaration was a combined assurance of the continued and strengthened unity of the commonwealth, a pledge of co-operation with the Allies in the way to victory and an invitation to all states to work together for the future

"Not one who marches with us shall be abandoned," said the declaration in a special assurance to conquered allies.

Special mention was made of the "prolonged stubborn resistance" of China and the "famous deeds" of the forces of the United States and Russia.

The peoples of Europe and the Far East overrun by Germany and Japan were told it was the aim of the British commonwealth that they "shall be free to decide for themselves their future form of democratic government."

Behind the short paragraph calling for a post-war world organization to maintain peace and security and "armed with the necessary power and authority to prevent aggression and violence" lay some of the most earnest and prolonged discussions of the conference which opened May 1.

The British government which will confer with the Russian and United States governments shortly on the form of the projected organization, laid its proposals before the overseas prime ministers and gained their approval in substance.

The declaration was signed by the five prime ministers of Britain, Canada, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand—Winston Churchill, Mackenzie King, Jan Smuts, John Curtin and Peter Fraser.

Canada Must Look Abroad For Wider Markets

HAMILTON, Ont. — The third foreign trade conference of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce issued a statement of policy endorsing a program for expansion and development of trade arrangements and all other international measures for the elimination of destructive tariff and trade wars.

The statement added the belief that realistic liberal constructive tariff and trade policies are conducive to greater trade and friendly economic and political relationship among nations.

"The Canadian tariff should be re-examined in detail as well as the regulations pertaining thereto, and a comprehensive and co-ordinated schedule prepared, consonant with the objectives of expanding trade and the fiscal policies of the Dominion."

"Prior to and during the war, other impediments to and distortion of trade have arisen and those arbitrary solutions to temporary conditions should not be allowed to develop vested interests in their continuance, but should be reduced and eliminated as rapidly as possible."

The statement recommended that the department of trade and commerce obtain additional well qualified personnel in preparation for an expansion of the department's services in post-war trade. All Canadian legations should be adequately staffed with qualified commercial attaches and additional offices should be opened at key points where there are possibilities for development of Canadian trade.

"This conference suggests that, in addition, consideration be given to the provision of adequate shipping

Stress The Need For Rural And Urban Homes

WINNIPEG.—Dr. S. H. Prince, of Halifax, told a housing meeting of the Canadian conference on social work here that as long as Canadian cities have deplorable housing conditions, welfare workers will be fighting a losing battle

"The state, school and church must join hands to build homes. In Nova Scotia we have long laid stress on the building of communities, not houses."

The common people of Canada have only to be helped and guided and they will develop undreamed of social and economic sufficiency. "They will build more than new houses then we'll build new lives."

Any satisfactory housing scheme must co-ordinate and integrate with it town and rural plans, said Lionel Scott, of Wartime Housing, Ottawa.

We must make possible in our homes the opportunities and culture for the free development of a free people."

The home has been called the cradle of democracy. "If we wish to enjoy this democracy, we must be willing to assume responsibility. If we wish to enjoy privilege, we must be willing to assume obligations."

A. M Moore, of Dauphin, Man., suggested that rural people centre their homes in one community. "Our rural housing problem is not bad, actually and potentially, as the urban problem. The solution may be in planned rural communities."

Dr. Kenneth H. Rogers, of Toronto, advocated a department of youth services as a new unit of city administration to combat juvenile delinquency. The department would be headed by a youth commissioner.

Establishment of an organization for retaining servicemen to meet the requirements of civilian life was suggested by Brig J. C. Meakins, of Ottawa, Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, in an address prepared for delivery to the conference

"The armed forces assumed the responsibility of training citizens to be servicemen and there is every indication they were eminently successful," he said. "Would it not be reasonable in a similar organization, to which equal thought and planning were devoted, that members of the services could be retained to meet the requirements of civilian society?

FEED GRAIN

Reduced By Heavy Domestic Feeding And Shipments To U.K.

OTTAWA.—Canada no longer has a super-abundance of feed grains and the stockpile created by the bumper 1942 harvest has been "severely trimmed" by heavy domestic feeding and large exports to the United States, the Dominion bureau of statistics said in a review

The reduction in the stockpile attracted attention to "the drastic" reduction in oats and barley acreage in the west this year together with "the none too favorable moisture situation" on the prairies, said the bureau.

"It is perhaps, unlikely that eastern Canada, particularly Ontario and Quebec, will need the volume of western grain in 1944-45 that will be shipped to them during the current crop year," said the bureau.

"Weather conditions during the balance of the 1944 growing season will supply the answer, but at least the eastern growers have increased their acreage needed to feed animal and the crop is off to a much better start than was the case a year ago."

"It is doubtful however, if the prospective supplies of oats and barley in western Canada, based on current expectation, would be large enough in the 1944-45 crop season to meet a demand similar to that experienced in the current crop year without wiping out reserves.

"Statistics on which this assumption is based indicate that during the crop year 1943-44 a total of 560,000,000 bushels of western oats and barley will disappear as animal feed, as seed for the 1944 crop, and as exports to the United States."

SHOW INCREASE

OTTAWA Canada's merchandise exports for the first four months of this year recorded a 53 per cent. increase over the corresponding period of 1943, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported.

VERMILION OFFICER MARRIED IN EDMONTON

In Eastwood United church manse, Edmonton, on Tuesday, May 16, Miss Lorraine McIntyre, of Vegreville, became the bride of Lieut. Earl O. Tompkins, R.C.E., of Calgary. Rev. A. R. Sebrag performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a queen's blue ensemble, trimmed with lace, and a silly matching hat. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. A. E. Adamson, bridesmaid, was in gold crepe, with black trimming and accessories. She wore yellow sweetheart roses. Best man was Lieut. R. Spencer, of Victoria.

After the ceremony 20 guests attended a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs A. S. Blackie, 91 st. Mrs. Blackie received in powder-blue, with a corsage of Talisman roses.

Assisting the hostess were the three sisters of the bride, Miss Verona McIntyre, of Calgary, and Miss Fiona and Miss Ila McIntyre, of Edmonton, and Mrs. P. C. Clegg, of Vegreville.

On the reception table a three-tiered wedding cake, surrounded with apple blossoms, formed the centrepiece. Tall, gold tapers completed the arrangement. The rooms were decorated with iris and tulips in blue and pink.

Lieut. Tompkins went overseas in 1940 and served with the Royal Canadian Engineers until last year when he was transferred to the Edmonton Regiment and returned to Canada for an officers' training course.

Earl was employed by the Safeways store and was one of the first boys to enlist from Vermilion.

CHATSWORTH CHATTER

Seeding is well advanced through out our district and it is expected that in another week or so everyone will be done.

A very heavy rain, hail and electrical storm passed over on Sunday about 7.30 p.m. Within a very few minutes, the hail which was about as large as hen's eggs, was piled up around buildings and yards. The rain beat down so heavily that it ran off rapidly, forming sloughs and pools in every yard and field, like spring. Today (Monday) it has rained steadily for four hours, leaving roads and yards in an extremely muddy condition. This will delay seeding operations for a few days.

Chicken pox has been going around our district. Most of the schoolchildren here now had it. Mrs. Harry Good and J. K. Thompson have also taken it.

Mrs. G. Hilme of Westlock has been visiting her mother Mrs. McKee and brother Vic in the Ottawa district.

The new student minister for the North Vermilion field is Mr. Gibson. The first service at Ottawa was to have been held at 7.30 p.m. last Sunday

Mrs. Maskell, formerly of Ottawa and now living at Victoria, B.C., is visiting her daughter May, near Dewberry. Mrs. Maskell reports that she likes the coast very much.

Eric Hughes was a visitor to Edmonton last Friday to attend the wedding of an Air Force chum.

The Tovell young folks (Margaret, David and Violet) have recently recovered from mumps.

Dave Hughes is south of town seeding his place there.

Mrs. W. J. Fuchs, Jimmie and Keith spent this past week end at J. E. Thompson's. Jimmie has been running a shift on the tractor.

Mrs. Jim Panter suffered severely gashed and bruised legs last Tuesday afternoon in an accident near the school. She was running the tractor while tiller and packer hooked on behind when the packer uncoupled. She backed the tractor to hook it again but finding she was not back far enough she reached the clutch from the ground and the tractor reversed too far, the rubber tires slipping, and she was crushed between the tractor and tiller. She managed to disengage the clutch and get free and though bleeding profusely from a severe gash in one leg she climbed on the tractor and drove it to the school where she received first aid and help was summoned to take her to the doctor. Mrs. Barnwell and Mrs Hughes dressed the wounds and she was rushed into town in Mr. and Mrs. Dehaldenson's car. Mrs. Joe Farkash accompanied her. Mr. Hepp and Mr Farkash had also arrived at the school shortly after Dehaldenson's. Mrs Panter is now confined to hospital

The Jr. Red Cross is holding the year-end bingo party and dance on June 2nd at the school. The fruit cake will also be drawn for that night, so folks, if you haven't bought a ticket on the cake this is your chance to do so. Lena Barnwell, June Thompson or Violet Dehaldenson will be glad to sell you one, three—or more

Ian Hutchinson is a patient in the hospital having undergone an operation for appendicitis last week.

HATS OFF TO MRS. CUMMINGS

Throughout the nation this week, the spotlight bears proudly on the woman with the shopping bag. Her wartime task has not been an easy one, yet she has done it well. It is not too much to say that Canada's success thus far on the home front would not have been possible without her support.

TO HER CREDIT

She has refused to pay more . . . Although it has perhaps meant going without, Mrs. Consumer has declined to pay more than the maximum legal prices for scarce commodities. That's why black markets have failed in Canada.

She has stretched rations . . . Because she's realized that rationing of some essentials was necessary and fair for all, Mrs. Consumer has accepted it graciously and seen to it that her household kept within its legal ration limits

She has bought no more than her requirements . . Unnecessary buying causes local shortages which in turn causes more panic buying. Mrs. Consumer has learned. Therefore, even the wildest shortage rumor will not cause her to lose her head and buy more than the immediate requirements of her household.

She has not complained . . . This, above all — that she has been reasonable about wartime regulations and shortages. She has looked into the reasons behind them and found them practical.

Thank you Mrs. Consumer. Keep up the good work. We know we can count on you.

Reprints of articles on the subject of Venereal Disease, which appeared recently in national magazines such as Maclean and Colliers, are available on request from the National Health League of Canada, 111 Avenue Road, Toronto.

A special pamphlet on Flaxseed has been issued by the Agricultural Supplies Board under the Wartime Production series. A copy may be obtained from the Extension Service, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

News items of all kinds are always welcomed by the Standard.

TOWN BUILDING BYLAW

The Town Building Bylaw does not permit the erection, alteration or moving of any building within the Town limits without a Permit approved by the Town Council.

Violations of this Bylaw will, in future, be prosecuted.

The Road Ahead...

Canadian Agriculture, giving as it has such abundant evidence in these days of prodigious war needs, of its ability to furnish ever-increasing quotas, is yet going to be faced with greater production programmes in the days following the liberation of the occupied territories of war-torn Europe.

There is perhaps no other single factor that has so greatly assisted the Canadian farmer to accomplish such record achievements as that of modern machinery, linked with the farmer, in the job of continuously improving and increasing the efficiency of his methods of production, is the implement Engineer.

Massey-Harris, always a leader in the introduction of time and labor saving equipment, has made another notable advance with its self-propelled combine which has revolutionized harvesting methods.

The self-propelled principle introduced in the Massey-Harris Combine opens up a world of possibilities in the future trend of farm machines for the road ahead.

Red Shield Notes

A letter of great importance has just been received by us from Headquarters regarding the Rehabilitation Program. The British government has asked the Salvation Army to bring Comfort and comforts to the civilians and war victims of Europe taken over by the Allies following the invasion. The Red shield of Canada is asked to provide 1,500,000 garments and hospital supplies for this cause Considering that there are only 1400 Red Shield auxiliaries in Canada each organization has a large task on hand However when we realize the many blessings and privileges we enjoy here, and think of war-torn and starved Europe with its thousands or homeless women and children having neither food nor clothing nor shelter, the least we here in Canada can do is to give every effort we can spare to lighten the burden for those unfortunate ones over there.

With this in mind the Red Shield auxiliary of Vermilion has pledged itself to re-double its efforts and by May 30th hope to have 1000 garments on their way overseas. We have formed three sewing groups, each group taking an equal share of the work. As our new-ons are few in number we would welcome anyone who is not already affiliated with a war organization to join with us and help a good cause. You will be sure of many pleasant hours spent in doing your bit for our fighting men. Let us for once neglect our house-cleaning, weeding of gardens, etc, and get on with our war-work. The boys over there are depending and depending on us to do our share. Let's not let them down.

On Saturday May 27 we have asked that each country point interested in Red shield work send in a representative so that they can plan on helping with the program. We hope that all who can will attend and that a successful scheme will be carried out We will welcome anyone who is in town Saturday afternoon to attend this meeting at the Army hall

The program also calls for knitted socks so we are asking all knitters to continue with their work and donate if possible. We must keep up the service supply as well as the civilian needs. Wool and other supplies will be obtainable at the Red Shield headquarters.

Again past years it has been the custom to close our headquarters for the summer months but owing to the present need and critical time overseas we expect to keep open the whole season.

New material for garments is greatly limited as to quantity and is hard to obtain We understand made-over garments will be acceptable if of substantial quality. Has anyone discarded clothing that could be used for this purpose? We have great need of ladies wool stocking-legs. If you cannot sew or knit a donation to this kind world be your means of helping this worthy cause. We are starting over all our Saturday sales for buying material so if there are any unneeded articles in your home that perhaps someone else would be glad to buy bring them to our shop in the basement of the Salvation Army hall Every little helps

It has been brought to our attention that quite a few homes in town have sewing machines that do little sewing. Would the owners be willing to offer us the use of these machines for the next few weeks?

We are asking all those who have taken out wool to try and return the knitted articles as soon as possible. We expect to forward a shipment to Canada in the very near future. Our last shipment consisted of 85 articles for civilians and 28 for war services

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Congress authorized President Roosevelt to continue lend lease aid to Allied countries for another year.

The legislative council passed a woman suffrage act giving Bermuda women the right to vote in parliamentary, parochial and municipal elections.

The execution at Konigsberg of a German, Richard Hoffman, 55, for listening to British radio broadcasts, was announced in a German press dispatch reaching Madrid.

The third Soviet State war loan, for 25,000,000,000 roubles (about $12,500,000,000), was oversubscribed by 213,000,000 roubles within the first two days.

The Germans continue to execute Norwegians on charges of Communism and sabotage. Two were shot lately and others received heavy prison terms for listening to London broadcasts.

Labor Minister Bevin said at a Polish national celebration, that the Polish government is recognized by the British government to speak in the Council of the Allies as representing the Polish nation.

Because of the danger of shrapnel falling on audiences through the glass dome of London's famed Albert Hall, a blackout curfew has been placed on night entertainments there.

For the non-stop flight from New York to Prestwick, Ireland, a new record of 13 hours 30 minutes has been established; and the pilot who did it believes that 18-hour flights will be common after the war.

Small But Efficient

Britain's Midget Submarine Not Toy But Deadly Striking Weapon

Britain's "X craft" is not a toy. It is a complete submarine in miniature.

Going through demonstration runs in the secluded reaches of a saltwater loch this ship may look and sound almost like the clock-work motor boat you sailed as a boy in a pond or bathtub, or a fugitive from the navy of a Lilliput.

But when you view the performance and remember that these craft involved more than 1,000 miles across the sea into the Alten Fjord of northern Norway to batter the German battleship Tirpitz last September, you realize that you are seeing a deadly striking weapon.

Much is still secret about the "X craft". When the admiralty decided this base for an afternoon to war correspondents and photographers examination of this ship below decks was not permitted. The torpedo armament was not made public. The range is secret.

But enough was seen of its operation on the surface, diving and submerged, to make obvious the craft's efficiency.

The "X-craft" has a low superstructure instead of a running bower in order to cut down the silhouette it is manned by four men, usually commissioned officers and one rating.

This midget is about 30 feet long, somewhat shorter than the two-man subs used by Japan.

The Victoria Cross

Empire Fighting Men Have Won Eighty-Five to This War

British Empire fighting men have been awarded 85 Victoria Crosses in this war. Thirty-one of these have gone to men from the Dominions and India. Of 30 V.C.'s won by army personnel, 26 have gone to Dominion or Indian soldiers. 24 to members of the British army. Australians, with 11, were awarded the highest number in the Empire armies, while Indians are next, with seven; New Zealanders, five, Australians three, and South Africans one. Of 17 V.C.'s awarded to members of the air forces, three went to Australians and two to New Zealanders. The remainder have been to members of British air crews. All the 18 naval V.C.'s went to Royal Navy personnel.

Romans built 12 centuries ago, with central heating bathrooms, sun-bathing porticos and other "modern features" in breath the bombed basements of the City of London.

They were the homes of rich British merchants who traded with the Gauls, Italians and Spaniards after the fall of the Roman Empire and founded the first great native civilization in England.

Archaeologists have formed a council to help uncover, photograph, measure and record these houses and other remains of a "lost city" before they are swept away forever by the excavation for deep modern foundations.

"Most staggering discoveries lie there for the finding and our children will not forgive us if we rob them of these treasures," said Miss K. M. Kenyon, of the Institute of ell.—London News-Chronicle.

Health League of Canada presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

PENICILLIN FOR CIVILIANS

"Some prospect of penicillin being available for general civilian use within the next five or six months," is reported editorially by The Canadian Medical Association Journal in its current issue.

The JSurnal reports that two sources of supply have been established in Canada, one being the Connaught Laboratories in Toronto, the other a Government-owned laboratory at Montreal, operated by a well-known firm of pharmaceutical manufacturers. The Journal states that, "apparently, progress in the production has been more rapid than was anticipated."

"Research on penicillin is being continued in the Banting Institute under auspices of the National Research Council. Part of the limited quantity of penicillin produced weekly is sent to the Joint Services Penicillin Committee and part to Montreal and Toronto for clinical investigation of its effects.

"After meeting these demands the remaining penicillin is distributed for civilian use in the treatment of proved cases of staphylococcal septicemia and staphylococcal and pneumococcal meningitis," the Journal reports.

The U.S. Public Health Service reports that "additional penicillin for treatment of sulfa-resistant gonorrhea, enough to supply all state and federally operated rapid-treatment centres, has been allocated to the Service's V.D. Division. Realloc. ll, it has been made available to 38 state health departments supplying 20 rapid - treatment centres during April."

PAUL ENCOURAGES THE CORINTHIANS

Golden text: Ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might become rich.—II Corinthians 8:9.

Lesson: II Corinthians 4:1—5:21.

Devotional Reading: John 13:7-17.

Explanations and Comments

The Theme and Motive of Paul's Preaching. 2 Cor. 4:5. Paul's preaching was not concerning himself, but concerning Christ Jesus as Lord, and was his motive for Jesus' sake led him to labor among them.

He Is Sustained by a Glorious Hope. 2 Corinthians 4:16-18. Even though his outward man is perishing, he is being renewed daily; therefore he faints not.

We look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen; for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal. "I love to see a man live by the unseen, the invisible, the unseen. O I glory in that power of holding myself superior to the here and the now, and of looking beyond to the unseen and the eternal!" (Matthew D. Babcock.)

Paul's Expectation of a Glorified Body Hereafter. 2 Corinthians 5:1-5. "This earthly body of mine," Paul writes, "will undergo dissolution, but I know God will give me in death an eternal heavenly body. The earthly body is but a perishable tabernacle or tent; the heavenly body will be of a far higher order and everlasting."

To Be With Christ is Best. 2 Corinthians 5:3-8. Now he that wrought us for this very purpose—the change from mortality to eternal life—is God, who gave us his Spirit as a pledge. "We are therefore always of good courage, because we know that while we live in this earthly body we are away from the Lord (for now we live by faith, not by sight—explanatory of the sense in which we are absent from the Lord); more full of courage, I repeat, and are ready to put off this earthly body that we may be at home with the Lord." "For me to live is Christ, and to die is gain," Paul wrote the Philippians, "but I am in a strait betwixt the two, having the desire to depart and be with Christ, for it is very far better."

Works Long Hours

Brethren Keep Close Watch On Prime Minister Churchill's Health

Prime Minister Churchill's doctors are keeping a careful eye to see that his health does not suffer because of the extra strain imposed on him by the invasion preparations but Mr. Churchill refuses to spare himself and he's working hours a day. The doctors don't like this, but there isn't much they can do about it. The doctors think Mr. Churchill is working too hard for a man of 70 who has had to fight off pneumonia twice within ten months.

Four dozen pairs of all-silk stockings contain enough silk to make one powder bag for a 16-inch gun.

Manitoba University

Honorary Degrees Are Conferred At Annual Convocation

Five honorary degrees of Doctor of Laws were conferred by the University of Manitoba at its annual convocation at Winnipeg.

Recipients of degrees were Mr. Justice Asm. Dysart, installed as chancellor of the University, succeeding the late Dr. J. W. Dafoe, editor-in-chief of the Winnipeg Free Press, Arthur MacNamara of Ottawa, director of National Selective Service; A. W. Kileforth, United States Consul General in Winnipeg; H. E. Sellers, Manitoba chairman of the National War Finance Committee and Dr. B. J. Brandon, professor emeritus, faculty of medicine, University of Manitoba.

In his address to the graduates Mr. Justice Dysart urged them to "go forth and prove that it is still true there exists in life faith, hope and charity."

Make Good Ones

Women Truck Drivers Are Efficient In Emergencies, Says Mr. Underwood

Although women in Canada have taken over a number of railroad jobs formerly believed to be suitable for men only, they have not invaded this field to the same numbers as their sisters in Britain. Over there, 106,000 women are serving in practically all kinds of railway activity.

Peace, doubtless, will displace many of them, but there is at least one position in which sheer merit might entrench them. Word comes from Britain that the woman train-announcer at Waterloo Station is "understandable," something that could not be said for her male predecessor. Great things have grown from smaller beginnings and perhaps from this the gift of improved articulation will one day come to our own railway stations.—Windsor Star.

"Here a CWAC There a CWAC"

Travel

East is east and west is west, and young women from both ends of Canada will meet for basic training at the Kitchener, Ont., on May 15 the western basic training centre at Vermilion, Alta., closed and all recruits are now sent to Kitchener for their four-week basic training course. On return to her own end of the country, the average young woman in khaki will have gained a clearer picture of the country. Canada will no longer be a vast unknown expanse. It will be a well-known itinerary dotted with little place names, each meaning a good friend.

Leisure Time—

Excitement ran high among members of the CWAC in Montreal recently when a series of off-duty chases in rifle shooting commenced at the Duke of York Armories Armory. Thirty Corps members including officers and ranks registered for the initial chase. They estimated that this new sports venture has met with among Army girls is unprecedented. Although firearm drill is definitely not in the syllabus for CWAC training, the girls have expressed the desire to learn a little more, if only as a recreational project, about the weapons used by soldiers they are replacing on active duty.

• • • • •

Lance Corporal Ann MacDonald of Montreal is a truly versatile C.W.A.C. She has been, besides her Army position in the Directorate of Public Relations, Ottawa, to teach Sunday School, work with the CWAC paper, take a correspondence course in English, study psychology and be an active adherent of both Corps, Church and social activities. Born in London, Eng., Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. MacDonald now of Montreal. She is a grandniece of the late Sir Charles Roberts, Canadian Dean of Letters.

• • • • •

Total-War Family—

It's strangely quiet around home for the Thomas Smiths of Edmonton, Alta., these days, because all the "kids" are on active service. Three of the fighting Smiths wear the khaki of the CWAC and the fourth, Flying Officer Stewart Smith recently won the D.F.C. for bravery with the R.C.A.F. First of the girls to answer the call to the colours was Leading Aircraftsman Smith, in June 1941. Margery was employed in the recruiting office in her home town. She found it good, for she was followed in June by Pte. Helen Smith who is currently employed at National Defence Headquarters in Ottawa, and Rowena waited only for her eighteenth birthday this April to take a stand beside her sisters in the CWAC. She is now undergoing her basic training.

• • • • •

Pieces of abrupt conversation overheard in Montreal become souvenir trays now that Lieut. Isabel Chevrier of Winnipeg, Man., has returned to Canada. One of the original members of the Corps, Isabel enlisted in 1941 and was sent overseas with the first contingent of CWACs. She served overseas as an Ordnance officer and then as a platoon commander of No. 43 Company for 18 months. Among other prize souvenirs picked up during her overseas sojourn is a parachute stitched to a bomb, which she found in Hyde Park.

DO NOT REALLY FLY

Flying fish do not fly, but merely glide through the air. After getting up speed in the water, the fish takes to the air, and wind currents and momentum do the rest. Considerable speed is attained and a distance of 500 feet is often covered by these fish.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Plain Stubborn

By JAYE ELL

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

No, you're wrong! That wisecrack of yours about ma buying so much from you ain't for the Hibernian bowling matches tonight. I'm not going! But to keep you from popping with curiosity I'll give you the lowdown.

Mike Casey and me have been very close since we was kids at the orphanage. We always done everything together, even joined the police force at the same time. Mike's like a bull-dog. Stubborn. Hangs on to an idea, come fire or high water. But even he could be wrong. We never agreed much. But I got to admit that once Mike did know a good thing when he saw it—especially when it was Mary Grady who runs the Doughnut Palace.

When we was off duty you'd always find me and Mike at the Palace dunking sugared doughnuts in hot coffee, and nailing believe we was listening to the radio, but we was really looking at Mary. She always treated us both alike, giving a date to me and then to Mike, until after the story was in the papers.

Many a time after leaving the Palace Mike'd say to me, "Kerrigan, when Mary and I get married we'll have you out to dinner sometime."

"I'd always say. "You mean when Mary marries me you'll be lucky' to stick your big feet under our table sometime."

"Phooey!" he'd say. "You haven't a chance."

I'd get exasperated. "Look, Mike," I'd say, "I don't see Mary running out to greet you when we come in the Palace."

And it always ended with Mike giving me the grin.

• • • •

I guess you read about it in the papers. How me and Mike was in the precinct car when we bumped into the stick-up guys who grabbed the dough from the theatre and how we shot it out with them and how they put a couple of slugs in Mike before they was taken.

At the hospital the doc said Mike didn't have much of a chance, although they were going to give Mike a blood transfusion and use me to do it.

The doc explained it: "Mike's lost too much blood. He might manage to get through it, but he could be made to understand he has something to live for."

I went down the hospital hall not feeling too good and trying to think of something. I had about given up all hope when I came face to face with Mary.

"Mister Kerrigan," gasped Mary, "the doc just told me." Her blue eyes were misty like the fog on a refrigerator glass.

"Hello," I said.

"Mike's got to live," she said. "He can't die now. He's the best friend I . . . . you . . . we have."

When I saw that look on her face I thought, no that's it. Then I got

"He'll live, Mary," I said. "I just thought of something."

And you know what she done? She up and kissed me and said, "Bless you, Kerry."

• • • •

Afterwards I was standing with the doc by Mike's bed. Mike was lying there with his eyes closed. Pale, quiet.

"If he could only understand," said the doc, "that . . ."

"Doc!" I hollered. "When Mary and me gets married we are going to have Mike out for dinner some time."

The doc caught on and said loud, "What's Mike got to say about that?"

Mike's eyes opened slow and he whispered, "Phooey, Kerry, you haven't a chance."

I forgot where I was. I got exasperated. "Look, Mike," I said. "Just a while ago Mary kissed me. Mr. understanding!"

"Yeah?" said Mike, the color returning to his face. "She was just blessing you good-bye." And Mike gave me the grin.

"Why, you. . ." I started to say, but the doc nudged me and I could see he was smiling. So was Mike.

And that's why I'm buying so much this time. I got to have enough steak at the house this evening, don't I? Mike's coming to dinner.

Measles Serum

Convalescent Serum Used In Iceland Epidemic

Convalescent measles serum may be useful not only as a complete protection against the disease but also as a means of treatment, according to the Department of Pathology and Bacteriology, University of Iceland, Reykjavik. The report deals with the use of the serum during an epidemic of measles in Iceland in 1948. Convalescent serum is obtained from persons who have recovered from the disease.

It was found in Iceland that convalescent serum given in two ways against measles: on the one hand, it may be applied to give complete protection against the disease, and, on the other hand it may be used to alter the course of the disease to prevent either symptoms, lower fever, shorter illness, and fewer complications.

Progress Being Made

Caterpillar Tracks For Civil Airliner Landings British Engineering Ensures

Many of Britain's post-war civil airliners will land on "caterpillar tracks" like those of big tanks instead of the orthodox undercarriage with rubber-tired wheels

The main advantage of the caterpillar landing gear is that aircraft with heavier loads can be operated from land bases because of the increased contact surface to the ground. The projected caterpillar undercarriage is a formidable engineering problem but definite progress is being made.

There's Something In This Name

Some names are lyrical, some strong, some have a delicate sound But when it comes to cookies, it's more than the name that counts. The taste does the trick.

Sometimes, of course, you find a name and a taste that go perfectly together. One of these is "Princess Pats". You'll realize how appropriate it is when you sample these royal little cookies

PRINCESS PATS

2 eggs
1 cup sifted brown sugar
1 tablespoon melted butter
½ cup flour
½ teaspoon baking powder

When a man's shirt is so worn at the neck and cuffs that it can't be worn, there is still plenty of material to make a cotton dress or an apron. Extra Rations

Extra Farm Help May Get Extra Rations This Year

Arrangements have been made by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board to provide this year extra rations of food for extra farm help engaged seasonally in all parts of Canada, on the basis of a limit of five meals per person per day.

Any farm household in Canada, engaging seasonal help for such work as threshing, silo filling, woodcutting, and other work, will be able to make application for extra rations for these crews up to a limit of five meals for each member of the crews, if five meals are being served each day. This rule was in effect in 1943 but only in a comparatively small number of cases was it utilized to the limit. Application forms for the extra rations will bear a statement this year to the effect that rations may be applied for up to five meals a day per person, if required.

Officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board believe that this extra allowance will enable farm homes to meet their needs for meat rations, foods for the extra gangs No fur- ther concessions can, however, be made for sugar.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT

The Brockville Recorder and Times says Anne O'Hare McCormick writes in the New York Times that "the frontier between Canada and the United States is as nearly invisible as any boundary yet established between nations." Maybe so but anyone trying to cross it in these days of currency and other restrictions soon realizes that it is there all right.

Himmler Making Plans To Rule Germany After The War

Himmler's Schutzstaffel - now the core of Hitler's defences—has elaborated plans to go Underground in the event of German defeat, according to authoritative information at Naples.

The Schutzstaffel now has about 30 divisions which are organized not only on a military basis, but in a pyramidal cell system, so that in case the Army disintegrates, the SS can remain organized and functioning as a secret body, according to this information.

The cells consist of five members with a leader. Three such cells compose a squad with a leader, three squads forming a group.

Himmler and other SS leaders, it is said, are convinced Germany will be defeated, but are hopeful the SS can get control and return Germany to "Neo-Nazism," in the chaotic period which they expect to follow the war.

The plan involves abandonment of Hitler most other well-known Nazi leaders, placing the responsibility for defeat on them.

The SS expects support from the Army and Junker class when it attempts to regain power.

Canada's Wheat Crop

Canada's smallest wheat crop in the last 20 years was 180,000,000 bushels harvested in the bad drought year of 1937. Canada's largest wheat crop (566,726,000 bushels) was produced in 1928. At first the 1942 crop was thought to be the largest, but it now takes second place on a final estimate of 536,684,-

HEAVY RAINS AND HAIL —WINDOW PANES SUFFER

Some of the biggest hail ever experienced in this district fell on Sunday evening. The rough stones—chunks of ice were large as golf balls and pelted down quite merrily for a short time. The hail was accompanied by a gale of debris or smaller stuff and rain fell in torrents. More rain fell Monday and since last week the generous quantity of 2.42 inches of precipitation has been recorded here. Heavy rains fell in the Islay district on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. On Sunday's hailstorm. The greenhouse of H. J. Payne was hard hit and the fall glass damaged by 3 inch stones thrown lustily. COOK—SHOLDICE

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized by Ven. Archdeacon Lawrence-Pedge, on May 10th in St. Saviours Anglican church, Vermilion, when Rose Marie, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Sholdice of Hindville, became the bride of Alvin Lyle Cook, pennyroal son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Cook of Kitscoty.

The bride was attended by her sister Shirley, while the groom's brother Cheryl acted as best man.

The bride was attired in a street length dress of queen's blue wool crepe with white accessories. The bridesmaid wore a teal blue dress with white accessories.

After the ceremony a number of guests assembled at the home of the bridegroom where a reception was held. The table was revired with a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake.

The young couple plan on spending a few weeks at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

REMINDERS OF THE FORCES REMEMBERED IN PRAYER

On Monday afternoon at the Salvation Army hall, Mrs. Brigadier H. Nixon conducted a group of ladies at a special service, in which the "Book of Remembrance" was dedicated.

This book contains the names of all men and women in the Forces for whom the relatives and loved ones desire prayer be offered. During the "Dedication Service" Mrs. Davey Sr., and Mrs J. Cavil held the Union Jack and the Salvation Army flags respectively. Mr. Raymer then spoke as to the reason of the two flags being used. Our men and women fighting to keep the Union Jack flying in many countries, while the Salvation Army flag is flying as a symbol of the good social work being conducted in these men and women.

After the singing of a suitable hymn led by Brigadier Nixon, prayer was offered by Mrs. A. Smith. The speaker spoke of a number of incidents which have taken place that had encouraging the many people who have received garments from the Canadian Red Shield auxiliary services. The story related told of a soldier who went into a shelter, and being cold and tired, curled up in a corner to rest. One of the workers came near and covered him with a quilt, he was so pleased that he said, "It is good to be tucked in like mother used to." He then discovered a piece of paper on the corner of the quilt, to his surprise he found that the quilt came from his own home town in Canada. Once more he was sleeping under some of his mother's own stitches. Following the prayer the writer then dedicated the "Remembrance Book", reading all names entered therein and asking God's blessing and protection upon each one.

During the Service, Mrs. Captain Harold Pearl sang Psalm 121, also a letter from one of the boys overseas who requested that the following words of a familiar hymn be sung:

There is a sense where spirits blend,
Where friend holds fellowship with friend;
Though sundered far, by faith they meet
Around one common mercy-seat.

A solo was rendered by Mrs. G. Philpott, "I Can See My Pilot's Face to Face Clearly", after which Mrs. Raymer gave a short address on "Remembering Service."

The Service was closed with prayer by Mrs. Brigadier Nixon, the Salvation Alliance chapel. Those taking their places on the platform with the speakers were Mrs. Captain Saunders, Mrs. Philpott, (The Home League secretary) and Mrs. R. Spencer (President Red Shield auxiliary).

Interesting Oil Well Figures Compiled By Bert Bury

Bert Bury, local civil engineer who takes a keen delight in compiling statistics, especially in regard to the Vermilion oil field, gave some very interesting figures at the board of trade meeting on Wednesday at noon.

The figures given do not include the Canada Oil Company activities. Mr. Bury revealed that 61 locations had been made of which 51 had been drilled. The 51 drilled were divided as follows:

Dry holes	9
Water spoiled	3
Has wells	3
Standing suspended	4
Drilling	4
Producing wells	25
Incomplete wells	3

The wells are mostly located at the N.W. corner of township 50, range 5, with locations on a total of 17 sections.

Canada Oils Limited have drilled 29 wells and have at present 17 producers.

The deceased was a pioneer settler in the Islay district but of late had been living with her daughter Mrs. Lloyd Mc-Padden in Vermilion. She had been ailing for the past several months.

Left to mourn her loss are one daughter, Mrs. L. H. McFadden of Vermilion, and two sons, Nelson Gilchrist of Waterways and Gordon Gilchrist of Edmonton.

BATHING HOUSE, DIVING BOARD, SAFETY PER ASCED AT SWIMMING POOL

Requested by Board of Trade

The board of trade is asking that the council build a simple bathing house for use of the men at the swimming pool and also that a diving board be purchased. Another suggestion is that a safety pen for the non-swimmers be made.

Mr. Bert Bury gave some interesting figures regarding wells drilled by all other companies than Canada Oils in the Vermilion field and these statistics appear elsewhere in this issue.

Mr. Penny, president of Canada Oils Ltd., stated that while there might not be any more wells drilled there by his company, they certainly would continue producing the wells they already have

Mr. A. Colbert of Edmonton was introduced to the meeting by Mr. D. A. Andrew. Attendance dropped to 22 and it is hoped that next Wednesday will see the customary attendance of 30 or more The president Asbey H. Cooper was in the chair.

Meeting next Wednesday as usual A big attendance is requested.

Maps showing the complete route of the Alaska highway were received from the Government of Alberta and were distributed to the members present. An additional supply is on hand and copies may be secured from the secretary if desired

Unemployment Insurance Fund

The Unemployment Insurance fund has gone over the $200,000,000 mark It was announced today by the unemployment Insurance Commission that the fund, which is made up of contributions by employees, employers and the Dominion Government had reached the total of $200,611,212 on May 9th

The fund has been accumulating since July 1, 1941, when contributions by employers and employees started. Under the Unemployment Insurance Act, the Government adds one-fifth to the total amount contributed by employers and employees

Amendments to the Act passed at the last session of Parliament raised the "ceiling" from $2,000 to $2,500 and also provided for including persons in certain specified wage categories even when total earnings exceeded $2,500 per annum. This was a factor in increasing the number of persons in the higher wage categories, to whom the Act applies.

On the first or next July, collection of Unemployment Insurance contributions will have been in operation in Canada for three years

PUBLIC WORKS PROGRAM CONSIDERED BY COUNCIL

M. D. VERMILION RIVER

At the meeting of the council of the Vermilion River municipal district held in Marwayne on May 23, 12, 13, a public works program was considered. On motion of Councillor Clay the following resolution was passed subject to the recommendation of the public works committee.

1. That the Public Works expenditure in the various divisions be approximately equalized, in proportion to assessment, at the end of 5 years.

2. That the divisions having elevator graders and Caterpillar tractors in their possession be given preference in preparing their partially constructed elevated roads for grave.

3. That all elevated grades be graveled as soon as possible after construction.

4. That in view of the fact that the ratepayers on the east and west sides of the municipality have, or will have, good market roads by way of the Fourth Meridian and the Wainwright-Vermilion highway, the most benefit for the greatest number of ratepayers will be obtained by building elevated road construction from the north and south center line and moving outwards.

5. That in line with the above, the road from Paradise Valley through Kitscoty and Marwayne to Lea Park ferry, and the road from Edgerton through Lemberg and Islay to Vanscoy then east to form a junction with the Paradise Valley-Lea Park highway be slated for first construction, one elevating grader starting at the north and the other at the south end."

The public works committee previously appointed to formulate a road works program consisted of Councillors Quist, Tessman and Delebetzke.

MAGPIE AND CROW POPULATION GREATLY REDUCED

Campaign Brings Results

The very active campaign to reduce the number of crows and magpies in this area, instituted by Vermilion branch of the Fish and Game Protective league, is bringing undreamed of results. Already 2250 crow and magpie eggs and 542 pairs of beaks have been turned into Jim Rusnesus who is handling the bounty paying end of the plan. Co-operating with the Fish and Game branch is the municipal district of Minburn and negotiations are now underway whereby it is hoped the newly formed M.D. of Vermilion River will also co-operate in the plan to reduce the number of these feathered marauders.

While most of the eggs and legs have been turned in by country and town boys, quite a number of the men of the town have taken their turns at tramping the country, bringing down the nests and magpie and making trees to secure the nests or young birds. Practically all have had the thrill of climbing the trees and magpie nests and not a nest of another kind or bird to be found in them. That alone is enough to reduce the number of magpies and crows should be kept up the year round

WATER FROM VERMILION WELLS TESTED FOR PURITY

Results Are Very Good

Councillor Gerald F. Stephens, member of the board of health, stated at the board of trade meeting on Wednesday that water from all the wells on the Vermilion highway had been tested at the provincial laboratory and that the results were good.

The bacteria per cubic centimeter were recorded by water from the Pihlevile and Stewart wells with counts of 10 and 20 respectively, up to 170 and then made a big jump to 1,250 for the Payne well. The highest count for this well indicates that some surface water is getting in.

This test means that waters did not show any bad or objectionable evidence of unfavorable contamination.

News items of all kinds are always welcomed by the Standard.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

PAUL IN EPHESUS

Golden text: We are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God afore prepared that we should walk in them Ephesians 2 10

Lesson Acts 19 1—20:1; Ephesians 3 14 19.

Devotional Reading: Ephesians 4 25-16.

Explanations and Comments

Paul's Preaching at Ephesus. Acts 19 8-10. On his third missionary journey, Paul came to Ephesus where he followed his customary method of speaking first to the Jews, and then to the Greeks. For three months in the synagogue he reasoned and persuaded as to the things concerning the Kingdom—the subject of Jesus' teaching But instead of heeding his message, the Jews hardened their hearts, and some of them even spoke evil of "the Way" (used as a synonym for Christianity — Acts 9 2). Paul was obliged to break with the Jews, leaving the synagogue for the lecture-room of Tyrannus, where many of them followed him Tyrannus was probably a Gentile who had a school of philosophy Paul may have seemed to the Ephesians to be one of the wandering professors of philosophy who were so numerous in the early Empire. In the lecture-room of Tyrannus, from eleven to four, after that fashion-plant had finished his lecture, Paul proclaimed unto his hearers the Christ.

For two years Paul continued teaching in the school of Tyrannus, and "all that dwelt in Asia heard the word of the Lord, both Jews and Greeks." Within easy reach of Ephesus were the other cities of the Roman Province of Asia (along the western shore of Asia Minor).

Read the account in Acts 19 21 41 of the uproar in the temple of Diana which made it necessary for Paul to leave Ephesus

New Life in Christ. Ephesians 2 4-10 "But dead in trespasses as we were, God was so rich in mercy that for his great love to us he made us live together with Christ (it is by grace you have been saved) together with Christ he raised and seated us with-in the heavenly sphere in Christ Jesus For it is by grace you have been given his surpassing wealth of grace and goodness toward us in Christ Jesus now For it is by grace you have been saved as you had faith, it is not your doing but God's gift, not the outcome of what you have done— lest anyone should pride himself on that; God has made us what we are, creating us in Christ Jesus for the good deeds which he prepared beforehand by God as our sphere of action" (Moffatt)

Paul's Farewell. Acts 20:1 Paul's work in Ephesus was finished, and he left for Macedonia.

Pleasure Trippers

Crowded coaches, men and women of the armed forces standing in the aisles and leaning against the seats: these are familiar sights on Canadian railways these days. After four and a half years of war, and when all facilities are strained to provide transportation for the invasion trade of war, unessential travel should be off the books. Passenger trains everywhere are overtaxed enough now with essential travellers, without having 'pleasure trippers' tagging along as well.—National Film Board photo.

PREVENTION AND TREATMENT OF BLINDNESS

Prevention and treatment of blindness should be made a responsibility of the public-health departments, the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph says editorially, calling attention to the large group of persons in Canada suffering from progressive eye disease who will "sooner or later become a charge on the taxpayer."

The known blind in Canada total 12,844, including only those registered with the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and these on pensions for the blind. The total does not include Canadians with progressive eye disease or those who have lost the sight of one eye and do not come within the definition of blindness under the national legislation. There are believed to be some 30 million people who have not made their condition known.

Urgent needs at present are prevention and treatment, the Quebec newspaper states. "Health departments are already deeply involved in the prevention of blindness, even though their legislation was not planned primarily for that reason, except in the instance of preventive drops of ophthalmia neonatorum (for prevention of gonorrheal infection at time of birth).

"The other endeavors that are preventive in character are: venereal control, the distribution of insulin to those unable to pay, prevention and control of tuberculosis, industrial measures, control of all types of infectious diseases, school medical inspection, the provision of sight-saving classes, and accident prevention.

"From the above it would seem desirable to place the whole problem of blindness, both its prevention and cure, in the hands of the department of public health, where it logically belongs."

Saving Many Lives

Blood Plasma Given Wounded Men Strength For Operation

An Associated Press despatch from a Canadian field hospital in Italy, says:

This is the shock ward of an emergency hospital where blood plasma is stored like corpuscles.

All through the day and night litter bearers have come in from the various battle areas of Cassino, Anzio, Ianite, scene of bitter fighting.

The litter bearers place the wounded on an hones, hastily made carpenters' use, and when every inch of space is crowded they spill over into adjoining wards.

When a man is hit he goes "in shock". His blood pressure falls and his pulse becomes tenuous. Unless he can be brought out of the shock he can't survive an operation, and that is where plasma comes in.

You walk down the lengthening rows of white faces and wonder how they can pull through. Doctors decide it. I see a man from Ohio take 10 units of plasma and some from the fluttering eyes of death. Color flooded back into his face and his pulse fell almost to normal. Recovery now is almost certain.

Ration Controls

Restrictions Raised On Several Types Of Farm Machinery

Six types of new farm machinery and equipment have been removed from the ration list, it was announced by the prices board.

Additional articles which now may be sold without permits are: diamond harrow sections, flexible harrow sections, spring tooth harrow sections, cream separators, power sheep shearing machines and animal clippers, egg cleaners and brushes.

Increased production sufficient to meet demands were cited as reason for removal of ration controls.

A Useful Hint

How To Cut Bread In Loaf Will Be Kept Even

What a beating some loaves of bread take! Four slices off the end and they're as crooked as a snake fence. Try slicing evenly down to a thin crisp crust. Easy does it. Hold the loaf on its side . . . the side crust is usually firmer . . . then with a sharp knife saw . . . don't cut. Watch the side toward you and if the slice is straight there the rest of the piece of bread will be too.

Hush Money

WILLIAM A. ROBBI

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The silent house echoed the monotonous squeaking of Grandpa's rocking chair. He rocked thoughtfully, puffing viciously on his aged corncob. For the fifth time in the last hour he looked at the cuckoo clock on the wall. He winced at the slow advancement of the hands. In another couple of hours Emma Bannon's Bazaar would be over, and then there'd be a whole year until the next one.

"Dagnabbit!" Grampy growled to himself. "Emma's kids is old 'nough not to need someone to mind 'em of an evening."

Yet, as much as Grampy wanted to go to the Bazaar he knew that Emma had set her heart on it, too. Gramp's son in-law, Henry, intended to stay home, but at the last minute he called to say that he'd have to work overtime. Gramp took one look at Emma's expression of disappointment and grumped that he'd stay.

"If you don't intend to keep your word," Emma said, "let me know right now. You know how the neighbors complained about the children's bowling last week when we stepped out and left them alone in the house for only a few minutes."

"Dagnabbit!" Grump spumed. "When I was their age it didn't bother me none to be left alone in the dark. These frakidy-cat kids nowadays."

"I'll stay home, then," Emma said with a suffering sigh.

"Hush up and off with you!" Gramp snapped, unable to bear his daughter's look of martyrdom. And in fifteen minutes Emma was off.

The first hour was easy. Emma's woes weren't so important, anyway. Gramp kept telling himself. Besides, it was the same thing year after year. With the second hour, however, he began to reflect upon the past. The fun of poking around through the booths, the concert, the door prize, and the various contests that deepened the laugh wrinkles around Gramp's merry old eyes.

When the cuckoo derisively popped out at eight o'clock Gramp got up with defiance and wobbled about the room until his rheumatic joints guaranteed stability. He started to get his coat and hat from the closet when he heard a wail from upstairs. He huffed and stamped on irate feet on the floor. Well, maybe it was time as well. If Emma saw him at the Bazaar she'd have a fit; probably make a scene in front of everyone.

Fifteen minutes more of waiting and Grampy resigned attitude had once more been discarded. Curiosity was with the winds now. Besides, in that crowd Emma would never see him. Just a few minutes of poking around—for old times' sake. Gramp had his hat and coat on now. And the front door wall again.

"Dagnabbit!" he growled, his glance wavering between the front door and the upper story. The noise increased. Gramp slammed down his hat with another "Dagnabbit!" and went upstairs. Five minutes later he came down again and dusted his crumpled felt hat, a mischievous grin on his face. He tiptoed from the silent house.

Gramp bought his Bazaar ticket and received his door-prize stub. He cautiously peeped into the main hall. There he spied the flaming red hat that belonged to Emma. Gramp chuckled, then skunk around to the opposite side of the hall.

The next half hour was a simple man's paradise for Gramp. It was good to see old faces. Familiar recibits and hear laughing chatter. Nothing really exciting, but good enough.

And then the hall was suddenly hushed as a man's voice came through the microphone on the stage. The door prize. Gramp hadn't given it any thought, so absorbed had he been in the mood he had lacked the red hat again. He chortled to himself, for he was successfully keeping safe distance between himself and Emma. He'd leave shortly, getting the home just before her. Everything was going smoothly.

The man called out a number. N.—one answered. He called it again. Gramp casually extracted his stub from his pocket, keeping one eye on Emma. Then Gramp glimpsed at the number on his stub. He blinked, for he wasn't sure what number had been called. The man waited impatiently a second, then announced Emma. He'd leave shortly, getting the home just before her. Everything was going smoothly.

"I got it!" squealed Gramp. He forgot himself and jumped toward the stage. He could feel Emma's eyes on him, could even hear her unspoken words whamming against his ears.

"Fifty dollars to the lucky man!" the announcer was saying in applause. He handed five crisp tens to Gramp.

Gramp came down from the stage. Emma stomped up to him. "Sh!" she heaved.

Gramp was quick on the draw. He peeled off a ten-spot and thrust it at her "Here!"

"What's that for?" she gasped, a bright beam softening her anger "Hush money."

Emma took it with pleased bewilderment and then glowered at him. "But the children—they're probably bowling at home. And no one there to look them."

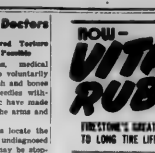
"Took care of that, too," Gramp replied quickly. "Gave 'em each a dime before I left. Hush money. The gamble turned out to be a mighty good investment," he chuckled, and disappeared in the crowd.

RELEASE OF ITALIANS

A Canadian Germany will be harmless for a long time. But it will require the most stringent policing and supervision of Germany to watch these under-cover Nazi movements In 1919 the French statesman Clemenceau said: "Beware of these Junkers; they will cheat you yet." We shall have to beware of these Nazis or they will cheat us yet.

TITAL TO LIFE

A starving animal can live after a loss of nearly all its fat, one-half of its protein, and a great portion of its body weight, but a loss of only one-fifth of the water of the body is fatal



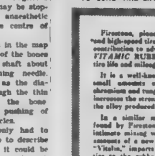
Here a CWAC There a CWAC

War whoops and tribal feathers play no part in the life of C.W.A.C. Private Dorothy Bernard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Bernard of St. John, N.B., despite the fact that she admits proudly that she is a full-blooded Iroquois Indian. Grand-daughter of a chief, Dorothy is sure that she has lived a quiet, regular Canadian life. She is a graduate of a business college in Moncton, N.B., and worked as a secretary before her enlistment in March, 1944. When asked if her family had any particular tribal customs, Dorothy paused for a minute and then said, "I had a sore thumb But Mother wouldn't let me keep it."

"We're so normal," she sighed.

Fashion—

All in all the CWACs seem pretty satisfied with their "Khaki bonnets" . . . pictures of the latest Paris models shown in British newspapers elicited merriment and scorn from Miss Canada Overseas. Paris pointed out to its German captors that the well dressed Parisienne may still carry on her head "flowers, birds, icing and the blue skies". She would take more than Germans to make me wear that horticultural erection!" giggled one unnerved CWAC . . . "Give me a number from Eaton's catalogue" volunteered another, and all agreed. "When we get home, we're glad we're in the C.W.A.C."



Personality

Mother has followed her sons in the battle front. Pte. Minnie Howe, C.W.A.C. of Winnipeg, at present stationed at Canadian Military Headquarters, London, England, was the third member of her family to cross the ocean recently to join the forces. Her sons Harry, and Jimmy are both with the Canadian Army. A fourth member of the fighting family, Jane, is with the C.W.A.C. in Washington, D.C. Mrs. Howe is a cook, and the Army is pleased, for Mrs. Howe's family looks forward to the day when "Ma can bake an apple pie"—for four.

Trawl

"The thumb is mightier than the arch" is an adage that has been adopted by Cpl. Molly Fowler, C.W.A.C. of Invermere, B.C. Reputed to be the most widely travelled member of the Corps, Molly gave truth to this adage in 1939 when she embarked on a hitch-hiking tour that carried her as far as the Far East path that the sight of a European was a novelty A member of the C.W.A.C. since 1943, Molly received her education in Holland, Belgium, Switzerland France and Italy. She has spent time in every country of Europe and has visited extensively in North Africa. She is now employed at National Defence Headquarters in Ottawa.

Total War Family—

The Canadian family Robinson of Como, Que., is as versatile as its Swiss counterpart— witness its "all out" war effort. Pearle and Bernice are a driver and clerk respectively with the C.W.A.C., Margery is a Nursing Sister, and brother W. T. Robinson is in the Merchant Marine.

Not to be outdone Mother and Dad are busy with volunteer activities on the home front.

INVISIBLE WIRE

Invisible platinum wire, so fine only its shadow can be seen, is being used experimentally in the General Electric Company's laboratories The wire is 13 000,000ths of an inch thick. Approximately 25 000 strands would be needed to equal the cross sectional area of a human hair

Great Help To Doctors

Many Volunteers Endured Torture To Make Pain Map Possible

Twenty-six physicians, medical students and nurses who voluntarily endured having their flesh and bones pierced by drills and needles without benefit of anaesthetic have made possible a pain map of the arms and legs.

The map helps doctors locate the point of origin of many undiagnosed pains. Often the hurt may be stopped quickly by a local anaesthetic which hits squarely the centre of irritation.

Most painful operation in the map making was the drilling of the bones with a diamond-pointed shaft about the diameter of a darning needle. The point was pressed on the diamond point passed through the thin membrane surrounding the bone Least painful was the pushing of needles through the muscles.

The volunteers not only had to endure the pain but also to describe it accurately enough so it could be evaluated by others and charted. They broke into sweats. Their faces blanched. Some even fainted. Some required medical attention for a couple of days thereafter.

The map was done by Dr. Verne T. Inman and Dr. J. B. de C Saunders of San Francisco Pain which originated deep in the flesh, or real pain, Inman and Saunders report, is likely to radiate only within the identical area of the flesh. The chart thus helps the physician to locate the origin, much as a national map with state boundaries simplifies the location of state points

Surplus For Export

Arrangements Made To Send Canadian White Beans To Britain

Arrangements have been completed for export to Britain of the 1944 crop surplus of Canadian white beans, the special products board announced. The export price will be based on a price of $3.00 per bushel in the grower for No. 1 beans. This will mean that beans exported will be worth 50 cents a bushel more than No. 1 and a premium paid also for the domestic market. It is hoped to provide at least 500,000 bushels for the export market

NOW—VITAMIC RUBBER

FIRESTONE'S GREATEST CONTRIBUTION TO LONG TIRE LIFE AND MILEAGE

Firestone, pioneers of the balloon "road high-speed tires, now make another contribution to advanced motoring . . . VITAMIC RUBBER . . . for longer tire life and mileage.

It is a well-known fact that adding small amounts of metals, such as chromium and tungsten, to steel greatly increases the strength and durability of the alloy produced.

In a similar manner, it has been found by Firestone research that the intimate mixing with rubber of small amounts of a new scientific discovery, "Vitalin," imparts long-wearing properties to the rubber. As in the alloy steel, the new rubber compound, VITAMIC RUBBER . . . is greatly improved in strength, durability, and resistance to heat and aging.

All Firestone tires are now made with Vitamic Rubber. Ask about the entire value, together with Gum-Dipping and Safety Locked Cords, to all the more reason why you should insist on Firestone tires when you obtain a Tire Ration Permit.

Hard To Sort Out

Nations Seem To Be Slightly Mixed In This War

The Empire Digest offers the following information

There are now 23 United Nations and nine Axis Nations.

Germany is the only Axis Nation at war with all the United Nations.

None of the United Nations is at war with all nine Axis Nations.

Australia is the only United Nation to declare war on Vichy France.

This Fighting French are at war only with Germany and Japan.

India and Ngrway are at war only with Germany.

Brazil, India, Norway, Greece and Russia are the only United Nations not at war with Japan

The United States is at war with Albania, but not Finland, Great Britain with Finland, but not Albania.

Thus although the United States and Great Britain are both fighting eight out of the nine Axis Nations there is a difference in which ones.

A great nerve specialist was placed next to a talkative and inquisitive maiden lady who bored him excessively with her questions

"Tell me, won't you, what was your greatest ambition as a child, and have you attained it?" she asked.

The specialist looked at her coldly, and said: Madam, I regret to say I have never attained my boyhood ambition."

And what was it?"

Madam my great ambition was to throw an egg into an electric fan."

Dominion-Provincial Farm Labour Program

To date six provinces have signed agreements with the Dominion for the current farm year, dealing with the joint Dominion Provincial farm labor program, Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labor announced today. These provinces are British Columbia, Alberta, Manitoba, Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Draft agreements have been submitted to all other provinces, and it is expected that shortly the other three will also conclude arrangements with the Dominion.

By a recent Order-in-Council the Dominion Labor Minister is authorized to enter into agreements with the provincial governments, for the purpose of providing the provinces with financial assistance to more effectively organize methods of recruiting, placing and transporting workers employed, or to be employed in the agricultural industry. All expenditures under the joint program will be borne fifty-fifty by the Dominion and the provinces.

Maximum sums to be provided for this year's operations to the provinces which have signed agreements to date are British Columbia, $6,000; Alberta, $60,000; Manitoba, $10,000; Ontario, $160,000; New Brunswick, $17,000 and Nova Scotia, $20,000.

In addition to the money made available to the provinces for special efforts in connection with the farm labor program a sum of $200,000 has been provided by Order-in-Council to help defray the cost of interprovincial transfers of farm labor found to be necessary; these will be paid for wholly by the Dominion.

The agreement with the provinces this year will provide a scheme comparable to that of last year, under which the Dominion and the provinces shared jointly the cost of special efforts in locating and moving farm workers.

I had a nightmare...

I dreamed that I paid $5.00 for a haircut and $50.00 for a pair of cardboard shoes. I dreamed that we had no wartime controls on prices, profits or wages, and that we hadn't had the sense to organize the distribution of supplies all the way down the line . . .

I dreamed that because everyone was making more money and spending it, prices were skyrocketing.

all the stores looked like "Sev" sales . . . with people scrambling to buy before prices went still higher . . .

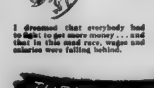
panicky people were buying things they didn't need, and hoarding everything they could get their hands on . . .

I dreamed that everybody had to fight to get more money . . . and that in this mad race, wages and salaries were falling behind.

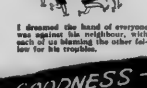
I dreamed the hand of everyone was against his neighbour, with each in us blaming the other fellow for his troubles.

with everybody for himself . . . no matter what it cost in the long run . . . and no matter how it hurt the war effort.

THEN THANK GOODNESS — I WOKE UP!

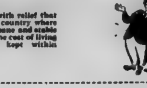


to realize with relief that I live in a country where things are sane and stable . . . where the cost of living has been kept within bounds.



to realize that prices and wages—production costs and selling prices—are inseparably linked together.

to realize that this nightmare might have become a reality!



to remind myself that the danger is still pressing and that we must continue to hold firm . . . and that means everybody must buy only fair and do his part by not trying to get some temporary, fancied advantage at the expense of his fellow-Canadians.

This advertisement is one of a series being issued by the Government of Canada to emphasize the importance of preventing further increases in the cost of living now and definitely check it.

WOODVALE

The tragic and sudden deaths of Roger de Breville and Raymond Thomas shocked the whole community and the deepest sympathy was felt for Roger's young daughter Evelyn. Thomas has worked these past three months around the district, digging several wells and Roger, a returned soldier of the first World war, lived amongst us for almost twenty-five years. He was one of the most kind-hearted and helpful of neighbors and friend, always ready to lend a helping hand wherever it was needed. His inborn kindness to help others brought on his death, when he went down the well on Sunday to apparently retrieve some of the equipment that was dislodged in the blast Saturday, so that the work could be started without delay on Monday. We hope sincerely that the knowledge that her father passed away helping others will comfort Evelyn.

Some red roses was received by Mr. and Mrs. A. Cooper of Tulland on May 19th when a telegram arrived telling of the death of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Don Cooper, leaving Don, who is stationed with the Canadian Forestry Corps in Scotland, with a little baby daughter.

It is very obvious that everyone is well pleased with the heavy rains of last week. We were lucky enough around here to escape hail and the excessive rain, which did some damage around Vermilion and flooded so many level pieces of land.

Deer are getting more plentiful around here apparently. At Lyson's they saw two right across the road from the house, while the writer's husband, returning from a fishing trip on that wet Wednesday, found two on top of the Goutier hill looking down at him in the rain, not a bit scared only when he made a move, changing coats, they fled away. Anyhow back he found four of them in a coulee while he was looking for horses. They stared up at him while he admired them, but again when he stepped off his horse to use his dedan-see for a close-up, they ran away.

Everyone knows how ducks can swim being hurt and fly in front of you, to take you away from their nest or young — Again on Goutier's hill as we were coming slowly up a ditch suddenly and fruitfully a hand dragging its feet and flu... its wings, and believe it or not, it stayed with us for almost two miles, all the time acting hurt and without apparent effort staying about 14 feet ahead of the car even at a speed of thirty miles per hour. Finally it flew off the road and one last mean cringing look quite normally to its nest or offspring.

The town arrived this month and are quite busy building up the cottages and will soon be gathering honey. By the way how bee-keepers seem to get stung frequently, but then, does not dim their enthusiasm.

Mauricie Young is home for a brief holiday from Dunolin where she works in the bank.

Stagette Notes

The Stagette banquet for the 1944 season was held on Tuesday evening in the dining room of the Brunswick hotel. The table presented a colorful appearance with large bouquets of lilacs and variegated pleasing candle. Margaret Harvey the Club's President presided.

After a sumptuous dinner of turkey and all that goes with it the president arose and gave a short address. She briefly outlined upon Helen Kirk to speak on behalf of the members. After a few words from the above, Ruth Elder also presented a address to a club such as the Stagettes to a newcomer who spoke briefly but pertinently to the stranger coming into Vermilion for the first time.

A letter was then read from the National convention in Toronto as to the time and place of the annual convention. It is to be held in Prince Albert on June 2nd to 4th and we only hope that all are able to attend.

A small presentation was then made to President Audrey Chatterton, a member who has been with us for a very short time and is leaving next week for Grande Prairie.

The girls then went out to be photographed in a group after which they returned to the dining room to resume their seats to sing for more than an hour.

This our second banquet was decided social success.

Now we are looking forward to our closing dates — the annual "Garden Party". May we now just all be there decked out in your prettiest summer gowns.

Those present at the banquet included Margaret Girven, Marjorie Currie, Jessie Swanson, Mil Sanders, Lavonne Hawthorne, Isabelle Dalziel, Betty Beth Elder, Evelyn Jardine, Norma Taylor, Helen Kirk, Annie McDonald, Dolly Isley, Isla Schoonmaker, Muriel Smith, Kay Lee, Lorne Hamish, Ethel Nelson, Cora Harrison, Audrey Chatterton and Dorothy Heidebrecht.

The City Of London

THE CITY OF LONDON is frequently called "the heart of the Empire", and it is best known to the majority of people as the scene of many historic events, and as the home of the British Parliament. London is, indeed, a city of great historic interest, but it is also an important industrial centre, and a busy port in the years before the war, the value of the goods brought into Britain through the port of London, was greater than was that brought into any others sea port in the United Kingdom. The city's industrial output was also great in the pre war period, when it comprised almost one-quarter of the total production of the United Kingdom. A highly developed port and industrial city, London has also been known for centuries as one of the great financial centres of the world

* * * *

Plans Are Made For Rebuilding

The ancient city of London has its own corporate existence, dating from mediaeval times. It has an area of only 677 acres and a population of about 9,000. This is the domain of the Lord Mayor whose title originated in the year 1191. Around the city are grouped the various districts making up Greater London, which has a population of more than 8,000,000. The great industrial expansion of London in the last twenty years has given rise to many problems of housing, recreation and transport. Before the war, extensive measures were being taken to provide for construction and development. Bomb damage has caused these projects to be greatly expanded, and much thought is now being put into plans for reconstruction.

* * * *

History Rich In Tradition

From earliest times, London has been closely associated with the history of Britain and of the Empire. Most people of British origin like to think of it as a great centre of national culture, and to dwell on its association with the past. It has a history rich in romance and tradition and in spite of the heavy damage done by German bombs, most of its famous land marks still remain. Its treasures in the realms of art and literature are also preserved for coming generations. However, the London of the future will be a city from which slum areas have been cleared, to be replaced by well-planned housing projects. Further industrial development is anticipated, and it is expected that the progress of the last twenty years will continue when the war is ended. Thousands of service men and women from Canada and other parts of the Empire, have visited London during the past four years and have come to know it well. We are living in a world of changing values and shifting political concepts, but when the war is ended, London will still remain "the heart of the Empire"

Consider The Onion

Scientists Discover That This Vegetable Is Good For You

It is odd that scientists have just got around to discovering what grandma knew 60 or 80 years ago—that onions are good for you.

The scientists have found in the onion what some sanguinely call the "mysterious bacteria-destroying substance" which operates in different fashion from other recently discovered substances.

This may have been a mystery to grandma, too, but undoubtedly her was the knowledge that steak smothered with fried onions was better for her men folks than a visit to the doctor

In recent years, with vitamins running from A to G in vogue, the onion has suffered from comparison with other vegetables In any table of values it ranked far below such vegetables as kale and broccoli and carrots Onions, it seemed, were long on flavor and short on vitamins

The most recent discovery provides the explanation: the onion has been found to be full of valuable medicaments that there was no room for vitamins New York Sun.

Just A Hobby

Hitler Looked On War As Merely A Huge Game

Max Werner, in writing of Hitler's many terrible blunders, has this to say of Hitler: "It was his personal war, his hobby. He had to taste it to the full. For Hitler the war was not a gamble, but also a game, a game with his soldiers. Modern warfare is more characteristic of Hitler than his remark to Sir Neville Henderson, the British Ambassador in Berlin, shortly before the attack on Poland 'I prefer war when I am fifty to when I am fifty-five or sixty.' It is a psychology, not of a great general, but of a playboy for whom the war game is a personal pleasure "

FRIENDSHIP

Friends should not be chosen to flatter The quality we should prize in friendship is solid worth shining from no truth. Channing.

A friend should be one in whose understanding and virtue we can equally confide, and whose opinion we can value at once for its frankness and its sincerity. Robert Hall

There are three friendships which are advantageous. Friendship with the upright, with the sincere, and with the man of much observation.—Confucius

Let friendship creep gently to a height, if it rushes to it, it may soon run itself out of breath.—Fuller

Never contract the horizon of a worthy outlook by the selfish exaction of all another's time and thoughts.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Every man will have something to do for his friend, and something to bear with in him. Only the sober man can do the first; and for the latter, patience is requisite.—Feltham.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—I had my dinner in a restaurant and when I asked for another order of butter they refused to give it to me. Is this right?

A. The restaurant was correct in refusing you. No second orders of butter, tea or coffee are allowed. Each person should have no more than three lumps of sugar upon request.

Q—I am enclosing ration book No. 4 which my son received when the new books were issued. He has now joined the army. Was I right in sending the book to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, or should I have sent it to his army headquarters.

A.—If your son will not require this ration book in the army and you were quite correct in returning it. When he has leave, he will be issued special rations.

Q—My daughter was 13 years old one week after ration book No. 4 was distributed. How can I get ten or coffee coupons.

A.—If she was 12 years of age on or before April 15th ten tea and coffee coupons should have been left in her book when issued. If they were removed we would advise you to get in touch with your local Ration Board. However, any child who becomes 12 years of age after April 15th issued with the latest ration book is issued to be eligible for ten tea or coffee coupons.

Q—Can a blacksmith raise the price of shoeing from 35 cents to 50 cents and of a new shoe from 50 cents to 75 cents.

A—No, a blacksmith cannot legally increase shoeing rates until his prices be charged for the same services that he rendered the board on, unless he has received specific permission to do so.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book to the local office which you keep track of your ceiling prices; including the latest bulletin No. 1 the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Meat In Italy

Brothers From England Have Served In Widely Separated Places

Sharing a butter meal in the Middle East was riding on a truck down an Italian road when suddenly out stepped Sergeant Bert Burningham Mall. Another soldier on foot walked round to the back to investigate the truck's contents, acting on the "Eh, you," he said to the toiling Tommy, "move up there and let's see what you've got." Laughingly the man in the truck turned round and then nearly fell out as he exclaimed "Good heavens Norman, where did you spring from?" They were brothers Their names are Sergeant Syd and Corporal Norman Roberts, of Cranmore Road, Shirley, serving with the R.A.S.C. The sergeant enlisted in January, 1940, and the corporal in September, 1939. The former was in France, Iraq, and Egypt before moving across North Africa and on into Sicily, while the other, after being posted to Egypt in 1939, saw service at El Alamein, Tobruk and Benghazi, but had not met since the outbreak of war.

VANISHING VITAMIN

The vanishing vitamin is "C". It's the delicate member of the family when it comes to keeping in shape. Take extra special care to keep brother "C" in good shape by not exposing them to heat for long instance when you add canned tomatoes or tomato juice to meat soup wait a short time before serving to do so.

IT'S WORTH A PATCH

The material around a tear is often so thin that a patch is better economy than a darn. Cut the fabric to a square or oblong with the thread and trim off the weak part. Clip the corners so they may be turned under. Pin the patch material under the opening, matching the grain both lengthwise or crosswise. Turn under the raw edges of the hole and hem to the patch. Now turn on the wrong side, turn the edges of this patch under and sew it down to the garment.

Palace Of The Soviets

Largest Building In The World Will Be Erected In Moscow

The gigantic Pentagon building in Washington which houses a multitude of office staffs connected with the war effort is the subject of many jokes about people getting lost and search parties having to be sent out to look for them. It is the largest office building in the United States—and that doubtless means in the world—and the United States who boasts the tallest building in the world, which is the Empire State building. When the war is over the United States will lose both these distinctions. The huge Palace of the Soviets will be erected in Moscow.

The designer is not an American, nor a Russian. He is an Englishman, who happened to be working in the United States when he entered for the Premier Stalin's prize of about $7,000. He is back in London, where he has been the architect of many factories and large blocks of apartments. His name is Hector O. Hamilton, a native of Worthing, a little town on the English Channel. He is 40 years of age and the son of a doctor.

The Soviet Government placed no limit on the cost of the building, with the result that the competitors could give free play to their fancies. Mr Hamilton's palace is designed to cost around $75,000,000, and covers an area of about 30 acres on the bank of the Moscow river. Its main feature is an auditorium seating 24,000 people and a smaller one for 6,000. It will measure 1,800 feet by 450, and will chiefly be supported on massive caissons with a diameter of 16 feet going 40 feet in the ground. It will be over 80 stories high, and have its own subway station on the ground floor. There will be 60 elevators and 16 escalators.

Over 1,000 architects in 70 countries competed for the honor. Mr. Hamilton completed his designs in six months, and when they were ready they were rolled up and placed in a crate 15 feet long. At present he is designing war factories in Britain, and in spare time he is drawn up plans for what he considers should be model British cities of the future.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Standard Equipment

Wheelbarrow Has Always Held An Important Place On Farm

Our favorite hardware store says that a boom in wheelbarrows is one of the encouraging signs of the times It's a boom which has been growing since people gave up pleasure riding and began to discover the joys of working around one's home. A man needs a wheelbarrow.

A wheelbarrow is a simple piece of equipment: a box with removable sides, a wheel in front, and two shafts. But one can sense the opportunities for additional duty, centuries gone, when man first harnessed a single wheel to his use. It's always been a standard part of farm equipment, but now that some 20 million city, suburban, and town dwellers are co-operating in the Victory Garden program, the wheelbarrow is coming into its own as an important adjunct to home-centered urban living. Besides, think of the fun of giving Betsy and Bobbie a ride in the garage when the work is done.—Christian Science Monitor.

A War Memorial

Church Of St. Clement Danes In London Severely Hit Pitied

The following is from the Ottawa Journal's London Letter:

It will strike most people as a happy suggestion that London should follow the example of Plymouth and leave one of its blitzed churches as it stands by way of a memorial to German kultur.

If the proposal is adopted, as it most likely may be, there are unfortunately only too many ruined churches from which to choose as this permanent reminder. But one that will appeal as the ideal memorial is surely St. Clement Danes, the charmed and blasted stone shell of which stands gaunt and tragic near the Law Courts. St. Clement Danes is famous as one of "the island churches" of the Strand, and its bells in happier days used to play that favorite old nursery tune, "Oranges and Lemons," the refrain of which is believed to date right back to the era of Viking invasions, when the Danes and Norsemen raged in mid-Thames at old London Bridge.

In the tiny churchyard at the east end of the church, now heaped with tumbled masonry, stands the effigy of Dr Samuel Johnson, tome in hand, gazing down Fleet street at the end of the Strand, which he always declared to represent "the high tide of London life." St. Clement's would certainly make the ideal memorial, but pity is that Dr. Johnson could not have supplied, as he could, a Latin tribute to Teutonic barbarism.

Discoverer Of Penicillin Is Here At His Great Future

Penicillin will save more lives than the war will destroy, and by now can be produced in such quantity that it is going to become available for civilians Dr Alexander Fleming, its discoverer, believes many more important developments will come out of it, and that the end of penicillin has only just begun. He is quoted as saying, "It would be strange indeed if the first one discovered remained the best."

To Resume Tests For Oil From Tar Sands

OTTAWA. — Experiments of oil from the tar sands along the Athabaska river in northern Alberta will be resumed within the next few months, Resources Minister Crerar said in the commons.

A separation plant is nearing completion near Waterways, Alta., and will be in operation by June 1, Mr. Crerar said during examination of an estimate of $145,000 set aside in his war appropriation estimates for development of the tar sands.

Development of the sands was still in the experimental stage. There were many problems to be solved before the exploitation of the sands could result in commercial success.

J. R. MacNicol (P.C., Toronto-Davenport) said he was not satisfied with what was being done to develop the tar sands. He did not favor a government plant for developing the sands. The process already had cost much more than it should.

He said the operations were not being carried on by the Alberta company which originally undertook the development, but by the government.

"The old company should have been left in charge because they were the only ones who knew how to extract oil from these sands," said Mr. MacNicol.

Mr Crerar said the government made the arrangements for developments with companies simply because of the need for oil if it was available.

There was no criticism of the Abasand process of abstracting the oil, but rather the construction of the plant which did not seem to be the best for efficient operation.

Stress The Value Of A Physical Fitness Program

OTTAWA.—Pensions Minister Mackenzie, emphasizing the value of a physical fitness program, said that such a program would not only aid children, but also adults, "especially those coming home disabled who will require special need of handicraft work."

Mr. Mackenzie was addressing members of the National Council of Physical Fitness Activities at a three-day conference which will direct the future course of Canada's physical fitness program, instituted under the National Physical Fitness Act. The council includes one representative from each province

Maj. Ian Eisenhardt, Vancouver, director of the program, told delegates the scheme was planned to bring recreation, sports, social get-togethers, dramatics and other organized fun to everyone in Canada

Jerry Matthews, Vancouver British Columbia physical education director described the "Pro-Rec" organization — community recreation, sports and physical fitness programs set up in British Columbia 10 years ago. He played Wetaskin B.C. as a typical "Pro Rec" town, "where Wednesday night is Pro-Rec night with games and a party afterward for all "groups."

British Columbia which has the largest physical education program of all the provinces has developed a wide program for "old-timers" with men and women in their 70s taking active part, he said.

W A Wellland Regina provincial secretary of the Y.M.C.A. discussed the role of voluntary agencies under the Physical Fitness Act making it clear he was not speaking for or as a member of the Y.M.C.A.

"I believe the private agencies are vitally interested in the new national physical fitness scheme but are certain of their place in it," he said. "But they feel they have a great deal to offer and they hope it is able to implement some of your plans."

Maj Eisenhardt replied that the private agencies could "rest assured that the council would not go out of the province without asking the assistance

PRICE CEILINGS

Have Been Fixed For Canadian Grown Strawberries And Raspberries

OTTAWA.—The prices board announced that price ceilings have been established for Canadian-grown strawberries and raspberries at a level which is below maximum prices paid by consumers last year but higher than 1942 prices.

For the first time these berries have been placed under a ceiling. Price schedules were not given.

The ceiling prices will apply from May 29 to Sept. 30, with seasonal reduction in strawberry prices to conform with the usual market drop when picking is at its peak. The order also applies to strawberries and raspberries imported from June 8 to Sept. 30, and puts them under the same ceiling as Canadian grown berries in that period.

Prairies Will Have Big Part In Food Plan

REGINA. — Adequate nutritional food for every person in the world might do more to insure a lasting peace than all the resounding and thunderous declarations about rights and liberties, Dr. G. E. Britnell economic adviser to the Wartime Prices and Trade board from Ottawa, said in an address to the Saskatchewan Retail Merchant Association delegates at a banquet meeting in the Hotel Saskatchewan.

Speaking on the significance of the Hot Springs conference held recently to discuss the United Nations' food and agriculture problems Dr Britnell said an estimate was made there that two-thirds of the people in the world were living on poor feeding food, and the other third help them to eat it. As a result, he declared, there never has been enough to eat for all the people in the world, and it is no exaggeration to say that nearly one-third of the people are always on the verge of starvation.

The question of adequate nutrition for all sets world problems of much far higher than any before. But it is useless to produce more food unless it can be economically and equably distributed, and unless people have the means with which to buy it, he added.

For the first time in the world's history it is now physically possible, through science and organization, to produce all the food needed.

"But our scientific and mechanical progress has far outstripped our social, economic and political intelligence," he declared, "and if production is to be controlled, we must see to it that we meet that extension profitably, so that everyone, not just a few, will profit.

Much of the significance of the Hot Springs conference and the United Nations' approach to the problem of food and agriculture lies in its effect on the wheat economy of the prairies, Dr Britnell explained. It was agreed most perishable foods should be produced in areas close to centres where storage and transportation facilities are available

This would leave wheat and other grains to be grown in regions where they can be produced most efficiently and the prairies will play a great part in this plan, Dr. Britnell said

In an average year the value of production and consumption organized on a practical basis the world over would be greater than that of wheat and there would be necessary markets to assure natural economy of production, he said. Canada and other countries would be assured of a market for their protective positions the navy disclosed. In the action last March, the navy said, the two small American boats raced at the destroyers and at 350 yards released torpedoes.

Government's System Of Hog Premiums Seems To Be Satisfactory

OTTAWA. — Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in the commons that no complaints had as yet been received against the government's system of paying premiums on hogs

Under the system, the government pays a premium of $3 on grade A hogs and $2 on grade B Previously packing plants paid a premium of $1 on select hogs, said Mr Gardiner.

The minister said he believed the grading system was satisfactory throughout Canada. The grading was done by government inspectors

British-American Force Destroys Six Ships In Mediterranean

WASHINGTON.—A German convoy of six ships loaded with ammunition and gasoline was destroyed in the Mediterranean by a British-American force after two American patrol torpedo boats took on a pair of German destroyers and lured them away from their protective positions the navy disclosed. In the action last March, the navy said, the two small American boats raced at the destroyers and at 350 yards released torpedoes.

Canada And Russia May Discuss Post-War Plans

EDMONTON. — George Nicholas Zarubin, 44-year-old Soviet ambassador to Canada who arrived in Edmonton from Moscow after a five-day plane trip, predicted in an interview that Canada and Russia soon will discuss post-war air routes and air lines.

"Russia, the United States and Britain have had discussions on post-war air plans and I am certain Canada and the Soviet Union soon will have similar discussions."

Labor Shortage In Canada Is Now Most Acute

OTTAWA. — National Selective Service has launched a three-way attack on the most acute manpower shortage Canada has yet faced, Arthur Macnamara, director of the National Selective Service, said in an interview with The Canadian Press

The program designed to find men to fill essential jobs includes:

1. Personal interviews with men rejected as medically unfit for military service

2 An on-the-spot survey of plants for combat hoarding

3. Extension of compulsory transfer orders to industries now not affected

"We estimate that of the 8,820,000 persons in Canada 14 years and over 2,500,000 now are in the armed forces or gainfully employed," said Mr Macnamara. That is about 62 per cent and it is just about as high as we can expect to go

The answer now is to make the best possible use of the people who are working At the moment we need 178,000 workers to fill jobs in war plants and essential industries — entirely apart from farm workers."

The plan of calling on men rejected by the army for individual interviews is being tried experimentally in Ontario where the most acute lack of shortages exist—and in Winnipeg It is expected it will later be extended to other centres

Men who are found unfit for army service are required to notify the local selective service office of the job they now are holding If it is not considered essential they may be called in for an interview with a view to putting them in some more essential employment.

We have examined about 1,000,000 men for army service and roughly half of them have been unfit," said Mr Macnamara. "We will have to depend on that pool of 500,000 to fill some of these jobs."

POST-WAR ARRANGEMENT BETWEEN NATIONS WOULD ASSURE ALL PROSPERITY

MONTREAL — Canadian farmers will be sure of ample post-war markets for their surplus products if the people of the world are prosperity, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture in the King Cabinet, told the Kiwanis Club here. The duty of all Canadians is to work toward a post-war arrangement between nations which will establish prosperity for all.

"No country alone can have prosperity by itself," Hon. Mr. Gardiner continued, "and in order to be a prosperous nation we must live in a prosperous world; to be a contented nation we must live in a contented world.

"To have peace in the world, we must learn to understand one another and who know that other nations are attempting to assist them in their way of life, just as they are attempting to assist theirs, unless. If we follow those principles we can be sure of a market for our goods, but peace in the world for a longer time than has ever been experienced before."

Confederation had caused the war, said the Minister; and isolationism must be banished after this war. The new national policy which made Canada the war had been directed to try ing to make certain that "when the war is over, all nations will work together it was a great comfort he went on, for the present government to know that it could count on the virile farming population whose war effort had astounded the world, and whose desire for a finer Canada and a better world after the war had been expressed many times.

In a tribute to the people of the Dominion for their mutual thinking in days of stress, Hon. Mr. Gardiner said:

"In Canada, without changing a syllable in our constitution, without sacrificing anything we owe to history, without scrapping the freedom of the press or speech, without dragging our honest differences of opinion on politi-

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

During the past year more than 2,500,000 men have been engaged day and night for months on end, in constructing airdromes in India.

Health LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

V.D. EDUCATION

"Not enough can be said in appreciation of the help and co-operation which the Health League of Canada, through its Social Hygiene Division in charge of Christian Smith, has been giving the anti-venereal disease campaign of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada," W. F. Reid of Calgary, national president of the Junior Chamber, said.

Mr. Reid reported rapid expansion of the voluntary campaign against venereal disease, in support of the official public health program. "As the national organization which has been in the field for 30 years, the League has been in a position to give the necessary guidance and make available for the first time effective, relatively Canadian materials on a national scale."

"By the end of May, about 50 Junior Chamber units will have moved against venereal disease in Canada's first nation-wide anti-VD drive," Mr. Reid said.

Repairing Tanks

Shortage Feared Of British Tank Girls In This Work

A 48 per cent. cut in the time required to inspect the 18,000 parts of a tank is the enviable record achieved by Britain's "tank girls" in recent months. According to a report from overseas, inspection time has been reduced from five days to two.

When a worn-out veteran tank is brought into the shops for reconditioning, tank girls, as they are known, get right to work, checking every part as it is fitted in the hull or turret. Then when the tank is ready for a field test, a tank girl goes along as pilot and checker. In the city, she guides the driver through traffic shouting directions into the "intercom" telephone. On cross-country tests she stands in the turret assisting it for firing, and records the effects of the guns.

British girls train for their jobs at government schools for four months. There they learn general engineering in machine shops, fitting shops and drawing offices.

Has Cargo Fleet

English Speedboat Now Operates A Ship-Island Line

Betty Carstairs, English speedboat star, has given up her tiny island kingdom in the Bahamas to operate a 'way-island boat all her own—complete with her own kingdom, parlor, Santa II, as the flagship.

The 400-ton ship, driving a speedboat, Antelope V, at 106 miles an hour, often cruises now at a few knots aboard her own ships carrying cargoes of bananas, we for grocery-ing fish, sugar, rum and the like. Her company is the North Caribbean Transport Co. Ltd., chartered in Nassau and operating out of Miami to Caribbean islands and the Bahamas. The Santa II, grey-painted and stripped down as a work-a-day craft ties up within sight of the spot where she once moored in white luxury and splendor.

Miss Carstairs, who lives like a queen on her own island, Whale Cay, in the Bahamas makes her home on Miami Beach. Whale Cay, she explained, is closed down now—"only about 15 people there to look after the place."

Her love of the sea—"I shall never lose my love for boats and the sea," she said, roused her to buy the island to leave it to start the boat service.

"I already owned my four boats when the war started," she explained. "The Santa II was built for me in England and was a very good yacht, but too expensive in run. So I had her gutted and fitted out as a freighter. She can never be a yacht again, but she carries as much as 350 tons of cargo. Once she brought in 10,000 cases of bananas quite a good load."

She ended a major feature in the Bahamas by bringing many boat-loads to build up a stockpile which to still being used.

The Bingham girl's fortune came from her grandfather, Jarvis A. Hunt'ch, a founder of Standard Oil. She raced speedboats from 1924 to 1930, and Lor Wood once had her as a passenger when he touched 123 miles an hour.

"Racing was too expensive, so I had to give it up," she says. "Now I'm going to continue my boat line after the war."

RED WITH POPPIES

Spring brought red poppies into full bloom in Italy. Allied soldiers died and through fields made red with blood and also red with poppies. Those red poppies are found through Europe. They have them in England, too. They do not grow high, only five or six inches above the ground. But they are not large, either. Not only about an inch or so in diameter.

Most After Long Absence

A day-long visit at the dockside was rewarded at the Canadian port, when a son they hadn't seen for nine years was unloaded from the hospital ship, Lady Nelson, and greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Williams, 77-year-old residents of Spryfield, N.S. The son, Private Percy Williams of Winnipeg, is pictured embracing his aged mother, while his father looks proudly on. Pte. Williams was invalided home from England after serving for several years. He fought in the First Great War. The family reunion nearly failed to materialize when Mrs. Williams' failing eyesight missed the stretcher carrying her son to the hospital train. He was loaded aboard before the officials found the aged couple still waiting. They met their son there.

Greater Acreage

Prairie Provinces Said To Have Most Land Seen To Wheat

"More wheat this year" was indicated by crop correspondents reporting to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics on the 1944 crop plans of Canadian farmers.

An increase of close to 4,000,000 acres in the area to be seeded to wheat this year as compared with 1943 is indicated. The increase takes place mainly in the three Prairie Provinces.

STILL RAPID GAINING

Australia's aircraft industry is still expanding, with at least two plants having turned their 1,000th plane over to the Royal Australian Air Force. The Federal Department of Aircraft Production, which is manufacturing Beaufort bombers, delivered its 5000th plane a long ago as last November.

Poultry Business

Should Be Conducted On A Sound Business Basis

What is needed in the poultry business, states the Dominion Department of Agriculture, is for more people to look at the industry in a business way and examine critically every item of cost connected with maintained quantity and efficient production. For example, a poultryman's income in young chicks and growing stock amount to a very large sum every year. The purchase of baby chicks is an investment, and it is sound business on the part of the investor to protect that investment. This can be done best by purchasing good stock; by having clean and adequate housing; suitable brooding equipment; proper feeding, and practising good care and management.

PAUL PLEADS FOR A REPENTANT KING

Golden text: Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God also in Christ forgave you. Ephesians 4:32.

Lesson: Philemon.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 67.

Explanations and Comments

The location of the Letter, verses 1-3. Paul writes that Timothy joins him, "a prisoner of Christ Jesus," in sending greetings to Philemon, their beloved fellow-worker, and to Apphia and Archippus, Philemon's wife and son, and to the church that meets in his house. "Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ."

Expressions of Gratitude for Philemon's Faith, Love and Service, verses 4-7. Philemon was a man of means distinguished by his gifts to charity. He was zealous in spreading the gospel, and his house was the meeting-place of a group of Colossian Christians. Moffatt translates the sixth verse thus: "I pray that by their participation in your loyal faith they may have a vivid sense of how much good we Christians can attain." Paul thanks God always as he mentions Philemon in his prayers, for, he writes, "I have much joy and comfort in thy love, because the hearts of the saints have been refreshed through thy brother."

Intercession for Onesimus, verses 8-21. "Wherefore," since Philemon has proved himself good in so many particulars, especially in his love and care of the followers of Christ, as Paul has just written, Paul will appeal from him this further proof of his goodness, that he will forgive Onesimus and welcome him back on his return.

"A disposition to do good, together with past instances and expressions of it, is a good handle to take hold of for pressing for more." (Matthew Henry).

Wherefore, rather than use his apostolic authority and command Philemon, as Paul well might, to do that which is befitting, Paul rather pleads with him as Paul the aged, the prisoner for the sake of Jesus Christ, in behalf of his child, Onesimus, whom he has received of Paul's, and therefore Paul calls him "his child".

HAS WONDERFUL RECORD

One of the first destroyers to reach Dunkirk for the evacuation of British troops from France was the old Windsor which has made a wonderful record during the war. In eight months she steamed 20,000 miles, and in each month completed 4,000 miles. In 1941 a six-months commission involved 16,000 miles, and in 1943 she logged another 34,000.

Occupied French Children Can Be Fed By Fires

People in occupied countries will want poultry during reconstruction, and if hatching eggs can be found to them instead of birds, there will be many economies. To determine whether eggs will hatch after undergoing refrigeration processes for artificial insemination, Paul Bert, the French scientist now living in exile in the United States, has been working in the University of Maryland and American Airlines recently flew 18 dozen eggs from Washington to Los Angeles and back, and then put them into incubation, with an equal number that had not been flown, as check. Results—157 chicks from the 180 eggs that flew, and 162 from those used as a check. Conclusion: Hatching eggs can be flown to Europe.—Brandon Sun.

Poultry Business

Should Be Conducted On A Sound Business Basis

What is needed in the poultry business, states the Dominion Department of Agriculture, is for more people to look at the industry in a business way and examine critically every item of cost connected with maintained quantity and efficient production. For example, a poultryman's income in young chicks and growing stock amount to a very large sum every year. The purchase of baby chicks is an investment, and it is sound business on the part of the investor to protect that investment. This can be done best by purchasing good stock; by having clean and adequate housing; suitable brooding equipment; proper feeding, and practising good care and management.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

SHOES!

— By —

ROBERT J. CASEY

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Mr. Willigger's face brightened. There in the door of the shoe store stood Mr. Benton in an attitude of welcome.

Mr. Willigger's lank frame moved with new buoyancy. He'd have something to show for his labors today. Benton's store was one place that made his work a pleasure. It was the kind of store where attentive care and receptive moods for his pleas in behalf of the Charities Group and its shoe fund, at times, he grew almost sick with discouragement. But occasionally he managed to reap a good harvest for the needy. The Group was proud of him.

"Here we are again." Mr. Willigger announced cheerfully, as he followed Benton into the store.

Inside, his eyes took in the shelves closely packed with high quality stock, for next season, he felt disturbed. Could he expect Benton to donate a whole case of shoes again, odd lots though they might be? The man looked sombre. And when Benton spoke, his voice lacked something. "Of course, I'm happy to see you again Mr. Willigger," he was saying, "but I'm afraid I can't do anything for you this time. Sorry."

Mr. Willigger thought Benton really was sorry. He could tell that by his tone, and kind eyes and the way he held his head. It seemed to him the gray hair had turned somewhat whiter.

"I'm beginning to think that moving my store next door to the newest and biggest hotel in the city wasn't such a good idea, after all," Benton continued. "My old customers don't seem to realize that I'm here. Maybe they don't care." Benton sighed. "And they were the best people."

"You deserve a good business," Mr Willigger said earnestly.

Benton tried to sound cheerful. "It's true I haven't been very busy lately, but who can tell? A good stock turnover and then we'll have something for you. Ah, Mr. Willigger!"

Mr. Willigger nodded. Benton was a fine man. He wished he could do something. He felt sad, but his spirits rose at the thought of lodging handsome gloves by the city's combined civic clubs. He might still make up for the disappointment he had caused at Benton's. He was grateful for permission to say a few words about the Charities Fund. He felt particularly friendly toward A. B. Chester, chairman of the committee.

It was still early, and the luncheon hour to be held in the hotel before which he stood. Mr. Willigger stepped inside the lobby. He could sink into a comfortable chair and ponder on his problem.

There would be about two hundred present, he thought. Men of business, for the most part. It would be no easy task to make them dive deep into their pockets and come up with something tangible. That was what he wanted. Not expressions of moral support nor pledges that did not sustain the enthusiasm of the moment. He had experienced all that before.

They began to appear, these men whose generosity he would soon tap. He wondered if A. B. Chester would arrive early. He hoped that he would. It might be worth while to have a chat with him before the affair.

A. B. Chester strode into the lobby. Mr. Willigger arose to meet him. Shortly afterward, arm in arm, they sought the banquet hall.

Mr. Willigger sat down with mixed feelings. The applause which had followed his impassioned plea for aid for the needy was dying down. Then A. B. Chester rose to his feet. "Gentlemen," he began, "you have all heard Mr. Willigger's remarks." His voice rang out in unison. "And here's mine!"

Shouts, blended with applause and laughter, filled the hall. "Take mine!" . . . "And mine, too!"

Heads were bobbing up and down at all tables. Men grinned. Voices chortled. This was going to be something to be remembered!

Mr. Willigger looked bewildered. Shoes . . . shoes there . . . shoes everywhere! All his for the taking. What publicity this would bring! He rose in addition to the task of a mere collection agency. Mr. Willigger said, "I told you I'd handle them, and now I'm drawing from my own wallet. He would make a thorough job of it.

Mr. Willigger arose abruptly. He must get to a phone.

"Mr. Benton! . . . Willigger speaking. . . . I'm here at the hotel. . . . Get ready for a good stock turnover. . . . Some of your old customers. . . . They'll be here any minute. . . . Lots of them. . . . And if you're stocked in socks, get 'em out. . . . They'll need them too. . . . See you later." Mr. Willigger could imagine the look on Benton's face.

Hurrying back to the banquet hall he found A. B. Chester leading a parade of shoeless diners to the elevators. Mr. Willigger rushed up to him, gratitude shining in his eyes. A. B. Chester held up his hand. "Say nothing about it, Mr. Willigger," he said. "Go back in there and take the shoes away. You'll find money in a jar at your place. And I'd like to tell you," he lowered his voice, "I rather enjoyed all this. You see, I

British Scientists

Have Developed Many Revolutionary Weapons Of War

The record of British scientists at war has proved them more than worthy of this recognition. Many of the newest and most revolutionary weapons of war—whether defensive or offensive have been the product of British brains. Meanwhile in other fields research has gone forward, and discoveries have been made which will prove of lasting and receptive moods for his pleas in value to the world when the war is over.

Radar, probably the greatest weapon in air warfare, was first discovered and perfected in Britain and shared with America. It . . . the Battle of Britain it tipped the balance against Germany and in favor of the whole civilized world.

Since the se days Britain has developed many other weapons for air warfare. After Radar came improved anti-aircraft guns, culminating in the now famous secret "Z" rocket gun.

Britain's new air weapons have been just as much offensive as defensive. The "backroom boys" as her scientists are called have produced bombs which have grown bigger and more powerful every year. Their latest is a 12,000 pounder so large that experts thought they could never get it inside a fitting fuselage. The application of the deep-seeing girdle to the hulls of ships was immediately successful in that it saved very serious parts of the ship's way that they gave the feeder their industry the inefficacy of their daily food consumption and many other things are all indicative of health and health to be.

The Poultry Flock

Must Keep Close Watch To See That Birds Are Healthy

A high degree of health is the greatest asset of the poultry flock. By nature birds are healthy. When they are not, there is a definite cause. The alert poultryman can foresee trouble coming and in most cases can take steps to prevent it. Some of the signs of departure from the normal or early cessation of production are shapeness of the keel bone when felt by hand, thinness of the abdomen, dryness of the skin and dullness of the eye. They justify an immediate search for the cause. The very actions of the flock the way that they greet the feeder their industry the usefulness of their daily feed consumption and many other things are all indicative of health and health to be.

Farm Machinery

Farmers Are Urged To Repair The Binder Now

Farmers are urged to check carefully their binders at the earliest opportunity, and to order needed repairs without delay so that every binder, old or new, should be in the best possible condition for the beginning of harvest.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture advises that particular attention should be paid to the binding attachment to ensure trouble-free operation and reduce loss of time during harvest.

Be sure that the binder knotter is in first-class condition and is kept in proper adjustment. Where grooves have been worn in the twine guides these should be filed out smooth. A badly grooved bill-hook should be replaced.

The twine knife should be replaced if worn down, and it should be kept sharp for best operation. This is particularly important this year as the binder twine produced for 1944, will contain 12¼ per cent. jute in the fibre. However, the quality of the 19-4 wartime binder twine is the very best that can be manufactured from the wartime materials available. Field tests a...so under normal farm conditions, whereas, special adjustment of the binder indicate that with ordinary care all binders in reasonably repair can use this wartime twine.

Huns Desecrated Graves Of Bishops In Russian Cathedral

According to a U.S.S.R. bulletin the Germans knew that in ancient times Novgorod princes and bishops were buried under the floor of the Cathedral, with their crosses and precious jewels. In their search for these treasures, the Hitlerites tore up the flagstones and desecrated the graves. The remains of the Novgorod princes and archbishops have disappeared. The Nazi ghouls removed them with their robes and valuables.

Clothing Exchanges

Mobile Exchanges For Children's Clothing In Great Britain

Children's Clothing Exchanges had not been long in existence in Britain before the need to adapt them for rural districts was realized. Village women found it next to impossible to come into the towns with their children, and the idea of setting up small static Exchanges in the villages themselves was impracticable. Clothing cannot be exchanged indefinitely within a tiny community where everyone knows each other. The Mobile Exchanges have solved such problems.

Secure snap fasteners with an over and over stitch. Sew each hook separately. Carry the thread on the wrong side to the next hole. Most snap-fasteners have a perforation through the centre. The Milking Stool

Another Symbol of the HARD WAY Becomes a Relic

One by one the time-taking, tiring and tiresome hand labor chores of the farm have been eliminated by a machine that does the work easier, quicker and more profitably.

The milking stool for instance has long been a symbol of the hard way to do a job. But more and more dairymen are spending less time on milking stools now. Shortage of help and pressure of work have emphasized the value of using machines instead of muscles wherever possible, and dairymen have found the answer in the mechanical milking machine.

Because the purchase of a milking machine saved them hours of time and labor, thousands of dairymen have been able to carry on and benefit from the great demand for dairy products in recent years. "Hand milking" is out for them now that they have experienced the comfort and convenience of a mechanical milker.

In the progress that Canadian agriculture has made in improved methods and practices, equipment engineered and manufactured by Massey-Harris has played an important part. Among the time and labor saving machines your local Massey-Harris dealer has to offer is the Rite Way Milker. Make it a point to ask him for full particulars.

The month of June brings with it a new all round program to CJCA listeners. Here comes the days of ball-batting, golf and special trips for bird watchers will travel through out the month at 2 in the afternoon. Together with its excellent listening qualities. Here comes the Bride has another very appealing feature to it. The end of the series will climax a wedding or a wedding engagement to Here Comes the Bride—CJCA. At the close of the series six winning names will be selected from all those received throughout the month. Depending on the time of the show Tom Moffitt through Friday.

One of the features I look forward to of American offerings is Ted Steele and his Novatones. Ted's expert Dobbs with the Texas Rangers has been over CJCA. From hillbilly shindigs in Arkansas to cowboy dances in Wyoming, he has recorded thousands of miles and visited many of the most places to observe the various types of old time fiddling to bring us. As a result Ted is an expert on the classical American folk tune style of violin playing. He doesn't claim to be or want to be a virtuoso of the violin rather he wants to preserve the old styles of fiddlin which and music authenticity to the beautiful melodies started in those famed cowboy troubadours. The Misses McWilliams sisters of Andrew McWilliams, arrived in Vermilion last week from Scotland.

Heavy rains have fallen over the country.

The East Lady Minto hospital has been erected at Islay. Two months ago there was nothing of it, today there is a neat little building equipped throughout and with nurses and a doctor in charge. The moving spirit in all this is Miss Towgood, an Englishlady who came to the west to visit her sister at Islay, and while there saw the great need or such an institution

A. C. Demers, carriage builder of the Wetaskin district, is opening in business in town and has a shop well under way on First street North.

HERE IS REVIEW OF JUNE WEATHER

Heavier rainfalls than in May and at least some thunderstorms may be expected in June if the records of the past 50 years give indication of what the month will bring in the way of weather.

The previous look at June weather was given by the Edmonton weather bureau.

After dieting through June weather data for the past 50 years, the bureau officials say June is not always a frost-free month. Temperatures as low as 20 have been recorded. June snowfalls are "very rare."

Normal temperature for June is 58 compared with May's 51. Precipitation is 3.28 inches compared to May's 1.97. Highest temperatures average 83 while the low average 52. Prevailing winds are westerly.

Temperatures as high as 90 have been recorded during June and the monthly precipitation has ranged from 67 inches to 8.13 inches. Thunderstorms become more frequent and the average June will bring four. The longest day of the year will occur June 21 when the sun will rise at 5:05 a.m. and will set at 10:06 p.m. At the end of the month the sun will rise at 5:06 a.m. and set at 10:07 p.m.

Spitfire Now Long Range Type

LONDON—The appearance of the Spitfire shooting up railways and wrecked aircraft so far away as the area between Aachen and Cologne, has an important bearing on the coming assault on the Continent. The conversion of the Spitfire from a short-range to a long-range type has been done without impairing its fighter qualities.

Many speculators about the place of the first landings have pinpointed for the Calais area because, they have reasoned, even though it may be the most heavily defended, it is the only area within range of fighter aircraft protection.

This was correct at one time, but now the Allies have long fighters — spitfire, Mustang, Lightning, Thunderbolt capable of giving fighter protection over points a long way for they call than Calais. This fact opens up so many possibilities that speculation becomes even more futile than ever

CANADIAN WOOL INCREASE

Final revised figures of Canadian wool graded in government registered wa. warehouses in 1943 indicates that the t al amounted to 18,345,607 lbs states the Current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada. This represents an increase of 187,821 lb over 1942. The total quantity of eastern-grown wool graded in 1943 was practically the same as in 1942, so that the increase was entirely in the western-grown wool.

FARM MACHINERY PROGRAM

EDMONTON.—While every possible consideration is being given to farmers' needs for equipment, supplies will still be limited in man power, metrical materials and components that can be allocated, H. H. Bloom Toronto, administrator of farm and construction machinery for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, stated here in a meeting of implement dealers.

Mr Bloom, who is also Canadian representative on the farm and food processing machinery committee of the Combined Production and Resources Board at Washington, further pointed out the urgent need of equipment for Britain and for relief of devastated liberated areas. Provision is being made to assign equipment to soldier re-establishment in Canada, he commented.

Quotas for the Canadian consumer in 1945, at slightly over 10% percent of the total tonnage purchased by farmers in 1940 will still only meet most essential needs under present conditions. Rationing will continue to assure proper distribution, the administrator stated.

Mr. Bloom commented that quotas in Canada compare favorably to those in the United States.

WILDNERS WINKS

We can hardly settle down to write news items after the big news items across the pond where many of our loved ones are taking part to bring victory and lasting peace to our warstorn world. God be with our boys everywhere.

We wish to extend our deepest sympathy to all who have lost loved ones — to Evelyne de Breville, and to the relatives of Mr. Thomas; to the Osborne family, Cooper family, and to Mrs. Sanborn. Also to Mr. and Mrs. Thos Davis who have lost their son George in Italy. He died fighting for freedom for us all back home.

Sgt. Norman Smith is at present ill with scarlet fever in Calgary.

Miss Evelyn Howard of Edmonton spent last week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Howard. She came to see her two brothers before they left for their air force posts. All returned to their stations on Sunday evening.

We had lots of rain last week, in fact there was most everywhere. With some warm weather now the crops should really grow.

Mr Geo. Funnell of Union district was a caller at the writer's home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wellington and the Ibraham children were Sunday evening visitors to the Padden home.

Arnold Winter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Winter, Battleview, was wounded in the fighting in Italy.

We wish Mr Groen of Auburndale who we hear is a patient in the Vermilion hospital, a speedy recovery. Also Mr Erdest Symon of Walsworth who has been in ill health for some

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange
Director, Research Department, Searle Grain Co. Ltd.

IN PRAISE OF WOMEN

Mr. H. Oldham, His Majesty's British Trade Commissioner in Winnipeg, has just returned from a two months' visit to Britain.

Mr. Oldham states he was immensely impressed with the intelligent and hard work being done by the women of Britain. "The women were applying themselves with vigor and fervor to the war tasks they had undertaken" he said. Mr. Oldham judged, too, "that the efficiency of the women in some war work was higher than that of men."

To those who are familiar with the part being done by women on our prairie farms this assertion by Mr. Oldham is not surprising; observers have often commented on the ability of our women to perform their tasks efficiently, intelligently, ably and well. The shortage of labor on the prairie has thrown many additional burdens on our farm women; they are in consequence doing much heavy work which usually is done only by men.

Our prairie women, therefore, with their Canadian sisters, and with the women of Britain, are doing their full part in helping to win a Victory, which will ensure the future freedom of their homes and of their children, and, too, the early return of their fighting men; just as history tells us women have ever done when their country is at war.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN T WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

The Russian occupation of Bessarabia and Bucovina has deprived Rumania of one of her most prosperous agriculture regions—General rains are needed over all three prairie provinces to facilitate germination of the spring crops—Broomhall reports that Brazil's rice surplus will be purchased by Great Britain

The U.S.A. winter wheat crop is estimated at 691,750,000 bushels, compared with last year's crop of 539,686,000 bushels — Canadian wheat and flour exports during the first seven months of the current season are officially estimated to be about 60 per-cent higher than during the same period last year—Seeding of wheat is reported making good progress in Australia.

EXPORT BACON FEAT

As a result of the unexpectedly heavy slaughter of hogs in Canadian exporting plants during the first three months of 1944, the Meat Board has been able to report phenomenal progress in the export bacon contract with Britain Total purchases of bacon towards the minimum commitment (500 million lb.) amounted to nearly 277 million lb. up to April 1, 1944, and this error well past the half-way mark, states the Current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada.

Commonwealth Of Nations

ALTHOUGH IT IS NOW SOME TIME since the British Commonwealth Premiers met in London, there is still considerable discussion and comment concerning that important gathering. One point which appears to have impressed all who followed the proceedings of the conference, was the complete unanimity of opinion among the Prime Ministers in respect to the continued unity of the Empire. Mr. Churchill, in his recent speech during the Prime of Commons debate on foreign affairs stated that "nothing was more remarkable than the cordial agreement expressed by every one of the Dominion Prime Ministers in the general conduct of our foreign affairs and the principles which govern that conduct." Referring to the discussions which took place at the Conference, Mr. Churchill observed that "there was revealed a core of agreement which will enable the British Empire and Commonwealth to meet in discussion with other organisms in the world in firmly united array."

* * * * *

Commenting on the same subject, Mr. Herbert Morrison, British Home Secretary, said: "The degree of goodwill, commonsense, enlightenment, and cooperation the Prime Ministers showed was extraordinary"; while Premier Mackenzie King, in his statement regarding the conference, given before the Canadian Parliament, reported that "the entire proceedings were marked by a degree of unanimity and determination that it would be impossible to exaggerate." While it has been admitted that there were small differences of opinion in some matters, there was no difficulty in eliminating these during the course of the discussions. It now appears that this accord which has been reached in regard to the conduct of the Empire's foreign policy, may be a basis for the opening of wider discussions with other countries on these questions, and may lead the way toward a world unity which will be necessary to a lasting peace.

A Basis For World Unity

Empire Seeds Still Strong

It was made apparent at the conference that Canada is gaining greater importance in world affairs, and that she intends to fulfil her obligations in this connection to the best of her ability. It was made equally apparent, however, that Canada intends to retain her position as a free nation within the commonwealth. This was in accord with the attitude of the other nations represented, and is a vigorous denial of the rumors which frequently circulated, hinting that there is disunity within the Emp re. The rumors come largely from sources outside of the Empire and from people who have little understanding of the bonds which unite this great family of nations. These bonds are as strong now as they have ever been, and they join together people who, although they are scattered over many parts of the world, have the same concept of freedom and human liberties, a concept which began with the signing of the Magna Carta in 1215, and still endures.

"Info Rooms" Help in Training Canada's Soldiers

In the army today a trained Canadian soldier has to have a thorough knowledge of a great variety of subjects.

Since the beginning of the year the army has set up "info rooms". These information rooms are now or will soon be a part of every training centre in Canada. And it is the never-ending job of the officer in charge to revise maps, observe all available information and try to keep abreast of the changing war scene.

Pictures of all known Nazi uniforms, allied and enemy tanks and planes are found there. maps showing the situation in any given war area, sand table models to facilitate teaching of map reading. The "info room" in a Canadian training centre is of valuable assistance to the knowledge which every well-trained soldier must have.

Munitions Minister Urges People To Prepare For Next Winter

Munitions Minister Howe warned in a statement that despite the mildness of last winter and the improvement in stocks Canada faces the possibility of a shortage of wood fuel next winter.

To help prevent such a shortage Mr. Howe urged that every community in a wood-burning area examine its local situation at once and if necessary take immediate steps to build up stockpiles. He suggested also that every householder burning wood should, if at all possible, buy his wood at once and store it for use next winter.

The minister said the period for payment of the $1 per cord production subsidy on fuel wood will be extended to Sept. 30, 1946.

Farm Women Are Given Salute By The Nation

Women guerillas from farms and villages in lands over the seas are winning decorations for fighting the enemy. In Canada, too, the farm woman is needed as a guerilla to battle another foe, which threatens home and country. Its names is "inflation".

The nation has honored all women on the farms and in cities and towns for their fight against inflation by holding "Mrs. Consumer Week". Now, under the leadership of their national presidents, groups across the land are banding themselves more to carry on the battle through all the other weeks of the year, never ceasing in their efforts. With Canada's appreciation to inspire them, there's a new lift to the daily duty of checking prices, scrupulously observing rationing, helping find the money for taxes needed in an all-out war, and putting dollars and quarters into war bonds.

Now that the war is moving so swiftly to its great climax, reports Checking Officers say that women throughout the country are more determined than ever to do their duty and help beat Canada into the most stable now and for the time when the boys come home.

Malaria Mosquito

Deadly War Is Being Waged On The Home Front

War against the deadly malaria mosquito is being waged on the home front. In Canada health authorities are beginning to worry that the disease, which has been dormant for more than half a century, may be brought back to Canada by returning troops from the Mediterranean area; that men who have recovered from the disease may pass on the bug by way of the mosquitoes here, known as Anopheles.

Already malaria control is being carried out extensively in the United States by dusting mosquito areas from airplanes and the use of oil on stagnant water.

"Mess Line", which is the soldier's name for the Anopheles malaria-carrying mosquito, breeds fast on warm spring days and is wiser allowed to stagnate after seasonal rains. And because this fragile-appearing, but deadly mosquito is responsible for this war's worst disease, U.S. health authorities have begun their greatest offensive to exterminate her.

Beware Grass Fires

Every Care Should Be Taken To Protect Your Property

In view of the imminent danger to farm buildings and cottages near grassland, grass should not be burned. It is safer to mow it or cut down the weeds, pile them up, and cart them away. Is cases where it is necessary to burn a fire, the following precautions should be taken, no matter how free from danger the circumstances appear to be: Never allow children to do this work alone. Even when under supervision, children should not be the only members of the party, grown-up neighbours should be asked to help. Make certain that each member of the crew has a rake, a shovel, or a broom, or other appliance to beat out fire. Always have close at hand pails of water, if a creek or other water is not near. Before starting the fire, make sure that all grass is thoroughly raked from around buildings so that fire cannot reach them. Never leave the burnt-out place without being certain that the fire is out, and if the fire had been set in the early evening, it is a safe plan to take another look at the place before going to bed.

Post-War Plans

British Government Has Sweeping Plans For Placing Jobs For All

The United Kingdom government in a white paper announced sweeping plans for getting Britons back to work after the war finding jobs for all and beating the bugbear of a post-war slump.

It made the hopeful assertion there will be no problem of general unemployment in the years immediately after the end of the war in Europe. The white paper was issued by the minister of reconstruction, Lord Woolton. One phase of the government's policy it indicated, is to co-operate actively with the other nations, firstly for the re-establishment of general economic stability after the shocks of war and next for the progressive expansion of trade.

Two other main points of the government's programme to beat unemployment are firstly planned spending on public works to check the onset of a depression in which a co-ordinating body under the cabinet will be set up to control expenditure on the programmes of public authorities five years ahead, and secondly, concerted action between the treasury and banks to influence the volume of capital expenditure by variations in the rate of interest.

ENGAGE IN INDUSTRIAL WORK

Out-work is on the increase in Britain. Latest figures gave 40,000 persons engaged on industrial work in private home and other makeshift out-work depots, 17,000 in London alone. They work on the average of 23 hours a week; their output is good, and the quality high. Particular factory workers now number nearly a million.

Must Unite To Maintain Peace Declares Curtin

OTTAWA.—The spokesman for a bastion of freedom in the Pacific, Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia, said in an address that he looked beyond the war to continued collaboration of the British Commonwealth, the United States, Russia and China in maintaining peace.

Speaking without notes and sometimes with striking gestures, Mr. Curtin stood in the green chamber of the house commons and declared himself the spokesman of the common man in asking that the light of reason rather than the sword be the instrument of government.

A Labor man, he spoke with contempt of vast armies being taken from useful production to fight other vast armies, leaving their people at home to have double misery.

Quickly, pressed by the trend of the development of German despotism, the movement of the Japanese "assaults the dark," both of these evil forces against whom the war must be carried until they are "forever destroyed".

Sometimes his words were drowned in applause from the assembled members and commoners, as when he spoke in admiration of the people of the United Kingdom and of the Russians.

Canadians had praised Australian fighting men, and this had been done "handsomely" by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Colonel Drew-on, Progressive Conservative house leader, who welcomed him.

"But here in this place may I now pay tribute to what the Canadian fighting man did, to what the Canadian airman did, to the Canadian sailor," Mr. Curtin said Australians had gone into the war because they knew that in fighting for world freedom and in defence of Britain they were in fact fighting for the defence of their own country.

The vast effort which could come to the world was that millions of people useful in production had to be set apart in armies to fight other armies.

"Upon the great nations, then, surely there falls the responsibility of making it clear that that association which war has meant for us, meant for Russia, meant for the United States, meant for the British commonwealth, those three great powers, together with China . . . these four who have subscribed themselves to the charter, means that their great resources involve also high responsibilities," said Mr. Curtin.

"What is their major responsibility? Just to make sure that they find ways and means to pool their strength to resist a brutal foe who threatened their homes, their liberties and the sovereignty of their peoples in their own affairs, so surely this strength, so prodigious in the present service of freedom, is a force which can be maintained and made use of in order to prevent a recurrence of circles such as that Hitler and his Axis collaborators have forced upon an unwilling and indeed victimized world."

It would give Australians great pleasure to know they were so highly regarded by a leader of Russia, and it would give them stimulus and encouragement to carry through to the conclusion of the fight against the enemies of freedom, so they could last regenerate conditions such as those now being fought, Mr. Curtin said.

LIVING ALLOWANCE

Increase To Workers Who Are Directed To New Jobs

OTTAWA.—Increased supplementary living allowances to workers directed to new jobs were authorized in an order-in-council tabled in the commons by Labor Minister Mitchell.

The order, which amends selective service regulations, enabled selective service officers to authorize payment of a supplementary allowance up to $7.50 a week to workers who in the new jobs to which they were directed were required to live away from their dependents. The previous regulations provided for supplementary allowances of $5 a week.

PRISONERS WELL TREATED

"The same was said about prisoners' camps in Canada," the broadcaster continued.

Watching Progress Of Battle

General Sir Harold Alexander, Allied commander in Italy, follows the progress of the Allied assault from a position on the 8th Army front.

Royal Navy Has Gained Mastery Of Arctic Ocean

LONDON.—The Royal Navy has gunned and bombed its way to what appears to be handedown mastery of the Arctic ocean, clear to Russia and, for more than 100 days, has been sweeping—free from enemy attack—into the very shadows of the Norwegian coast.

I have just returned from four months with the fleet and have seen that the Allies have won the battle of the Arctic as conclusively as that in the Atlantic.

It can be disclosed that U-boat assaults on Allied shipping in the north have been smashed. German plane attacks have at least temporarily ceased completely. The German surface navy has been hammered until it is questionable whether it now constitutes more than a feeble potential threat.

On supply routes which barely a year ago were so filled with U-boats that torpedoes "ran in grooved tracks" German submarine attacks have dwindled in effectiveness until the U-boats sunk outnumber the Allied vessels lost.

The Royal Navy is now using tactics like those paying heavy dividends in the Atlantic. They cover the ships with aircraft carriers as well as warship escorts, sometimes making their fleet almost a single task force.

Meanwhile, carrier - borne and R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. land based aerial attacks on the German Norwegian bases and coastal supply lines awaiting possible participation in have been increased during the past 60 days to the greatest pitch of the war.

The fleet facing the Germans for the final showdown of the European war is one of the finest fighting outfits ever assembled. It now has the weight, equipment and strength required to hold the upper hand. As one young Lieutenant-commander expressed it: "We have enough stuff to wear a groove in the water."

TO SAVE CHINA

Road Must Be Built Within The Next Months

VANCOUVER.—The Allies have only six months in which to push through a road that will provide the extremely necessary stream of supplies to China, Most Rev. Paul Yu-Pin, Roman Catholic bishop of Nanking, said in an interview here

The tall Manchurian born bishop is in Vancouver toward the end of a year-long aerial tour of the world.

There was danger that Japanese troops will sever China, dividing her into two parts doubling the task of the Allies in driving them out of China, Bishop Yu-Pin said.

MANY DEATH CLAIMS

TEXT BOOKS

Advocate History Book That Would Be Acceptable To All Provinces

OTTAWA.—Preparation of a "fair, broadminded, authorized textbook" of Canadian history was advocated by Senator Rupert Davies (L., Ontario) in the senate.

Senator Davies spoke in support of a motion by Senator L. A. David (L., Quebec) proposing that the coming Dominion-provincial conference appoint a committee to prepare a textbook of Canadian history acceptable to all provinces.

"I do feel we need a change," said Senator Davies. "In Canada today, including French schools in Quebec, we are using in our public and high schools more than 70 different histories of this country."

German Gestapo Launches A New Wave Of Terror

LONDON.—The German gestapo pressed a ferocious new wave of terror in France. The Netherlands and Belgium which mean shootings and arrests of the patriots on whom the Allied invasion command has called to assist the coming liberation armies.

This ruthless blood-letting, reported by the French press service in London, offered new evidence of gestapo jitters within German-held Europe and contrasted with the calm confidence evidenced in the invasion base of Britain.

The French underground reported the "complete ravaging" of the Dordogne department when the Nazis surrounded the town of Riberac and seized into hostage 100 Frenchmen from whom nothing more has been heard."

All inhabitants found on the road leading to Riberac were shot on the spot," the report said, "and the Germans set fire to a forest where many people were gathering wood. The people were burned alive."

The same day, the account continued 36 houses were burned at Brantome and the bodies were left in the public square 24 hours. At St. Quentin 27 persons were slain in reprisal for shooting the collaborationist mayor. In Belgium 20 were slain for an attempt on the lives of two Walloon quislings, the Belgian news agency reported.

British newspapers displayed prominently a Washington announcement that the United States was producing a plane every five minutes and slanted an announcement James Forrestal, United States navy secretary, that there now are enough landing craft to carry the entire invasion army over the waters to Hitler's Europe

More Than 5,000 Japanese Dead On New Guinea Invasion Sector

ADVANCING ALLIED HEAD-QUARTERS, New Guinea. — More than 5,000 Japanese dead have been counted at two Netherlands New Guinea invasion sectors, Hollandia and Wakde-Toem, headquarters reported.

Allied Admiral Reviews War In The Pacific

AUCKLAND, N.Z.—Admiral William F. Halsey, Allied commander in the south Pacific, in a review of fighting in the Pacific said: "If the Jap's back is not broken his spine is severely bent."

In an interview here he said damage inflicted upon the Japanese by the south Pacific command was in the neighborhood of 4,800 planes destroyed, 150,000 Japanese killed "and so many ships destroyed or damaged I cannot count them."

The American admiral visiting New Zealand for the second time since he assumed the southwest Pacific command said

"In the whole south Pacific including Bougainville, there now are only about 15,000 Japanese of whom not more than 5,000 are effective. We can now say of the Pacific generally that if the Jap's back is not broken his spine is severely bent."

Allied forces established a beachhead on Bougainville island more than a year ago but there has been no word of heavy fighting in that sector for many weeks

Admiral Halsey revealed that 19 months ago he had only a "shoestring" but added this had since become to "a large-sized boot."

After the Battle of the Solomons, No 13, 1942, he said he had available one injured aircraft carrier, one injured battleship, one undamaged cruiser and only a few destroyers. But "the Jap was given such a drubbing that he did not come back."

He added: "The Jap is really a small man and he can be easily discouraged when his big foot."

The admiral paid New Zealand fighting men a warm compliment. "I can say in my better judgment men in the world I would like to know where they are," he continued. "Everybody who does not use them is just a plain fool. I hope to meet them in Tokyo if I am lucky enough to be there myself."

A NEW RECORD

Likely To Be Attained By Canadian Trade This Year

OTTAWA.—On the basis of imports and exports during the first four months of 1944, Canadian trade this year is likely to attain a new record in excess of $5,000,000,000, Trade Minister MacKinnon said.

Last year, total Canadian trade was valued at $4,736,429,189, a record

"The first four months of any year in Canada's trade are usually better than in the succeeding months of the year, so that the outlook at present is that Canadian trade by December will be considerably in excess of the $5,000,000,000 mark. This is regarded as a conservative estimate."

The balance of trade in favor of Canada during the first four months of 1944 amounted to $456,950,000, compared with $245 12,000 in the corresponding period of last year.

The wheat was saving many people from starvation.

Attached to a bomber recently stationed in northern Ireland, for the past 18 months, LAC Alice Harrison (WAAF) arrived in Vancouver on furlough.
Discussing what she kept in the parcels she sent to Chris Cairns, Vermilion, LAC Harrison said the articles were all the realities of life to the members of the WAAF overseas. "Anything we received as a rush, be it cigarettes or the requirements of the station is all Canadian and the most severed airwomen from Edmonton.
She said the people of Scotland are friendly but found the Englishman "a bit reserved at first."

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Isley Celebrate Golden Wedding

Married at Worthington, Minnesota, on June 12, 1891, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Isley celebrated the golden anniversary of their wedding on Monday, June 12, 1944. The now well-known couple settled in the Wildmere district in 1911, and made their home there until this spring when they retired from active farming and moved into Vermilion for a well-earned rest.

Monday, the actual anniversary was passed quietly, but on Sunday, the golden wedding was fittingly celebrated at the old family farm home at Wildmere. Here no less than fifty-five relatives gathered in a real family reunion in honor of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Isley have a family of twelve, six sons and six daughters. All were present but one son Everett who is overseas with the Canadian Armed Forces, the other sons are, Clifford, Wesley, Harold, Kenneth and Elmer, all of the Vermilion district. The daughters are Mrs Lillian Tilley of Flat Lake, Alta., Mrs. Ruth Montmaster, Thailand; Mrs. Hazel Bathe, Wildmere; Mrs. Esther Johanson, Earle; Mrs. Ethel Whitlock, Hindville, and Miss Mildred Isley at home. There are thirty-five grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Present at the gathering on Sunday also were Mr. and Mrs. John F. Isley of Wetaskiwin, the former being a cousin of Mr. Isley.

To accommodate the gathering of fifty-five, a table 32 feet long was set, and all of the "family" sat down to a bountiful dinner, followed by a three-tiered wedding cake, surmounted by a miniature bride and groom. The cake was a work of culinary as well as artistic art and was made by a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Montmaster of Tolland. Interesting features were the sharing of numerous songs by several of the girls, including "Put Me and My Gal" specially dedicated to the bride and groom of fifty years ago.

Mrs. Tilley, on behalf of the sons and daughters, presented their father and mother with a basket of yellow roses, a trifle for their new home in town, and a well filled purse. The grandchildren, with whom grandmother and grandfather are great favorites, added a big variety of gifts, all carrying their own particular message of love and good wishes.

Two of the grandchildren, Dick and Roy Tilley, as well as Everett Isley, are overseas, and three gallant boys were not forgotten, three autographed books being signed by all present and forwarded to them.

The Standard joins with the people of the community in extending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Isley, with the sincere wish that they may enjoy many years of happiness in Vermilion.

However, a number of calendars for 1944 had been printed with the holiday shown on July 3, the first Monday in July.

TWO HAIL ROUTES OPEN

Tenders Being Received for Rural Routes 1 and 2

There is a chance for a good mail man as both Vermilion rural routes 1 and 2 are now open for tender. The original contracts were held by the late Harry Armstrong and on his death were carried on by Douglas Maxwell. The latter has plenty to occupy his attention with his garage business and is no longer interested in carrying the mail, so a new mail man or possibly two new mail men are urgently needed to carry on.

Posters advertising the routes are on display at the post-office and Postmaster Don Taylor is also on hand to give all necessary information. Anyone interested should investigate the openings immediately. Tenders close for route No. 1 on July 21 and for No. 2 on June 30th.

HAIL AGAIN CANCELS SPORTS DAY FOR KIDDIES

The Elks sports day for kiddies scheduled for Wednesday this week was again rained out and the event has now been cancelled. The sports were originally set for May 24th but were postponed to June 14th due to hail and the late spring made it impossible again on the new date. It is hoped the Elks have better luck next year with their kiddies' day sports.

CROP CONDITIONS EXCELLENT FOUR-DAY RAIN

Condition of crops is stated to be about five days ahead compared with 1943. Wheat is now generally about 7 inches in height. It has germinated evenly and there is a good strong stand, well rooted. Modern cereal conditions for the surface are now excellent with that of the subsoil very good. There has been no crop damage or set back of any kind.

Summer-fallow has decreased some 10%. Wheat acreage has increased 15% and oats 5% with the flag acreage with a 15% decrease in barley and rye. Flax acreage is somewhere on the same level as 1943. No rain is needed to greatest. There is a very heavy weed growth (the best at present) and for warm dry weather, total rainfall has now reached 5½ inches.

MESSAGE FROM THE PREMIER

The following message by Premier Manning regarding the French invasion was broadcast June 6th over the air, and is reproduced herewith as follows:

"The crucial hour, for which freedom-loving people throughout the world have waited, has arrived. This is a solemn and momentous day in human history. The thoughts of all are with our fighting sons, who, even now, are storming the beaches of the Continent. All are facing the grim fury of an enemy who knows that his hour of judgment is come.

"The future of Christian civilization hangs in the balance. It behooves us all to unite this day in prayer and in supplication, that God will give victory to the hands of God, and seek His Divine strength and protection for those who must bear the brunt of the battle. To Almighty God, for the safe ones of those who will be called upon to pay the supreme price for the liberation of mankind.

"I, therefore, appeal to each and every one of the citizens of this province to spend some time, reverently in private prayer and supplication, and in the special services which will be held throughout the Province today and during the coming week."

Ernest C. Manning,
Premier.

RUST

It has been said that the Red Cross has been developed, not by promotion, but by contagion. In it, one finds opportunity for self-expression; and all engaged in it are inspired by the important truth that service of this character is not merely a matter of philanthropy, but a privilege, a profession of good citizenship and is founded upon an exchange of service for the common welfare.

HOG PASTURES

As a pasture for hogs Alfalfa is unsurpassed, and it is a well known fact that the hog producer in a region where this plant thrives should use it for pasture in summer and hay in winter.

Two annual crops that have been found suitable as hog pasture are rape, and a mixture of oats and winter rape. Rape has a heavier carrying capacity, but with a reveal pasture there is less danger of suncalds in the rape.

Two bushels of oats mixed with one bushel of rye offers a forage crop that can be seeded early and will produce pasture until after freeze-up in November. The oats in this mixture will give protection from spring until midsummer. The fall rye will supply pasture from late summer until late fall if not too heavily grazed.

Conserving Moisture

Crops sown on summerfallow this spring will benefit from moisture accumulated since about August, 1942, as well as from rain which we all hope will fall this summer. Under average conditions, this should produce about 30 inches of precipitation.

Experiments conducted by the late Sidney Evans at the Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, over a period of 11 years, merits careful study by all dry land farmers. Of the total precipitation which falls during the summerfallow period of 20 months (for example, August, 1942 to April, 1944), not more than 20 percent is available to the summerfallow crop. What becomes of the rest?

1 Some percolates down through the subsoil, but this loss is negligible except in humid areas.

2. Some runs off the field.

3. Let it evaporates.

4. Too much is used by weeds.

We may ignore No. 1. Run-off never can be more feasible, contour tillage will reduce losses from No. 2. Loss from No. 3 is almost entirely unavoidable. With respect to No. 4 it is significant that Mr. Barton considered that preventing weed growth was the most important problem of summerfallow tillage. In his experiments, wheat yielded more than twice as much where weed growth on the fallow was prevented as did wheat upon weeds were left alone until being plowed under on July 15th.

It takes at least 300 pounds of water to produce one pound of dry plant weed material.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

The Ear Ring

By RUTH GILBERT COCHRAN
McClure Newspaper Syndicate

July's noonday sun blistered the tar paper roofs of Vanadium, but a breeze, tempered by the snows atop Mount Wilson, made Mame Terry's porch a cool and restful oasis in the little Colorado mining town. Mame's boarders had settled there as usual to enjoy a half-hour's rest and gossip before strolling back to the ore sheds. Pipes were lighted, and a dozen pairs of tousled feet rested on the wooden railing, but today's exchange of comments was somewhat lacking in recluse because of the presence of a stranger.

He was pleasant enough, this shrewd-eyed chap whose hat brim bristled with trout flies. And he asked no questions except as to the most auspicious hours for fishing in Wilson Creek. But he was a city fellow, an outsider, so conversation languished until Mame and her sister Kit, filling themselves in two breaking rockers, broke the spell.

"There's Jeff Tubbs, like a loon," Mame muttered, "emptying his new garage floor again. Why don't you tell him to slow down, Dee?"

"I ain't exchanged much talk with Jeff this past week," Doc Smith winked ponderously. "I did try to communicate with him a mite after he had that dust-up with a thief the night before Lena left him. But there wasn't much doubt left in my mind that Jeff wished I'd attend to my own affairs. In fact, the whole town heard him requestin' me to do so."

His hearers laughed, and Mame's sister pricked up her ears.

"Tubbs must have been happening since I was here last summer," she smiled. "You don't mean to tell me that young girl I saw in Jeff Tubbs' store was his wife!"

"His wife? Heck, no!" the landlady responded vigorously. "His stepdaughter, Lena Ames, married Frank Stevens, a surveyor, a week ago. Don't know what else Jeff could expect, marrying a girl practically make a prisoner of the girl."

"She was a pretty little thing," said Kit.

"Sweet, too," Mame agreed. "She was the widder Ames' daughter, her that Jeff married ten years ago. I often wondered how Lena could stand the way Jeff treated her after he was died." Mame, fairly launched, drew a deep breath and her regular boarders, to whom the tragic saga of Tubbs was only too familiar, settled off to their afternoon occupations, leaving only the fisherman to overhear the tale.

Lena, Mame divulged, had been left a nice little nest egg by her mother. "Over two thousand dollars in cash and a few trinkets of jewelry, to be handed over to Lena when she was twenty-one, or before, if she married. Jeff kept the legacy in an old cash box in his safe, claimin' he didn't trust no bank. And worked the girl like a slave, drivin' off every likely young chap who tried to get court to her. Well, love laughs at sourpusses, they say, and when Frank Stevens appeared in town Jeff come up agin one feller that didn't scare easy.

"It was a case of love at first sight with Frank and the girl. And after a few weeks of sech meetin's as they could manage to steal together, young Stevens braced old Jeff like a man one Friday evenin'. Told him he was plannin' to marry Lena the next day and take her back to Denver with him. . . . Ary the more money, we'll expect you to turn over Lena's money to her,' Frank says, 'as she can bank it properly.'

"The idea of handlin' over about killed the old miser, but he says, 'Why, sure, Stevens, sure! Lena'll have her inheritance, all fair and square, tomorrow mornin'.'

"But the next mornin' Jeff was found lashed to a chair in his bedroom back of the store, a tape plastered over his mouth. The safe door was open, and Lena's money gone! A thief had broke in durin' the night, Jeff said, forced him to open the safe, tied him up like that, and vamoosed.

"There was plenty of suspicions blowin' around town about it'z bein' a put-up job, but the sheriff decided Jeff couldn't have tied himself up that way, so Lena and Frank got married, as per schedule, and left for Denver without her rightful dinero." Mame's bird eyes fixed on the fisherman's face. "I see, by the goin's swimmin' 'most every day, and them spots is just my iron constitution rustin' on me!"

It is estimated that some engines of the Canadian railways built up a mileage of 16,000 miles in 30 days.

Evacuated Children

British Government Prefers That They Remain In Canada Until They Can Enter Services

British Government policy prefers children evacuated to Canada through the Children's Overseas Reception Board to remain here until they become eligible for military service, war work of national importance or approved apprenticeship, Miss Marjorie Maxse, chairman of the board and vice-chairman of the Women's Voluntary Services said in an interview in Ottawa.

Miss Maxse has just completed a five weeks' tour of every province of Canada during which she interviewed children brought out to this country by the board. She was greatly impressed with what she saw. "The children are in A-1 physical condition and so full of life and enthusiasm. I hope Canadians realize how thankful we are over there."

According to English law when these children reach the registration age of 17 they must enlist or enter war work though they can choose to which. It is hoped that many of the 1,532 evacuated by CORB approximately 85 have entered the Canadian armed forces and approximately 100 have returned to the United Kingdom.

Miss Maxse revealed one boy whom she interviewed on her trip. His family wanted him home but he was unwilling to go. Finally he admitted he would like to join the Navy. Which Navy?

"Well, the Canadian Navy. If you don't mind me being frank, I just couldn't go home and work with a lot of Limeys," he confessed.—Ottawa Journal.

Are Greatly Changed

Views Of Soviet Russia Broadened In Last Few Years

There is still too much tendency in some directions to regard Russia with misgiving. But we feel that this is largely due to the fact that many people have failed to realize how greatly changed the Russia of today is from the Russia of 25 years ago. Mr. Churchill reminded us of this when he said on Wednesday: "Profound changes have taken place in Soviet Russia. The Trotskyite form of Communism has been completely wiped out. The victories of the Russian armies have been attended by a great rise in strength of the Russian State and a remarkable broadening of its views. The religious side of Russian life has had a wonderful rebirth."—Montreal Star.

Will Come By Air

Planes Likely To Transport Perishable Foods After The War

When the war is over aviation will have much to say about the dinner table, the New York Times points out, referring to the role which air cargo may play in the eating habits of the people. It is not expected that the newer forms of transport will crowd refrigerator cars off the rails or bulk shipments from the sea lanes, but there will be an opportunity to inaugurate shipments of perishable farm products by air, as well as fruits and vegetables from countries far afield.

Exceptional Work

British Women Take Over The Hottest Job In War Work

In the retort house of a fuel gas factory somewhere in England, a group of women have completed their first year in the hottest job attempted by women in Britain's total war, a dispatch from Britain states.

For 42 hours a week the women work in a veritable inferno of roaring furnaces, grit and heat. It is their job to feed coal into the furnaces where it burns in an atmosphere with less oxygen in it than ordinary air and gives off illuminating gas which is stored in vast bell-like containers.

There are three shifts in the retort house the early shift clocking in at 6a.m. (between 2 and 10 comes the break for the mid-morning meal, and then another four hours of work. The women take their night shifts along with the men.

Three women stokers average two days off a week and receive first-class medical attention. Doctors have found that their health is improved by their strenuous jobs.

Several privileges come to the gasgirls. They get a special allowance of tea to quench their thirst in the torrid heat. They have extra time off thru factory workers and, what is one of the best of all compensations, they receive their soap free of coupons.

A Matter Of Loyalty

Without That It Is Impossible To Do Canada The Best Service

Loyalty to British connection and to British ideas need not diminish one's loyalty to Canada. On the other hand, without that loyalty it is impossible to do Canada the best service, for Canada's highest interests are indissolubly linked with those of the Empire. Yet in the case of other loyalties loyalty to the Empire involves readiness to accept responsibilities and to make such sacrifices as may be called for by citizenship in the Empire. It is, in fact an essential element in loyalty to Canada.—Orillia Packet-Times.

SELECTED RECIPES

Water cress is nutritionally one of the most valuable foods. It is an excellent source of Vitamins A, B1, C and G and is packed with minerals. These qualities make it a good digestive stimulant and liver builder. Here are two of the smart homemakers make a practice of including in their salads every day.

When a light lunch is in order a salad including water cress, crackers, a dessert and beverage provides an ideal menu. The crackers supplement the vitamins and minerals in the salad with plenty of food-energy. That salty flavor, of course, adds to the general enjoyment of the food. Here is a tasty recipe that will come in handy the next time you plan a salad lunch.

LUNCHEON SALAD

1 hard-boiled egg
4 hard smoked eggs
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
4 medium sized tomatoes
2 cups shredded cabbage
2 tablespoons French dressing

Wash water cress, drain thoroughly and reserve 12 sprays for garnish. Chop half of the remaining water cress and mix with the eggs. Of course, hard eggs should cut in half lengthwise. Add salt, pepper and mayonnaise and mix thoroughly. Scoop out centers of tomatoes and fill with chopped water cress and egg mixture. Place the mixture in the tomato cups. Peel and quarter 4 medium sized tomatoes and mix them with the shredded cabbage. Add salt, pepper and chopped water cress. Toss lightly. Arrange four stuffed tomatoes on individual serving dishes. Divide remaining quarters of tomatoes and the cabbage salad between the four dishes. Garnish with sprays of water cress. Serve with crisp soda crackers. Serves four.

Feed For Horses

Dominion Experimental Station In Quebec Using Rolled Oats

Farmers who would like to save grain in feeding their horses will be interested in the practice of the Dominion Experimental Station at Normandin, Quebec, in feeding its horses rolled oats. The Station uses a small oat roller weighing only 180 pounds and operated by a three-quarter horsepower electric motor. The roller and motor are bolted on a frame close to the ceiling, just under the oat bin. From the ceiling a 3-inch pipe conducts the grain to the roller hopper. Underneath is a pipe which delivers the crushed oats directly to the feed truck. By this arrangement, a man starts the machine, and then is able to leave it while he attends to other chores.

IT ALL DEPENDS

An artist who wanted a home among the Taconic Hills of Vermont drove to the nearest village with a farmer who allowed that he had a house for sale. "I must have a good view," said the artist. "Is there a good view?"

"Well," drawled the farmer, "from the front porch you kin see Ed. Sinco's barn but beyond that there ain't nothin' but a bunch of mountains."

SALUTE IMPORTANT

Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons that the smartest saluting in the world was to be seen in Moscow where the greatest importance was attached to "these finer acts of ceremony" in building up armies capable of facing the worst rigors of war. He was rejecting a suggestion that it should not be considered a breach of discipline when a man off duty failed to salute.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

YOUNG PEOPLE CAN HELP

The great assault on Hitler's Fortress of enslaved Europe-lines of communications over which must be sent on the flesh, a tronnts and munitions or how much ammunition, supplies and food stuffs they must have, we may be sure are one thing which is that till June 30th will be needed to go into battle that still more equipment and more supplies and more leadership will be used, if needed. This all means that the existing shortage of manpower in Canada on farms and in factories will be more acute in the new future than it is even at the moment and that our farmers will urgently need more help.

Young people from high schools and universities who will soon be starting their summer vacations, can certainly help Canada's war effort if they will seize every opportunity to work on farms during their summer vacations. They could find the work most interesting and would further more have the knowledge that they are helping to produce more precious food for our fighting forces overseas and so they would themselves be earning a bona fide right to secure the final victory for freedom in the world war and so help to bring their boys and fathers home as quickly as possible from the battle fronts.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Drought damage to crops will probably oblige both Spain and Portugal to import considerable quantities of grain during the next crop year. It is reported that Turkey has now reached the wheat acreage goal of 10 million acres. Delayed spring seeding has reduced crop prospects in Rumania.

Crop prospects over most of Western Canada have greatly improved following recent good rains. New Zealand's wheat crop is estimated at 9,850,000 bushels compared with 7 million bushels a year ago. A genuine wheat shortage continues to rule well ahead of last year.

CONTROL OF THISTLES

Here is a suggestion from the supervisor of Weed Control in the Department of Agriculture.

Canada thistle and sow thistle are two weeds of considerable importance. They are both perennials and noxious weeds growth very early in the season. In control of these weeds a combination of cultivation and short season competitive crop may be used if still barley or grassseed is seeded early and fairly heavily the crop can be cut before the thistles blow.

The thistle is weakest in the flowering stage. Thorough cultivation of spring the bloom and continuing until frost up will do much to eradicate these weeds. To make a thorough job it may be necessary to use this method for two consecutive years.

The monthly report of the Credit Unions Branch of Alberta for March, 1944 shows a total of 7 new Credit Unions incorporated during the month, the total for the year to March 31, is 17 with a grand total of 146 incorporations to the end of March. The grand total at the same time last year was 139.

WARNING ISSUED BY THE CHILD WELFARE COMMISSION

The Child Welfare Commission of the Province of Alberta is issuing the following letter of warning to all farmers and municipal districts in the province:

All municipal authorities should make themselves thoroughly familiar with the new Child Welfare Act which came into force on 1st May 1944.

It is further suggested that all hotels and restaurants in your district be warned of the provisions of section 3 of the Act which read:

No person who employs a girl under the age of eighteen in a restaurant or an hotel without the written consent of her parent or guardian shall be guilty of an offence and liable upon summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding two hundred dollars and costs and in default of payment, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months or to both fine and imprisonment."

This should be done so that there may be no misunderstanding as to what is required of them in the event of their being obliged to hire any girl under the age of eighteen years.

Promote The Sales Of War Savings Stamps

Intensive Campaign Planned

An intensive program to promote the sales of War Savings stamps in Northern Alberta during the current year has been inaugurated by the National War Finance Committee and all retailers, service organizations, schools, commercial travellers' organizations, ladies groups, churches and business and professional men are being enlisted in the promotion of the success of the respective campaigns.

Alberta's stamp quota is 350,000 stamps per month. This represents 25,000 per month in savings to those participating. Northern Alberta's share in this amount is $12,000 per month.

The program arranged to date is as follows:

On June 30th, which will be designated as "D Day" there will be a province-wide drive designed to take up the slack which has developed during the past two months, as a consequence of the 6th Victory Loan drive. In Edmonton the drive will be sponsored by the Citizens Volunteer Bureau and will be carried on throughout the day when special sales teams will be introduced, details of these will be announced later.

On June 30th, Dr. McNally of the Provincial Department of Education, will broadcast an appeal to the students in schools throughout the province. Time of such broadcast to be announced later.

The council have passed a resolution for the laying of 2000 feet of sidewalk. 1200 feet of this will be 5-foot walk on the north side of Main street from the Vermilion hotel to the Imperial block corner.

FIELD INSPECTION OF BROME GRASS URGED

Every grower of brome grass seed is urged to apply for a field inspection of his crop so that it may be certified as free from quack grass. Purchasers are being advised to buy only certified stocks, and any brome seed offered for sale without a certificate will be regarded with suspicion. Apart from the fact that "Certified Czech Frou" seed will command a better price, on growers will wish to place contaminated seed on the market.

Application for forage crop inspection must be made before July 1 to the Production Service, Plant Products Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Calgary. The charge for this service is ten cents per acre with a minimum of ten dollars. Applicants should state name, address, land location and kind of crop.

WHY FREQUENT MOWING IS BENEFICIAL TO LAWNS

Perhaps the greatest handicap from which most lawns suffer is delayed mowing. Tall grass shades the space close to the ground where the turf ought to be, states E. C. Hallman, and discourages the stems of clumping grass the leaves up to where they may reach the light. When mowed to the usual height, all leaves are removed except the short ones. Stems are left. Repetition of this complete defoliation process soons exhausts the vitality of the grass plants, leaving them thin, weak and unsightly, and favoring the encroachment of dandelions.

The more frequent the mowing the weaker the task is accomplished, and the satisfaction of achieving a pleasing turf will more than outweigh the little extra time required by more frequent mowing.

RETURNS

"Ornamental Shrubs and Small Trees for the Canadian Prairies" is the title of a new bulletin just published by Line Elevators Farm Service. The author of this bulletin is Dr. R. W. Edgecombe, Associate Professor of Horticulture, University of Manitoba. It is a very attractive publication containing descriptions of over a hundred shrubs and it is beautifully illustrated.

Farmyards and school grounds in the Prairie Provinces are, too often, drab indeed. Shrub plantations are not difficult to establish and require comparatively little labour to maintain. The new bulletin includes the essential information on planting and care of shrubs and also, on planning the shrubbery. The reader can, therefore, make an intelligent selection, and secure information on landscape design as well as on care and maintenance. A list of commercial nurseries is also included.

Copies of the bulletin may be obtained from Line Elevator grain buyers, or from Line Elevators Farm Service, 703 Grain Exchange Building, Winnipeg, or 505 Herald Building, Calgary. The distribution is free to farmers, country school students and their teachers. This will be a very valuable addition to the parents of agricultural literature which go from Line Elevators Farm Service to country schools almost every day.

Make Survey To To Fill Shortage Of Manpower

OTTAWA.—Faced with a need of 300,000 workers in industry and other civilian occupations, Labour Minister Mitchell announced a broadening of the selective service program to fill manpower needs.

Mr. Mitchell dealt with Canada's acute manpower problem in an address broadcast on the CBC Dominion network. A short time earlier he had outlined to the commons the highlights of the program which has three main features. They are:

1. Interviewing individually of some 800,000 men rejected from service in the armed forces with a view to moving them, where necessary, to more essential employment.

2. Extension of compulsory transfer regulations to cover a greater number of occupations and more vigorous application.

3. Extension of the industrial mobilization survey to all industries making for the employment of all men from 18 to 40 years in all industrial and commercial establishments subject to survey.

In his radio address Mr. Mitchell said that toward the end of May employment and selective service offices had vacancies for 100,000 men and 41,000 women required by high priority industries and that persons sought by industries in lower priorities including some essential services.

In addition to these manpower needs the armed forces required "a constant stream of additional men."

In spite of the enlistment of more than 750,000 in the armed forces the working population had been increased by more than 500,000.

"As far as the forces are concerned most of the men needed will have to be withdrawn from industry," he continued. "This means replacements will have to be arranged.

"On the civilian side, we will have to call still further for women who are without family responsibilities to engage in industry either full time or part time. We can use thousands for part time work.

"The transfer of workers from plant to plant and place to place will have to be developed further. The services of conscientious objectors and prisoners of war will be necessary."

Hour Has Struck To Free The Underground

LONDON.—The signals long awaited by resistance p le have flashed out from London.

For the underground, as for the armies of the invasion this is the hour of climactic effort.

Long months of planning in peasant huts and dark cellars must now give way to action, stabbing those who have so often stabbed the free peoples of continental Europe in the back.

In the faces of Frenchmen, Belgians and Hollanders here could be traced the mingled emotions of jubilation and relief.

Jubilation because they could now strike out as free men against the hated Boche; relief because they have been living in hourly dread that German trickery would entice the patriots into premature action.

Europe for the past six months has been a vast whispering gallery and rumored whispers have frequently cost lives of men.

Strike detonators, hurried conferences groups and patriots have been seized in mass roundups and spirited off to Gestapo prisons and torture chambers.

But from a very early hour orders have been going out over the airways, the significance of which cannot have escaped the resistance leaders.

In fact the first [illegible] many Londoners had that anything unusual was afoot came with the BBC Danish broadcasts at 8. European people to clear off the roads and out of the coastal sections as they valued their lives.

The eventual direction of the Allied plunge may depend to a considerable extent upon the quality of the resistance movement in particular areas.

It is emphasized here, in fact, that the present move is only one phase of a highly complicated and far reaching operation.

The German radio has been failing to extract information as to what is in the minds of the Allied commanders.

However, it may be pointed out that patriotic resistance has taken different forms in different regions.

Open resistance has centred largely in the rough and mountainous districts of France where the Maquis have fought fierce skirmishes with the Germans.

In Belgium, where the population is concentrated in low lying, easily policed areas, opposition has of necessity been covert and has taken the form of widespread sabotage.

It is into France and resistant Normandy that we have struck.

Few in London dare to say direct what character that resistance will take.

But it is certain that throughout occupied Europe millions of blazing, curious and intelligent eyes are following the Nazis in their every move.

The mirror of Europe, with a million unobtrusive surfaces, is one of General Eisenhower's secret weapons in his duel with Von Rundstedt

WANTED TO GO

Churchill Was Anxious To Accompany Invasion Fleet To France

LONDON.—Prime Minister Churchill, it was revealed by Sir Bertram Ramsay, was dissuaded "only with great difficulty" from accompanying the invasion fleet in the assault against France.

Sir Bertram, commanding the Allied invasion forces, was quoted by an Australian war correspondent aboard H.M.S. Hilary, as saying when he visited the ship, that the prime minister was eventually convinced by high Allied officers that his presence in the invasion fleet would involve a great deal of extra work in assuring him protection.

LONDON. — Less than five per cent. of injured Royal Air Force personnel are invalided out of the service. More than 82 per cent. resume operational flying duties.

Promptly even prevented the King the BBC said.

Invasion Plans Were Prepared On A Huge Scale

WITH THE CANADIAN ARMY INVASION FORCES. — Week by week until "D-day," Allied invasion preparations were shaped on a staggering scale against a back drop of suspense and anticipation on the part of troops and civilians in Britain and jittery German nerves.

Never before had a military operation been so heralded by both sides as this second front.

The enemy, as the time grew closer, frantically flew kites of rumors and speculation. But London, Washington and Ottawa told nothing of importance.

Still the prelude to the greatest military drama of all time was a nerve wracking time for those who were crossing the channel and those who were at the quiet mews. The tension of waiting was just as tough on the civilian in Britain for there were few families who didn't send someone with the invading troops.

Never before had Britain so many fighting men within her borders. A standing joke was: "If they bring one more soldier to Britain this island is going to sink."

Behind this veneer of silence immense events took place. In early April all army, navy and air fores leaves were cancelled indefinitely. Nothing about this was announced Camps were jammed with all their men and service women.

War correspondents were prohibited from writing anything but the broad innocuous stories about invasion preparations. At April's end Allied correspondents were accredited to H.Q. A.E.F. and given instructions to be ready. That was the only indication from any official quarter that the time was getting short.

The King inspected every formation in the Canadian force here and went around to all the British divisions. These royal inspections are customary when troops are leaving the country and these visits are really of a farewell and good luck nature although nothing like that was said.

War Histories

Lieut.-Colonel Athol R. Gordon, nephew of the late Rev. C. W. Gordon (Ralph Connor), has been commissioned to write Canada's official medical history of the war. Col. Gordon is a native of Winnipeg, and prior to assuming his new duties was assistant director of medical services (chemical warfare) at Canadian military headquarters, London, Eng.

mentioning the invasion to his troops.

The air blitz grew from day to day. Staffs in big headquarters of the Allied commanders kept at their work. Canadian headquarters bustled with activity. New equipment flooded to the combat units.

One secret meeting after another was held at headquarters with guards with fixed bayonets watching the entrances. It was the final stage of the planning.

The German air force stepped up their reconnaissance towards the end of April and there were several sharp night raids. Then the Canadian and certain British formations prepared to go to sea on a final rehearsal. This was the biggest manoeuvre of all and it was carried out in more secrecy than any other.

CANADIAN DESTROYERS ON JOB

NEW YORK.—The Canadian destroyers Sioux and Algonquin were in the Allies' great invasion fleet which smashed at the French coast, the BBC said.

What The Germans Saw Of The French Coast

Nazi lookouts on the French coast and Nazi reconnaissance pilots saw this scene duplicated a hundred times in the early hours of June 6, as the Allied armies under General Eisenhower launched their long-awaited invasion of Europe. While destroyers stand guard, dozens of landing craft loaded with fighting men dash shoreward to take and hold a beachhead. This picture was taken during the last pre-invasion manoeuvres and shows Canadian troops making practice landings. They used the same technique when they hurled themselves on the beaches of Le Havre and Cherbourg.

The Tanks Roll Ashore!

Close on the heels of the first wave of Allied troops who landed on the French Normandy coast came the tanks. Armored divisions were just as sharply trained as infantry for assault landings and these Canadian-manned tanks are pictured making a practice landing just before the invasion hour struck.

Has Complete Confidence In Allied Armies

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force. — General Eisenhower declared his "complete confidence in the ability of the Allied armies, navies and air forces to do all they are asked to do has been encouraging gathered."

"In the early landing operations which are always naval, the two Allied navies together with elements of navy units of the United Nations — under Admiral Ramsay have excelled, in the high standard of their planning and their execution, any prior venture in which I have seen them engaged," Gen. Eisenhower said.

"The long and brilliant campaign conducted in the past month by the combined air forces, including the commands of Air Chief Marshal Harris, Gen Spaats and Air Chief Marshal Leigh Mallory was an essential preliminary to the undertaking of the operation and has proved its effectiveness by the fact that the landing was made as planned Their good work is continuing.

"Gen. Montgomery is in immediate and direct charge of all the assault ground forces Under him all the troops are performing magnificently

CROP PROSPECTS

Timely Rains Have Brought Moisture Where Needed

OTTAWA —The Dominion bureau of statistics said that "excellent" crop prospects are reported throughout Canada generally with timely rains occurring in most areas where moisture supplies have been inadequate.

The report, first of a series of seven covering crop conditions throughout Canada, also included the statement that a number of weekly reports on crop conditions in the prairie provinces where, it was said, conditions are generally good with only a small area lacking moisture.

Dry weather prevailed over all three Maritime provinces, Quebec and eastern Ontario during May, but rains late in the month and early in June have improved crop, hay and pasture conditions materially, it was reported.

In Manitoba, heavy rains were widespread and crops are making rapid growth A few areas report excessive moisture. Seeding of wheat and coarse grains have been practically completed in Saskatchewan and, except for the southwest crops are making good progress.

Good rains occurred in many areas of Alberta but more is needed in the southern part of the province. However, crop prospects generally are promising

Conditions in British Columbia are generally favorable, with prospects for one of the heaviest fruit crops on record Strawberries and early vegetables are now coming to market

G Klughart, Prince Albert, Sask and a few of the other men in the section got the two mascots while the battalion was taking amphibious training There was a pond in a pub and the soldiers promptly bought Doris from the winner. A Tinted Barley Smut

Nearly all farmers are familiar with covered smut on barley, and they know that it can be controlled by treating the seed with a mercurial dust or with formalin. Loose smut, also, is familiar and it can be controlled only by the use of smut free seed or by means of the somewhat difficult hot water treatment.

Recently, the existence of another kind has been demonstrated and it is now known to be fairly common on the West. It is called 'false loose smut' or 'intermediate smut.' In the field it resembles ordinary loose smut, but in its life history it is closely akin to covered smut. Mercurial dusts and formalin afford effective control.

Since false loose smut looks like ordinary loose smut and behaves like covered smut, it is important to know something of its distribution and occurrence on different varieties of barley. Line Elevator Farm Service is cooperating with the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, Winnipeg, in making a survey to determine the prevalence of false loose smut. Line Elevator agents, members of junior farm clubs and others are being provided with special envelopes in which to send loose smut specimens to us for microscopical examination.

This is a fine chance for farmers to aid plant scientists. Ask the nearest Line Elevator agent for a leaflet illustrating the different smuts and for specimen envelopes.

AIRMAN PAYS "DEBT"

A young Canadian airman, a veteran despite his youth came to a Red Cross Clinic to give his donation of blood. Just knowing that certain days he had reserved for women donors he came on one of those days. Somewhere over there, blood serum had saved his life, now home on leave he wanted to give back some of that blood so as much to some other fighter. He had been data for him, the week away that day, but returned on the morrow's date to make his contribution. In so doing expressing his thanks and paying a debt of gratitude. With increased allied offensives, this last will not be alone in that kind of gratitude, hundreds, thousands, of fighting Canadians will have that same debt of gratitude. Thanks to the Canadian Red Cross blood clinics, dried blood serum will be prepared and available to Canada's fighting men who may need it. Parts to Clinic are making sure of that

Board of Trade Notes

Two regular meetings, a special luncheon meeting and two executive meetings have been held by the Board of Trade, within the past week to deal with several important matters.

Meeting Wednesday Last Week

On Wednesday last week W. P. Pilkie acted as chairman and discussion centred around the proposed disposal of the new huts at the school of agriculture, by the Dept. of Militia. Reporting back this Wednesday they have already secured a suitable building built on skids, which will be moved to the pool. They are also taking some safety steps discussed a week ago. An attempt will be made to remove the partially tipped over cement block which is covered with water and which has a large iron plate projecting from it

For Military Personnel

New Shoulder-Sleeve Emblem Worn By Eisenhower's London Staff

A symbol of the invasion of Europe is the new shoulder-sleeve emblem issued for the military personnel, American and British, enlisted men and officers, attached to General Eisenhower's invasion staff in London. Here is the official description of the emblem: "Upon a field of heraldic sable (black), representing the darkness of Nazi oppression, is shown the sword of liberation in the form of a crusader's sword, the flames arising from the hilt and leaping up the blade. This represents avenging justice, by which the enemy power will be broken in Nazi-dominated Europe. Above the sword is a rainbow emblematic of hope containing all the colors of which the national flags of the Allies are composed. The heraldic chief of azure (blue) above the rainbow is emblematic of a state of peace and tranquility, the restoration of which to the enslaved people is the objective of the United Nations."

West Africans can't stand the heat as well as white men, according to Pte. William S. Was A Fighter

Welsh Girl Fought And Died In Yugoslavia

The story of a Welsh girl who fought and died as a guerilla in Yugoslavia under the banner of Marshal Tito has been brought to London by General Velebit, a member of Tito's military mission.

The frail-appearing girl became deeply interested in the continent when she went there as a student. She returned to Britain for her B.A., then went back to Yugoslavia as a lecturer at Belgrade University. Before the war she married a Yugoslav.

When her adopted country first came under Nazi domination in 1941, she worked in the underground until she was forced to the hills as a guerilla. As a fighter she endured the intense heat of summer and the cold of winter in the mountains, took part in the long forced marches, under constant bombing and shelling.

Finally she died from sheer exhaustion. Men who fought with her described her courage as "fantastic".

Blood Donor Clinic

First Aid Work Is Undertaken By Students In Saskatoon

Helping out local hospitals and the Blood Donor Clinic has become one of the voluntary jobs undertaken by young people in Saskatoon, Mrs. Reid, said the directors of Women's Voluntary Services, Department of National War Services, the other day.

The City Hospital Auxiliary in Saskatoon, which is affiliated with the local W.V.S. has been conducting classes in bandage-making once a week at the City Park Collegiate. Each Wednesday afternoon, approximately 90 high school students make bandages, dressings and swabs. These are sent to a local hospital, Sanatorium and the Blood Bank.

"We are told that the Auxiliary also conducts classes on Monday evenings at the University for women students, where similar work is done and sent to the City hospital," the directors went on to say. This work is important from both the students and the hospital's point of view, for the girls receive credit for the required number of hours they must put to war work of some kind."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JUNE 18

A GOOD SOLDIER OF CHRIST JESUS

Golden text: Suffer hardship with me, as a good soldier of Christ Jesus. II Timothy 2:3

Lesson: II Timothy 2

Devotional Reading: Hebrews 11: 32—12:2.

Explanations and Comments

Paul exhorts Timothy to be a Good Soldier of Christ Jesus, 2 Timothy 2:1-13. Timothy was a native of Lystra. By Eunice, his mother, and Lois, his grandmother, he had been instructed from early childhood in the Old Testament writings. We first hear of him at Lystra, on Paul's second missionary journey, when the great apostle chose him as his companion and helper. It is thought probable that he had, however, become a Christian during Paul's first preaching there, for Paul seems to claim him as a personal son, referring to him in I Cor. 4:17 as his "beloved and faithful child in the Lord."

Here in his second letter to Timothy, Paul tenderly addresses him as my child," and bids him be strengthened in the grace (divine help) that is in Christ Jesus. As he had taught and prepared Timothy for the ministry, so Timothy is to pass on his instructions to faithful men that they may also be capable of teaching others.

Suffer hardship with me, as a good soldier of Christ Jesus. Paul could well speak about enduring hardship for he has recorded his experience: "Thrice was I beaten with rods, once was I stoned, thrice I suffered shipwreck, a night and a day have I been in the deep; in journyings often, in perils of rivers, in perils of robbers, in perils from my countrymen, in perils from the Gentiles . . . If I must needs glory, I will glory of the things that concern my weakness."

A soldier must have no home ties, no business that would prevent his obeying orders, going wherever sent, and like a soldier Timothy must seek to please the Captain who enrolled him, and must not hinder his service by entanglement in the ordinary affairs of life Paul would have him free from cares (1 Cor. 7:32) that he might strive to please the Lord without distraction (1 Cor 7:35).

"Again, a competitor in the games is not crowned, unless he observes the rules. The farmer who has done the work must have the first share of the fruit. Think what I mean! The Lord will help you in understand perfectly.

"Never forget Jesus Christ risen from the dead, descended from David—that is my gospel, for which I have to suffer imprisonment as if I were a criminal. But there is no prison for the word of God. All I endure is for the sake of the elect, to let them get their share of the salvation of Christ Jesus and also of eternal glory. It is a sure word that 'if we have died with him, we will live with him, if we endure, then we will reign with him, if we disown him, then he will disown us'." (Moffatt's translation).

Smaller Nations

Should Be Given Voice In Plans To Prevent War

Smaller nations should be given a voice in any plans to prevent war "such as those envisaged by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill," Dr. E. Van Kleffens, Netherlands Foreign Minister said in an interview with Aneta news agency.

Any effort to place exclusive control of post-war affairs in the hands of larger nations could not count on the active support of smaller powers, he said.

He added that he did not suggest that all smaller nations should be represented at all times in post-war international bodies, but a system of rotation should be devised which would allow the smaller countries to take turns "side-by-side" with the larger powers which may have permanent representation.

Mixed Farming

Saskatchewan Getting Into The Picture In A Big Way

Saskatchewan is now producing more than 20,000 hogs weekly, or at the rate of about a million and a quarter a year. Saskatchewan's beef cattle crop and her dairy and poultry products are adding to the monthly revenue on almost every farm. A great change has come over our Saskatchewan neighbors in the past couple of years. From being Canada's leading wheat-producing province, it is now getting into the livestock production business in a big way, and the manner in which Saskatchewan led all other provinces over the top in the Sixth Victory Loan is evidence of this fact.—Lethbridge Herald.

Scientific Research

SCIENTIFIC PROGRESS IS PLAYING an important part in hastening the Allied victory, yet it remains one of the least spectacular features of the war, because of the secrecy which must be attached to it. However some of the developments which have been of great advantage to the Allied cause, are now well known, and give us reason to have every confidence that those work will be successfully carried on as long as there is need for it. In Britain the great importance which is attached to scientific and industrial research was demonstrated when the Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir John Anderson, who re-entered in his last budget that a central tax be voted for this purpose. In 1943, the Right Honorable Sir Oliver Lyttleton, British Minister of Production stated that "thirty-five per cent. of British production is turning out weapons which did not exist except in the minds of their inventors when the war broke out. Others are being developed all the time.

* * * *

Many Weapons Are Perfected

British scientists have perfected many new weapons, both for defensive and offensive action. One of the earliest of these was radar, which is now shared with all the Allied nations. This form of radio detection is believed to have been the deciding factor against Germany in the Battle of Britain. There have been other inventions in the realm of detecting devices both for air and for use in the navy. The famous "R" rocket gun which has proved so effective against night bombers was first made in Britain and an officer of the Royal Air Force, Group Captain Whittle invented the jet-propulsion plane, which has opened up great possibilities in flying, both in war and in peace. While emphasis is now naturally placed on developments which are useful in wartime, much of the work done in Britain since the beginning of the war will be of great value in later years.

Expansion In Research Here

In Canada, extensive scientific research is being carried on in connection with the war effort, and much valuable work has been done. Hon. James A. MacKinnon, Minister of Trade and Commerce, recently outlined before the House of Commons some of the projects which are being undertaken here. The National Research Council, he stated, now has a staff four times as large as that employed in peacetime, and it operates nine stations in addition to its large central laboratory in Ottawa. Much of the research which is done is for the armed services and cannot be revealed at this time, but considerable information is available about concerning projects which could be revealed. These included investigations in the realm of medical research, relating to such problems as night vision, fatigue, diet, and others. There has also been extensive work on secret instruments, photography and many other devices necessary in combat. It is apparent that the needs of war have given great impetus in scientific research, and it is to be hoped that this progress will continue when we are faced with the many problems which will arise in the post-war years.

English Law

Alien Is Protected The Same As The Native Born

Dr Theodore Goldschmidt came to England in 1933 from Frankfurt. He qualified to practise in Britain in 1936, and set up business in Clapton.

One day recently the police sent three men to his consulting room for the purpose of trying to extract medical certificates from the doctor, stating that they were unfit for war work. They feigned illness so successfully that they succeeded, and Dr Goldschmidt was prosecuted under the defence regulations.

But the magistrate not only declared his belief that the doctor gave the certificates in good faith, but condemned the use of the agents provocateurs as alien to the spirit of English law. The case against the doctor was dismissed and he was awarded 10 guineas costs.

Thus does English law maintain its sound traditions and high sense of integrity. The stranger under our roof is protected with the same care as the native born.—London Express.

Great Advances Made Since First Plane Crossed Atlantic

Alcock and Brown (18 years ago) spanned the Atlantic from Newfoundland to Ireland in 16 hours and 12 minutes, recently a medium bomber did the same hop in a little under seven hours. Even if the distance from Newfoundland to the large centres of population on the eastern seaboard are added, it should be possible in a few years to leave Britain after breakfast and reach Montreal in time for the next meal—or, indeed, given the difference in time, to reach Montreal in time for a second breakfast.—Montreal Star.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

FALSE PRIDE

I have been more and more convinced, the more I think of it, that, in general, pride is at the bottom of all great mistakes.—Ruskin.

A man should never be ashamed to own he has been in the wrong, which is but saying in other words that he is wiser today than he was yesterday. Pope.

Vanity is the mother, and affectation is the darling daughter, vanity is the sin, and affectation is the punishment, the first may be called the root of self-love, the other the fruit —Lord Halifax.

Pride either finds a desert or makes one, submission cannot tame its ferocity, nor safety fill its security, and it requires very costly food: its keeper's happiness.—Colton.

The pride of circumstance or power at the prince of this world that has nothing in Christ. All power and happiness are spiritual, and proceed from goodness Mary Baker Eddy.

What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? —Micah 6:8.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—What is the new regulation covering the placing of price tags on certain clothing?

A—Effective June 1, retailers of men's, women's and children's clothing and furnishings will be required to put a price tag on every article displayed for sale, showing the manufacturer's Wartime Prices and Trade Board license number or his registered trade mark, and the range or stock number and size of the garment, printed, woven or stamped on it or on a label or tag attached to it.

Q—I received my No. 4 ration book this week through the mail. Can you give me any reason why they should have taken those coupons out of my book?

A—Persons applying for their No. 4 book one month after the date of general distribution forfeit the coupons which became valid during that month. It is reasonable to assume that persons who did not apply for their new books did not require rationed commodities during that time.

Q—Is it against the regulations of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board for dressmakers to make home dresses?

A—Brides are the only people these days who can have long dresses and they are limited to one wedding one. Otherwise, it is against the regulations for dressmakers or manufacturers to make long dresses.

Q How much notice am I entitled to if I pay rent by the month in shared accommodation?

A A tenant paying rent by the month in shared accommodation is entitled to a month's notice. Shared accommodation is defined as that between a landlord and tenant sharing the use of some room and facilities such as the bathroom.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers News" or the Blue Book (the book in which you keep track of your ration prices) merely using the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

British Scientists

Have Developed Many New And Revolutionary Weapons Of War

The record of British scientists at war has been more than worthy of this recognition. Many of the newest and most revolutionary weapons of war used in defensive or offensive—have been the product of British brains. Radar, probably the greatest weapon in the air warfare, was first discovered and perfected by Britain, and shared with Britain's Allies. It was the Battle of Britain to Upped the balance against Germany —and in favor of the whole civilized world. Since those days Britain has developed many other weapons of air warfare. After Radar came instrument-controlled anti-aircraft guns culminating in the proximity fuse and the "Z" rocket gun. Britain's new air weapons have been just as much often developed than forced upon her by "necessity." boys", as her scientists are called, have produced bombs which have been responsible for much powerful every year. Their latest is a 12,000 pounder so large that experts declared it could never get it to ode a sifting factory The application of the degaussing girdle to the ships, thus neutralizing the magnetic effect of the German magnetic mine, was equal to a major victory at sea. Within a few weeks British scientists had defeated the menace of what Germany had vaunted as a war-winning weapon.

Veteran Of Singapore

Believes Lack Of Medical Supplies Will Finish Jap Fighters

The Japanese will crack medically in the opinion of Pte. Lt. Tom Watson, R.C.A.F. fighter pilot who was the last man to fly out of Singapore.

In Ottawa for gunnery, the Yukon-born airman of Vernon, B.C., told a group of newsmen of the heroic losing fight put up by a small band of British and Canadian airmen providing scanty cover for the ground forces falling back through Malay jungles to Singapore

But despite the power of the early Japanese thrust, Watson said gathering Allied strength would have little difficulty in a showdown battle.

He said lack of medical supplies would "see the eventual extermination of the Jap fighters in the Pacific island campaign." He spoke of a Japanese bomber crew which recently crash-landed near his station. "Every one of the nine men in the crew were medically unsound some of them had venereal disease, some of them had malaria symptoms and the rest had other diseases."

Allied medical officers found this condition general among Japanese prisoners. Japanese in touch with their home bases got few enough medical supplies but those in isolated spots got none at all "and they are cracking medically."

Watson was bitter about reports and criticism of the British effort in the Far East. He said no one seemed to take the general picture into consideration in sizing up the situation. Britain had sent more than she could afford to that theatre.

Valuable Goose

The Golden Goose Lives Again in War-Torn China

The Golden Goose lives again and the woman who owns her spends most of the time just watching over her. So says a Canadian recently returned from war-torn China

Before the war, China exported thousands of pounds of goose feathers, but since the Japanese invasion the little quacking "gold mines" have become almost a casualty of war and their down-dealing days have been patient eyes. If a woman is the proud owner of a laying goose, she's set for life, or so she thinks.

A smiling peasant woman in Chengtu, West China, refused $300,- 00 for a single goose, for she lays an egg a day. Mrs. Wong, the owner, gets $10 a piece for hatching eggs and she has so many orders ahead that she can't keep track of them any more.

Chinese women hatch these precious goose eggs by the warmth of their bodies, keeping them in a little pocket directly between their breasts. This is a job for the older women of the clan, who sit or work quietly in the sun until the life in the egg becomes nearly-hatched maker of more goose feathers, and more money for the little ravaged farms that their peasant owners staunchly refuse to leave.

CURE FOR INSOMNIA

The New York Times says eleven out of twelve of his patients were able to sleep after he cut the amount of salt in their diet. Dr. Michael M. Miller (United States Marine Hospital Kline Island) told the American psychiatric Association Six of Dr. Miller's patients were marines who could not sleep until the had been morphine addicts All were benefited.

OVERSEAS—

Cupid has a busy time with the Canadian Army Overseas. Since November 1942 when the first small group of CWACs marched across London's Piccadilly, more than thirty weddings have been reported. One of the most recent ceremonies united Pte. Eileen Uren and Tpr. Ronald Mace, both of Hamilton, Ont. Capt. Cynthia Gough of Montreal gave the bride away. "It was quite a new experience," she reported. "The CWACs are all so demure." writes Capt Gough, "but they take their social vocabularly casually. Their motto is 'the war comes first'."

Personality

Printers have offered Mother's Day cards for practically every member of the family, but in his wildest dreams no printer has ever conceived one for a dog, male sergeant major. It took the C.W.A.C to do that. It started at most two years ago when R.S.M. Fred Purkis of Edmonton, Alta., drilled the first CWAC class at the Vermilion, Alta., training centre and earned the nickname of "Mr Purkis" Today he has charge of the CWAC precision squad in Edmonton and he is not permitted to forget the "Ma" nickname. Saturday night found R.S.M. Purkis at a dance with a large Scotia's box was delivered beside a sheaf of tulips nestled a card from the 26 members of his squad. Under the picture of a Scottish woman in a rocking chair, he read: "You may not dress in lavender and lace, but we all love your dear sergeant's face."

Beauty Tips

According to the Poet, Keats "A thing of beauty is a joy forever" but today's Army girls will agree with him if they say "A thing of glamorous bolted of years gone by. The basic feminine instinct to look attractive at all times is apparent in the interest of Canadian Women's Army Corps members in beauty culture classes Lectures which demonstrate beautification of the face, graceful walking and ease in conversation rate high in popularity In Canada's khaki uniform, stylish appearance is proof that she takes her profession seriously.

MASCOT—

Believe it or not, the favourite mascot of Army girls is not a duck, but a goldfish! In several CWAC barracks the ichthyological touch has been added by discussion as to whether "Mahltzhal" (all goldfish have profound names) is good Army material and whether his "chow" of food agrees with him. The conversation was caused in no "town barracks recently when Pte. Margaret Leslie of Montreal University crashed her goldfish bowl and Mahltzhal was obliged to spend the night in a G.I. wash basin.

For some time the two women sitting in front of him at the cinema had annoyed him with their chatter.

Finally, he could stand it no longer. Leaning forward, he said politely:

AVALANCHE OF EGGS

The increase in the volume of egg exports from Canada since 1939 has been phenomenal, states the Current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada. Pre-war exports in British were about 1,000,000 dozen annually In 1942 4,133 000 dozen shell eggs and 11,500,000 pounds of dried egg powder (or a total of 22,500,000 dozen shell eggs) were shipped from Canada to Britain For the year 1943, shipments of dried eggs reached a total equivalent to about 54,000,000 dozen shell eggs Arrangements have been made to ship to Britain a still greater quantity in 1944 and 1945.

Eggs Are "Gold" To Boys in Italy

Pte George Sprunt writing from Italy to his mother in Toronto says "You may be surprised to know that we pay for one egg 24 lires, and I must say that is quite dear for one egg." Taught four lires for one hen's egg is $1.14 Canadian money (based on the approximate value of the Italian lire just prior to outbreak of war in 1939). Then eggs sold in Italy (or around here a few years ago, Inflation in Italy has boosted the price of eggs to about $17.28 a dozen. That's why our boys in Italy think hens lay golden eggs.

Proposal that a board of appeal should be set up in connection with gasoline rationing was approved in principle by provincial directors of the Albert Motor Association at their annual meeting in Calgary on June 3.

Such a board, it was contended, would provide an opportunity for the public to have applications that had been rejected by the all controller reviewed from time to time

It was contended that there were instances where such an examination of the facts might prove more satisfactory to all concerned

FOOD OUTLOOK SATISFACTORY

OTTAWA.—Food supply situation in Canada is satisfactory at present, according to K. W. Taylor, co-ordinator of foods Wartime Prices and Trade Board. However, in every person in Canada saved as much as one ounce of food every day, this would amount to 125,000 tons a year.

As long as the war lasts overseas shipments of food are not apt to diminish and great quantities of food will likely be needed in Europe after the war is over.

"We look to housewives as our civilian to the country's larder to help meet these demands both now and in the future. From this standpoint housekeeping is a world weapon ability". Mr Taylor states

Tomatoes arrive or supplies ship, and overseas for the Armed Forces and suffering civilians. 2,000 cases of hospital and relief goods for Allied Red Cross societies and French children. Bus ambulances and other motor vehicles, over 2,000,000 food parcels for our men in enemy prison camps.

Qu-bec Military Hospital in Bus land built furnished and fully equipped at a cost of $75,000 and turned over to Canada's Department of Defence.

30 Mobile Kitchen Units, costing $111,000, presented to Britain's Fire Fighting Services, each equipped to feed 250 workers at a time.

SPECIAL BOARD TO ADMINISTER CEMETERY

By-Law Provides Entirely New Set-Up.

A highly important piece of municipal legislation passed the Town Council at its adjourned meeting on Monday night. This is a by-law providing for an entirely new set-up for the administration and maintenance of the Vermilion cemetery which ever since it was opened as in the very early days of the town was under the control of the Town Council. Of late years there has been a good deal of criticism as to the manner in which this control was carried out. About two years ago or so Mayor Morrison placed a motion before the Council to have the cemetery diverted from the Council to a board or directors with powers somewhat analogous to those of the Hospital Board Under the Act. This has been discussed off and on since and Monday night after several months of deliberation the by-law was passed. The main features of the enactment are as follows:

Board of Directors shall consist of six members as follows: A chairman of Parks committee; President of the Board of Trade; President of the Legion (all for the time being) and a representative to be chosen at by the 23rd instant and one by the Town Council as representative of the ratepayers as a whole. One representative each to be selected by the municipalities of Minburn and Vermilion River. The Mayor shall be an ex-officio member.

The Board appoints its own chairman and a secretary-treasurer may need not be a member of the Board. The Board is given authority to sell lots and collect all charges. Titles to lots are made out by the Town on presentation from the Board or evidence of sale. The secretary is made responsible for all records and transactions of the Board.

The powers of the Board briefly are: To engage a caretaker, appoint a superintendent to have general supervision over the cemetery; prohibit erection of headstones or monuments, and apart a section for interment of veterans regardless of branch of service and permit erection of monument in commemoration, graves are to be designated by markers; remove headstones that have become unsightly upon notice; provide for perpetual care upon payment of certain charge; remove shrubs if detrimental to adjacent lots; grade and sow to grass all graves, prohibit letters boards or metal markers and in a general provision with respect to the manner in which owners may care for graves.

Beekeepers who produce less than 200 pounds of honey annually should register with the Local Honey Board. Producers of more than 200 pounds of honey should register with WPTB ration office.—Adv.

Flying Officer and Mrs. Brimacombe left for Carman, where they will spend a few days before returning to Winnipeg, from where Flying Officer Brimacombe will proceed to the east and Mrs. Brimacombe will return to Portage la Prairie.

Railways Heavy Coal Consumers

Locomotives hauling urgent war traffic over the Canadian National Railway lines during the past year used 17½ million tons of coal. This is practically double the amount of coal required in a normal peacetime traffic year. A 6000 type locomotive consumes nine tons of coal during a three-hour run in heavy main line work in National System service. Railways are the largest users of coal.

New Parking System To Go Into Effect July 17th

Angle Parking at the Curbs

At midnight on Monday July 17th Vermilion will have a new parking by-law which will replace the present centre parking system. The by-law which was passed recently by the council reverts to angle parking at the curbs, such as was in effect in the early days of motoring. After July 17th the following regulations shall govern the parking or motor vehicles in the town of Vermilion:

MAIN STREET—Angle parking at the curbs on both sides of the street, in case you don't know your streets MAIN runs from Post office east and west.

FIRST STREET SOUTH — Angle parking on both sides of the street EXCEPT that there is no parking east of the town pump as this is the area reserved for the parking of trucks. This is the theatre street. From the corner of Bunkie's Drive store going east there is angle parking at the curb on the north side of the street only. This is a narrow street.

BULYEA AVENUE—Angle parking at the curb on the east side of the street only. This is the main north and south street running north and south from Conroy Webb's service station past the Vermilion hotel to the top of the river hill road.

In all residential districts parking rules will continue as at present.

A few other rules designed to help out with the parking problem are as follows:

All trucks shall park at the east end of the town park or at such other places as may be designated; Light delivery trucks not over 16 feet over all without trailers may angle park at curbs on streets as provided for automobiles; Motor vehicles with trailers are not allowed to angle park at curbs on streets; No motor vehicle may park within 50 feet of an intersection; Bulyea avenue leading from the river hill to the elevators is a through street, stop signs will be placed at the intersections of First street north, Main street and First street south.

Parking is prohibited in front of the fire hall, Howe & Spencer's, Columbia theatre, Ollis-Bi Motors, Elks hall, Parkview garage, Mayo-Hall garage, Webb's service station, Alberta Hivery, McLennan's Machine shop, Vermilion hotel parking space, Turning around in traffic lane and double parking is prohibited.

All loading and unloading to and from trucks is to be done from the lanes.

Handicraft Work

Provides Many Persons With An Useful War Creative Urge

Handicrafts are indispensable to the national economy even of such industrialized nations as Canada and the United States, Allan Hatch, director of arts and social work for the Russell Sage Foundation of New York, said in Toronto.

Addressing the 18th annual meeting of the Canadian Handicrafts Guild (Ontario), Mr. Hatch said handicrafts also have social, educational, therapeutic and esthetic values as well as providing many persons with an outlet for the . . . ative urge.

Speaking particularly of crafts in rural areas, he told how in the United States country people were supplied with surplus raw cotton and taught to make their own mattresses. In the last two years more than 5,- 000,000 have been made by persons who did not have the money to buy them in the regular way.

The fact that so many residents of North America have come from Europe offers great possibilities in development of handicrafts. "We can encourage them to retain the best of their traditions and build upon the things that are in the land . . . we shall have the richest handicraft culture the western world has known."

New Jobs

Women In Britain Are Now Working On Bombs And Much Bosides

Women of Britain not only are taking over men's jobs successfully these days—they're stepping into new jobs that neither men nor women have ever done before and making a success of them, too. The mightiest explosive known to British scientists is handled and processed by girls. They made the world's biggest bomb—the new 12,000 lb. "Barney buster".

Their jobs demand high skill and accuracy. They work on vast, remote factory sites surrounded by "Keeper Area" notices. Each operative has a medical history chart. She is weighed at least once a week. Loss of weight indicates that the worker has absorbed fumes of the paralyse-like mixture with which the finished bombs are filled. Special lip-salve and anti-toxic make-up for the face are compulsory. They are supplied in the factory "beauty parlor" before starting the day or night shift. Ninety per cent. of the employees in all these explosives plants are women.

Britain's Rocket Ships

Five Questions Of Explosives Have Quickly Thus Warship Can

Rocket ships, developed as a result of the Dieppe raid of 1942, used in invasion of France, "discharge a vast quantities of explosives onto beaches much more quickly than has ever been done before by a warship," the British Information Services said. Use of the rocket ships was sanctioned at Allied Expeditionary headquarters.

"The rocket ships were developed as a result of experience in the Dieppe raid," the British Agency said. "The actual destruction they cause is not as great as in normal bombardment since there is no splinter, but a blast from these weapons has a terrific effect on the morale of personnel anywhere near the receiving end. Great navigation skill is needed to bring these ships to the place of action."

The ships, first used in the Sicily landings, were described as a British naval secret weapon.

Insect Life

They Greatly Exceed Any Other Form Of Life Today

Each year, during the summer, we are overwhelmed by the abundance of insects. There is no doubt that these creatures greatly exceed the number of other living animals of the world today.

A study of fossils proves that insects have an ancient origin. They are definitely known from the Carboniferous period, three hundred millions of years ago. By visiting the Royal Ontario Museum one may catch a glimpse of the insect life of the past. There one will find, exquisitely preserved in limestone, the possessor-ous forms of dragonflies, all combined in bits of Baltic amber are the delicate remains of ants, bees, flies, beetles and beetles. Insects were abundant and widely distributed even in the, distant days.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JUNE 20

THE POWER IN SIMPLE LIVING (Temperance Lesson)

Golden text: But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the king's dainties, nor with the wine which he drank.

Lesson: Daniel 1:8-16, 19, 20.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 128.

Nebuchadnezzar's Plan for Daniel and his Three Companions. Daniel 1-7. It was in the third year of Jehoiakim's reign (606 B.C.) that Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon, first besieged Jerusalem and carried back to Babylon Jewish captives, together with some of the treasures of the temple. "Think of the land of Judah as an 'occupied' country, similar to France or Belgium or Czechoslovakia. The conquerors prevented revolt by arresting the leaders and holding them as 'hostages', subject to death in case of sabotage." Among the captives were Daniel and the other youths named in verse 11.

The King of Babylon directed one of his officers to take Jewish youths of noble families who were especially fair and bright, and have them enter what has been called "The Prince's College of Babylon." For three years they were to receive education for the civil service. They were to be taught the language and learning of the Chaldeans. They were to be nourished with a portion of the food and wine served to the king himself.

A Wise Experiment. Daniel 1:8-15. Daniel firmly resolved that he would not live upon the king's dainties and wine, for he knew they were not clean for him.

The young Israelite request Ashpenaz, the officer in whose charge he was, to permit him and his three companions to refuse the food given. Though kindly disposed toward Daniel, the officer hesitated to grant his request. "Why should the king command that you, with those of the other youths and notice that you are looking thinner than they?" he questioned. "The king might think that I had enriched myself with what you should have had, and my head would be forfeited," he added.

Daniel had a plan which he knew would not get the officer into trouble. He proposed to Ashpenaz, "he said, let us eat pulses [beans, lentils, vegetables, probably] and drink water for ten days, and then compare our looks with those of the youth who eat the king's dainties, and deal with us accordingly".

Daniel's Experiment. Daniel 1:16-18. Ashpenaz yielded to Daniel's proposal, doubtless with many misgivings. At the end of the time suggested by Daniel, Ashpenaz himself had succeeded—the four youths were found healthier and fairer than those who ate the king's food, and they were put permanently on their simple diet.

Plain Living and High Thinking. Daniel and his three friends, four youths, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, found knowledge and skill in all learning and wisdom.

Jeps Were Strafed

Airmen Were Much Surprised At Enemy Machines

Air support of troops on difficult country of northern Burma is often far more effective than pilots can know.

Allied troops moving to blow up a bridge on a railway from Mandalay were much threatened by Japanese detachments which began shelling from a nearby wood. Hurricanes were sent out to attack the gunners and when they returned they were not brimming over with satisfaction. "We couldn't see anything in the way of results," they complained to the intelligence officer. "It looked to me like a waste of ammunition and ammo." P/O. Harold Holland of Winnipeg.

Later, however, when the army intelligence service got the reports, the operations were proved to have been outstandingly successful. "Good show," said the reports. "180 Japanese infantry were killed and wounded."

Scattering Pleasure

Growing Flowers For The Benefit Of The Throughout Years

One hears from time to time of people with unusual hobbies. But one of the most interesting, most unusual, and from the standpoint of the public, most delightful of all hobbies is that of people who scatter flower-seeds along highways, in alleys and by railroad tracks. Returning later in the season, they see the fruits of their efforts in bloom here and there banishing drabness from what once were dingy and depressing surroundings. And if they don't retrace their steps to see the results of their efforts, they know that others will enjoy the results of their thoughtfulness.

It is only small, but, like many a smart effort, such a hobby gives a gratifying and worth-while return.—Halifax Herald.

After The War

Industry Officials Predict Short Sugar Supply For Several Years

Industry officials expect inadequate sugar supplies for several years after the war. Europe formerly produced some 20,000,000 tons annually. Java and the Philippines 2,500,000; but a large part of their refining facilities are believed destroyed.

There'll be lots of tea, with China expected to make up deficits that have occurred in India and Ceylon.

Cocoa supplies are expected to be light because of two types of cocoa disease in West Africa and because unremunerative wartime operations have made growers apathetic.

Eight bells aboard ship may be 4 a.m., 8 a.m., noon, 4 p.m., 8 p.m., or midnight.

Luncheon At One-Thirty

By EDNA BLISS DRAKE

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Even the prospect of luncheon for sixty failed to shake Selma's Swedish composure as she entered the morning. She took the usual time to bathe and dress before she descended to the kitchen. On the back porch she gathered up a row of milk and cream bottles. It would be difficult to find room for them in the already over-crowded refrigerator, but the day was humid and they must be kept cold at any price.

"Mis' Summers is on-line women," she thought as she plodded back and forth from porch to kitchen, "But I tank anybody's a fool to have parties in the country. I'd wait till winter back in town. No stores out here; always running short of butter; people lose food on way out; everybody late and always I bane on my feet in kitchen keeping things hot. Lucky we picked out the lobster last night."

As she swung open the door of the large refrigerator she made a slight Ring discovery. The butter was a soft mass and only water stood where ice cubes should have been. Evidently, during the hot, sultry night the electricity had been off for several hours'

Selma's brand face became absolutely expressionless. She pulled the larger pans of lobster from the shelves and scrutinised the pink and white delicacy closely in the early morning light. It looked all right and it smelled all right. Now that the current was on again should she add to Mis' Summers' worries by telling her about the situation or should she keep the secret to herself? She decided to wait for a few more minutes and finally decided to tell her employer. Something would have to be done with the butter anyway.

Bess Summers threw on a negligee and hurried to the kitchen. "What's the earthly use of a ... ic refrigerator" she cried. "There's no time to get more lobster. Do you suppose it's spoiled?"

"Yes," replied Selma serenely. "I tank I try it on Bess!" Before Bess could stop her she fed a huge portion of the cold meat to her dog under the table. He ate it and wagged his tail expectantly.

City Of Commerce

Interesting History Of Caen, Long Connected With English History

Caen, in peacetime one of the main tourist attractions in Normandy, is a city of commerce and industry supporting 61,000 persons, and lies on the Cherbourg-Paris railway, 120 miles west of Paris.

Raised to prominence in the days of William the Conqueror, Caen is the capital of the Department of Calvados, the seat of a Court of Appeal, a Court of Assizes, and of a Prefect. Graced by numerous churches, it has a university with faculties of law, science and letters, an Academy, a preparatory school of medicine and pharmacy, and schools of art and music.

William the Conqueror founded the castle later completed by Henry I, and recently used by the French as a barracks.

In 1346 Caen was besieged and won by Edward III of England, and again in 1417 was captured by the English, who held it until 1450. The city suffered greatly in the religious wars of France.

Nine miles from the coast, Caen has a floating basin lined with quays and connected with the Orne river. A regular line of steamships carried on trade with Le Havre and Newhaven, which is on the English south coast, and the city has a considerable fishing population.

Its diversified industries include lace-making, timber-sawing, metal-founding, machine - construction, cloth-weaving, and chemical products, and trade in cereals, cattle and wood.

About 100 persons were arrested and put in trucks. No one saw them again. Eight citizens were lined up and shot, including two garage mechanics, who were accused of letting the Maquisards members of the resistance group living in the bush) take gasoline. The houses of all those arrested were looted and set afire. Before leaving, the Germans set the adjoining woods afire. In the woods were numerous French people collecting firewood

Cans 2 -- Braintree, March 26. Twenty six hostages were shot and their bodies left in a public square for 24 hours.

Cans 3- Department of Tarn-et-Garonne, a general round-up of hostages and the arrest of people suspected of feeding the Maquisards. The date, June 10.

Fifteen farms in the outskirts of Montpezat and six in the village itself were set on fire and burned to the ground. The village church was pillaged and its contents burned.

Cans 4- An department later in May. The Germans, with the aid of Vichy militia, closed the Trappist monastery of Notre Dame des Dombes, shot two monks and pillaged the monastery.

Egyptian Mummies

A Burial Custom That Is Five Thousand Years Old

Guards at the Royal Ontario Museum report that nine out of ten people who visit the Egyptian mummies want to see the Egyptian mummies. This exhibit holds more interest than a complete display of the museum's art gallery. Its real importance lies in the fact that it illustrates a burial custom that has persisted for an old, unique in the history of mankind.

Mummification, an attempt to perpetuate physical life by complicated embalming and ritual, gradually developed in complexity from about 3,400 B.C. to its highest point of elaboration about 1,000 B.C. The burial of objects to be used in the mummy's physical life after death naturally developed as a consequence.

Practically all of our knowledge of ancient Egypt comes from the tombs of the tombs. That this daily life is far more interesting than the mummies themselves is proved by the crowds that pass by a few hours in the Egyptian galleries. Here the life of the past can be reconstructed from the museum's collection of jewellery, toilet articles, tools, weapons, furniture, sculpture, stone and decorated clay vases, etc.

Boys Had Their Fun

But Gestapo In Oslo Probably Did Not Appreciate Joke

From Norway came this tale of how some boys, unconcerted in Hitler's "new order," amused themselves one day

They placed a bundle of underground newspapers in an Oslo office building lobby then notified Gestapo plainclothesmen that the papers were to be picked up by patriots. Next they called a Nazi-controlled police station, reported about the papers and suggested that plainclothesmen be sent to retrieve them in order to avoid attracting public attention.

The ensuing fight between the waiting Gestapo men and the city police was everything that the boys had hoped

Coal In Arctic Circle

Russians Have Brought New Coal Fields Into Production

Soviet readers were given a glimpse of the new coal fields north of the Arctic circle which have been brought into production during the days of the war.

The construction of a railroad from Kirovsk on the Polyarnaya river to Yokanga, which made possible the exploitation of this new source of supplies which already has been called the Arctic Donbas. Six additional mines are scheduled to begin production this year, according to an account in Pravda.

Coal from the new fields is going largely to Leningrad the account indicates. The miners have agreed to send all production exceeding the scheduled programme as a gift to the city.

Secret Weapons

British Scientists Have Found Answer To The Glider Bomb

One of the German secret weapons that looked menacing a short time ago was the glider bomb. In fact it was the brand-new Italian battleship "Roma" after the Italian capitulation. It has now been announced that British scientists found the answer to this threat. The nature of the new counter-device is, naturally enough, still secret

RECIPES

Nutritics-wise home-makers serve fish regularly. They realize its importance as a dietary constituent. Fish, regardless of type, is high in food value. It is rich in vitamins and minerals, and it is one of the best sources of iodine

A smelted meal is especially valuable now when it comes to saving ration coupons and money. Fortunately, there are fish for every season of the year, and they can be prepared in a variety of ways. For those who claim they don't like fish, a casserole dish calling for cracker crumb might be just the thing to tempt a change of sentiment. The salty flavor adds zest to fish dishes and makes it tempting even to the countless inland dwellers who are just learning to appreciate seafood.

SCANDINAVIAN FISH PUDDING

2½ cups cold cooked fish
1 cup cracker crumbs
1¼ cups scalded milk
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
Few drops onion juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
3 eggs

Flake the fish and put it through a food chopper three times. It should be mashed very fine. In the meantime, soak the crumbs into the scalded milk. Then, add the butter, onion juice, the lemon juice, salt and paprika. Separate the eggs. Beat the whites stiff and the yolks until creamy. Stir the yolks into the first mixture. Add the fish and fold in the egg whites. Turn into a well-buttered bowl or mould. Cover closely and steam an hour-and-a-half, or put in a pan of hot water and bake an hour in a slow oven. Serve with peas, shredded string beans or carrots and peas

British Women Going In For Articles Of Victorian Age

British women are buying up Victorian furniture and bric-a-brac which before the war would only have been found hidden in attics, crowded in parlors of suburban villas or relegated to servants' quarters.

Old fashioned lockets fobs chains and cameos, which a few years ago decorated the bosoms of school teachers and maiden aunts, or reposed on the ample stomachs of elderly clubmen, now cost fabulous sums and are worn by débutantes and brides of Mayfair.

Victorianism is in vogue—thanks partly to the 100 per cent. luxury tax on jewelry and non-essential goods and partly to sentimental reaction against drabness and severity.

In the furniture department of a West end store heavy Victorian suites are being stripped, limed and touched up with paint or gilt and even sets from middle class bedrooms fetch about 60 pounds. Often the wardrobes are painted with flower designs to lighten them. In the upholstery department piles of heavy silk and damask curtains stand in heaps shoulder high on the floor. Faded though many are, they are still of far better material than can be bought nowadays, and are coupon-free. Victorian jewelry is shown everywhere. Men's "Prince Albert" chains have been hung with ear rings, seals, coins, lockets, tiny silver charms to make bracelets. They cost ch least six pounds.

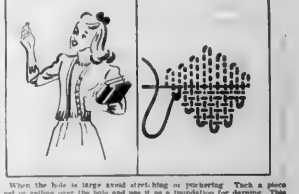
MAKE THAT DARN INVISIBLE



When the hole is large avoid stretching or puckering Tack a piece of net or veiling over the hole and use it as a foundation for darning This also strengthens the darn

1. Begin darning ¼ inch beyond the hole and make the first row equal to the length of the hole
2. Increase the length of the rows at each end until the actual hole is reached then keep straight across the hole and decrease at the ends
3. When darning over the hole take the new thread through all the loops to prevent ladders
4. For cross darning begin ¼ inch above the hole and darn latice fashion over and under darning threads

Use this method for woollen stockings, sweaters and knitted articles. Thin places may be darned to strengthen Darning should sewn only on the wrong side except for tiny stitches

"WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH ALBERTA?"

In a survey of Stamp Sales throughout the Dominion, Canada the National War Finance Committee points out that the purchase of Stamps in Alberta is the lowest in the Dominion. In view of the excellent record Alberta always makes during Victory loans they are unable to account for the poor showing of the Province where War Savings Stamp purchases are concerned. They point out, quite rightly that War Savings Stamps are one of the best investments available in Canada today). Every 24 with of Stamps purchased rewards the purchaser with $5 return at the end of 7 years, when converted into Certificates which is at the rate of about $4.75 on your investment. They think that Stamps should be sold widely throughout this Province and they feel that if the people are convenient with the wonderful investment opportunities they would be buying in larger quantities than they are at present. Let's all put our shoulders to the wheel and see if we can't put Alberta in the forefront of Stamp purchases in the Dominion.

Waste Paper Is Vital

The travelling public leaves a tremendous amount of newspapers and magazines on trains. On the Canadian National Railways this material is carefully salvaged and during one year ranges from one million to a million and a half pounds. Some of this waste paper is ultimately used to make Red Cross prisoner of war parcel cartons. It requires 72 pounds of waste paper to make 100 such cartons.

A wedding of much interest took place at Pleasant Valley Anglican church on Wednesday evening June 14, when Margaret Jean, daughter of Mrs. Lily Giles and the late Mr. T. The bride looked lovely in a floor-length gown of white sheer with shirred bodice and matching jacket and long tulle veil held in place by a spray of white blossoms. Her bouquet was of pink roses and white [illegible].

Miss Doris Giles, sister of the bride, as maid-of-honor and Miss Vivian Gould as bridesmaid, wore gowns of robin egg blue and apricot sheer with matching shoulder length veils. They carried bouquets of roses and forget-me-nots.

Charlwood, R.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Charlwood, Melbourne, Australia, were united in marriage by Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunns, on Thursday evening June 8, at 7 p.m. The organ music was played by Mr. F. Wickett and the church was decorated with bright summer flowers. Wearing a gown of white satin, styled with a sweetheart neckline, full floor-length skirt and long sleeves the bride was given in marriage by her father. A waist-length veil fell from a Mary Stuart coronet, her only ornament being a gold medal, won by her father, and which she wore on a fine gold chain.

Miss Billie Wilson of Edmonton was bridesmaid and chose for the occasion a floor-length gown of white sheer, with a shoulder veil fastened in her hair with white roses. Complementing her ensemble was a gold pendant, gift of the bridegroom, and a bouquet of pink blue and white flowers. Mr. Laurence de Grey, Vancouver, was the best man and Flt. E. N. East was usher. After the ceremony relatives and close friends were entertained at dinner at the Empress hotel, given by the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. E. N. East, qualicum Beach. The dinner table looked beautiful with a pale green rayon and linen cloth, centred with the wedding cake, and flanked with vases of pale pink double peppies; after the customary toasts, Flt. and Mrs. Charlwood left for Qualicum Beach where they will spend their honeymoon at Bru Inn Inn, the bride wearing for travelling an aqua green dressmaker suit with brown hat, shoes and accessories.

Among the guests at the ceremony from Vermilion and district were: Mrs. Benson and daughter, formerly of Vermilion, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Sketchley, formerly of Lea Park; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ashton, formerly of Mannville. Mr and Mrs Roy Phelps formerly of Mannville and Mr. Lawrence Grace formerly of Kitscoty

BE Canada and the United Nations had depended upon "Armchair Soldiers" to fight this war, the Nazis and Japs would have grabbed this country long ago.

There is no "Royal Road" to Berlin. It's fighting all the way and Canada's Army needs every man it can get. That's why, today, you should volunteer for overseas service. You'll need months of intensive training to make you fighting-fit.

Don't be a stay-at-home and let the other fellow do it. Get into a man's uniform with the G.S. badge of honour on your sleeve. If we're going to win this war, we'll have to do more than just read about it in the papers.

So, come on you fellows, the good old army has got to finish the job!

Registered and Certified Seed

Growers who are planning to produce Registered or Certified seed should prepare for a field inspection of the crop before harvest. This inspection service is carried out by the Plant Products Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture (Calgary) to which office applications for field inspections should be made immediately. Inspection may not be made where applications are received later than July 1st.

If a registered or certified seed crop is to be presented for inspection the field should be properly prepared before the inspector arrives. All barley should be carefully cultivated or mown. A small amount of rubbing will remove other crop plants or scattered weeds from the field to be inspected may make all the difference between producing an acceptable crop and one that will fail to pass inspection.

Painting of the interior of a room in which there has been a person with an infectious disease destroys the germs on all surfaces to which the paint is applied. Paint and germs just don't get along together.

The idea which is being widely used in industry to increase illumination in workrooms by painting walls white or ivory has its home-application in garages, basements, closets and other storage places. Painting of floors and walls white increase the reflection value of the surface to provide more light, and also discourages moths, which prefer dark surfaces

We wish to take this opportunity to thank our many friends and neighbors for their kindness during the illness and death of our dear husband and father. Mrs. Tovey and boys on the loss of a kind and loving brother

It is a sweet letter from Gnr. L. E. Graham overseas he said he had received a whole armful of Vermilion papers Letter from December to May. He added that they were read from cover to cover as it was news from home even if a little old.

The new organ attended church on Sunday. Mrs Pratt gave a Father's Day sermon owing to the bad roads the choir was unable to come

Mr. Hart is unable to come to Church. Even all accounts we are told, to some poor results have been handed out of their homes and much attention has been lost as well

Owing to the wet weather summer fallowing is going rather slowly this year in this district. It has been a bad year for weeds to the general opinion of all farmers

Mrs Harry Howard received a letter from Nurse Jean McLeod who used to be at Vermilion hospital. Miss McLeod is now in the war zone, but reports having a grand holiday among the pyramids she also wished to be remembered to all her old friends in and around Vermilion We are all glad to hear that she is well.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Smith, Bill and Adam Jr. are holidaying for a few days at Calgary They went to see Norman who has been ill with scarlet fever but who was released from hospital last Thursday They also visited their daughter and sister Mrs Chas Morshel who resides in the southern city. They plan to see Mrs. Graham while there

Funniest thing heard Our council for Mr Teasman on visiting our district and neighboring ones, discovered on arriving home that he had some three chicken coop fastened on to his rear bumper. Is anyone is minus a chicken coop they will know where it is. Mr. Teasman has no idea where he picked it up

The English Channel

A NARROW STRIP OF WATER which upon more than one occasion has changed the course of history, was a vitally important factor in the Allied invasion of Europe. The English Channel has been described as "an important body of water which joins the Atlantic Ocean with the North Sea, and separates France from England." Its entire area is about 24,000 square miles, and its width varies from twenty-one miles, at the Straits of Dover, to over one hundred miles at the Western end. Frequently disturbed by storms, its waters are said to be the most treacherous in the world. More favorable weather is usually experienced during the spring and summer months, and this was an important consideration in the selection of the now famous 'D' Day. For some years consideration was given to a proposal for building a railway tunnel under the Channel between France and Britain, but it was finally rejected by the Imperial Defence Council in 1994.

• • • • •

Delay Helped Allied Cause

It was the English Channel which stopped the march of Hitler's victorious armies in 1940, and helped to save Britain from the fate which befell the greater part of Europe at that time. It provided an obstacle so formidable to the Germans that they could not seize the strategic advantage of the immediate invasion following the British disaster at Dunkirk. This delay proved of invaluable help to the Democratic cause, and without doubt helped considerably to change the course of the war at that time. It also put Britain in the role of the Allied liberator of Europe, but the vast resources of the United Nations have at length been able to provide the means of making a successful channel crossing, and of pouring over it vast hordes of men and materials. This operation is undoubtedly the greatest military achievement of its kind which has ever been accomplished.

Invasion in Other Times

Military experts who planned the recent landings in Europe were not the first to attempt such an undertaking. Julius Caesar crossed the Channel with ten thousand men when he invaded Britain in 55 B.C. William, Duke of Normandy, landed an army in England in 1066, and in 1688 William of Orange brought a fleet of seven hundred transports across the Channel, carrying nearly fifteen thousand troops. Napoleon wanted to invade England in 1803, and had worked out an elaborate plan. Lord Nelson, however, prevented him from ever carrying it out. During the First Great War, great quantities of men and materials were transported from Britain to France, but never before have operations been carried out in the Channel under conditions such as exist in this war. In dividing Britain from the continent of Europe, the English Channel has clearly had a great influence on the course of events since earliest times

Not Just Drudgery

British Physiologist Gets New Slant On Art Of Housekeeping

One of Britain's famed physiologists has discovered, at the age of 77, that housewives have a place high among the artisans of this world, that their work is not just drudgery to be hated and shunned, but a thing of skill. The famed physiologist is Sir Leonard Hill, and his wife he lives in suburban London and now has reached the conclusion that scientists are woefully ignorant about housekeeping.

It happened this way. He and his wife had their gardener and country maids and fended for themselves in their nine-roomed house. Mr Leonard worked out a schedule of duty-hour and rest for his day, beating from 6:30 a.m. to 12:30 a.m.

His conclusion at the end of six weeks' effort — "I have spent my whole life doing skilled acts. Only now have I discovered that housekeeping and housework consists of doing one skilled act after the other all day—and sometimes all evening as well."

R.A.F. Stations In The West Of England Go In For Pork Dinners

Providing their own Sunday pork dinners has become almost a tradition at many R.A.F. stations in the west of England, and piggeries have sprung up almost under the very wings of many an aircraft. The Y.M.C.A. carries at these aerodromes play an important part in the "farm-to-fork" activities by saving scraps for the livestock.

Canadian "Y" officials learned recently that a R.A.F. station pig-maids and fended for themselves in their nine-roomed house. Mr Leonard worked out a schedule of duty-hour and rest for his day, beating from 6:30 a.m. to 12:30 a.m.

His conclusion at the end of six weeks' effort — "I have spent my whole life doing skilled acts. Only now have I discovered that housekeeping and housework consists of doing one skilled act after the other all day—and sometimes all evening as well."

Has Imposing Name

But Londoners Prefer To Call British Prime Minister "Winnie"

Just how many Londoners know Winston Churchill's real name? The question puzzles a good many people and very few know the answer.

The Prime Minister usually signs himself "Winston S. Churchill." But the Court Circular, a stickler for accuracy, always describes him as "The Right Honorable Winston Spencer-Churchill" because "Spencer-Churchill" is the name of the Marlborough family to which he belongs.

Actually, he has another name which he never uses—Leonard. So if you want to know how the United Kingdom Premier should be fully and formally described in legal documents the wording would be: "The Right Honorable Winston Leonard Spencer-Churchill." But Londoners prefer to call him "Winnie."—Ottawa Citizen.

Caring For Refugees

British And American Governments Establish Centre In Morocco

The British and American governments have established a refugee centre in a former U.S. Army camp near Fedala on the Moroccan coast to care for the homeless transferred from similar camps in Spain. The refugees were interned in Spain early in the war when they fled before the Nazi drive into Poland, France and the low countries. Only a handful have arrived so far, but arrangements have been completed for the transfer of 800 and the total may reach 3,000. The project has been placed under the United Nations Rehabilitation Administration for administrative purposes.

Two Western Canadians Are Honored For Their Services

D-day brought awards for gallantry to two members of the R.C.A.F., both hailing from western Canada. The Distinguished Flying Cross goes to FO. Lorenza John Bateman, of Winnipeg, and the Distinguished Flying Medal goes to Sgt. Robert Alexander Edie, of Langham, Sask.

Bateman, who was born at Humboldt, and who was commissioned in 1942, is cited for, "invariably displaying a high degree of skill and courage in the course of attacks on the enemy." "Recently," the writ continues, "he executed a most determined attack on a U-boat. Despite intense opposing fire, the attack was pressed home with great skill, and resulted in the destruction of the vessel. This officer has completed many sorties and has set an excellent example of keenness and devotion to duty."

Sgt. Edie, 23-year-old rear gunner, served the D.F.M. for an exploit in April, 1941, when the R.C.A.F. pasted the Friedrichshafen. "When nearing the target area the aircraft was attacked by two Junkers 88's. Coolly and skillfully, Sgt. Edie gave necessary evading directions to the pilot and then brought his guns to bear on the attackers, one of which was shot down and the other driven off. Sgt. Edie has now destroyed another fighter which attempted to close in. His good shooting coolness and cooperation played a worthy part in the success of the operation. This airman has completed many sorties against well defended targets."

Sgt. Edie is a farmer in civil life.

King George Meets Descendant Of Former Famous Prime Minister

An ordinary seaman whom King George met during inspection of the British home fleet turned out to be a descendant of a famous Prime Minister in Queen Victoria's day. "My great grandfather played a part in your great grandfather," said the King. "Meeting you here is history, and I wonder what they would think of it."

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—I am going away to a summer resort for two months, and, in view of the housing shortage in this district, I want to rent my home while I'm away. I have never rented before. I suppose there is just so much rent I am entitled to charge a tenant.

A.—Yes, there is. You should apply to the rental office of the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province for information of your rent. The rentals on summer cottages are also subject to the same rental restrictions as other properties and are, therefore, not to be rented at a higher rate than that charged for a corresponding period in 1941.

Q.—I am a black cat in disguise in a shop window the other day. The price wasn't shown in the window but, when I went inside, I found there wasn't even a price tag on the article. There seems to be poor protection for the buyer—why, the clerk could charge whatever she cared to, pending, I suppose, on how prosperous you looked. Isn't there some ruling against this kind of selling racket?

A.—There is, yes. A Prices Board regulation requires the display of tags to cover the placing of price tags by retailers on men's, women's and children's wear. The Board's regulation also covers all types of foods.

Q.—Now that we are well along in Ration Book 4, what's the use of Ration Book 3? I've used up "N" in just tear out the sheet of "P" canning sugar coupons, and hand the book over to my neighbor.

A.—No you could not. In the first place, Ration Book 3 contains the ration coupons to grocers in illegal. But even if you had used all canning sugar coupons, you should keep your Ration Book 3 intact. You may need coupons and other coupons that might be required later on.

Q.—I am going to a summer hotel for two weeks in August. Will I have to take my ration book?

A.—The summer hotels will not require ration books from their guests for the short time they spend at any one of the hotels. Ration Book 4 will have to be used for meals taken at home, but not for meals taken in hotels, restaurants, boarding houses or clubs.

Please send your questions or your complaints to Wartime Prices and Trade Board, "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book (the book to keep informed of the work of price controls) regarding the issuance of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Personality

Volunteer war service in three countries is the distinguished record of Pte. Wilhelmina Dow of the C.W.-A.C. Back in her native Scotland she did social service work among Italian evacuated families before the blitz. In 1940 she came to the United States and lectured to American audiences on post-war Britain. She was employed as secretary to a doctor in Denver, Colorado. Pte. Dow enlisted in the C.W.A.C. in Dec. 1943, and is at present attached to the Corps of Military Staff Clerks, Winnipeg, Man. She is the daughter of Mrs. Nemis Dow of Kinross, Scotland.

MASCOTS—

Do you know what a "Cwoot" is? If not, don't worry about it, for neither do a lot of other people. The word itself does not have even a nodding acquaintance with Churchill's basic English, but it does merit a special place in the newly coined lingo of CWAC. To CWAC a Cwoot might mean a pet, a pasde, a doll or any number of things, but always it is a mascot. Cherish Some of the girls got their pets when they first joined the Army and have kept them with them ever since. Others did so the girls like to have their Cwoots near them, but they also like to see them get adopted by the Army. It is quite the thing to see a Cwoot propped atop an Army cot with one or more stripes to its clothing of cheerio corporals or trade badges. Nearly all good CWACs have a Cwoot, have you?

Drill

The smart stepping young ladies of the C.W.A.C. at Fort Osborne Barracks, Winnipeg, are busy with precision drill in preparation for the summer days. Familiarizing themselves with a new routine which takes them away from typewriters, filing cabinets and lunch counters, they enjoy getting into the fresh air, and many a gentleman march to the orders of C.S.M. Agnes Johnson, Fort William, Ont. Every week these girls stream from offices, canteens and messes to form into platoons and companies and spend an hour on the parade square following brisk commands with smartness and precision. Lim their brothers, in khaki, the girls appear on regular parades—Pay Parade being the most popular probably. Drilling in person regulation training, has "caught on" with girl soldiers for it comes as a ch from their regular duties and familiarizes them more with "Army Life".

One of the Collin's Bay cottage was made possible by the Kingston War Services, under the direction of Dr. F. W. Atack. Dann Lake is the summer home of Mr. Joseph Richardson of Ottawa.

FASHION—

Unruly locks are less of a problem to CWACs now that C.W.A.C. Beauty Parlours are a recognized Army establishment. The volunteer in charge of Miss Canada in khaki's hair-do, Mrs. Connolly said it is required by C.W.A.C. authorities. She knows too that underneath the khaki beats a feminine heart, and she sets her styles accordingly. Some of the manners have been found in brushy, bushy, up-sweep. The feather bob has long been acclaimed as the "CWACs' Choice". Boyish bobs are discouraged as unfeminine and unnatural. The "halo roll" is very popular, being regimental yet glamorous and leaves the wearer feeling both feminine and at peace with Army regulations. As time goes by, women in khaki are showing the art of looking swiftly attractive while regimentally correct — it's a neat trick!

U.S. Air Force In Destructive Raid On Japan

WASHINGTON—Japan was bombed by huge new planes, the B-29, and congress heard that Tokyo suffered "great destruction."

The war department disclosed that the long-secret flying giants had gone into action. The announcement said:

"B-29 super Fortresses of the United States Army Air Forces 20th bomber command bombed Japan."

To this was added some time later that the planes flew to the attack from the China-India-Burma theatre.

Then Representative Joseph Starnes (Dem., Ala.) arose in the house of representatives to tell his colleagues that the target of the raid was Tokyo proper. A good source informed him, he said, that a large number of American planes were roaming "great destruction" in Tokyo.

It was the second American bombing of Japan, but the first announcement of either by the U.S.

Representative Carter Manasco (Dem., Ala.) said the war department advised him the B-29's "bombed several large cities" on the mainland of Japan.

This opened a new phase in the war—a phase in which fleets of the world's most formidable planes will strike at the enemy's navy-base and earth at the command of one man—Gen. Arnold.

Few details of this first mission by the new planes—twice as heavy and one-third larger than the Flying Fortress—were disclosed in a war department communique.

By contrast, the Doolittle raid affair. The Doolittle raiders, flying twin-engined medium bombers, took off from a carrier and most were forced to crash-land in China. Some fell into the sea. It was the president who announced they had executed eight of them.

With the announcement the war department disclosed some hitherto secret information about the B-29's and revealed the organization of the 20th air force as a roving, globe-circling command headed by Gen. Arnold.

The plane has a wing-span of 141.2 feet, is 86 feet long and 27 high. Performance details were withheld except that it "carries the greatest load faster, farther and higher than any other airplane in existence," and the speed compares favorably with that of the fastest fighter planes.

On the point of range, Gen. Arnold said some months ago that the "Super-Fortress" would be capable of flying across the Atlantic and back non-stop.

FIGHTING STRENGTH

Will Be Poured Into France To Make Sure Of Victory

WASHINGTON—A promise from Gen. Eisenhower that fighting strength would be poured into France, not only through the present beachhead but "through others yet to come" was the highlight of revelations made by President Roosevelt at a press conference

This intimation that other assaults upon Nazi Europe are pending was contained in a communication received by the president from the supreme Allied commander.

Eisenhower said he "first great obstacle" had been surmounted and "satisfactory as is the progress of this battle to date it is but a morbeginning to the tremendous struggles that must follow before final victory is achieved."

That as these operations were, he added, they were "only a part of the far larger pattern of a combined assault against the fortress of Germany by the great Russian armies from the east and our forces from the Mediterranean."

VICHY IN PANIC

LONDON. — Panic has gripped Vichy, the Moscow radio said, reporting that strong S.S. units had been sent into the town and that forbidden zones have been declared around government offices and the homes of collaborationists. Vichy leaders Moscow said, do not dare venture outside the guarded zones without the protection of the Nazi Storm Troopers.

Changes In Regulations For Ex-Service Men

OTTAWA.—Pensions Minister Mackenzie announced that an order-in-council had been passed making widespread changes in regulations under which ex-servicemen receive medical and other treatment after discharge.

The minister said the changes were designed to simplify and consolidate the existing regulations, to remove certain inequalities, and, where necessary, to raise treatment allowances so a former serviceman or woman would not suffer hardship as a result of illnesses following or attributable to service.

Under the old regulations there were 21 classifications under which an ex-serviceman or woman might receive treatment, he said. Some have been reduced to 13 without any former rights to treatment being lost.

"The changes will be of benefit to Canada's veterans as far back as the Northwest Rebellion," said Mr Mackenzie

One of the major changes affects persons discharged while still in need of treatment, said the minister. Until last February and under this demobilization went on hospital allowances of $10.20 weekly for a single man and $14.00 for a man and his wife. In February authority was given to continue pay and allowances of rank, up to a ceiling equivalent to army lieutenant for the period of a man's service to a maximum of one year.

Under the new regulations no matter what the period of service, the pay and allowances of rank will continue for 12 months' period.

Mr. Mackenzie said this regulation was retroactive to May 1, 1943, or to the start of uninterrupted treatment, and that treatment which began within 30 days of military discharge for a condition incurred during service was considered as being "uninterrupted treatment" If the pension department grants leave beyond 30 days the treatment still would be regarded as "uninterrupted."

A change also was made in widow's allowances "clause 1" treatment. This originally affected only those who had been awarded pensions from this and the First Great War. Its terms now have been broadened to include all other pensioners. Such pensioners and non-pensioners directed to hospital for observation, comrades of the Canadian pensions commission and veterans of the North-west Rebellion who previously were treated under another clause

GERMANY PREPARES

Makes Preparations For War On Her Own Soil

STOCKHOLM — The Stockholm Morgtidningen said that the Germans are preparing for war on their own soil and that instructions are being issued to the population on how to combat airborne Allied troops.

In a dispatch carried under an Ankara dateline but actually quoting a broadcast by the anti-Nazi radio station Atlantic, the Morgtidningen said residents of Germany's coastal cities have been told they will be warned by special alarm signals in the events of an Allied paratroop or glider landing in their area.

The newspaper said the civilian population of Bremen has been instructed to evacuate to the Baltic coastal if and when the invasion occurs.

Women Snipers Among Enemy War Prisoners

LONDON Armed women, some French some German are a them in the ranks of the Allied soldiers fighting in Normandy.

Gen Montgomery himself warned the troops of the menace of these women snipers, and already their sharp shooting pro-Axis women are among the enemy prisoners of war who have arrived in England

One of these is a gentle-mannered French widow who was said to have fought by the side of the Germans until five bullets silenced her gun. She sat at the bedroom window of her home in a small French village sniping at British naval parties who had occupied the town

"Finally," one troops attacked the house and found it barricaded Eventually, with some casualties they took the strong point and found the woman wounded at the foot of the staircase

It was learned from other willingness that Dr. Noman Bethune, a British coast town hospital was a leading sniping and hostess to Germans trained in the village for many months. Her gun and ammunition was German

CANADIAN TROOPS

Their Contribution To The Vast And Important Assault On France

ARMY HEADQUARTERS. Somewhere in Britain — Lt.-Gen Crerar told correspondents that it will be difficult if not impossible to exaggerate the importance of the Canadian contribution to the vast and decisive assault on France.

The commander made the statement at the conclusion of a comprehensive off-the-record conference with Allied war correspondents and gave permission for this portion of his remarks to be reported.

"I do not need to emphasize the eagerness with which I and all ranks of the Canadian army, wherever located have been following the fortunes of all the Forces engaged in the assault landing and the pride which we share in the magnificent part played by Canadians

"We have beforehand how well these especially-trained Canadian troops would carry out a difficult and vitally-important task

"The enemy certainly shares that knowledge now

"I believe that when the time comes that the complete story of the preparations and plan for the vast and decisive Allied assault landings in Europe is revealed the importance of the Canadian contribution to its success will be fully realized.

"It will be difficult if not impossible to exaggerate it

"During the last year in Sicily and Italy and now in France Canadian troops have shown their great and inherited qualities. You can count on it they will continue to do so until the end and will spare themselves nothing to ensure that final victory suffers no delay."

CANADIAN NAVY

Assuming Large Portion Of Convoy Work In The Atlantic

OTTAWA.—Canada has assumed considerably increased responsibilities" in North Atlantic escort work, Navy Minister Macdonald said in the house of commons here after announcing that the frigate Prince Rupert had helped to destroy a German submarine and captured 14 prisoners

Mr Macdonald did not elaborate on his reference to increased responsibilities but it was believed the Canadian navy had assumed a major portion of convoy duty in the Atlantic now that virtually all warships of British and American warships were needed to keep open communications across the English channel. It previously had been announced that Canada was responsible for 45 per cent of escort duty

Referring to Canadian naval participation in the invasion, the navy minister said that part of HM Canadian ships involved only a few landing craft had been lost and of 10,000 personnel participating losses had been "negligible"

Bombers Play Important Role On West Front

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS — "I wish to be regarded as like's shadow, and nothing else whatever." Behind these implicit instructions of Air Chief Marshal Tedder lies the reason the name of the deputy commander of the Allied Expeditionary Force has appeared only once in communiques since D-Day. But to the air chief marshal infected with the Eisenhower doctrine, goes a tremendous share of the credit for the perfect integration of the British, Canadian and American air offensive against Europe

Periodically the deputy commander sends all the air chiefs and Generals Brereton and Spaatz, Chief Marshals Leigh-Mallory and Harris and Air Marshal Coningham to co-ordinate a single plan for the bomber command of the R.A.F Eighth and Ninth Air Forces coastal command Their work is not the sum total of individual efforts but the several facets of a big one he revealed the importance of the Canadian contribution to its success will be fully realized.

"It will be difficult if not impossible to exaggerate it

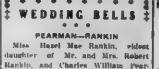
PEARMAN—RANKIN

Miss Hazel Mae Rankin, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rankin, and Charles William Pearman, second son of Mr. and Mrs A.M. Pearman of Derwent, were quietly married at the United church manse, Vermilion, on Thursday, June 15th. After spending a short time in Edmonton they will reside on the groom's farm 16 miles north of town.



Vermilion Squadron No. 97

Our term of study is about over and the cadets are getting ready to write their final examination and go to camp for ten days. They are scheduled to leave here on July 15th for Camp Borden. The itinerary of camp is a great improvement over the previous year and covers a wide range of subjects. There are also the flights which are lately been added and this should be a big attraction.

All senior cadets who are going to camp must submit their names to the squadron adjutant before June 20th that they are positively going to camp so that arrangements can be made for the issuance of summer clothing.

On Monday night the local squadron were the guests of the Colonials theatre which had as part of its program a short called "Air Cadet", this picture was appreciated by the boys and they wish to thank Mr. Pfahle for a swell evening's entertainment.

Have you got an old army kit bag around that we can borrow for two days? If so please call Pit. Ritchie at 23 and he will make arrangements for you to be picked up and returned to you at the expiration of the summer camp. About six are required and if you can help us greatly in this number can be located.

DISPLAY OF WORK AND PLAY PRESENTED

By Pupils of Mrs. Gordon Hay

The teacher of Grade 4, Mrs. Gordon Hay and her pupils entertained parents and others interested on Friday afternoon last, to a display of samples of their Red Cross work, an enterprise entitled "How We Live with our Neighbor, the United States" and then presented a play entitled "United Nations Good-Will Day". The scene of the play was laid in the Peace Garden which is located in southern Manitoba and North Dakota and operated jointly by Canada and the United States.

The entire program was carried out by the children themselves, was of the pupils, Donald Partridge, acting as chairman, while the teacher looked on as a spectator.

The presentations and display of work were admirable and really enlightened those present on that which can be accomplished by pupils under Red and conscientious teacher and willing pupils.

Reports were received from Convener of various work committees. For Junior Red Cross it was reported that in various grades of the Public school scrap books had been made for the Crippled Children and sewing, underwear for boys, etc., completed for a convent school in England. Contributions also to the above outfits were sweets, stockings and tooth paste, purchased from a fund collected by. It is understood, self-imposed four times yearly deaths.

A Tag Day is being planned by the above committee.

An appeal from Mrs. Proctor for funds to buy coats was brought forward and a sum of $50 voted to this object. It has been found cheaper to purchase these coats than they made them to buy material and make them up.

A further shipment of goods was despatched to Edmonton on June 15th comprising 54 knit and 227 sewn garments.

A goodly number of citizens met in the Legion hall on Friday night last to discuss the problems of constructing a swimming pool in Vermilion. The outcome of the discussion was that a sub-committee was appointed to investigate the matter fully, secure plans and all details as to cost of construction, and to bring in a report to another public meeting. This second meeting will be held as soon as the information is gathered up, and the standard understands that much of it is already on hand.

The construction of a swimming pool is a project which, if undertaken, will require the 100 per cent co-operation financially, orally and in the way of actual help, of country and town people alike. Interest in the Vermilion Rural Municipal District election case was revived this week when it became known that Jude Melanae had dismissed with costs the application of the respondents to dismiss the petition of the relator to set aside the election on the ground of alleged irregularities. The application was heard before Judge Mclsaac on June 1st, the argument being presented by Chas H Grant, K.C., Edmonton with whom was associated J.W.G. Morrison, K.C., and F. J. Miner, K.C., Lloydminster and James McCorry, Kitscoty, as Counsel for the relator. The question at issue was to determine whether the reeve had taken the correct procedure in his application to unrate the election Judge Mclsaac in his decision finds in favor of the relator.

The text of the judgement is as follows

Naturally I have neither the jurisdiction nor the inclination to make any comments as to the merits of the case. I would like to say that the arguments and briefs supplied me by Counsel were very instructive and helpful

OLD-TIMERS ROUND-UP

The Vermilion Old Timers' Association held a dance in the Elks hall on June 21st. One hundred men and women, who homesteaded in the district from 1905 to about 1908 attended and from every indication appeared to have enjoyed themselves.

This was the first round-up since 1941, when the annual banquet which was customary, was discontinued on account of the war. It was voted at this meeting that the banquets be foregone but that the annual round ups be held Conversation was the order of the day all round the hall and one would hear, when there was a lull in the music that men and women who had perhaps not met since 1911 were again renewing old times when they also was of interest at the moment.

The music was furnished by the Vermilion orchestra composed of Mr. Hufne (dances), Mrs (dances) and Fred Gould. The Hannah family of Islay, five members, also helped out and were a real contribution to a pleasant evening

After lunch was served the President, Mr C. W. Robinson addressed the gathering told why the banquets were discontinued and promised that there would be another round-up the fall probably first-under or the early part of October. He had received letters from many of the members. H. W. Brown, who was unavoidably absent on account of having suffered a broken arm, and extended to Mr. Brown the sympathy of the gathering and best wishes for a speedy recovery.

His Worship Mayor Morrison was then called to the platform to extend a welcome to the Old Timers which he did in his usual earnest style His remarks were well received. While on the platform he ordered Mr Robinson to his feet and read him an address to the Prince Albert Pioneers. A presentation to he and Mrs. Robinson of a three-piece tea service of Crown Derby was made. Mr and Mrs Robinson were taken wholly by surprise but managed to say "thank you".

The Mayor then proceeded with an address to the secretary Mr H W Brown and a presentation to absent was made

If the president and secretary are to proceed upon to part with their addresses for a short time there will appear to have been much work done at the standard

An Expanding Power

"CANADA IS NO LONGER a small nation, she is a great power, and that has come about not by any political manoeuvring, but by the sheer weight of her war effort." This statement was made by the Governor General, the Earl of Athlone, in an address delivered in Regina, during his recent visit to the West. His Excellency also expressed the hope that Canada's role in the restoration of peace would be "equally sincere, equally substantial, and equally effective." This was a fine tribute to Canada's part in the winning of the war, and one which has been widely appreciated. It is generally agreed that participation in the war has brought the people of Canada a fuller realization of their stature and of their importance as a nation, and it is to be hoped that none of this national consciousness will be lost when peace is restored.

Many Supplies Sent Overseas

Canada's part in the landing of the Allied armies of liberation has been proof of her growing strength, and great credit has been given to the branches of the service which played such an important and effective role in that great undertaking. Manpower, however, was not Canada's only contribution, for according to recent information given out by Hon James MacKinnon, Trade Minister, an "all out" effort was made to send food and fighting equipment to Britain before the invasion commenced. During the month of May, $140,240,000 worth of goods was exported to the United Kingdom. In the same month, $18,864,000 worth of foodstuffs and military supplies was sent to Italy for the great drive which resulted in the capture of Rome and the rout of the Nazis from that area.

* * * *

Increase in All Exports

Motorized equipment, locomotives, ammunition, many types of guns, metals and textiles were among the many articles shipped from Canada for the great Allied offensive in Europe. Large quantities of food were also sent during the month before the invasion began. Wheat shipments during this period were valued at $45,100,000, as compared to $25,-600,000 in May 1943. Flour shipments reached the total of $10,300,000; oats, $12,100,000; bacon, $21,800,000; and dried eggs $2,300,000. All these figures show a very substantial increase over shipments in the same month of the previous year, and demonstrate that Canada has indeed provided much more than her proportionate share. We must continue this effort not only in winning the war, but in solving the many problems which will arise in the years to come.

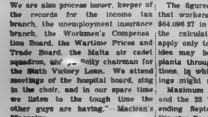
A Busy Life

The Time Of This Weekly Newspaper Editor Appears To Be Fully Occupied

Should you have a notion that the life of a country editor is a cushy one listen to the lament of the weekly newspaper editor at Viking, Alberta. He writes:

"This week the publisher of this paper is linotype operator, machinist, pressman, adman, jobman, stenographer, bookkeeper and reporter. We are also process server, keeper of the records for the income tax branch, the unemployment insurance branch, the Workmen's Compensation Board, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, the Malta air raid (and squadron, and [illegible] chairman for the Sixth Victory Loan. We attend meetings of the hospital board, sing in the choir, and in our spare time we listen to the tough time the other guys are having."—Macleod Magazine.

Blitz Technique On Garden Seeds



Experienced gardeners say that it is very important to destroy weeds when they are small to prevent them from using up the moisture and plant food that should be going to the young and growing vegetables. Hoeing during a bright summer's day may not be very comfortable, but it's the right kind of weather for establishing a beachhead for further attacks. The enemies of the seedlings in the garden can be held in check and systematically exterminated with a flick of the wrist if they dare show their heads. Those which are strong enough to resist hoeing manoeuvres should be destroyed before their seeds have had a chance to turn into reinforcements.

Night Fighter Technique

Cause Of Failure To Interfere With Invasion Preparations

The complete failure of the recent German raids which attempted to destroy invasion preparations is no mystery. The Air Ministry forecast long ago that invasion dumps and troop concentrations would make tempting targets, and so set about their preparations accordingly. The cause of the Luftwaffe's failure is the development of the R.A.F. night fighter technique.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—I live alone and find a pound of coffee is too much for me to buy at one time. Is there any way I can buy less than a pound, give up my coffee coupon, and buy the other half-pound later on this?

A—No, ration coupons are required each time you buy rationed foods. However, you can always buy half a pound of coffee and 2 oz. of tea with one tea coupon.

—o—

Q—My grocer will not accept tea coupons which I still have in my No. 3 book. Is he correct?

A—No, he is quite wrong. All tea-coffee coupons in your No. 3 book are still good for future purchase of tea or coffee. They will remain valid until an expiry date is announced.

—o—

Q—Are the prices of strawberries and raspberries controlled?

A—Yes, price ceilings for Canadian-grown strawberries and raspberries were set on May 29 and remain controlled until September 30. Canada is divided into three zones, and Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are included in zone three. Prices for quarts and pints are less after June 17 than they were for the period May 29 to June 17, when the berries were not as plentiful. Imported berries are also placed under the same ceiling as Canadian-grown berries for the period June 5 to September 30.

Jap News Unreliable

Soldiers' Relatives Warned Against Messages That Are Not Official

In order that the Government was forwarding to relatives any apparently genuine message coming from Canadian prisoners in Japanese hands, the Wartime Information Board warned against placing too much credence in Japanese broadcasts.

A W.I.B. statement added:

"Such messages may be released by the enemy for some propaganda purpose and their reliability is, therefore, always questionable.

"Sometimes recordings are made of prisoners' voices, but these may be delayed for some considerable time before being released by the enemy. In addition, cases have been reported of unscrupulous persons who listened to broadcasts from Japan, then write the next of kin mentioned and offer for a consideration to send them the message that has been sent out.

"Other people, with no ulterior motive, frequently write next of kin to tell them a message picked up in Tilia is unnecessary, as the official handling of such messages is very distant and sentimental interest. Nothing could be more certain than that, if we wish to avoid a third Great War Germany after the present one, must be effectually and permanently demilitarized, not only professionally but industrially.

Hair Splitting

Human Hair Is Used In Making Cloth In Hungary

Wartime necessities in Hungary have developed a process whereby human hair is combined with rayon and hemp fiber in producing fabrics. Press reports indicate that during the past three years 600 meters of cloth for men's suits have been manufactured, as well as 2,500 blankets, 2,500 sweaters and 1,000 pairs of stockings.

The durability and cheapness of this type of cloth will ensure its use after the war, it is claimed.

DEATH TO IN EXILE

Dr. Hans Techi died at the age of 70, in Kiel. His name will always be remembered in connection with the building of German submarines. Even when the inglorious end of the last war put a sudden stop to German U-boat construction, Techi managed to go abroad where he continued to design submarines. Thus he was able to develop his plans in undisturbed quietude, and in this way he was partly responsible for making available to Germany in 1939 mature and modern U-boat designs."—Der Neue Tag, Prague.

Modern library methods began with the rule of St. Benedict, early in the sixth century.

The Next War

Germany Making Plans Even Now For Another Attempt At World Domination

Whenever one hears, and it will be heard, talk of an honorable peace for Germany, the past should be remembered above all things, and safeguards taken. The London Bureau of The Ottawa Journal reports that there is good evidence that the Germans are actually now thinking of and planning how to wage the next war. A significant fact in connection of this mentality and example is that German scientists have carefully studied the effects of the bombardment of Berlin and other German cities, and are devising ways and means whereby these places may be rebuilt on bombproof lines.

Berlin has announced that at the end of this war all German cities will be constructed of fireproof materials. Every roof is to have its swimming pool, for use in peacetime for exercise and recreation, but in wartime as a reserve of water to deal with incendiary attacks by air. Houses will be constructed of steel and reinforced concrete, and even the household furniture will be fireproof. This is proof, if indeed proof were needed, that the Germans, realizing that they cannot win the present war, are looking ahead to waging yet another and better one.

Those people who refuse to believe in the inherent belligerency of the modern Hun will find it hard to reconcile these facts with their persistent and sentimental incredulity. Nothing could be more certain than that, if we wish to avoid a third Great War Germany after the present one, must be effectually and permanently demilitarized, not only professionally but industrially.

Hitler once boasted of Russia having been laid low for one thousand years to come. It is just something like that which should be the portion of Germany.—St. Catharines Standard.

No doubt about it, many health authorities tell you do—if your constipation is due to lack of bulk in the diet. Simply eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly, and drink plenty of water. Workers Rewarded

New Ideas In Aircraft Production Bonanza In Much Saving

Bright ideas of aircraft workers for doing their jobs faster or at less material expense have cut tangible war production costs by $434,350.63 it was announced by the Aircraft Industry Relations Committee. The committee supervises the employee suggestion plan operated by labour-management committees in aircraft plants throughout the country.

The figures, as of April 30, show that workers were given a total of $64,067.37 in awards for their ideas, the calculated savings of which apply only to their own plant. Any idea may be adopted by aircraft plants throughout the United Nations, in which event the total savings might run into millions.

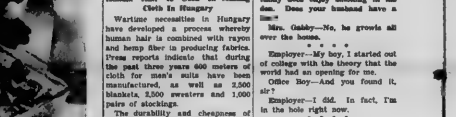
Maximum individual award is $500 and the 23 best ideas for the year ending September will receive the Director General's Merit Award.

Many bright ideas this year have come from women, as witness that from Helena Griffith, a worker at Boeing Aircraft, Vancouver, makers of Catalina patrol bombers. Miss Griffith, given the job of putting tiny nails into a plane's skin, found them hard to hold and, besides, she was hitting her fingers with the hammer.

She got a bit of plywood. Around the end she wrapped a piece of masking tape, folded with the adhesive side out. With her left hand she picked up the little nails on the sticky tape, holding them in place until her hammer was ready to bang them in one by one.

"With practice, one can become adept in the use of the simple gadget and results are greater speed, less waste and oh, what a relief to my thumb!" she says.

Rhubarb Crisp Pudding



Right now the rhubarb is at its best and most of us are looking for different ways to serve it. We all like rhubarb pie and many of us are satisfied with just stewed rhubarb. But for variety, and a recipe worth keeping on tap for the rhubarb season every year try this rhubarb crisp pudding. Serve it with cream or hot vanilla sauce made gently with sugar, flour and your precious sugar supply too.

¼ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg
¾ teaspoon nutmeg
1½ cups toasted bread cubes
3 cups All-Wheat
4 cups diced fresh rhubarb
⅔ cup honey
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly; add eggs and beat well. Add nutmeg and flavoring. Mix in bread cubes and cereal.

Put rhubarb in greased baking pan; drizzle honey over rhubarb. Cover with All-Wheat. Bake in moderate oven (370 degrees F.) 35-40 minutes or until rhubarb is done. Serve warm with thin cream.

6 - 8 servings (10 x 6-inch baking pan).

Variation: Omit nutmeg and vanilla extract; use two teaspoons grated orange rind instead.

D-Day Brings Three B.C. Friends Together

It took the world's greatest sea borne invasion to bring these three British Columbia friends together. Before the war they worked in the same factory in Trail, B.C. Gunner Alex. Williamson of a Canadian artillery regiment, right, was hit in the arm by a sniper's bullet before his assault craft reached the French beachhead. Brought off again, he was transferred to the Royal Canadian Navy destroyer, H.M.C.S. Algonquin, which was joining in the bombardment of the beach. After the battle had died away, Williamson was visited in sick bay by his two friends from Trail. They are, left, Engineroom Artificer John Dewson, of Kimberley, B.C., and Stoker George Foster, of Nelson, B.C. The picture, taken on D-Day, just of the French coast was flown to Canada by hand.

U.S. Navy Has Gained Control Of Pacific Area

WASHINGTON.—Possibly a score of the newest and biggest United States aircraft carriers are assigned to task forces in the effort of the navy to be history's "most powerful and destructive naval unit."

Rear Admiral Arthur W. Radford, acting deputy chief of naval operations for air, in a broadcast describing the giant force which routed the Japanese east of the Philippines, said "We can safely assume that most of the big carriers commissioned since Pearl Harbor have been operating as part of the vast task force."

The navy announcement said that in addition to carriers, the force was made up of battleships, cruisers and destroyers. It has been given "the entire Pacific ocean to the gates of Japan as its stamping ground."

The navy's report said a Japanese pilot saw the force "scattered over the sea as far as his eyes could gaze" and when captured shortly thereafter, reported that "one look at task force 58 convinced him that Japan had lost the war."

More than 1,000 planes can be launched from the 1,250,000 square feet of aircraft carrier decks in the force.

"With Super Fortresses striking from the west and task force 58 from the east, Admiral Nimitz pounds Japanese homeland has at last come within range of strategic bombing forces," the navy said.

TO BE DISCUSSED

Post-War Reconstruction On Program For Coming Conference

OTTAWA.—Some phases of post-war reconstruction will be discussed at the forthcoming Dominion-provincial conference, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said in the commons.

Answering Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative house leader, Mr. King said he did not know when the conference would be held, but he hoped that it would be held under circumstances which would permit all the provinces to attend.

Mr. King said he was not sure whether it would be advisable to wait until after the session to hold the conference.

"On the other hand, if parliament is going to continue in session until December I think we ought to have the conference before considerable time before that," he said.

PLANS CANCELLED

Former Luxury Liner Normandie Will Not Be Rebuilt Now

NEW YORK.—Increasing demand of manpower and critical materials have caused cancellation of plans to rebuild the U.S.S. Lafayette, formerly the luxury liner Normandie, which burned and sank at her pier in February, 1942, the U.S. navy department announced.

After the giant ship, refitted for use as a troop transport, had been raised at a cost of $3,780,000, her hull was repaired and she was taken to the Todd shipyards in Brooklyn.

Future plans for reconstructing the ship have not been announced by the navy, which said that manpower and materials which could have been used to refit the Lafayette have been diverted to more urgent needs.

Nazis Rounded Up Loyal Vichy Supporters Instead Of Suspects

LONDON. — French underground sources said when the Germans occupied Paris and blazed hundreds of Frenchmen to concentration camps as D-Day drew near, no less than they had rounded up the most loyal Vichyites instead of persons with Allied sympathies.

At the last moment, underground leaders succeeded in switching their own file of German collaborationists for the Germans' list of suspects. [illegible]

SAWFLY MENACE

Flights Of Pests Have Started In Southern Alberta

EDMONTON.—The sawfly—[illegible]fly—the No. 1 insect pest of prairie farmers—has started laying potential damage to millions of acres of wheat in the plains area, Dominion government entomologists here reported.

Flights of the pest have started in southern Alberta and southern Saskatchewan and are steadily becoming heavier and more general.

Recent rains during weather has retarded swarthy flights considerably since the flies started to emerge less than two weeks ago but entomologists explain a few days of hot weather would give rise to exceptionally heavy flights.

During the flight period expected to last until about July 10, swarflies lay their eggs in wheat stems.

Comparatively heavy flights have been reported during the past few days in the Carmangay and Claresholm districts in southwestern Alberta.

Red Cross Plans To Send More Food Parcels

REGINA. — The Canadian Red Cross is increasing the number of food parcels sent to Europe from 100,000 to 150,000 parcels a week in order to increase the supply available for prisoners of Allied and occupied countries, principally Polish, Yugoslav, Greek, Free French and Belgian prisoners, said L. A. Winter, honorary commissioner of the National Red Cross Society, Toronto.

Mr. Winter was on his way east after visiting provincial Red Cross offices across Canada. He was in Regina for a fe[illegible] y visit.

This food relief [illegible] prisoners in occupied countries is shared with the British Red Cross, the Red Cross societies of the other dominions and the American Red Cross, said Mr. Winter.

In speaking of aid to prisoners of war in Japan, Mr. Winter said that although continual efforts are being made to obtain the co-operation of Japan, the Red Cross had not had the full co-operation which should be expected under the international convention. Relief for prisoners in Japan has been confined largely to what has been sent on the Grigsholm and other relief ships but the Red Cross is still hoping for more Japanese assistance.

While prisoner-of-war relief is the largest project in which the Red Cross is engaged, there is great activity in hospital overseas, Mr. Winter said. Canadian Red Cross representatives and supplies have followed the Canadian troops into Sicily and Italy and will be with the invasion troops as soon as bases are established, he said.

Take A Larger View Of Credit For The Farmer

OTTAWA.—Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, said before the commons banking committee that if a banking system was unable to earn enough so that it could afford losses, then the system was no good.

"If a banking system has sufficient earnings to afford losses, then it can take fair risks in extending credit," he said.

The governor was answering questions about banks' credit policies as the committee continued examination of Bank bill provisions.

R. T. Graham (L.-Swift Current) said it appeared that when banks had outstanding loans like the $50,-000,000 owing by the Beauharnois corporation in the 30's, there was a tendency to curtail loans for other borrowers such as prairie farmers.

Mr. Towers said he believed the point had been reached where legitimate needs, large or small, could be met. The machinery existing in the depression period was unsatisfactory and there had been some "pulling in" of credit to keep the position of individual banks as satisfactory as possible.

Mr. Graham said the banks should have a larger view of credit for farmers than granting loans on a one-year basis.

Mr. Towers said farm credit was not unusually considered to be of the long-term type, but hundreds of thousands of such loans had been carried on for longer periods after the onset of the depression. But year after year the farmer ought to be able to pay off his debt and there was a natural tendency for the bank to stop giving further loans as it saw it appear it was giving away [illegible] do.

Mr Graham said there had been a tendency of bank branches to call in farm loans immediately. He regretted the banks had added to the velocity of the depression by such action.

Mr. Towers said that due to the service now available from the central bank, curtailment of credit due to banks' lack of cash would not prevail again.

Mr Towers said loans like that granted Beauharnois had been made in 1926 1927 and 1928, and often were for the purpose of expansion. It had been expected the companies would be able to finance they readily, but actually the banks had to carry them for a considerable number of years. The loans had been granted in ignorance of the world-wide catastrophe of 1930 and following years" of the depression.

Replying to John Blackmore, Social Credit house leader, Mr. Towers said there was no difference of opinion between them as to the use of currency expansion to meet the needs of government financing. The difference was as to the degree to which this should be substituted for taxation and interest bearing borrowings [illegible]

MORE NEEDED

Canada's Ammunition Program Is Being Pushed To New Heights

OTTAWA.—Canadian 25-pounder batteries are pumping out ammunition in France and Italy at a rate that makes artillery duels of the First Great War comparable to pyrotechnic displays—and that, the munitions department said, is the reason Canada's ammunition program has been pushed to new heights.

W. L. Tregunno, director of ammunition production for the British ministry of supply has recently completed a series of off-the-record talks to Canadian workers engaged in ammunition production. A call has gone out for 10,000 workers to help speed up ammunition production.

He told them the story behind Hamilton Minister Howe's recent announcement that ammunition production would have to reach new levels and he answered the thought in the minds of some armchair strategists that the United Nations must be running short of ammunition.

"The truth is that the Allies are far from running short of ammunition, but from battle experience the United Nations have found that devastating effects can be achieved by an increasing use of artillery fire," he said.

Canadian Tanks Big Factor In Beach Battle

WITH CANADIAN TANKS IN FRANCE — From the beaches at Courseulles and Bernieres to the Caen-Bayeux highway 10 and 12 miles inland these Canadian tank regiments—the First Hussars London, Ont. the Fort Garry Horse, Winnipeg, and the Sherbrook Fusiliers—fought their beachhead battle alongside the Canadian Third division.

The support this formation with its fiberman tanks gave the infantry was one of the big factors in the splendid performance of the Canadians in the first week of the invasion when the enemy counter-attacked heavy blows at positions northwest of Caen.

In the assault the most successful landing was made by the First Hussars who landed on the beaches at Courseulles where the western Canadian brigade—Royal Winnipeg Rifles, Regina Rifles, Canadian Scottish, Victoria—came ashore. The unit came in from a rough sea at one time, and were practically under the muzzles of German anti-tank and field guns. But after some confusion and dispute just back of the beach. They blasted shells at these defences and thousands of such tanks had been through the sand dunes and worked their way into Courseulles where they began to clear out the town.

Overs rising elaborate mine fields, they broke into open country behind the defences and from with the tanks brigade running alongside them or riding on the tourrets and hulls. One column struck southwest to Bayeux until they had to be halted by [illegible] But they took them on, one by one, with the infantry and as they got further inland, found some 88's abandoned.

At Bernieres the Fort Garry Horse found the going easier on landing in the assault but had tough luck because of a terrible sea and did not make the beach until three hours after the first wave. But once they got on the beaches they went right to work, striking inland to Taillerville to cut the first lateral road along which were strong German gun positions.

The Fort Garrys swung southeast to Douvre and Deliverande and briefly engaged a German strong point there which was not captured until 11 days later when Commandoes and assault engineers took it.

By the night of D-Day these tanks reached Anguerny, six miles south of the landing beach, and all the way they had left pockets of the enemy manning hidden guns. Anti-tank guns were sighted down every road leading to Caen, and each one meant a skirmish and sometimes took an hour or two to wrinkle out

LEGION TO EXPAND WAR SERVICE WORK

Extensive improvements and additions to Canadian Legion war services, particularly in entertainment and personal services, are being planned, it was announced Thursday by the provincial president, S. C. Heckbert, who was in Edmonton conferring with Legion officials.

He said that facilities at the War Services Hut were being greatly improved and that War Services Officer Robert Hume to fill an exception-ally fine job. An invitation is extended to all service personnel in the city to make use of the hut.

The membership increase in membership, totalling 3,100 new members in the province during the last seven months, has necessitated additions to other personnel at command headquarters in Calgary, the president said. —Edmonton Bulletin

ISLAY

Fifteen hundred pounds of salvage paper was delivered at Lloydminster a few days ago due to the kindness of Bob Bell and his truck. This was brought in by many people and left at Mr. Robert Martin's garage who repacked and tied much of it. Mr. McNeely picked up the village share. Much more is needed, and urgently—so save and bring it in any day you come to town and leave at Martin's garage. Possibly the latter part of July. Bring them in tied in flat parcels please.

Margaret Martin, R.C.A.F., (W.D.), of St. Thomas has been home for a few days. If you remember hearing of the loss of an accident at Port Stanley when a boat tipped over and a number were drowned—Well, Margaret had been on the same boat just the previous trip it made, maybe less than an hour before. Margaret reports having seen Douglas Urquhart.

Girls over 12 to 16 years of age who would like to attend C.G.I.T. camp at Holvick's Lake near Innisfree may get forms for application by calling at the telephone office in Islay, or by writing to Miss Margaret McRae, Manyville. This camp is August 7-15, but applications are to be in by July 10. Girls should take advantage of this, it is very worthwhile

For that big fish you had and lost while on a fishing trip you can get a frying pan large enough o fry it in if you heard R. D. Colquette on the radio Sunday last. There are going to be some more big fish caught on July 1st holiday trip up north.

Potatoes are in flower now.

We thought we saw Mr. Joe Dupuit leaned in a corner of his chicken run but on stopping to take another look it is an effigy to scare away the crows.

The Misses Patsy Terrance, Marie Mallish and Judy Magee have gone on a holiday trip to Victoria and other coastal points.

BOWTELL BULLETIN

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. F. Robinson on the birth of a baby girl in the Islay hospital on June 22.

The dance held by the Busy Bees was well attended and a tidy sum realized for war work. Due to Mr. Kepp being in hospital Tom Sherwood took tickets and Mr. Debard was the floor manager. The draw for the quilt was made by Ronnie McGinnis and the winner was Nellie McFadden. It was pleasing to have Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller and Miss Isobel Hawkes at the dance. The latter is spending two weeks vacation visiting in th.. island Hill district.

Mrs. M. Harrison and two nieces from the east are planning on visiting here during the school holidays.

Ladies are reminded of their meeting on July 13 and don't forget your donations to the soldiers' parcels.

Mr. and Mrs. McFarlane are enjoying a visit from their daughter Marion who is home on vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Roberts were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Harrison.

Mrs. Knutson and Harold left on Monday for Edmonton where Harold will receive some medical attention to his nose.

Miss Smith was a supper guest on Friday at the home of Mrs. Bapp.

The writer was surprised to meet Walter Robinson and his wife in Vermilion on Saturday. They now live near Prince Rupert. They are a former Bowtell district family living near the school. One boy CMT has been seriously wounded and is in an Eng lish hospital.

It certainly pays to advertise in the Standard folks. Tom Sherwood advertised a Hereford bull and a few days later it was sold.

Sympathy of the district is extended to the two daughters and relatives of the late Mrs. Peter Williamson.

NEW CROSSING FILLS A LONG FELT NEED

The new crusing leading across the lane from Craig's to the Boston meets a long felt need in the town and the public works committee of Mr. Payne and Mr. Bushell are to be congratulated on the good job done. It is to be hoped that a similar crossing will be put in at the other end of this same lane, where a regular quagmire results every time that it rains.

Just about every crossing in the residential sections of the town needs attention as these are just mud holes in wet weather. However, ratepayers realize that it takes time to catch up on such things and they are pleased to see a start in the right direction after all these years.

CHATSWORTH CHATTER

Some crops are looking very good, (particularly early sown grain) while others look rather patchy, due perhaps to heavy rains which we have had. There is no scarcity of moisture and folks are beginning to hope fields will soon dry up enough to enable them to get started on summerfallow. Weeds are certainly coming ahead quickly.

Roads are in very poor condition at the constant rains keep mud-holes full of water. A good deal of patchwork has been done and some filling on the Ottawa to King Edward road east past Osbaldeston's and Hutchinson's.

Mrs. Jim Panter is now home from hospital. She came out on Monday, June 19th.

Lowell Fisher is also home from the hospital.

Mrs. Deberdt was a patient in the hospital recently also, suffering blood poison in her right hand.

Stomach flu has been going the rounds here-about lately.

Gerry and Bernice Klaschinsky are leaving this week, on their return journey to Vancouver. Gerry goes to rejoin his parents Mr. and Mrs. Barney Klaschinsky while Bernie is going out to his mother, Mrs. Leo Klaschinsky.

Marvin Osbaldeston was rushed to hospital Monday morning where he underwent an emergency operation.

We are sorry to hear that the Enfield families in the Westlock area were among those whose farms were flooded during the recent floods there.

"STAMP DAY" June 30th

DO YOU KNOW that 25c buys 12 bullets for the Armed Forces.

DO YOU KNOW that the daily consumption of ammunition of all kinds in this war has exceeded the highest weekly consumption in the last war?

DO YOU KNOW that the more we use of it and the heavier the fire power of our soldiers, sailors and airmen, the more lives we are saving for a triumphant return home?

DO YOU KNOW that the cost of rifle ammunition to the Canadian Government is one of the lowest of any of the Allied Nations?

If you DO KNOW all this, think how important your 25c War Savings Stamp purchases will be to yourself, to Canada and to the Armed Services on "Stamp Day" which is to be held on June 30th. Let's all get on the band wagon and do ourselves a favor by being "Bullet Buyers".

EXPAND CAMPAIGN FOR LOWER LICENSES

Extension of the campaign to effect a reduction in motor car license fees in Alberta was decided upon by provincial directors of the Alberta Motor Association at their recent meeting in Calgary.

There was a full discussion of the subject. The upshot was that the board decided to continue the campaign that was carried on last year. Every effort will be made to induce the provincial government to grant a general reduction in license fees.

The government's attention will be drawn to the license reductions in other provinces. In addition, it is the intention to build up support among other organizations that will back up the demands for lower license fees.

An appeal will be made to thousands of Alberta motorists to give their support to the demands for a general car license reduction in Alberta.

Urgent war industry shipments have sky-rocketed the volume of air express carried by Trans-Canada Air Lines to over 800,000 pounds in 1943. This represents an increase of approximately 125,000 pounds over the total express shipments handled by Canada's national air service in the previous five years.

SHUR-GAIN News OF THE WEEK

CUT SMALL PIG LOSSES

We all know that losses among small pigs from anaemia ... which is a lack of red corpuscles in the blood ... are high during the winter months. Since this is due to lack of iron, many farmers feel that summer pigs are protected adequately from anaemia—for the pigs are outside, and get iron from the ground in which they root.

ACTUALLY . . . many summer pigs are anaemic. The practical, safe and inexpensive method of preventing losses is to feed either IRON SULPHATE or REDUCED IRON to ALL small pigs.

There's real economy, too, in feeding SHUR-GAIN HOG CONCENTRATE to hogs, WINTER AND SUMMER!

Fed on grain ALONE, a hog requires 1,100 pounds of grain from weaning to marketing. The SHUR-GAIN WAY is 50 pounds of SHUR-GAIN HOG CONCENTRATE with save you 450 pounds of grain for the 25 pig period. Not only do you make an extra $2.50 per hog, but with the prospect of feed grain shortage in Canada, this grain saving is a NECESSITY. Mr. and Mrs. Adam Smith, Bill, Adam and Norman returned from their trip to Calgary on Thursday evening. Norman came back with them for a few days. They all report a very pleasant trip even if the road just north of Calgary was slow travelling owing to wet weather and repairs being made. They stayed with the Chas. Morand family while in the city. The latter family is getting nicely settled, Charlie is working at a golf course. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Morand called to see Mrs. Graham at the San. We are very sorry to say Mrs. Graham is again a bed patient, her other lung having taken a bad turn. We all hope with good care she will soon be on the road to recovery and home. Mrs. Smith said she was very cheerful and looked well, Sat. Norval Smith returns to his station again on Wednesday, he is resting fine now after his siege of scarlet fever.

We notice Flt. Sgt. Ray Osterberg home on leave.

Pte Don Gibson is visiting his home in Saskatoon.

A picture show sponsored by the McColl-Frontenac Oil Co. will be shown in the school on Friday June 30th. This will be a treat, for the kiddies.

Sunday visitors to the Adam Smith home were George Haines, George Wilson, Ray Osterberg, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallington and the Graham children and Mrs. Cliff Crathern and family.

Who says it rains in Alberta? Wed. afternoon and Thursday afternoon last — Came down by the bucket-full.

A nice crowd attended church on Sunday morning even if the roads were muddy. We were glad to see Mrs. Pitterson and Mr. Henry Brieker among those attending. Henry was a hospital patient for a while only a short time ago. Dr. Hart may be here this Sunday July 2nd if roads permit.

Mr. John Barnhart is now a hospital patient. Sgt. Norman Smith took him in on Saturday. A speedy recovery is wished him.

Welfare workers will meet at the home of Mrs. Herman on Wednesday July 5th. Anyone having sent old woollens for blankets last saving in war effort, please attend, can now get their blankets and rugs at Mrs. Barker's.

SALVATION ARMY HOME FRONT APPEAL SEPTEMBER

The opening gun of The Salvation Army Home Front Appeal will be fired on September 10, 1944, and for twelve days thereafter a concentrated campaign will be conducted to raise one million dollars.

In 400 towns, cities and villages, 20,000 volunteers will gear themselves to all-out co-operation with 1500 Salvation Army officers in making the appeal a success. Every Corps in Canada is taking part in this national endeavor, except those centres where The Army is a participating agent in a local community chest or united appeal.

While world battle-fronts are resounding to the fierce shrill noises of war, the battle against poverty, ignorance and fear continues apace at home. To wage this campaign against man's insidious enemies which fight to destroy without weapons, and cringe before enlightenment, a vast sum of money is needed.

Not only is the Army of Mercy hoping to carry on its many-sided program of helping poor folk—re-establishing ex-prisoners to normal life—visiting the sick — and guiding the steps of erring women back to the ways of righteousness; it also plans a new and far-reaching program of rehabilitation for returned men when the war is over.

To quote Commissioner Benjamin Orames, Territorial Commander:

"The Salvation Army believes that every man's soul is worth saving; that it believes that spiritual help and practical aid go hand in hand. Wherever there is a need, there is an answering call from one of the blue-garbed soldiers of Salvation.

"The Home Front Appeal is a splendid opportunity for all at home to prove to our fighting men that we are continuing to keep the home fires burning brightly here in Canada."

Throughout the Dominion there were 109 persons found guilty of violating prices and rationing regulations during the week ending July 1. Fines ranged up to $500.

RADIOGRAMS
from Allard

CJCA's radio audience will be interested to learn that the local winner of "Canada Whistles" competition is now provincial champion and is at present in Toronto competing in the national finals. She is 15-year-old Cecile Vallee of Bonnyville, Alberta. Miss Vallee has been chosen from among several hundred competitors as the possessor of a voice nearest in similarity to the voice of Adrianne Cassotti, the original Snow White. She won an entry in CJCA's elimination contest, sponsored jointly by RKO New York, T. Eaton Company and local theatres. After winning the local contest, Miss Vallee went on the provincial finals in Calgary and Edmonton.

Seven - thirty in the morning is breakfast time for a large number of regular radio listeners. It's also a popular time to pick up the highlights of news of a world at war. This news service comes from CJCA every morning except Sundays, with the good wishes of the Alberta Motor Transport Association.

One of CJCA's announcers becomes bandleader from 10:45 to 11:00 a.m. each Monday, Wednesday and Friday, when he presents "Last Night in the Home Room." In a very personalized fashion he comments on the reactions of dancers to his music "in the Rose Room" the previous evening", and provides the radio listeners with the numbers that made "hits" the night before. This unique bit of musical entertainment is presented by Kellogs of Toronto.

The big week will officially open with the Monster Parade at ten o'clock Monday morning, annually viewed by more than sixty thousand persons. At six o'clock on the heels of the afternoon contests in the Centre-field will come - the Chuck Wagon races headlining the evening program, which includes another stellar cast of platform attractions.

The Big Four fireworks both Monday and Saturday evenings in front of the Grandstand—and all through the week, never a dull moment. Old Timers, in addition to taking part in the parade, will gather daily at their own Log Cabin headquarters on the grounds to renew old acquaintances. Indians of the Sarcee, Stoney and Blackfoot tribes, guests of the Exhibition, will set up their tepees on the grounds and virtually live through Stampede Week, as their reward for good behavior over the past twelve months. Between posing for camera fans, they will crown with other Stampede visitors through the Midway, eat popcorn, sugar candy—and even play the races. And speaking of races, the Stampede Race Track will be in for some days—opening on Saturday, July 8th.

Up inside the Grandstand, there will be another show of Canadian Photographic Art, the Innovation of last year which drew Dominion-wide interest and contributions. The Willingdon Building, returned to the Exhibition for the week by the Army Cadets, will house the Women's Exhibits, and the work of Indian and Public schools.

CANADA'S GREATEST SHOW OPENS JULY 10 AT CALGARY

The year 1944 is proving the greatest in history at the Exhibition grounds in Calgary, for already records have toppled at four major events, the Spring Horse Sale, the Bull Show and Sale, the Horse Show and the Spring Race Meet; and new plans are nearing completion for the greatest show of them all, the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, to be held July 10th to 15th. Designed to provide entertainment, relaxation and diversion for more than a quarter of a million visitors, all phases of this year's Stampede, the 50th Annual Exhibition, will equal the shows of former years, with several innovations, Indians of the Sarcee, Stoney and Blackfoot tribes, guests of the Exhibition, will set up their tepees on the grounds and virtually live through Stampede Week, as their reward for good behavior over the past twelve months. Between posing for camera fans, they will crown with other Stampede visitors through the Midway, eat popcorn, sugar candy—and even play the races. And speaking of races, the Stampede Race Track will be in for some days—opening on Saturday, July 8th.

Up inside the Grandstand, there will be another show of Canadian Photographic Art, the Innovation of last year which drew Dominion-wide interest and contributions. The Willingdon Building, returned to the Exhibition for the week by the Army Cadets, will house the Women's Exhibits, and the work of Indian and Public schools.

Health League of Canada presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

Prevention and treatment of blindness should be made a responsibility of the public-health departments, the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph says editorially, calling attention to the large group of persons in Canada suffering from progressive eye disease who will "sooner or later become a charge on the taxpayer."

The known blind in Canada total 15,844, including 2 or 3 those registered with the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and those on pensions for the blind. The total does not include Canadians with progressive eye disease or those who have lost the sight of one eye and do not come within the definition of blindness under the national legislation. These are believed to be sometimes blind persons who have not made their condition known.

Urgent needs at present are prevention and treatment, the Quebec newspaper states. "Health departments are already deeply involved in the prevention of blindness and though their legislation was not planned primarily for that reason, except in the instance of preventive drops of ophthalmia neonatorum (for prevention of gonorrheal infection at time of birth).

"The other endeavors that are preventive in character are: venereal disease control, the distribution of insulin to those unable to pay, prevention and control of tuberculosis, nutrition measures, control of all medical inspection, the provision of sight-saving classes, and accident prevention.

"From the above it would seem desirable to place the whole problem of blindness, both its prevention and cure, in the hands of the department of public health, where it logically belongs."

MADE BIG DIFFERENCE

Mrs. M. Mackie of Montreal, Y.M.C.A. club hostess, interviewed a dejected Canadian who had received an unpleasant cable from his wife. Trans-Atlantic investigation revealed the reason. The wife had received a cable from the husband in which one word was garbled. It read: "Am on leave in London. Having a wonderful time. Wish you were her."

On the average it takes five acres of land to raise food for a single horse for a year. BNA

Former Nurses Earn Silver Wings

Wearing silver wings, symbolic of their graduation, 16 young ladies, all under 20, have just completed their studies in the tenth and largest class to graduate from Trans-Canada Air Lines Stewardess Training School.

Chosen from many points in Canada, these former registered nurses have been assigned to their duties. The stewardesses are shown after donning their new summer uniform, of which simplicity is the keynote. This chic ensemble of grey gabardine features a wrist length fitted jacket, with three buttoned front, lending a pleasant line to a six-gored skirt. A pale blue tailored blouse, a navy blue handkerchief and a silver T.C.A. emblem on the grey felt hat, add a striking touch. A navy blue bag, navy blue gloves and navy and white spectator pumps complete the outfit and give the T.C.A. stewardess the feeling that she is one of the best dressed women of the age.

Not Removed Yet

German U-Boats Are Still A Menace To Our Convoys

The news of the battling it took to get through one of the largest convoys yet sent to Russia is a reminder that, although the U-boat menace has been beaten, it has not been removed. The convoy had to fight its way through swarms of German aircraft and a series of U-boat attacks. Two U-boats were sunk by the aircraft of the Royal Navy's Air Arm, aided by a destroyer. There were also some "probables". Not a single merchant ship was lost, but the operation did cost one British destroyer. It is clear that U-boats won't stay beaten for one moment unless substantial naval and air forces are kept in constant vigilance, and convoys to Russia still need powerful escort.

There are historic records of Norwegian whaling as early as 417 A.D.

Like Ice Cream

Canadians Have Shown Their Fondness For It By Eating More

Dripping brown and dripping ice cream cones are a sure sign of summer. And in most parts of the country the ice cream season is already at hand. According to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Canadians not only like ice cream but their taste for it has increased through the years.

Figures on the per capita consumption of ice cream in Canada from 1937 to 1942 showed a rise of 42 per cent. during that time. By provinces British Columbia had the highest per capita consumption, followed closely by Ontario and then Nova Scotia. Lowest consumption per person was in Prince Edward Island and Quebec.

Worked For Weeks

Housewives In Britain Packed Spare Parts For Invasion Equipment

A great number of British housewives gave active assistance in preparing the Allied armies for the invasion. They are grandmothers, young girls, old age pensioners, who worked for weeks packing invasion stores. More than 275,000,000 articles were packed and ready to be shipped whenever any unit of the army needed spare parts for its equipment.

Those women working in barns, fire halls, schools or any building that could accommodate them, had the job of coating each spare with preservative and packing it in a carefully labelled cardboard box.

Cassino Treasures

German Brought Them To Rome And Turned Them Over To The Vatican

All movable art treasures of Monte Cassino Abbey are stored safely in the Vatican's ancient fortress of Castello San Angelo, Vatican authorities said.

They said the Germans had brought many of the pictures, statues, books and religious objects to Rome and eventually turned them over to the Vatican, for safekeeping.

MACHINERY FOR RELIEF

All aspects of relief which have been studied in Britain are connected and inter-dependent. Health will depend on food, which will itself depend on the machinery of relief. These emergencies have to be tackled simultaneously and with complete cooperation of all countries involved.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JULY 2

ENTERING THE PROMISED LAND

Golden text: Be strong and of good courage; be not affrighted, neither be thou dismayed: for the Lord thy God is with thee withersoever thou goest. Joshua 1:9.

Lesson: Joshua, Chapters 1 to 6, 24.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 121.

Explanations and Comments

Assured of God's Help for a Great Task, Joshua 1:1-9. Jehovah spake unto Joshua. No audible voice nor sound came to him. But the Holy Spirit left no doubt in his mind that God was commanding him to take up the task laid down by Moses, and carry it forward to completion.

To go over the Jordan was the task before Joshua, to cross it and conquer and settle the Promised Land which lay west of the Jordan River and was to extend from the wilderness on the south to the Lebanon Mountains on the north, and from the Euphrates, far to the east, to "the great sea toward the going down of the sun," the Mediterranean, on the west. Only a small part of the territory here mapped out was conquered by Joshua in Canaan itself, west of the Jordan, the larger cities, the valleys and the seacoast remained in the hands of the earlier inhabitants, and the struggle for supremacy continued for centuries.

We may think of the words of verses five and six as coming to Joshua's mind in answer to his prayer for help in the great task before him, when he was given faith to believe that the divine help on which Moses had relied would not fail his successor. It is interesting to recall that those words are read in England when a new king is crowned.

"Be strong and of good courage." So Moses had exhorted Joshua, Dt. 31:6, 7, and the reiteration of the words in this chapter has given rise to the supposition that in the beginning Joshua's heart failed him. He was a brave soldier, but he needed more than physical courage for the task confronting him. Had not Moses, the greater leader, said, "Who am I, that I should bring forth the children of Israel out of Egypt?" Hence the Jewish legends that as Joshua was bewailing his insufficiency for the magnitude of his task and was rending his clothes and weeping, Moses comforted him with the assurance that God had been seen and provided for everything. "Be strong and of good courage," are the reassuring words he now receives; "for thou shalt cause this people to inherit the land which I swore unto the fathers to give them."

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

The Honor Of Yee Shan Yee

By RALPH ZANCHI

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Yee Shan Yee placed the package beneath the counter. With a few deft strokes of the brush he marked the ticket.

"Fo' Friday, can do." His seamed yellow face wrinkled in a smile. But the skin over his cheeks felt as stiff as plaster and his heart was heavy. Hungry the white man must see the treachery of that smile.

But Stephen Holiday merely pocketed the laundry check and left, walked out. This, too, hurt. For fifteen years, ever since Stephen, a young law student, had first brought Yee his laundry, he had always stopped to chat with the old man. But now there was going to be an election and Stephen, the candidate for District Attorney. He still brought the laundry; but he no longer talked.

Yee returned to his work, his thoughts racing back and forth as rapidly as the steaming iron he plied, when the doorbell tinkled, announcing another customer.

Yee viewed the lady with genuine pleasure. She was slender with frank gray eyes and an easy, friendly manner. He had approved of her from the start.

"Hi'ya, Missy Alice." He counted out her change. "You an' Mist' Stephen really soon?" Again he forced himself to smile. He had been very happy when his two favorites had told him they were engaged, and had promised them a wedding present. The gift, a beautiful ox-blood bowl a half-thousand years old, was his most cherished possession.

"Oh, yes, I'm so worried." Alice sighed. "The crooked politicians are out to get Stephen. And the closer it is to election the more their lies are. Steve's behaving like a perfect idiot. He won't marry me until he's elected himself. A certain gambler is supposed to have given him five thousand dollars, and . . ."

Five thousand dollars! Yee trembled like a willow in a winter wind. "O'bye, Missy Alice," he said hurriedly. "Velly busy today."

For the first time in his life Yee closed and locked the door of his laundry in the middle of the day. He retired to the back room where he sat long, his twisted face revealing his inward struggle. Finally he rose and took from a closet his old felt hat and an equally ancient coat. In his pocket he put a document adorned with a large red seal. Then he himself out the back door he walked toward the heart of the city, a region he seldom visited.

Calm was in his heart. There would be no more days of shame, no more nights of anguish. For Yee Shan Yee a man who had been honorable, and lost his honor, was about to regain it.

It had happened a month before. Stephen had brought a package of laundry. The day was hot and he carried his coat under his arm. As he went out a small envelope fell from the coat to the floor. Yee called to him, but Stephen was already boarding a bus.

Yee had examined the envelope—it contained ten crisp new five-hundred-dollar bills!

Yee's first impulse had been to take the money to Stephen. He had worked hard all his life and was honest to the core. He had never cheated anyone out of a copper cash in Chin., nor a copper cent in America. But an idea overpowered him.

Stephen was prosperous. The loss of this money would not hurt him much. But in Yee's homeland, where starving millions were fighting desperately for their country, five thousand dollars would accomplish miracles. Yee had sent the savings of twenty years to buy rice for the foolless. He had even sold the cheap phonograph on which he liked to play "The Peach that Bloomed by the Bubbling Well", his treasured link of his boyhood in Kwantung Province. And the few dollars it brought were on the way to China, alas.

Five thousand dollars! He was unable to resist. That evening he mailed it to an address in San Francisco. It was only when he read the receipt thanking him for his secret deeds that he realized he had dishonored himself and—far worse—his country.

Yee Shan Yee did not spare himself. He told Stephen the facts unemotionally, asked for no pity. "I am a thief," he said sadly. "But I ly makes Ra."

He handed Stephen the document he had brought. It was a life insurance policy for two thousand dollars.

"Fo' you. My family in China all dead. Killed by bombs. Tonight I go to my people. Tomollow you get five thousand dolla'."

"But, Yee, you old mummy," Stephen said, "you've saved my life! That five thousand dollars was marked money that someone slipped in my packet to frame me. If it had been found when they searched my house, I'd have been ruined. Since you've told me the facts you'd let I know who put it there. The only man who had a chance that day was Thu Donovan. Now I know he's the brains behind the gambling ring I'm fighting!"

Yee Shan Yee did not understand all this. But he knew that somehow he had taken dishonorable money and made it honorable. As he shuffled back to his laundry his wrinkled face beamed with childlike joy. He must buy a suitable wrapper for the ox-blood bowl. For Stephen had said when they parted:

"Now remember, Yee Shan Yee. As the guest of honor it's your duty to arrive early for the wedding."

SAFETY MEASURE

The house of lords has a red-bordered carpet marking the limits where a member may stand when addressing the gathering, and it is believed the carpet was set in the days when men carried swords, so that a safe distance would be allowed in case of altercations.

One-third of the area of the United States is owned by the government.

About Charcoal

How Many Uses, According To Reports Made By Scientists.

Charcoal is a potent shield against poison gas, according to recent statements made by scientists. An essential part of every respirator is the filter filled with specially-prepared charcoal.

Charcoal helps to control and raise the temperature of furnaces used in many of the processes in the development of armored steel. Six hundred years ago when Roger Bacon, the famous scientist made gunpowder, it was charcoal—mixed with saltpeter and sulphur that he used. Explosives are now being produced that makes the force of gunpowder seem like a twenty-fourth of May firecracker. Nevertheless, charcoal is still used in many explosives.

The nature of charcoal varies according to the wood from which it is made. Hard woods such as oak, ash, or chestnut make the type most in demand today, but softer woods such as willow, produce charcoal that is used by the optical industry in Britain for polishing jobs.

The charcoal burners of Britain ply their own timber from the branches of trees and lay it on a circular hearth they have cleared in the forest. In the centre there is an upright pole, afterwards removed, which leaves space for a natural chimney as the wood pile is built up in a conical form to a height of about 10 feet. When the layers of wood have been placed in this manner, the whole pile is covered with earth and ashes from a previous hearth so that when the wood is set on fire there is only a limited supply of air to help it burn.

When the charcoal burner has finished his work, and taken the charcoal to market it has to be prepared for the long journey by rail in sacks from lumps of about two inches to dust that will pass through screens of 120 holes to the inch.

The dust, made into bricks, is used in Britain's hospitals in portable enclosed stoves so that food is delivered to patients. Such is the versatility of charcoal in wartime service!

Visual Education

Four New Films On Canada For Use In Schools

Four new films about Canada, produced by the Erpi film company, have been added to the audio-visual aids library and will be available to Saskatchewan schools at the beginning of the fall term, officials of the department of education announced recently. The films deal with the four different sections of Canada under the titles, "Pacific Province", "Prairie Provinces", "Industrial Canada", and "Maritime Provinces". The films give a "bird's eye view" of the relative importance of various Canadian industries.

In addition to the Erpi films several new films from the National Film Board of Canada have been placed in the audio-visual aids library. They include films dealing with the Niagara Peninsula, Prince Edward Island, uses of glass in the modern world, forestry, co-operation and the life of the North American Indians.

Job is Dangerous

Modern War Correspondent Takes Same Risk As Soldier

Dave Boone, in the New York Sun, describes the modern war correspondent like this:

What a difference there is between a war correspondent in this war and in the old days. Now he gets into more tough spots than most of the soldiers got into in the early wars.

When you spoke of a war correspondent years ago you thought of a carefully groomed, highly polished, glamor gent with a tent pretty well behind the front who was a reasonably safe insurance risk.

Today he's just another target for everything that's being thrown. He's a Commando with a typewriter, a Ranger with pad and pencil. He gets everything a 1-A gets, except kitchen police.

The modern war correspondents are no glamor boys with cozy jobs. They're rough-and-tumble, hard-boiled, two-fisted fellows who get so hard that bullets bounce off their hides.

Has Proved Success

Children's Clothing Exchange In England To Be Continued

Wartime necessity in England has developed a scheme that will be continued after the war is over, the mothers of large families. It is the children's clothing exchange operated by twenty centres in twenty-one areas, where mothers of children who outgrow their clothes before they are worn out may trade them for other clothing. The plan has worked so successfully that requests are made to continue the scheme after the war.

SALVAGE

Waste paper is still Canada's foremost salvage need—20,000 tons a month are required. The short supply of waste paper is holding up orders for vital paper products needed in the war effort. Newsprint, wrappings, bags, cardboard, old magazines, corrugated boxes are most vitally needed.

The Housefly

Is One Of The Greatest Enemies Of Public Health

The common housefly is one of the greatest enemies of public health. It is well-known that dysentery, infantile diarrhea, typhoid, and tuberculosis have been carried by flies and it has been demonstrated that flies may be the possible spreaders of infantile paralysis. They breed in filth, they feed on filth and pass directly from the foulest of filth to human food, carrying bacteria and particles of decomposing matter on their hairy bodies and sticky feet and mouths. Yet they are tolerated in some homes and in some shops offering human food and fruit for sale.

The most effective method of combating the housefly is to destroy its breeding places. This is best done through community action involving the proper care and disposal of manure, garbage and other waste materials. A leaflet containing the methods to employ may be obtained free of charge from the Publicity and Extension Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. It is especially important to protect foodstuffs from contamination by flies. Doors and windows should be properly screened and flies that invade the home in spite of this should be promptly killed.

Fought Germans To Stand Still

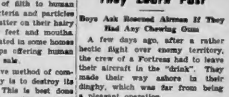
Boys Ask Rescued Airmen If They Had Any Cheering Guns

A few days ago, after a rather hectic flight over enemy territory, the crew of a Fortress had to leave their aircraft in the "drink". They made their way ashore in their dinghy, which was far from being a pleasant operation.

As they walked on to the promenade at a South Coast town they were besieged by a host of youngsters who, crowding round, asked the somewhat tired airmen, "Have you any cheering guns, mister?"—Brighton Evening Argus.

'Here a CWAC There a CWAC'



EMBARRASSING MOMENTS—

The sergeant gardener at Currie Barracks in Calgary was hoeing the lilacs just outside of the officer's quarters recently. Playfully, he threatened to "drown" the next CWAC who dared to appear in the doorway. The threat was heeded and in his low when a khaki skirt appeared on the steps. As good as his word, the sergeant turned on the full volt on the officer. His consternation knew no bounds when he suddenly noticed a face down on the soaked specimen of the CWAC and recognized Major Doris Weston, Officer Commanding 113 Depot Company. He apologized profusely. "Oh, that's all right," the O.C. replied brightly. "I would've done the same thing myself."

G. I. Bib—

Proof that a soldier is really on duty 24 hours a day was furnished recently by Capt. Patricia Hamsi, Officer Commanding a C.W.A.C. unit in Regina, Sask. In the midst of an engrossing bridge game, the officer received over her cabinet phone on the table, and finally got ready to bid. "One corporal," she said.

"Miss you," is the theme song of Corporal Dorothy Sage of Saskatoon, Sask., and the object of her affection is a soldier reciting until the "Victory Embarkation". As C.W.A.C. recruiting N.C.O. she travelled through the province with the soldiers, gradually building the ditties of "chief cook and bottle-washer" to her own work. Now the troupe is disbanded. Its members have laid aside their musical instruments for the weapons of war. "Who'll darn their socks and sew their buttons?" Dorothy asks mournfully, doubtful that the sergeant major will be a mother to the boys.

SPORT—

A good athlete doesn't need to pick her spot or sport as the game may be. L-Cpl. Margaret Young of Kelwood, Man. gave support to this theory at a recent sports program at Fort Curry, Man. Showing all-round ability, Margaret won the 75 yard dash, the high jump, ball throw and running broad jump. To top it all, she aided her team in winning the 60 yard shuttle race.

JAMAICA CWACS—

"Friends and pals forever" sums it up for Beverly Mersten and Everil Jones who left their homes in Jamaica, last January to enlist in the C.W.A.C. Inseparable in school and in business they saved and planned together until they were ready for the 2,000-mile trip to Toronto. Only the girls graduated from high school together and were both employed as stenographers for the Jamaican government prior to their enlistment. They both plan post war study in a Canadian university before returning to Jamaica. Medical social work is the main interest of Pte. Mersten while Pte. Jones is hoping for a course in business law.

SOLDIERS WIN DOUBLE-HEADER FASTBALL GAMES

A team of fastball players from the soldiers' camp at Wainwright proved too much for the local men here on Sunday and the visitors won both games of a double-header by comfortable margins. The first encounter was 19-4 and the evening set-to 14-7.

WORLD TRAVELLER PASSES THROUGH TOWN

On his second trip around the world on foot,-Jean de Vandrville, a native of Belgium and now well above the three score year and ten mark, passed through town last week. This was his second visit to Vermilion, passing this way in 1925. As he travels along he picks up letters from various officials and citizens and keeps a diary of his travels. He also has a pedometer on his leg which records the distance travelled. This had reached 78,000 miles when here.

DIOCESAN SUMMER SCHOOL

The thirteenth annual summer school of the Diocese of Edmonton is to be held at Kapawin on Lake Wabamun from July 18th-26th.

Visitors this year will note several improvements in the camp site—the chapel has been completed and some of the buildings painted. Further plans include the clearing of the beach near the camp which, however, may not be finished this year.

The school promises to be a very attractive one and organizers look for a record attendance. Word has been received that Archdeacon Argue, recently returned from China, will be present and will show pictures and films of his work there.

Among the members of the staff are Mr. L.S. Garnsworthy, B.A., at present in charge of the Clandonald Mission, who will assist in the evening programs, and edit the camp newspaper. Full particulars may be obtained from the clergy.

Board of Trade Notes

Board of trade meetings will be continued for two more weeks and large attendance of members are requested. The no half holiday had a bad effect on the attendance Wednesday, only 17 being present. This is a big drop from the 22 of a week ago and is the lowest since this week one year ago.

Mayor Morrison acted as chairman and asked the Board's president to extend a welcome to Flt. Sgt. Roy Cameron, presented as a guest.

Mr. Gerald Stephens suggested that now that new parking regulations are going into effect, a safety campaign should be undertaken among the children of the town, both bicycle riders and pedestrians. This matter is to be taken up with the school principals and the R.C.M.P. It is possible that safety films depicting road rules for children to observe might be shown here by the R.C.M.P. More definite announcement will be made next week.

Ashley Cooper and Fred Richardson reported on the Board of Trade conference which they attended in Edmonton on March 24th.

Vermilion's quota for the Stamp Day drive on Friday is $700 and a special committee headed by Billie Pilkie and assisted by executive members of the board of trade will canvass the business section of the town on Friday.

The retail section will meet immediately after the luncheon meeting on Wednesday to discuss Fair closing hours. Every retailer in town is invited to be present.

The Jasper-Banff highway is open to public traffic. More than six hundred feet of ice and snow cap the Snow Dome and Athabaska glacier regions. Correspondingly heavy ice adorns the Bow, Crowfoot, Victoria and Temple glaciers.

WEDDING BELLS

WILSON — OEHLHAUSER

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute on Friday June 16th, 1944, when Miss Marcella Ohlhauser, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil J. Ohlhauser of Carbon, Alberta, became the bride of Mr. David Philip Wilson, son of Mr. David Brown of Vermilion. Mr. Cyril Hutchinson of the Institute officiated.

The bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white brocaded satin, with chapel veil caught back with wreath of Lily of the Valley. Her jewellery was a three strand necklace of pearls, the gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses and maiden hair fern.

The bride was attended by Miss Miriam Wilson, sister of the groom, who wore a floor-length gown of pink triple sheer and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and maiden hair fern.

The groom was attended by Mr. Vernon Ohlhauser, brother of the bride.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march played by Mr. T. Elmer Roberts. At the opening of the ceremony Mr. Edward Link sang "At Dawning" and at the close "Together with Jesus Life's Pathway We Tread".

The nuptial vows Mr. Lorimer Brash of Calgary and Mr. Tom Addison of Marwayne.

Following the ceremony the bridal party and immediate relatives gathered at the home of Mrs. Burch, aunt of the bride, where a very pleasant afternoon was spent in games, singing and light refreshments.

The reception was held at the "Tea Kettle Inn" at 7:45 in the evening when about thirty relatives and friends sat down to a delicious supper. The table was centred by a three-tier wedding cake, beautifully decorated and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Hutchinson, and fittingly responded to by the groom.

Following supper all joined in singing hymns and choruses with Mr. Roberts at the piano. At the close Mr. Hutchinson sang by request, "In the Glory of His Presence".

The happy couple left the same evening for a short honeymoon to be spent at "Waterton Lakes" summer resort following which they will make their home in Calgary.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange

Director, Research Department, Searle Grain Co., Ltd.

WEEDS TAKE THREE BUSHELS TO THE ACRE

The National Research Council, with the aid of our prairie Universities, and the Dominion Experimental Farms, has recently finished a survey in which they attempted to find out the amount of the crop taken each year by weeds.

The results are startling. They calculate that weeds take about 20% of all crops each year, which amounts to approximately 3 bushels of wheat to the acre, and in total money value comes to over $30,000,000 a year, which farmers lose because of the moisture and plant food stolen by weeds growing in the grain crops.

It is perhaps impossible to farm on our parities under present conditions without and weeds. It does seem, however, as though the great losses taken by weeds could be cut down considerably. It must be remembered that this loss of 20% represents NET PROFIT which the farmer has actually worked for, and earned, when he ploughs and cultivates his land, sows and harvests his crop. It is exactly as though, after he had sold his grain, and put the money in the bank, someone had come along and stolen 20% of his money.

Evidently it is worth while going to considerable trouble to kill weeds.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Some crop in Northern Italy and parts of France will be lost, it is feared, because of the great mechanized battles now in progress — The U.S. War Production Board has ordered all distillers to sell ten per cent of rye to all grain used in the production of industrial alcohol.

The progress of Western Canada's new crops continues to be favorable— The U.S. wheat crop is forecast at the record level of 1,024,785,000 bushels, compared with the former high of 1,-

STUDY DEVELOPMENT OF NORTHERN AREA

Three government departments, agriculture, fisheries and mines and resources, are co-operating in an intensive survey of natural resources in the territory opened up by the Alaska highway. An aggressive policy leading to possible future development of this area, as well as the territory along the new air route to Alaska and the Yukon, is being undertaken. Though little is known now of additional national wealth available in these areas, every means is to be taken to discover whatever exists.

Excellent skiing is still available in the Medicine and Maligne Lake regions of Jasper.

Further serious food conditions are reported possible in the early part of July if rains and hot weather strike the Rocky Mountain watershed. Very little, if any, of the usual spring run-off from the glaciers and low lying mountain snows has yet come down. The recent precipitation was caused wholly by heavy rains in the foothills.
